Folks and Things ABOUT TOWN

—By Ben

Ray Stremming wishes to take issue with our story last week on Southern Bell's tax payment. However, the story did say that Southern Bell was ONE of the largest tax payers in the county. Ray Stremming's company is quite a large taxpayer also. The Stremming Company paid $7,673.50 in tax to the county which was several dollars more than Southern Bell paid. Both are assets to our county and our aim is to give both full credit for their part in maintaining our local governments. Would that we could pay such a tax.

Gene Gore played Santa Claus again this year to those hundreds of people who through error dropped their Christmas cards into the letter box at the post office without stamps on them. Gene goes to the post office and pays the two or three cents necessary to send the Christmas card on it's merry way. That way he does two good turns at the same time. He helps the sender of the card and also the receiver. We think Gene's idea was a brainstorm and congratulate him on his Christmas spirit.

When the Judge asked the officer what caused him to think the prisoner was drunk the officer answered: "Well, judge, when he staggered down the street I didn't pay much attention to him. And when he fell into the gutter I let him be. But when he dropped a nickle into the mailbox, looked up at the bank clock and yelled, 'my gosh, I've lost 14 pounds,' I thought I had better bring him in.

Latest reports on our friend Russ Shelton is that he is doing much better and may be brought home this week. You know Russ suffered a heart attack last week and has been in a Birmingham hospital since. Our sincere wish is that he is up and about in the near future.

The Chilton County High School F. F. A. Chapter just brought us some of their 1955 calendars. They're very nice and do credit to the Chapter members who worked so hard to sell the advertising to pay for them. The teacher and the members are doing some fine work and we wish them well.

Roy Roper continues gravely ill in a Birmingham hospital since an automobile wreck last week. Roy was already in failing health and the shock just about finished him. He has been a valued citizen of Chilton County for a half century and has served it well. Our sincere hope is that he will regain his health and be able to return to his business and political life of the county he so dearly loves.

Too much praise cannot be heaped upon Rev. Morris Mims for his charitable work this week for the patient at Central Alabama Hospital who had no friends or relatives to come to her aid. That the party for who he worked so hard was unworthy is unimportant. His intentions were of the best and he did all in his power to help where he thought help was needed. Often we make charitable contributions which go for causes that are not what they should be but if among many, we help only one now and then the effort is well worth while.

Doctor: Your husband has to have absolute quiet. Here is some sleeping powder."

Wife: "how much do I give him and when?"

Doctor: "you don't give it to him; you take it yourself."

Horace Mims Jailed In Bill Philpot Death

★ William Robert (Bill) Philpot of Bessemer, died at the Veterans hospital in Montgomery Tuesday after a fight reportedly at the home of Horace Mims.

Mims was arrested and charged with first degree murder according to Sheriff J. Luther Kendrick who made the arrest after taking him to the hospital for first aid.

Cause of the fight was not learned but two shotguns were broken and bent in the terrific struggle between the two men. Philpot was shot during the fight from which he died.

Coroner Leroy Martin who brought Philpot to Central Alabama hospital stated he picked him up some half-mile west of the Mims home where he was laying unconscious in a ditch.

(Editors Note: Sheriff Kendrick informed the News just after noon Wednesday that Philpot's real name was Robert Arthur Gibson, of Lipscomb, in Jefferson County, and that he had been living here under the name of William Robert Philpot).

A Reminder To Pay For Seals

If you forgot to pay for Christmas Seals during the holiday rush this is a reminder that it's never too late.

Thousands of families in this county received the little Seals, thanks to untold hours of energy and personal sacrifice given by volunteers who wanted everybody to have a chance to help in the fight against TB.

Many good people just forgot or didn't have time to send in a contribution during the Christmas rush. But if they'll take a few minutes to do it now, the original investment of effort and interest will be justified.

More important, the activities necessary to carry on a well-rounded campaign against the disease throughout the year can be planned.

Alabama has too little of everything it takes to curb TB. There are too few beds for patients, too little money to run those which are available, not nearly enough equipment and personnel to provide free chest X-rays to seek out germ spreaders, health education programs are narrow in scope, very few patients are receiving rehabilitation services to restore them to useful living.

Christmas Seal dollars tackle these problems. They fight for sanatorium beds, X-ray surveys, money for treatment, rehabilitation services — every day of the year.

There are 11,470 know cases of TB officially recorded in Alabama. There will be more unless every citizen pitches in with some help. If homes are to be safeguarded and lives of loved ones saved, its vital that a few dollars be invested now in the work of the tuberculosis association.

Send your Christmas Seal contribution in now. It will be just as welcome and appreciated as before Christmas.

134 FOUR-H CLUB BOYS PLANT NEW QUAIL COVER

Auburn, Ala.—Four-H Club boys in 24 Alabama counties are going out after quail this month. They won't use guns. Their arms will be spades, hoes, plows, and other tools of planting. For ammunition, they will have 201,000 bicolor lespedeza seedlings. These plants will be set out to attract quail to the land.

Earl Franklin Kennamer, API Extension fish and wildlife specialist announced ths week the Fish and Game Division of the Alabama Department of Conservation this month will distribute plants of the quail cover crop among at least 134 clubsters for planting on the farm. Kennamer said 300 more club members wanted seedlings, but according to Conservation Department Biologist Robert E. Waters, the supply was sharply reduced by last year's drouth and no more were available. It is hoped as many more state seedlings can be placed on private lands in Alabama through 4-H Club members next year.

Red Cross Office Opens Day Early

In view of the fact that Maye P. Esco, Executive Secretary of Chilton County Chapter American Red Cross, expects to attend an important 1955 Fund Campaign meeting at the Red Cross Chapter Offices in Auburn, Ala., on Tuesday, Jan. 11, your local Red Cross Office will be open on Monday instead.

ALABAMA PIG CROP DECEMBER 1, 1954

Alabama's 1954 fall pig crop totaled 869,000 head, a 20 percent increase over 1953 and almost 11 percent more than the 10-year (1943-52) average. The 1954 spring pig crop amounted to 843,000 head, a 16 percent increase over 1953 and 6 percent more than average. This makes a total of 1,712,000 pigs saved during the year, an increase of 18 percent over the 1953 crop.

The number of sows farrowed is estimated at 124,000 head during the spring and 126,000 head for fall. Pigs per litter averaged 6.8 and 6.9 respectively for the spring and fall crops.

Reports from farmers on breeding intentions indicate a probable increase of 2 percent in the number of sows to farrow in the spring of 1955. If realized this would be 126,000 head compared with 124,000 in the spring of 1954 and 131,000 the ten-year average.

STUDY CLUB TO MEET

The Study Club will meet on Friday, Jan. 7, at 3:00 p.m. with Mrs. Hugh Jones.

Through the first half of December, cotton exports for last year were up 23 percent.

Mt. Creek Man Inventor Of New Automatic Gate

Frank M. Calloway of Mountain Creek, Alabama was the recipient on December 14, 1954 of U. S. patent no. 2,696,687, entitled "Vehicle Operated Vertical Gate Opener".

It is common practice to provide farm and other types of gates with a mechanism by which they may be opened automatically upon the approach of a vehicle from either direction and then closed after the vehicle has cleared the gate opening. Obviously, such an arrangement is a convenience for, in the case of a farmer, it is not necessary for him to get out of the tratcor or car, open te gate, return to te vehicle, drive it thru the gate opening, dismout again, walk to the gate, close it, and finally drive the vehicle away.

These gate openers have been devised for operation by electrical or mechanical means; and, in particular, Mr. Calloway provides a construction of the latter type which, it is claimed, is strong and durable, simple in design, and capable of being readily attached to various existing types of gates. As additional advantageous features, it is positive in operation and relatively inexpensve to manufacture.

In its essentials, Mr. Calloway arrangement comprises two pairs of hinged treadles that are positioned on the ground at opposite sides of the gate which is mounted for swinging movement about a vertical post. These treadles are normally held in their upper positions by crank rods that are journaled in bearings and terminate in elbow portions to which springs are attached. The latter are secured to rods that are pivotally connected to rocker arms; and included also in the assembly are such parts as a roller and cam, chains, springs, and a lever which transmits motion to the gate.

In other words, when any of the treadles is depressed by the wheels of a veicle, the mechanism functions in such a manner that an operating arm descends vertically and, thru the action of associated parts, causes the aforementioned lever to move and open the gate. Upon passage of the vehicle over the treadle, the assembly is returned to its initial setting.

The application for this patent, which consists of five claims of originality, was filed on June 11, 1953.

Howard College Extension School Ends Semester

The Howard College Extension Division for Christian Training will close its first semester next Tuesday night at the First Baptist Church, Clanton. The opening night for the second semester will be March 18th.

Dr. Hutchinson will teach a course in Church Administration parallel with the Sunday school preview taught by Mrs. Hutchinson the first period. He will also teach a course in New Testament, Ist, 2nd and 3rd. John and Jude the second period.

The cost of the entire semester is only $11.00 plus books for two courses. Each course is $4.50 and registration fee is $2.00. You are cordially invited to attend and sit in the class on the closing night next Tuesday and also for the opening night on March 18th at 7 p.m.

You can study for college credit Certificate credit or if you desire to study with no credits in mind you can do so. We will be glad to have you. You do not have to have any preperation whatsoever to attend the school. Just a willingness to learn is all that is necessary.

The Sunday School Preview taught by Mrs. Hutchinson is one of the greatest challenges for Sunday School teachers or prospective teachers to make preperation for better teaching that has ever been offered the people in this section. Come and enroll and study with us next semester.

Woman Arrested In Auto Theft

Miss Grace M. Hysong was taken into custody by Sheriff J. Luther Kendrick Tuesday and is being held in the county jail.

Miss Hysong was seriously injured last week when the automobile in which she was riding left the highway near Verbena. It is reported the car was stolen. Monday she was released from Central Alabama Hospital where she was taken after the accident. She is being held for Federal authorities charged with the interstate transportation of a stolen vehicle.

First Youth Rally Of 1955 Will Be At Maplesville

The Baptist Young People of the Chilton-Unity Association will have their rally Saturday, Jan. 8, at 7 p.m. at the Maplesville Baptist Church.

The inspirational speaker will be Rev. Bill Broome, ministerial student at Howard College. Bill is a converted boy who is trying to serve his Saviour. Bro. Broome represented Alabama Baptist in the Better Speakers Tournament, at Ridgecrest. Bill has a message that will surely bless your heart.

Following the service there will be a time of fellowship. Maplesvile Baptist Church invites all young people and adults to attend their first rally of 1955.

Plans Underway For A Gigantic Baptist Revival

We are looking forward to a revival in every church in the Chilton-Unity Association during the great simultaneous effort which begins March 6th and continues thru March 20th in this section.

A "Stirring Committee" has been set up to make every arrangement necessary. Rev. L. D. Brookshire is general chairman, Rev. Evan Johnson, enlistment, Rev. R. W. Stuckey, finance, Rev. James Jones, special rallies and yours truly, publicity chairman. We offer our services in any way, at any time and anywhere.

We are certainly aware of the fact that a revival cannot be worked up, but rather prayed down. However, there is some preparation that must be made in the great concerted effort for a simultaneous revival which we are so anxiously looking forward to in the spring. Dr. C. E. Matthews goes far enough to say that 70 per cent of the effort will be preparation.

Rev. L. D. Brookshire is leading us in a splendid manner as general chairman. The Committee has had one meeting and plans to meet again this week to map out further plans. Arrangements have been made with radio station WKLF for a thirty minute period each day for an entire week just prior to the beginning date of the revivals, March 6th.

Plans have also been made with both editors of our county papers for an entire page coverage as we approach the date for the revivals. It is the plan of the committee to list every church, pastor and evangelist participating in the Simultaneous Crusade. Therefore, we urge each pastor and church to furnish us with the needed information as plans are made by each seperate church.

Plans are also made for three hundred window posters to be used in business places throughout the county. These are just a few of the things we hope to do. Churches will be having special prayer meetings along with the above efforts. We must remember that apart from much praying and close consecration on the part of God's people, we cannot expect a revival.

Chilton Float To Be Part Of Long Inaugural Parade

★ Chilton County will be well represented at the inauguration of Governor-Elect James E. Folsom on January 17, 1955 with a huge float centering around our peach festival and also the Chilton County High School Band and the Maplesville Band will take part in the large parade. Miss Martha Bell, 1954 Peach Queen, Miss Janice Wood and Miss Ardith Askins will ride on the Chilton County float.

The parade will start at approximately 8:00 a.m. and will last for four hours. One hundred and ten bands will take part in the parade which will be televised. Practically every county in Alabama will be represented by a float.

Chilton County could not have been represented in this inauguration had it not been for the following individuals and businesses who made it possible. We wish to thank the following for ther fine cooperation in this matter:

First National Bank, Lambert Motor Co. Peoples Savings Bank, Democratic Executive Committee, Lester Jones, Hayes Chevrolet Co., R. M. (Ben) Tucker, Bell Hardware Co., Watson's, Wallace Cox, Elmore's, Campbell Auto Parts Co., J. C. Parr, A. Reedie Taylor, C. B. Cox, Western Auto Associate Store, E. A. (Red) Fulmer, Dr. Charles R. Moore, Dr. Joe Moore, Clanton Motors, Inc., W. E. Huddleston, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Central Alabama Gas Co., Pig's Grocery and Market, Bentley Farms, Clanton Drive-In Theatre, A. D. Headley, Cottle's Auto Parts Co., Thrifty Stores, Dent Williams Motor Co., Clanton Home and Auto Supply, Clanton Laundry, Bank of Thorsby, Clanton Kiwanis Club, Levine's, R. O'Dell Payton, Hardy Feed and Seed Store, Salter Distributing Co.

I would like to thank Mr. Alex Hayes and our new State Representative, Mr. Francis W. Speaks, for their interest shown in this matter.

I would like to take this opportunity to invite everyone to attend the inauguraion on Monday, Jan. 17, 1955. The parade starts at 8 a.m. in Montgomery.

Inauguration Honors People, Folsom Says

"It is the people's inaugeration, and not Jim Folsom's,"—such was the statement of Governor-Elect James E. Folsom in regards to his forthcoming inaugeration scheduled for January 17.

"The inaugeration of the governor at the state capitol on January 17 is merely a symbol of all the inaugerations of all the state, city and county officials," Folsom said.

Folsom pointed out that "Historically the State of Alabama has long been divided into four year epochs—in other words, every four years sees the beginning of a new administration of state government. This is due to the fact that the governor, the legislature, and several hundred city and county officials are elected every four years."

"All these officials," Folsom said, "are interested in the economic operation of the government as well as the protection of fundamental liberties and the passage and the administration of laws. Thus, they are entrusted with the protection of the people's individual liberties which have been fought for these hundreds of years."

"The inauguration of the governor on January 17th," Folsom said, "honors all of these officials and the people they represent."

"It is for that purpose and reason that I have insisted that every county, city, or school district which asks to participate, be welcomed to do so," Folsom said.

Farm Meetings To Be held

L. C. Shields, teacher of vocational agriculture at Jemison High School, announces the following farm meetings:

Collins Chapel School—Thursday night, Jan. 6; Mineral Springs—Friday night, January 7.

Each of the above meetings will begin promptly at 7:00 o'clock. Topic for discussion will be "Possibilities for irrigation in Chilton County." All farmers or persons interested in farming are encouraged to attend.

Alabama Crop Summary Of 1954 Shows Production Drop

Total value of principal crops produced in Alabama in 1954 amounted to 250.6 million dollars. This represents a decrease of 24 percent from the value of crop production in 1953, four-fifths of which came in the cotton and corn crop. The cotton crop (lint and seed) grossed 143 million dollars in 1954 compared with 181 million in 1953. This was due to acreage reduction as both the yield and price were up from last lear. Total value of the peanut crop in 1954 was 12 million dollars, down 41 percent compared with 1953. Reduced acreage and yield contributed to this sharp reduction. The value of corn stands at about 48 million dollars, 36 percent below 1953. Production was reduced almost half, but price increased 10 cents per bushel.

The summer was abnormally hot and dry and crop yields were generally below normal. A few favored areas received heavy rains, but even in sections where heaviest precipitation occurred, there remained dry local aras. This withering dry heat caused greatest damage to corn, peanuts, soybeans and pastures, but yields of all principal crops were down compared with last year, except cotton. The offsetting factor for cotton was probably the reduced boll weevil activity, which was caused by the dry weather. This, together with the fact that the reduced acreage was planted on the best cotton land, resulted in a slightly higher yield for 1954.

CORN; The 1954 corn crop was the lowest in 51 years except for 1952. This was partly because of the harvested acreage was at the lowest level since 1881 except for 1953. Also, yield per acre was only 13.0 bushels, down 9 bushels from last year's record yield and almost 4 bushels less than the 10-year ('43-52) average.

COTTON; The crop of 725,000 bales was 25 percent below the 1953 crop and 20 percent less than the 10-year average. Acreage harvested was down 28 percent; yield per harvested acre averaged 297 pounds compared with 285 in 1953.

PEANUTS; The acreage dug for picking and threshing was down nine percent from 1953 and was the smallest since 1933. Yield per acre averaged 550 pounds, 380 lbs. below last year and the lowset since 1946.

SOYBEANS; Soybean acreage harvested for beans has increased steadily in recent years. The 104,000 acres in 1954 was 13 percent above 1953, but the very short yield of 11.5 bushels per acre reduced total production sharply. Production was 37 percent than 1953.

POTATOES; Production of all Irish potatoes (commercial and farm) declined 36 percent from 1953.

PECANS; Total production of pecans is placed at 10.5 million pounds, about one-third of last year's bumper crop of 30 million pounds.

West German Teacher To Make 5-Week Study Of Clanton School

Mr. Karl Eichenaver, a teacher from Western Germany will spend five weeks in Clanton as an observer and student of our American Culture and public school system. Most of his time will be spent in the Clanton Elementary school where he will observe the school in operation, and the teachers and the children as they go about their daily business of teaching and learning. He will also visit some of the other schools in the county. He comes also as an Ambassador of good will to our country from his native Germany.

Mr. Eichenaver is one of the teachers from foreign nations who is participating in the International Teacher Education Program set up by the Fulbright and Smith-Mundt Acts of Congress. Teachers from 41 nations are participating in this program. They come in the fields of elementary education, secondary education, vocational education, administration and supervision, and the teaching of English as a second language.

Mr. Eichenaver will remain in Clanton for a period of five weeks which will be the concluding part of the six months training period in this country. He spent a short period of time at the Orientation Center in Washington, a longer period in an American University, one week at the State Department of Education, and now five weeks here at Clanton as an observer in the schools.

He is anxious to learn more of American family life, to visit the civic clubs, and to learn first hand something about the work of the Parent-Teachers organization. But most of all he wants to learn more of the philosophy which guides the organization, administration and the instruction in our great system of public education.

Mr. Eichenaver is a married man and the father of one child, is a protestant and is specializing in elementary education. He is from Wichelmshaver, where he holds a teaching position in one of its public schools. He has a varied teaching experience and has traveled extensively.

The teachers here feel that they will learn much from him, also as he is very anxious to be used as a resource person and even to teach some classes if called upon.

THOSE NEW YEAR RESOLUTIONS—

If you haven't made those New Year resolutions it high time you got busy on them. It is important because it gives you something to shoot at. If you resolve nothing—you probably stay in the same old rut. But, on the other hand, if you set your sights high you will more likely accomplish some good from your actions.

Resolve in 1955 to be a little kinder, a little more thoughtful of your fellowman.

Resolve to attend the church and sunday school of your choice and to work diligently to promote peace and good will.

Resolve to be less critical and more forgiving. And last but not least resolve to do your deal level best to fulfill your resolutions.

OUR TV FARE—

In our eagerness to relax and enjoy entertainment in our home, few of us give much thought to the question what the quality of television shows should be. Keeping in mind the fact that television shows, just as any other entertainment, must not be aimed above the heads of the masses, we can still hope for some standard of quality.

It seems to be obvious now that the Broadway stage production, and its type of entertainment, is not ideally suited for mass distribution to American towns and cities in all parts of the country.

There are few really sensible plots and portrayals from Hollywood and New York on our television screens. The producers, writers and directors go off the deep end trying to be super-dramatic, reach a fifth dimension in psychological hokum and just plain weak plots.

There are many fine television programs, and we are glad that educational TV channels are being utilized more and more. We are also hopeful that someday, somehow, a way will be found to bring the American public factual reports by the Government and by non-partisan groups in Congress, the Courts, and so on.

Certainly, the present fare of television programming can and must be improved. Stupid plots, stupid dialogue, sordid life and fast living are being overworked.

Buz "Badgers" 'Em into Coming

Attendance at our club meetings was a real problem — until Buz Walker, the new president, took over. Buz managed to get 100% turnout last night.

"No matter how good an organization is," Buz says, "you can't do a real job unless you get everybody working together and coming to meetings."

"I wanted to be sure all the boys made the first Fall meeting, so I sent each one a badge marked 'Reception Committee.' Yes, they all showed up — I have a hunch they'll keep coming back, too."

From where I sit, Buz knows how to get results by using his head a little. That was a worthwhile idea of his. Same with Andy at the Garden Tavern. Andy co-operates voluntarily with the Self-Regulation Program — sponsored by the Brewing Industry. He keeps his place clean, neat, and homelike. And in return for his consideration he gets a real good "reception" from the whole community.

Income Tax Fax

By PETER JAMES WIKEL
Public Accountant

Once again it is time to start thinking of what we can do this year to reduce our income taxes. We have a new tax law that is a whopper. The bill, the hearings and the Committee reports have grown to over 8000 pages of closely printed matter. This makes previous bills seem like short, short stories and "Gone With the Wind" a short evening's entertainment. This law removes many of the inequities that were in the old law and adds many of the relief measures we needed for so many years. However, over 500 of the proposed new provisions of this act were thrown out before it became law and there are still parts that could stand improvement, so many authorities believe that 1955 will see extensive revisions made.

Anyway, we have to pay our 1954 taxes under this 1954 tax law, and we are going to find that it is giving us a break in many ways. The lowest tax rate last year was 22.2%. This year it is 20%, a reduction of approximately 10%. It is up to us to take the fullest possible advantage of the new relief provisions in this law. The House Ways and Means Committee has stated, "The purpose has been to remove inequities, to end harassment of the taxpayer and to reduce tax barriers to future expansion of production and employment."

Judge Learned Hand stated in Commissioner vs. Newman, "Over and over again courts have said that there is nothing sinister in so arranging one's affairs so as to keep taxes as low as possible. Everyone does so, rich or poor, and all do right; for nobody owes any public duty to pay more than the law demands. Taxes are enforced exactions, not voluntary contributions."

Our only purpose is to call to your attention the many avenues to tax savings that may be overlooked.

If you have a tax problem we urge you to consult the accountant or attorney of your choice and to consult him early enough so that he can secure for you the full benefits of the new code.

1954 ANNUAL SUMMARY COMMERCIAL VEGETABLES FOR FRESH MARKET

Production of vegetables for fresh market in Alabama during 1954 was estimated at a value of $9,672,000. This value was about 1 percent less than the 1953 value of $9,755,000. The total acreage of crops harvested in 1954 was 50,900 acres compared to 61,900 acres for 1953, a decrease of 18 percent.

Commercial early potato acreage was 38 percent less than 1953. This crop accounted for about 39 percent of the total acreage, but amounted to 53 percent of the total value. Excluding poatoes from the total, the value of the other crops showed an 18 percent decrease.

Yields per acre for snapbeans, cabbage, cucumbers and watermelons were lower than last year's because of the drought. Yields for early crops such as potatoes and strawberries were equal to 1953. With the exception of cabbage and potatoes, prices generally averaged below last year.

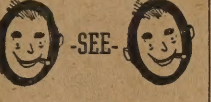
Things we -SEE- and Hear



by "Tuck"

"The Robe" was the finest moving picture we have ever seen. And when we say moving, we mean just that. It was certainly a soul stirring movie and one which should be seen by all; young and old. It is the type motion picture that is a credit to that profession and to us, the public. We commend Mr. Jackson for bringing this fine story to us and sincerely hope that all of you folks saw it. If you didn't; let us say you have missed one of the greatest moments of your life.

What about your New Year's resolutions? Haven't thought about them yet? Don't let the new New Year slip right on by without making some kind of resolve to do better in the year to come. We all can do better you know, and if we make the first of the year the time to start in doing better maybe with a little sustained effort, it won't be so easy to forget or shrug off. Think of one of your bad habits that you would like to overcome and make that your new project for '55. It's best for some of us to take them one at the time, maybe that way we can keep our promise to ourselves. Just making one resolution a year, if you live long enough, you'll soon be as good as gold. . . in about 75 years.

See where they're gonna change the license plates again next year. They say they're going to make 'em longer and narrower. No. it's shorter and wider. Well, we're not too informed about the deal yet, but we'll bet a dollar to a donut they won't be cheaper and lighter. . . on the pocketbook.

We had a flash today about the license plates. The first story was that the new size will be 6 X 12 inches, where they have been 5½ X 13½ inches. The story also stated that the tags would be longer and narrower. The bulletin said today, and we quote, ". . . Obviously the tags won't be longer and narrower, but will be shorter and wider."

To be quite frank we won't be surprised if we receive next year's license plate in the shape of a trapezoid. By the time they get straightened out as to just the right measurements it just might look like one.

Did you see where we discontinued the "Farm of the Week" photos until summertime. Reason for that they said, was that folks were having a leetle mite of trouble telling the corn from the peach trees and the pumpkins from the watermelon patch. In other words corn stalks and peach trees look pretty much the same with all the green washed off.

We never thought much about it until this past week, but maybe that's the trouble with a lot of us, we never realize a situation until it hits us in the face. Lately, we have had ample time to observe the goings and comings of the nurses and the doctors at the local hospital. There is not a crew in Chilton County or many other counties, for that matter, that works harder or longer on he job than these folks. As we said, we hadn't thought much about it either way. We have heard some disgusting remarks, however, about the way things go up there, but did you ever stop to think that it might be the facilities with the shortcomings (which can't be helped at present) and not the folks who try to keep the place going. They do a lot of good, or didn't you think about that? You might say, "well, nobody would say that unless they had been helped by them." That's exactly it, they've proved the good they do by helping myself and others. You couldn't very well voice an opinion unless you had experienced something to do with the subject. We have never yet agreed with the throwing down of the hospital and the staff, rather we dislike it. . they do the best they can with what they have to do it with and the folks they help should appreciate it enough to give a little boost every now and then. Most of us like a pat on the back occasionally.

There's been a lady from Indiana up there recently that has been helped by the staff and some visiting ministers. Ask her to say something nasty about the folks. We've had occasion to be helped by them lately, too, and all we can say is that anyone without a kind word for the folks at the Central Ala. Hospital, nurses and doctors alike will have an awful argument with yours truly.

And, if some one of the workers happens to hurt your feelings, try to think of yourself and your feelings for awhile and think of what they're trying to do with what they have. You'll probably hang your head. If not, you still don't understand the situation, and we'll be glad to give our views on the subject at any time. If you meet them halfway or better if you're able, we have found not one person in the entire establishment that wasn't nice to us. The only time they get peeved at the public is when someone trys to tell them their job. Did anyone ever try to tell you your job? ? ?

Letter To The Editor

My Friends of Chilton County:

Since leaving Clanton many thoughts have run through my mind and each one has made it just a little more difficult for me to express my appreciation for the many courtesies showered upon me during my recent visit to my old home town.

There is one thought I would like to impress upon the minds of all my friends, and I know you are familiar with the story of the Prodigal Son, well folks I think my recent experience has enabled me to know just how he felt, and with a contrite heart for having stayed away for 55 years, please accept my humble thanks with a sincere heart for I can never say the words that would do justice for the kindness my old friends bestowed upon this runaway boy.

As my time was limited it was impossible for me to do the many things that I had in mind, and the one thing of most importance, that I regret is not being able to visit with all of you, now friends please forgive me, and if it be Gods will my wife and I will see you good people in the near future, and we both extend to all of you a hearty welcome to come to Pensacola and visit with us in our home.

As we enter the New Year let us not forget the ties that bind but pray that mankind will be brought together in unison that is pleasing to our Heavenly Father.

Chilton Poultrymen Should Check Laying Hens For Mites

The feather mite, or fowl mite, is occurring in many caged layer plants throughout Alabama. This mite is a new pest in Chilton County.

Unlike the common chicken mite, the feather mite stays on the birds most of the time instead of on the building and roost poles.

They are found almost exclusively among caged layers, but floor flock owners should be on the lookout for them. These mites are usually found most abundant on the feathers around the vent. Barely visible to the naked eye and very similar in appearance to other chicken mites, this pest may be present in large numbers before they are detected. Heavily infested birds lose condition and go through a partial molt with resulting loss in egg production. The mite population can build up very rapidly.

The feather mite can be controlled in floor-managed flocks by dusting 2 pounds of sulphur to each 100 square feet of litter space. Dust the sulphur lightly over the litter, and more heavily in the areas where the birds dust themselves, and also put some in the nests. Repeat the treatment in 7 days.

Treatment is more difficult where birds are kept in cages. The treatment must be put on the birds individually. Research here at Auburn has shown the following treatment to be very effective. Mix 1 part of nicotine sulphate with 12 parts of water and spray each bird, spraying up through the cage. One squirt per bird from an ordinary fly sprayer should be a sufficient dosage. The material is toxic if used in excessive amounts. Repeat in 7 days.

Sulphur dusted on the birds gives effective control. A 1 per cent rotenone and sulphur dust reportedly gives control. Two ounces of wettable sulphur per gallon of water used as a dip also gives effective control.

At the present time it appears that the nicotine sulphate spray is the most practical control of this mite in cage houses. Any of the above treatments should be repeated 7 days after the first application.

ESTELLE HAYES

The Old Year is gone with its many disappointments and yet many things to encourage and inspire us for the future. May we resolve to be more faithful to the church, home and everything that makes for the better. May we pray one for another and be more generous in looking for the good in others, rather than their faults.

A New Leaf—

He came to my desk with a quivering lip
The lesson was done
Dear teacher, I want a new leaf," he said;
"I have spoiled this one."
In place of the leaf so stained and blotted,
I gave him a new one all unspotted,
And into his sad eyes smiled,
"Do better now, my child."

I went to the throne with a quivering soul,
The old year was done,
"Dear Father, hast Thou a new leaf for me?
I have spoiled this one."
He took the old leaf, stained and blotted,
And gave me a new one all unspotted,
And into my sad heart smiled—
"Do better now, my child."

New Year—

I asked the New Year for some message, some rule of life to guide me; He answered soft and low, God's will to lose, to do, and know.

Another year has passed and has become a part of history. It has brought many blessings into our lives and for those let us give thanks. Let us enter the New Year with renewed faith, hope and courage. Let us meet life with a smile and a smile will come back to us.

There is no need to look back on the old year only to profit by mistakes, then to press forward to greater achievements in the future.

In the New Year let each one resolve: To think only of the best to work for the best, and expect the best. Too be too large for worry, too noble for anger, and too strong for fear. To live in the faith that the world is on our side as long as we are true to the best that is in us.

May this be a glad New Year for all.

A message of Thanks—
It is my sincere wish to express to each member of the Ladies Auxiliary to the VFW and to the VFW of the USA, my deep appreciation for the loyal cooperation and the many courtesies which you have given me while I have served as your State hospital chairman. I want to thank each one of you that helped in the Christmas parties at the hospitals over he state. I know the boys were filled with joy, just to know they had not been forgotten. I would like for each person to visit and help these boys for it would make their stay jus a little more brigh. So let us keep in us a Christmas spirit throughout the year and not just at Christmas.. Again I want to thank each one who played a part in this big program and who helped me, as hospital chairman. I can not do it all alone, so let us all pull together and make this a good year for each and every one.

Jessie Gillespie
Hospital Chairman

Martha Bell Was Hostess At A New Year's Party

A group of young people enjoyed a "watch party" on New Year's Eve when Miss Martha Bell was hostess at her home.

As the guests arrived they were directed to the play room in the basement where proper decorations of paper clock faces which read 12:00 and crepe paper streamers added the appropriate air to the occasion.

While the group waited for the New Year to come in they enjoyed playing, talking, listening to records and to the radio. Horns, confetti, and whistles were handed out with which they brought the New Year in as the clock struck 12.

Around twenty young people enjoyed this delightful occasion.

Baptist Sunday School Workers Began Study Last Monday Night

Around sixty Sunday School teachers and officers of the First Baptist Church were present for the Sunday School Workers Conference on Monday night., Jan. 3. A delicious steak supper was served.

Ralph Morrison presided in the absence of the superintendent. Following the department reports, Mrs. J. G. Hutchinson explained the meaning of the Standards of Excellence for Baptist Sunday Schools and handed out material to the various departments on that subject.

The pastor, Dr. Hutchinson, began the study on Building a Standard Sunday School and gave some reasons why a standard Sunday School should be the aim of any church.

On the following Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights the rest of the book will be completed.

Mrs. Folsom To Wear Cotton Ball-Gown

A glittering white cotton ball-gown with the look of the Old South will be worn by Mrs. Folsom at the Inaugural Ball honoring Governor-Elect James E. Folsom on January 17.

"Mrs. Folsom chose cotton for her dress," Gov. Folsom said, "because it recognizes cotton as Alabama's foremost farm product."

The ball-gown is made of polished white cotton, and is generously sprinkled with glittering diamantes. The great full skirt is draped into soft folds throughout, and is worn over crinolines.

Simplicity keynotes the neckline, and a stole of like fabric will be worn off-shoulderes.

Miss Polly Cain, fashion expert of Loveman's who advises on the selection of Alabama's Maid of Cotton wardrobe, worked with Mrs. Folsom on the choice of dress.

The ball-gown was designed by Gaston Mallte, and custom-made by Murray Hamburger who creates the wardrobe for Miss America.

MINUTES OF THE BOARD OF REVENUE AND CONTROL OF CHILTON COUNTY, ALABAMA OF DECEMBER 20, 1954.

Board Meeting
December 20, 1954

The Board of Revenue and Control of Chilton County, Alabama met in regular adjourned session at the county courthouse at Clanton, Alabama, on December 20, 1954, at 9:00 o'clock, a.m. in adjournment and continuation of the regular meeting held on December 13, 1954. The following were present: M. D. Tingle, Judge of Probate and Chairman of said Board, and the following Associate Members of said Board: V. O. Lenoir, A. H. Smith, Sherman Motley and J. M. Dunlap. Judge Tingle presided as Chairman of the meeting and, a quorum being present, declared the meeting open for the transaction of business.

Mr. Motley offered the following resolution for adoption; which was duly seconded by Mr. Dunlap:

BE IT RESOLVED AND ORDERED: That the reading of the minutes of the meeting of the Board of December 13, 1954 be deferred until the next Board meeting.

The above stated resolution was adopted by a unanimous vote of all the members present.

WHEREUPON, the Clerk of the Board presented to the Board a list of claims and accounts filed with him against the County. Whereupon the Board proceeded to audit all such claims, and it appearing to the Board that each of the following claims are itemized and sworn to, as provided by law, with evidence of delivery of each item to the county, as provided by law, that the materials, machinery, equipment, supplies and services purchased by the county for use on public roads, bridges and ferries were inspected and approved by the County Engineer, as provided by law. And it further appearing to the Board that all said claims are just, due, correct and unpaid and that no part thereof has been previously paid. Whereupon Mr. Motley offered the following resolution for adoption; which was duly seconded by Mr. Dunlap; and unanimously adopted by the vote of the Chairman and all the members of the Board: BE IT RESOLVED AND ORDERED: That said claims are hereby audited, allowed, passed and approved by the Board. And be it further ordered by the Board that each of the claims, payable to the respective parties, as hereinafter set out, for the materials or services, as hereinafter set out, and in the amounts, as hereinafter set out, be allowed. AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED AND ORDERED: That the Chairman of the Board is hereby directed and authorized to draw a proper county warrant on the county treasury for the correct amount in the payment of each of said claims, in favor of the person, firm or corporation to whom it is due, from the funds listed:

AUBURN'S PRESIDENT NAMED "MAN OF YEAR"

Birmingham, Ala.—The Progressive Farmer magazine has named Dr. Ralph B. Draughon, president of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, as the 1954 "Man of the Year" in Alabama Agriculture."

In making the announcement the amgazine editors state that Dr. Draughons' policy of "cooperative work and service to all agencies, organizations and groups in Ala." has led the Alabama Polytechnic Institute "in its greatest years of progress in serving Alabama farm families and every other economic group in the state."

As results of this policy API is "being called upon to educate more and more students, to provide more and more research data, and to provide more and more citizens with more and more technical services and information to aid them in their business enterprises, whether agricultural, industrial, or otherwise."

Every year since 1936 the Progressive Farmer has named a "Man of the Year" in Service to Agriculture in Alabama. In successive years these selections have been: M. J. Funchess, John H. Bankhead, P. O. Davis, L. N. Duncan, R. Y. Bailey, K. G. Baker, R. E. Gammack, Tom Spies, M. H. Pearson, Fred Stewart, J. C. Cannon, T. J. Cottingham, Julian Brown and J. C. Lowery.

Cattlemen Plan Big 55' Program

Chilton County beef cattle producers met at the Dixie Cafe, Clanton, December 29th to study cattle feeding and management practices and to plan 1955 County Association program.

Charles Patterson, retiring President of the County beef group, presided over the meeting and presented an impressive review of 1954 accomplishments. During the past year Chilton County beef producers, as an organization, successfully held three experiment station tours, one local cattle and pasture tour, and the County beef show. The County organization completed—with the support of many—the construction of an improved show facility at the Clanton Airport. The County organization has effectively supported the Alabama Cattlemen's Association through the County Association State Director, Dr. W. L. Parrish. In addition to county-wide activities, cattlemen have cooperated with the County Agent and others in completing a large number of field and method demonstrations. The methods learned and results obtained through demonstrations have been instrumental in improving the over-all beef cattle development program of the county.

William H. Gregory, Extension Livestock Specialist from Auburn, along with Dr. Charley Martin, API Experiment, Station at Auburn, and E. H. (Ham) Wilson, Montgomery Secretary of Alabama Cattlemen's Association, gave the local cattlemen a report of latest beef feeding research findings and activities of Alabama Cattlemen's Association. Willam Gregory stated that beef prices are expected to be slightly stronger in 1955 than they have been through 1954. Mr. Wilson reported that the "Eat More Beef" Campaign evidently is stimulating sales. American consumers ate approximately 80 pounds of beef per person in 1954. This is an all-time record consumption. While expressing opinions relative to the future of the beef cattle industry in this area. Dr. Martin predicted that cattle operators would probably be managing better animals feeding more heavily and in many cases would be using silage in the beef feeding program.

Chilton County Cattlemen elected Association leaders for 1955. The newly elected Officers and Directors are:

Officers—

J. Rube Bearden, Maplesville.
Henry Robinson, Thorsby.
C. C. (Chick) Fiquette, Clanton.
Dr. W. L. Parrish, State Director, Clanton.

County Directors—

Dr. H. M. Nix, Maplesville.
Jack Roberts, Calera, Rt. 1.
C. O. Jones, Clanton.
Hunter Rasco, Jemison, Rt. 1.
Earl O'Neal, Stanton, Rt. 1.
H. C. Fenn, Verbena, Rt. 1.

The above group will lead the County beef development in 1955.

In spite of adverse weather conditions the Chilton County beef industry is continuing to make progress. Plans for a more extensive year of pasture and feed production improvement program coupled with the improvement of type of animal kept on the farm seems to be the major 1955 beef objective.

POLIO VACCINE ANSWER SCHEDULED THIS SPRING

The annual March of Dimes opened this week with a sober note of caution from Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Pointing out that "we still do not know if the trial polio vaccine has prevented one case of paralytic polio," Mr. O'Connor stated that "this factor, plus the large number of patients still needing help, means that fighting polio is a bigger job now."

"I know that parents are anxiously waiting for the answer," Mr. O'Connor said. "The scientific evaluation of the vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk is a time-consuming and precise job involving detailed records on 1,830,000 children who either were vaccinated or are acting as controls."

The Poliomyelitis Vaccine Evaluation Center at the University of Michigan is now studying data on children in 14,000 schools in the 217 study areas.

27 Laboratories at Work

Twenty-seven laboratories are processing and testing some 40,000 blood samples taken from participating children to determine the amount of protective antibodies against polio present in their bloodstreams.

Before the Evaluation Center can put the jigsaw pieces of information together and arrive at an answer, all data must be entered on the children's coded record cards, then analyzed. This process cannot be hurried, Mr. O'Connor said.

What if the evaluation report proves the vaccine to be effective?

The National Foundation already has taken a calculated financial risk by obligating $9,000,000 in 1955 March of Dimes funds for the manufacture, this winter, of additional vaccine.

This was done so that enough of it to vaccinate 9,000,000 persons will be ready in the spring without charge for the product. The purpose was to make some vaccine available immediately, if licensed, and to keep manufacturing facilities tooled up for continued production.

If the vaccine evaluation report is negative or inconclusive, March of Dimes-financed vaccine research will be intensified. The National Foundation research program has not been halted during the evaluation.

Look To 1955 As A Good Food Year

The year 1955 should be a good food year for the nations' consumers, with supplies plentiful, prices steady and continued improvement in quality and service. Ralph W. Burger, president of A&P Food Stores, said today:

"During 1954," Mr. Burger said, "the food industry achieved substantial improvement in its products and services, and at the same time the cost of food to consumers came down. Although it is difficult to anticipate what will happen to food supplies and prices in advance of any growing season, the outlook is for another good year in 1955."

Among important changes which made for generally lower consumer costs in 1954, the A&P pres. noted, were the facts that Coffee prices dropped below $1 per lb. during the fall and that Meat prices continued to decline for the third straight year. In addition, prices for Butter and Eggs were down substantially from the preceding year.

"If we are to continue the progress of the past year, however, we must make real efforts to narrow the spread between farm and retail prices. Today, with many of the food industry's fixed expenses still on the rise, we must seek money-saving efficiencies along the farm-to-market route if we are to achieve better income for producers and lower prices for the consumers."

"This is especially true in the case of food surpluses which must be moved into consumption at a price that will insure an adequate return to the producer as well as attractive prices to consumers."

Mr. Burger said that the food industry itself had a good year in 1954, with sales exceeding even the big year of 1953.

"We must remember, however, that sales gains are only desirable," he cautioned, "when they are the result of increased consumption, rather than increased prices." He also cautioned against costly competetive practices, such as excessively promotional activities.

Factors that tend to push retail price up are higher labor and transportation costs and consumer demand for more "built-in" services, such already-to-cook and precooked foods.

"There should be no confusion," Mr. Burger said, "over the role that profits play in retail food prices. Food merchants operate on the lowest net profit rates in the retail industry. Their earnings have little effect on prices on the farm or in the Super Market."

Mr. Burger said the outlook indicates that farmers will again produce near-record food quantities in 1955. If the actual production lives up to current estimates, yields will be close to those of 1954, which were only slightly below the all-time high reached in 1946.

"Agriculture is proving that it can grow plenty of food for our expanding population, and both farmers and processors are meeting the consumer's demands for foods of superior quality," Mr. Burger added. "As a result, Americans are eating better today than ever before."

Americans are not only eatin about 13 percent more food tod. than they were in 1935-39 period, he said, but this total includes more of what used to be considered "lu. ury" foods.

He said it is estimated that during 1954 the nation set a new record for its consumption of meat, eating about 30 pounds per person more than in the immediate prewar years.

Other preliminary figures, said Mr. Burger, show that the 1935-39 level of per capital consumption for many other foods was also exceeded in 1954. Among those he mentioned were; fresh vegetables, five percent; cheese, 38 per cent; eggs, 39 percent, and chicken, 79 percent.

In addition to the great growth of the new frozen food business, he contnued processors of canned foods also made increase contributions of better food to the nation's menu. Consumpton estimates for 1954 show that Americans ate 36 per cent more canned fruits and 39 percent more canned vegetables than they did in the immediate prewar years.

"This is important to the welfare of our nation, for it means that the average American family is eating a more varied, more healthful diet", he said.

Citing the scores of new products that were available to consumers in food stores last year, Mr. Burger said, "the country's first super markets offered consumers about 1,000 different food items. Today, this number of average food items has swelled to more than 3,500 and is increasing all the time."

"Today's busy housewife finds food is now offered with more "built-in" conveniences that make shopping and cooking easier. More and more ready-to-cook and precooked foods are appearing on the market.

"Happily, most of the advances in processing and packaging can be achieved without any substantial increase in retail prices because of the savings realized through simpler handling and reduced waste and spoilage. Prepackaged meats and vegetables are a case in point."

"We must be careful, however, not to push convenience factors to the point where their costs get out of hand and unreasonably increase the cost of food to the consumer," Mr. Burger said. "What we need is more good food at lower prices not less food and higher prices."

CHANGE IN SOCIAL SECURITY LAW THIS YEAR

"As of January 1, 1955, a significant change will take place in the present social security law. On that date all covered workers will start to pay social security taxes on up to $4200 per year instead of the present maximum of $3600 per year," J. W. Overstreet, Jr., manager of the Birmingham social security office, said today.

Actually this change will not be immediately apparent in an employee's pay check, since there will be no increase in the amount withheld. However, when a worker reaches $3600 in any one year his social security deductions will not stop at that point. Both he and his employer will continue to contribute until his earnings reach $4200. The same increase is also to be applied to self-employed individuals.

This broadening of the earnings base may mean increased contributions of up to $12 per year for each worker and an equal amount for his employer. A self-employed individual may pay up to $18 more each year. Mr. Overstreet states that such increased contributions will lead to an increase in retirement benefits from $98.50 to $108.50 per month with proportionately higher dependent and survivor benefits.

Hope For The Living And For The Dead

Have you ever wondered where the dead are? Whether they are in haven or hell or confined to some other place like limbo or purgatory? Or just what is the state of the dead? Have you ever wondered why men die? What happens at death? Is it just the body that dies and not the soul, or do both die? What is a soul? Most thinking persons ask themselves these questions. But on these points there are about as many theories as here are people on earth.

Strange, is it not, that there should be so many conflicting opinions when all of Christiandom's religions claim to get support for their doctrines from one harmonious book, the Holy Bible? Surely the Bible is not so vague or confusing on these issues as are the theories and philosophies of men, nor is it divided into as many conflicting opinons regardng the place and state of the dead. In fact, the Bible is in perfect harmony on this subject.

The Bible is plain that man is a creature created. Note Genesis 2:7 (NW) on this point: "Then Jehovah God proceeded to form man out of the dust from the ground and to blow into his nostrils the breath of life, and the man came to be a living soul." Thus we learn that man is a combination of two things, namely, the "dust from the ground" and "the breath of life." The combining of these two things or factors produced a living soul or creature called man. The Apostle Paul called Adam "a living soul" at 1 Corinthians 15:45. That this soul, Adam, could dies i clearly stated by God at Genesis 2:17 (NW): "You will positively die." There should be no question in the minds of intelligent creatures of Adam's mortality.

Why does man die? Again the Bible plainly answers for us in the third chapter of Genesis that man disobeyed God's commandment and proved himself unfit for existence. Verses 17-19 (NW) contain the pronouncement of the judicial decision: "And to Adam God said: "Because you listened to your wife's voice and took to eating from the tree concerning which I gave you this command: "You must not eat from it". cursed is the ground on your account. In pain you will eat its produce all the days of your life. And thorns and thistles it will grow for you, and you must eat the vegetation of the field. In the sweat of your face you will eat bread until you return to the ground, for out of it you were taken. For dust you are and to dust you will return." This sentence says nothing about punishing man in a place of eternal torment, nor does it speak of a limbo or purgatory. It states plainly that man is to labor and the return to the dust from which he was made. Is not that what we have witnessed for the past six thousand years?

Even the prophets believed that the dead returned to the dust. The inspired record in Ecclesiastes 3: 19, 20 says: "For that which befalleth the sons of men befalleth beasts; even one thing befalleth them: as the one dieth, so dieth the other; year, they have a one breath; so that a man hath no preeminence above the beast, for all is vanity. All go unto one place; all are dust and of the dust, and all turn to dust again." The inference is that both animals and man are created from the same dust, breathe the same air, and in death both go to the same place. Both are made from dust and both return to the dust again.

Some may object to this view, and say: "Is not this rather hopeless view to take? Does not some part of man live on? What about the soul? Does not this live after the human body dies?" The Bible states specifically that the living creature man is a soul, and nowhere does it say that man posesses a soul alive apart from his body. After reading Ez. 18:4, 20 there should be no doubt in the minds of those who believe the Bible that the soul dies. Those verses very conclusively say: "The soul that sinneth, it shall die." If it dies, then it is not immortal as some claim.

As to the state of the dead, note what God's word has to say on the matter: "For the living know that they shall die: but the dead know not any thing, neither have they any more a reward; for the memory of them is forgotten. Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might, for their is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in the grave, whither thou goest." In these few verses the Bible tells us plainly that the dead are in the grave, that they "know not anything," that "there is no work, etc." there. If that is the state of the dead, then they are not undergoing conscious suffering of torment as some teach, nor are they in a state of bliss. The dead simply, plainly, do not know anything. They are unconscious. They are dead. Eccl. 9:5, 10.

Some may feel disappointed, thinking that the wicked are not punished for their wicked deeds or the righteous rewarded for their good efforts. The wicked do not go [illegible]. They are "like the beasts that perish." They die without hope of ever living again. The righteous who die have hope of a resurrection from the dead. Jesus emphasized the hope of a resurrection with these words: "Do not marvel at this, because the hour is coming in which all those in the memorial tombs will hear his voice and come out, those who did good things to a resurrection of life, those who practiced vile things to a resurrection of judgement." As Jesus called Lazarus forth from the memorial tomb four days after burial, so he will call all of human kind that are held in the memory of God and these will come forth with an opportunity to live for all eternity under his Kingdom arrangement. This was the hope of the prophets of God, to live under the Kingdom of God by Christ. As Job wrote: "O that thou wouldest hide me in the grave, that thou wouldest keep my secret, until thy wrath be past, that thou wouldest appoint me a set time, and remember me. If a man die, shall he live again? All the days of my appointed time will I wait, till my change come. Thou shalt call, and I will answer thee: thou wilt have a desire to the work of thine hands." Ps. 49:12, 15; John 5:28, 29; NW; Job 14:13, 15.

But we living today who exercise faith in Jehovah God and his Son Jesus Christ have the unspeakable hope of never dying! Some might find this hard to believe; nevertheless it is true. Listen to the words of Jesus (John 11:25, 26, NW): I am the resurrection and the life. He that exercises faith in me, even though he dies, will come to life, and everyone that is living and exercises faith in me will never die at all.

FEW FOOD FADS FOUND FAVORABLE

Montgomery,—"Most food fads are a poor substitute for a balanced diet," Dr. D. G. Gill, State Health Officer said recently.

"In the first place," he pointed out, "most of the fads are not supported by scientific nutrition research. And all of them add too much cost to the food supply."

While some food fads are probably harmless from the standpoint of nutrition, some others are potentially harmful. Dr. Gill listed diets without milk, diets without meat and those without eggs as examples of harmful food fads.

Around OUR HOUSE

by Kathryn Tucker Windham

The talk was of New Year's resolutions and the five-year-old surprised us all by announcing:

"Well, I've resolved never to get married."

The announcement seemed a bit premature, but somebody asked why he made such a decision. He replied:

"Well, when I get grown I'm going to travel all over the whole world. I'll be gone months at a time, and I'll go places a wife couldn't go. It would not be right to go off and leave my wife for so long, so I just won't ever get married.'

"Silly," broke in the practical eight-year old. "You know you'll have to get married. You don't know how to cook or to keep house or to sew on buttons or to mend clothes or to do anything like that, so you'll have to have a wife to do them for you."

The five-year-old gave her a scornful look.

"I'll learn," he said. "What do you think i'm planning to go to college for?"

Even a five-year-old without a college education can mend a torn hem quickly by following the suggestion of the imaginative neighbor around the corner.

"I started out to go shopping the other morning and I discovered that the hem in my dress was ripped," she reported. "I didn't have time to sew it back in, and I didn't have time to change my dress. So I did a quick repair job with a strip of cellophane tape. The tape held the hem nicely in place until I got home again and could attend to it properly.

"Since then I've used it to hold the hems of my little girls' school dresses, and it proved sturdy enough to withstand a day of activity at school."

This neighbor doesn't even resort to the needle and thread treatment when she wants to make the repairing of torn hems permanent: she uses that marvelous invention iron-on tape.

Ironing on the tape is both easier and quicker than sewing, she has found, and the tape repair is both permanent and washable.

It was this same neighbor who taught me a simple way to keep track of gloves, to put a stop to the bad habit my gloves have of always straying away.

She sews a small loop of elastic to the inside of the cuff on her coat arm and tucks the gloves inside the loop when she isn't wearing them.

"I can't afford to lose gloves," she says. "And that scrap of elastic has kept me from a single one."

This neighbor laughed heartily when she was told of the five-year-old's plan for his college education, and she sent him some advice.

"Tell him that he'll probably never have to sew buttons on his shirts if he will put a dab of colorless nail polish in the center of each button when he buys new shirts."

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS INVITED TO ENTER CONTEST

Chilton County high school students are invited to enter the fifth essay contest of the Montgomery Sales Executives Club, which is offering $590.00 in cash awards to winning entries.

Essay Contest Chairman William J. Gordy announced that plans have been completed for this annual event, and that information and supplies will be distributed to interested schools in the immediate future.

For the first time, seperate contests will be held for boys and girls and duplicate prizes will be awarded. Prizes will be awarded as follows: In each contest, $100.00 for first prize, $50.00 for second prize, $20.00 for third prize, and $5.00 each to the next five winners. In addition 25 certificates of awards will be presented in the boys' contest and 25 in the girls' contest.

All entries in the contest must be submitted on or before February 17, 1955.

The essay subject for boys will be "Selling As A Career," and for girls "Importance of Selling to our Economy." Essays must be 1000 words or less and must be certified as being original by a student's principal or sponsoring teacher.

The Montgomery Sales Executives Club will award a $50.00 U.S. Savings Bond to each of the teachers sponsoring the two first place winners.

The three top winning essays in each division will be entered automatically in a national contest sponsored by the National Sales Executives. Top award in the national contest will be a $1,000.00 cash prize plus an expense paid trip to New York City. The teacher or principal sponsoring the winning student in the national contest will receive $200.00 in cash plus a free trip to New York.

Essays submitted will be judged by three prominent citizens of Ala. and results announced publicly. Essays will be judged on the basis of originality, thought content, sincerity, frankness, unity and simplicity. Students entering the contest must be regularly enrolled in an insitution of high school level, and must be under 19 years of age. Sons and daughters of members of the Montgomery Sales Executives Club may not compete.

Members of the essay contest committee of the Montgomery Club are William J. Gordy, cairman; William W. Birchfield, Charles M. Covey, W. D. DeArmond, Joseph B. Fiveash, Jr., Rober W. Grant, James W. Rutland, Jr., Tom Weaver, Dave Larson, Gilbert Beale, William L. Jennings and Ed H. Dennis.

Information and material will be supplied to any high school in the Montgomery trade area upon request addressed to the Montgomery SalesExecutives Club, P. O. Box 1626, Montgomery, Alabama.

Folks and Things ABOUT TOWN

—By Ben

Never have we seen anyone who could get out of work better than Red Smith. You know Red and Mrs. Smith run the A. D. Smith Grocery in South Clanton. Every Sat. afternoon we make a trip down that way to get a few pounds of the luscious ground beef that the Smiths produce and every Saturday afternoon Red is "gone to the country", or some other place. He's usually out with Reedie Taylor and Mrs. Smith says she don't know which is trying to build up his reputation. Now boy there is the sixty-four dollar question if we ever heard it.

Raz Langston, our genial license inspector for Chilton, Bibb and Autauga Counties, is just about the most honest fellow we ever knew. If you are delinquent in your license you get a citation, it matters not if you are big or little, rich or poor, black or white, important or unimportant. And that is as it should be. Last year we understand Raz carried about 60 citations into the Probate Office and while running through them one of the clerks asked: "Raz, do you mean to say you cited your brother"? And Raz answered: "I sure did. They all look alike to me." Now my friends, there is honest law enforcement.

Hats off to the American Red Cross, Mrs. Esco and numerous others who do such a good job o aiding those who are in need. Last November Mr. and Mrs. Barney Burdette received word their son was seriously ill at the Letterman Hospital at San Francisco, Calif. They had no money to get to him or lend him aid in any way so the Red Cross stepped in. They furnished Mrs. Burdette with a round trip Airline Ticket and she left on Nov. 19th to remain with her son there until Dec. 29th. And by the way, the Red Cross wasn't alone in helping the Burdettes. The people around Verbena where they live heard of his trouble and gathered money and Christmas presents and sent to young Richmond C. Burdette at the Letterman hospital. Miss Annie LeMire, who clerks at Gulledge Brothers wrapped the presents for young Burdette and a vote of thanks should go to her for her part in the good deed.

Look for an announcement of "Open House" at the new Chilton County Hospital around May 1st. Elaborate plans will be made for a countywide attendance and prominent personalities including Senators, the governor, our congressman and many others from the medical profession will attend. Watch for the exact date and make plans to attend.

SUCCESS

"That man is a success who has lived well, laughed often and loved much; who has gained the respect of intelligent men and the love of children; who has filled his niche and accomplished his task; who leaves the world better than he found it, whether by an improved poppy, a perfect poem or a rescued soul; who never lacked appreciation of earth's beauty or failed to express it; who looked for the best in others and gave the best he had."

—Robert Louis Stephenson

Watch for action on a new concrete runway at Gragg Field within the near future. A large delegation of County citizens met with the Board of Revenue and Control on Monday of this week urging such a project. If this dream should become a reality it would add many dollars to the peach and fresh vegetable growers of the county. Their market would be brought to their airport as it were. And who knows, it could even lead to an Air National Guard for Chilton County.

ARC Advisory Committee Will Meet Tuesday

There will be a meeting of the 1955 American Red Cross Fund Campaign Advisory Committee on January 18 in the local Red Cross office at 7 p.m.

The following members will please be present at this important meeting: Judge M. D. Tingle, Miss Janice Freeland, Mrs. Chester Mims, Messers M. R. Glasscock, and J. Archie Ogburn.

These members will meet with Mr. Joe Williams, Fund Drive Chairman, and Bro. Don Esty, Co-chairman.

James E. Folsom To Be Inaugurated In Alabama's Most Impressive Ceremony

Alabama's New First Family

Montgomery, Ala.—Former Gov. James E. Folsom will be inaugurated Alabama's chief executive for the second time Monday (Jan. 17) at a day-long program that will begin with a giant parade and end with two inaugural balls.

Folsom, whose first term was 1947-1951, thus will become the state's 46th governor.

While he will be inaugurated Monday in a ceremony that will be held from a specially built platform over the front steps of the capitol, Folsom will not officially become governor until Tuesday the 18.

The term of Gov. Gordon Persons outgoing chief executive, does not end until midnight Monday.

Thousands of visitors are expected to Montgomery for the inaugural program, which will begin Monday morning with a parade containing scores of floats and bands. The parade, which will come from downtown Montgomery up Dexter Avenue to the Capitol, is expected to take more than four hours to pass.

Folsom is scheduled to take the oath of office as governor at 12:30 P. M. The oath will be administered by Supreme Court Chief Justice J. Ed. Livingston. Following the swearing in, Folsom will deliver his inaugural address. Lt. Gov. Elect W. Guy Hardwick will be sworn in just before Folsom.

The new governor, his wife and six children will move into the executive mansion at 1142 South Perry Street. The mansion has already been vacated by Governor Persons who is recovering from a heart attack that has kept him out of his office since early December.

Following receptions at the Capatol in the afternoon and the mansion during the late afternoon, the program will be concluded with inaugural balls at the Alabama State Coliseum and at Alabama State College for Negroes.

Committees have been planning the inaugural program for weeks and already it is virtually impossible to get hotel or motel rooms here for that time.

Shortly after he takes office Folsom is expected to call the Alabama Legislature into special session to begin work on his program. The Legislature convened here Tues. (Jan. 11) for its organizational session and to receive Governor Persons' report on his administration.

Organization of the Legislature included electing a Speaker of the House, president pro tempore o the Senate and appointing standing committees for both houses.

In addition to Folsom and Hardwick other state elective officials to be inaugurated (at seperate ceremonies) Monday are: John M Patterson, Attorney General; Mrs Agnes Baggett, state auditor; Miss Mary Texas Hurt, secretary of state; John Brandon, state treasurer; Dr. Austin R. Meadows, supt of education; Arnel W. Todd, commissioner of agriculture and industries; Miss Sybil Poole and Jimmy Hitchcock, Public Service Commission, and Thomas S. Lawson and Robert T. Simpson, Alabama Supreme Court.

Local AA's Observe Fifth Anniversary

University Hiway Negro School Razed By Fire

The colored school on the Tuscaloosa Highway just Southwest of Maplesville was destroyed by fire last Sunday morning about 2:30 o'clock. The Volunteer Maplesville Fire Department answered the call, but were not summoned in time and the building was a total loss it is reported. There were no reports on the cause of the fire. The lunch room adjacent to the building, but far enough away so as not to catch up was the only thing that was saved. Witnesses on the scene discussed the possibility of the school's heating system being the cause of the blaze, but nothing definite was turned up at the time.

Clanton FFA Boys Set 12,000 Seedlings

On December 15, 1954 Mr. D. V. Willett, Conservation Forester for the Gulf States Paper Corporation delivered twelve thousand pine seedlings to members of the ClantonFFA Chapter.

Mr. Willett gave a short lecture and showed a film on forestry to the group before delivering the seedlings.

Mr. Davis the new forester for Chilton County, was present and gave a short talk on forestry. We enjoyed their program very much.

Members receiving one thousand seedlings each were: Charles Alvin Wyatt, Eugene Martin, Charles Baker, Murphy Hamm, Hershel Billingsley, Sammey Easterling, Jerry Easterling, Edward Morris, Harold Nelson, Billy Marcus, Curtis Baker and Clyde Edwards.

AND THE RAINS CAME—

The rains that were so badly needed during the summer and fall in Chilton County have finally arrived. And as a favorite television star says, no matter when they come, they're the best kind.

For the past six months the rainfall has been so low as to cause wells, creeks, and the like to dry up and some of our citizens experienced difficulty in getting enough water to take care of their needs.

From the looks of things their worries are over however. Nineteen fifty-five has started off with sufficient rainfall to make everybody happy. Let us hope that the average rainfall will continue throughout the 352 days remaining.

WANT A CALENDAR?—

The office is cluttered with calendars and we can produce most any kind you want.

This year the artists are featuring anything from a blacksmith at his forge to girls like Marilyn Monroe. Of course those ain't for give-away, though.

However, you name it, and we can produce what you want quicker than you can count the days in February.

UNFAIR COMPETITION—

The textile manufactures are looking with distress upon the recommendation of the President the past week that the tariff on textiles be lowered 15 percent.

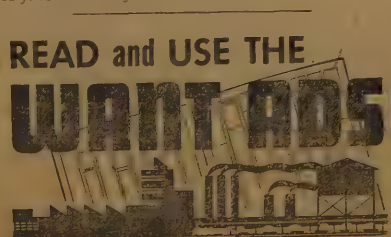
According to Mr. Paul Redmond, President of Ala. Mills, Japan who has an average wage of 13c per hour presents unfair competition. Further, Mr. Redmond says: "The selling of Japanese textiles in the United States is increasing steadily." He then asks that you compare the 13c wage per hour paid in the Japanese mill with your hourly wage.

"Some say the Japanese cannot live unless they can sell to other countries. Let's examine that. First, how about us? Aren't we supposed to live? Secondly, suppose every country in the world except Japan was destroyed by the hydrogen bomb. Could the Japanese live? Of course they could and would.

"The three essentials of living are food, clothing and housing. The Japanese can produce food by farming, and by fishing in the seas. They can make clothing and build homes by their own efforts. Natural resources provide the needed materials. That is true of any people in any country.

When our pioneer ancestors came to America, they had nothing but their own efforts and primitive natural resources to make living possible. They didn't have any big-hearted Uncle Sam to give them billions of dollars. They didn't need foreign markets. They had to raise, harvest, and manufacture the necessities of life or die. They couldn't produce enough to sell or give away. Not having modern machinery and equipment, they could barely provide enough for their own needs.

Honestly! How dumb can we be? Naturally, the more we produce and the more that trade expands, the higher will be standards of living. But does assisting foreigners to put our mills out of business and throw us out of jobs make any kind of sense?



Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

The 84th Congress met for the first time last Wednesday amid the switching of offices, committee chairmanships and congressional officials. The first day of the session was devoted to the organization of the House and Senate and the swearing in of members. Both chambers met the following day in a joint session to hear President Eisenhower's State of the Union message.

In his message, the Presiednt dealt with most of the international and domestic problems confronting our government, and he asked for bi-partisan cooperation, particularly in the fields of military and foreign affairs.

Beginning this week the Pres. will send seperate messages to Congress containing his specific proposals for programs affecting foreign trade, civil service pay, highway construction, and military pay and benefits. His annual budget message and economic report will be sent to Congress later this mo. Recommendations concerning many other subjects will also be made to Congress by the President in the weeks ahead.

New Congress Unique—

The 84th Congress is an unusual one, politically speaking, in that it is controlled by Democrats while a Republican serves as President.

Of the 45 Congresses since the Civil War, only five others have been controlled in both houses by a party other than the one the Pres. represented. This year President Eisenhower finds his party in the minority in the House by 29 seats and in the Senate by two—one of the latter belonging to Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, formerly a Republican but now an Independent.

Former President Truman was another recent chief executive to experience a so-called opposition Congress. As a Democrat, he was confronted with a predominately Republican Congress in 1947-49 which he labeled a "do-nothing Congress." Other Presidents since the Civil War who encountered an opposition party in both Houses were Johnson (1867-69), Hayes (1879-81), Cleveland (1895-97), and Wilson (1919-21).

Southerners Lead—

The return of a Democratic Congress saw the return of Southern leadership in both Houses.

The House speakership again passed to able and experienced Sam Rayburn of Texas. Mr. Rayburn, a veteran of 42 years in the house, has already held the post of speaker longer than anyone in the history of our nation.

Another Texan, Lyndon Johnson, is the majority leader of the Senate, and Walter George of Georgia is the Senate's president pro tempore.

In both House and Senate, Southerners have again taken over the majority of standing committee chairmanships. In the House, Southern Democrats now hold 12 of the 19 chairmanships. Eight out of 15 in the Senate are also held by Southerners. Our own senior senator, Lister Hill, heads the Senate's Labor and Public Welfare Committee.

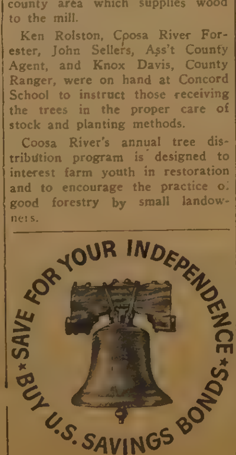
COOSA RIVER NEWSPRINT CONTRIBUTES TREES

Coosa Pines, Ala.—Chilton County has received one hundred thousand of more than one million loblolly pine seedlings which have been contributed by the Coosa River Newsprint Company.

The young trees, which were grown in the Company's modern tree nursery, have been distributed to 4-H Club members, FFA boys and small landowners in the twelve county area which supplies wood to the mill.

Ken Rolston, Coosa River Forester, John Sellers, Ass't County Agent, and Knox Davis, County Ranger, were on hand at Concord School to instruct those receiving the trees in the proper care of stock and planting methods.

Coosa River's annual tree distribution program is designed to interest farm youth in restoration and to encourage the practice of good forestry by small landowners.



Income Tax Fax

By PETER JAMES WIKEL
Public Accountant

Your child can earn over $600 in 1954, and you can still claim the dependency deduction for him provided he is under 10 years old; or, if he is over 19 years old, he was a full time student for at least five months of 1954 at an educational institution which normally maintains a regular faculty and curriculum and normally has a regularly organized body of students in attendance at the place where its educational activities are carried on; or if he was pursuing a full-time course of institutional on-farm training under the supervision of an accredited agent of an educational institution or of a State or political subdivision of a State, and you provided over one-half the cost of his support.

In determining the total cost of support of the student to see if you have paid over one-half, you are not required to include any amounts received by the student as scholarship for study at an educational institution. This applies only to your children. That is, your son, daughter, step-son or step-daughter. All other dependents must have earnings of less than $600 to qualify as your dependents.

Your children, if qualified as above, can earn any amount. They may be required to file a tax return, if they earn over $600, and be required to pay income tax, and they may claim their personal exemption of $600 on their own tax return. They may, if they earn under $600, file an income tax return and claim their own personal exemption of $600 in order to secure the refund to them of any income tax that may have been withheld from their paychecks. This will not in any way prevent you from also claiming their $600 dependency deduction on your income tax return, provided they meet the requirements abov.

If, however, your child is married and files a joint return with his or her spouse, then you cannot claim the dependency deduction.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

VIRUS PNEUMONIA

Virus pneumonia is called atypical or irregular because it differs in pattern from other types of pneumonia. In lobar pneumonia, for example, the condition is caused by the invasion of bacteria into the lung and develops suddenly and dramatically. But virus pneumonia begins in the person who has had a simple cold for four to five days. Such symptoms as nasal congestion, mild sore throat and general debility, which have not been considered severe enough to keep the patient in bed, will be followed with a generalized sensation of chilliness, a low-grade fever and a severe, distresing headache. In addition there is a marked loss of appetite; and within a few days, a dry hacking cough develops. The cough is often worse at night and is particularly disturbing because it interferes with the patient's sleep and aggravates the headache.

Fever usually varies from 100 to 103 degrees. The cough remains dry and tight for several days; and finally a thin, watery sputum, which may be streaked with blood is produced.

Virus pneumonia appears to be self limited, running a course of from ten days to two weeks; but convalescence is accompanied by days or weeks of continued poor appetite, marked loss of energy and extreme fatigue.

At least seventeen diffrent viruses may cause pneumonia, and the specific one responsible for the pneumonia is difficult to identify. By the time the virus is recovered and identified, the patient either has become well or has succumbed to the illness.

There are no known methods, vaccines or immunizing agents which prevent virus pneumonia. But if a cold persists, or if a cough becomes distressing with accompanying chills and fever, medical help should be sought immediately.

Things we -SEE- and Hear

by "Tuck"

Seems some unknown assailant bashed in the side of James Wilson's buggy while it was parked outside the Goodyear Store and didn't even bother to stop and say, "I told you so." We don't know what kind of driver James is, but it's a cinch that there's one accident that wasn't his fault.

Some old gent purchased himself a TV set recently so as to keep up with the progressing times. Evidently the old fellow has a lot of catching up to do because he tried his darndest to convince Claudie Wyatt down at the barber shop the other day that he had witnessed a murder on the thing. Claudie tried to tell him it was all in the spirit of good, clean, wholesome fun, but the fella wouldn't have it any other way than pure dee old homicide. Maybe he gets more out of it believing it's real, Claudie. You know, sometimes we don't get so much from it not believing it.

When the second act came on and the dude in the balcony grabbed the little old lady in front of him he was taken to the manager to explain why he had tried to crab the yodelers act and why he had offended grandma. When asked why he had done this he said, "I wasn't trying to crab the guy's act, I thought he yelled 'hold the old lady'."

If you don't go to the inauguration this year (Jan. 17) you'll be missing just about the biggest thing of its kind that ever happened in our grand ole state. The Gov.-elect wants everybody to be there. After all, it isn't just for "Big Jim", it's for all of us so we'd better make the best of it. There won't likely be another for another 8 yrs. and by then some of us will be too old to care about such things.

Hear about the dog and cat fighting it out on the corner and drawing quite a bit of attention, when a bystander impulsively whipped out a pistol and shot the dog quite dead. He immediately threw down the weapon and said to the crowd, "Don't tell the cops when they get here, they'll think the cat done it."

FOR RENT, SALE, OR TRADE: One 1954 model Christmas tree, in good condition, loaded with extras, will trade for an I. O. U. on a '55 model. Will sell for amount of payments of Christmas gifts. Will rent by the day, week, month or year. A one-owner tree, it is in extra good mechanical condition. . . not a light burnt out the whole time. Owner is not moving away nor is he tired of looking at it. . . Christmas is over. 1-52tc.

Fella came in the other day and after watching the press run a while declared, "well, there is something to this printing business after all, ain't there." Doesn't it make you feel good to know someone realizes that you work. . . occasionally.

Mr. Claude Little was in to see us Saturday giving a little of the low-down on their laborings and ideas for their church in the future.

Claude is a member of the West End Baptist Church and is Supt. of the junior department of their Sunday School. He was explaining to us the need for more interest in the churches of our community. They are working like beavers now to boost their Sunday School attendance. If they have many members like Mr. Little, they can't miss. He says they started out with 19 charter members and now are up in the hundreds.

It's our opinion that more interest should be taken in all the churches over our county and it's as he says, "If everyone in Clanton would attend church, you couldn't find places to put them." That goes for the whole of Chilton County. And it's as we told him, you can't have too many churches. So, more power to them, and all the other churches, and as preacher Wilkins told his congregation when they first started out: "there's a road here to faith and one here to the necessary funds, we're taking the faith road." That was well put, and no one can deny, if they'll look at the progress of these folks, that faith can go a long way toward doing most anything.

The best way to prevent virus pneumonia from developing is for the victim of the common cold to stay in bed and get plenty of rest.

Many useful plants are still brought to the U. S. from other countries, says the Department of Agriculture. Nearly 12,000 foreign plants have come in since 1948 for use in improving cereal crops alone.

WHAT NEXT?

"I go a fishing." — John 21: 3.

Simon Peter made that proposition to a group of his companions all of whom were desciples of Jesus. The response was unanimous, "We also go with thee."

Those men were not sportsmen. Fishing was no pastime with them. It was their livlihood, as dull and unromantic as plowing corn—pure drudgerq. Why then the impulse to return to their old trade? Their answer to that question would have been that it appeared that there was nothing else to do.

The crucifixion and resurrection of their beloved Friend had passed into history. The military officers in Jerusalem were resting on their arms, pleased that an insurrection had been averted. The hostile Jews, incredulous of reports that He had risen from the dead were at ease in their minds.

Disappointment was depressing the hopes of the disciples. While He had appeared in strange ways to some of them, nevertheless they were as scattered as sheep: without an organization, without a plan. To their minds te glorious prospect had faded.

To Simon Peter's mind there was only left one thing to do;— "Bring out the nets. Bail the water out of the old scow. I go a fishing." Discouragement is contagious. "We And yet they were not shallow also go with thee." az minded men. They had deep and genuine convictions — not mere opinions. Their religion was very real to them. They had pledged their utmost loyalty to their crucified Master.

The incident proves that even conviction stands in need of constant nurture. "Lord, I believe; help thou mine unbelief." "Lord, increase our faith." God recognized the ever-recurring threat to our spiritual health and is ready with devinely appointed stimulants: The Sabbath (a weekly reminder of the Resurrection), the Word of Life; Christian fellowship, experiences that reveal His presence.

Jesus has not withdrawn. For example: after a night of fruitless labor, a stranger was soon standing on the shore — waiting. One of the fishermen whispered to another, "It is the Lord."

ALABAMA POWER REQUESTS BI-MONTHLY BILL SENDING

Montgomery, Ala.—A request by the Alabama Power Company for permission to submit bills to its customers on a bi-monthly instead of monthly basis has been taken under advisement by the Alabama Public Service Commission.

There were protests against the power company's move to read meters and submit bills every two months instead of each month.

Union officials claimed approval of the request would mean that a number of union workers employed to read meters would be cut off. It was also argued that it would be more difficult for some persons to pay a bigger bi-monthly bill than it would be for them to pay a smaller amount monthly. Power Company spokesmen denied that it would mean a layoff for some meter readers and predicted that it would actually result in a saving for their customers.

What Is The Purpose Of AA?

"Alcoholics Anonymous" is an informal society of exproblem drinkers who aim to help other alcoholics recover their health.

Not being reformers, we offer our help and experience only to those who want it. While every shade of opinion may be expressed among us, each man's religious views if any, are his own affair.

No one is asked to conform to anything other than to admit that, he, or she, has an alcoholic problem and wishes to solve it.

This is not the place for the curious, nor anyone presently under the influence of alcohol.

We of the "Alcoholics Anonymous" have found a way of life which no longer compels us to drink against our will. The way to recover has been revealed to us by a power greater than ourselves.

Each man squares his debt of gratitude by helping other alcoholics recover from their obsession. in so doing he maintains his own sobriety.

The only requirement for A. A. membership is an honest willingness to do anything with in one's power to stop drinking.

Each speaker on our program expresses his or her own views which are not necessarily those of the group as a whole.

Each person present is requested to observe the exact meaning of the word "anonymous", because a majority of our members wish to remain anonymous.

Open eetings on Monday at 8 P. M.

Closed meetings on Thursday at 7:30 P. M.

RUTH HICKS

Mrs. Mary Hicks celebrated her eightieth birthday at her home last Sunday. A birthday dinner with all the trimmings.

We regret to report that Mr. J. T. Little of Plantersville is confined to the hospital in Selma. We wish for him a speedy recovery.

Many close friends here of Mr. Roy Roper of Clanton are anxious over the critical condition he is now in. Your cards or letters will reach him at St. Vincent's Hosp. in Birmingham, Ala.

Mrs. W. P. Milling of Selma, and a sister-in-law of Mrs. Fannie Terry has been carried to her home from the Selma Baptist Hosp.

Mrs. Fannie Stella Broadhead Shoults, age 64 of 600 Mangum St. near Summerfield road, died at 3 a.m. Saturday in a Selma hosp. following a long illness. Born and reared in Chilton County, near Clanton, Mrs. Shoults had spent the greater part of her life in Selma.

Surviving is the husband, Oscar Shoults, 1 daughter, Mrs. Leon Ezell, with whom she made her home, and a son, T-Sgt., Laverne Shoults, United States Air Force, who has been serving in Korea. Sgt. Shoults will be flown home from Japan, presently his station, under arrangements perfected thru the Red Cross. Funeral arrangements will be announced following final messages from the son. A Mrs. C. C. Williams of Clanton, also survives. A number of relatives resides here and in adjoining communities. Mrs. Shoults was a former resident of this place. Our sympathy to the loved ones.

Mrs. N. P. Perry (Ethel Tucker) of Plantersville, Ala. has been confined to the hospital in Selma. We are pleased to announce that Mrs. Perry is back home and much improved.

The Golden Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Ivey of Sprott, Ala. was celebrated December 26th at an open house held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Trawick Ivey, a son and daughter-in-law, who also live at Sprott. Among the many guests calling were members of a wide family connection which both claim in that section. Mrs. Ivey is the former Miss Cora Edwards, daughter of the late, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Edwards. Mr. Ivey's parents are the late William E. Ivey and Irene Suther Ivey. Both were born and reared in the Sprott community, and were married on December 28, 1904 at a ceremony taking place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Watters. Their half-century together has been spent in the same neighborhood.

The five children born of their union are: William E. Ivey of Nashville, Trawick Ivey, Sprott, the late Val T. Ivey, Jackson, Mrs. Cecil White, of Marion, and Mrs. Cecil Moore, of Heiberger, Ala Their ten grandchildren were present to share in the anniversary celebration.

For this occasion, Mrs. Ivey wore a gray crepe afternoon dress, with white trim and black accessories. Her flowers were a yellow carnation corsage. Mr. Ivey had a matching bouttennaire.

The golden motif predominated in the floral decorations. Yellow chrysanthemums were used with green and gold tinted magnolia leaves and other green foliage, accented by gold balls, bells and ribbons. Antique brass lamps and candleholders, with other period furnishings, added to the beauty of the gold and white decorative background. Embossed with yellow spunsugar roses and green leaves and surmounted by the number 50 garlanded in gold, the three-tiered wedding cake was placed at one end of the lace-covered table. The crystal punch service was at the other end. The table was centered by an arrangement of yellow roses in a crystal bowl behind which in the same crystal pattern. Salted nuts and mints filled crystal compotes and trays which completed the setting.

The cake was cut by Miss Valda Jo Ivey, assisted by Miss Betty Joyce Lawson. Presiding at the punchbowl was Miss Dorothy Moore assisted by Miss Joan Ivey.

Others assisting in serving were Mrs. Perry Meigs, Mrs. Roy Poe, and Miss Joanne Rinehart. Miss Eugenie Moore had charge of the guest book. Linda and Emma Jean Ivey, younger granddaughters of the celebrants, received the gifts at the door. Displaying them were Mrs. James F. Rinehart and Mrs. Clarence Belling.

One hundred and nineteen guests called during the afternoon.

Among friends and relatives coming from a distance were Mrs. Val Ivey, Emma Jean Ivey and Winston Stewart, Jr. of Jackson. Robert L. Edwards of Dothan; W. E. Ivey, Joan and Billy of Nashville; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Beall and son Billy of Prattville; Mr. and Mrs. Julius Beall and son, Charles Allen, of Luverne; and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Swanner and son, John of Rutledge, Alabama.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivey are well known in this section. Many friends and relatives reside here and in adjoining communties.

MINUTES OF THE BOARD OF REVENUE AND CONTROL OF CHILTON COUNTY, ALABAMA OF DECEMBER 27, 1954.

The Board of Revenue and Control of Chilton County, Alabama met in regular session at the county courthouse at Clanton, Alabama, on December 27, 1954, at 9:00 o'clock, a.m. The following were present: M. D. Tingle, Judge of Probate and Chairman of said Board and the following Associate Members of said Board: V. O. Lenoir, A. H. Smith, Sherman Motley and J. M. Dunlap. Judge Tingle presided as chairman of the meeting and, a quorum being present, declared the meeting open for the transaction of business.

WHEREUPON, the Clerk of the Board read the minutes of the meeting of the Board held on December 13, 1954, whereupon the Chairman of the Board asked for corrections or additions to said minutes, whereupon Mr. Motley offered the following resolution for adoption; which was duly seconded by Mr. Dunlap: BE IT RESOLVED AND ORDERED: That the minutes of the Board of December 13, 1954 be corrected by inserting the words, "the ceilings," on line number seventeen, after the ninth word, repairing, on page number 357 of minute book number 29.

The above stated resolution was adopted by a unanimous vote of all the members present and the Chairman declared said resolution duly adopted.

Mr. Smith offered the following resolution for adoption; which was duly seconded by Mr. Dunlap:

BE IT RESOLVED AND ORDERED: That said minutes of the Board of December 13, 1954, be, and the same are hereby adopted as read and corrected.

The above stated resolution was adopted by a unanimous vote of all the members present and the Chairman declared said resolution duly adopted. Whereupon all the members of said Board affixed their signatures to said minutes in the presence of the Board and the Clerk.

Mr. Lenoir offered the following resolution for adoption; which was duly seconded by Mr. Motley:

BE IT RESOLVED AND ORDERED: That the reading of the minutes of the Board meeting of December 20, 1954 be deferred until the next Board meeting.

The above stated rsolution was adopted by a unanimous vote of all the members present and the Chairman declared said resolution duly adopted.

WHEREUPON, the Clerk of the Board presented to the Board of list of claims and accounts filed with him against the County Whereupon the Board proceeded to audit all such claims, and it appearing to the Board that each of the following claims are itemized and sworn to, as provided by law, with evidence of delivery of each item to the county, as provided by law, that the materials, machinery, equipment, supplies and services purchased by the county for use on public roads, bridges and ferries were inspected and approved by the County Engineer, as provided by law. And it further appearing to the Board that all said claims are just, due, correct and unpaid and that no part thereof has been previously paid. Whereupon Mr. Motley offered the following resolution for adoption; which was duly seconded by Mr. Lenoir; and unanimously adopted by the vote of the Chairman and all the members of the Board: BE IT RESOLVED AND ORDERED: That said claims are hereby audited, allowed, passed and approved by the Board. And be it further ordered by the Board that each of the claims, payable to the respective parties, as hereinafter set out, for the materials or services, as hereinafter set out, and in the amounts, as hereinafter set out, be allowed, AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED AND ORDERED: That the Chairman of the Board is hereby directed and authorized to draw a proper county warrant on the county treasury for the correct amount in the payment of each of said claims, in favor of the person, firm or corporation to whom it is due, from the funds listed:

Spring To Bring Answer-

Did We Cripple Deadly Polio With Vaccine?

During the year 1954, there were 371 cases of polio reported in Ala. which is about 49 percent lower than the national average, according to provisional reports. Nation wide, the number of cases reported in 1954 was the 3rd highest on record.

Yet in 1951, when 693 polio cases were reported, the attack rate in Alabama was 23 percent higher than the national average. It is impossible to predict when and where polio epedemics will strike, which underlines the need for more effective control measures.

20 counties of the 67 in Alabama have had to receive financial emergency assistance from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Inc., amounting to a total of $38,575, to pay for polio care of patients.

10 iron lungs and 4 rocking beds have been shipped to the aid of polio respirator patients in Alabama during 1954. 4 registered nurses and 1 physical therapist have been recruited to insure proper care for polio patients.

Since 1938, including 1954, Tuskegee Institute has received $3,180,158.31 as grants and appropriations from the NFIP for training Negro nurses and other professional education, medical care for the colored polio victims and for research in polio prevention.

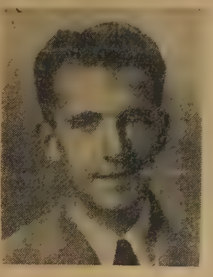
During the field trals of the Salk vaccne administered to 440,000 U. S. children last spring, 8,300 children in the state of Alabama were inoculated, half of this number with the Salk vaccine, half with a placebo.

Evaluation of the Salk vaccine is now in progress under the direction of Dr. Thomas Francis, Jr., chairman of the Department of Epidemiology at the University of Michigan. Important questions will be answered because of this, the largest medical experiment of its kind ever conducted in medical history.

Did the vaccine work? Did it reduce crippling after-effects? Did the vaccine increase antibody levels? Which of the children were hit by polio? What is the percentage of effectiveness?

Spring of 1955 will bring the answer to these questions. If the Salk vaccine proves to be effective, every child in the first and second grades in the state of Alabama, and across the nation will be eligible to receive free vaccinations to prevent paralytc polio. In addition to this group, all children taking part in the vaccine field trials, but who did not receve vaccne will be eligible for inoculation. The March of Dimes campaign in January, 1955, will pay for all this vaccine.

Will Head Bar Tax Committee



Sam S. Hays

Because of the vast increase in tax activity in State and Federal elgal matters, the Alabama Bar Association has formed its first committee on taxation.

Announcement was made today by Bar Association President Walter B. Jones who said the first chairman of the new committee is Sam S. Hays, Birmingham attorney experienced in tax affairs.

Other attorneys named to the committee with thm. Hays are James J. Carter, Montg.; B. A. Monaghan, B'ham.; and Vivian Johnston, Mobile. The present committee will serve for three years.

The new group will advise the State Bar Association as to significant changes in tax laws, recommend to the Annual Convention proposals with respect to taxation, advise with State and Federal officers as to laws and regulations concerning taxation and generally act as the Committee of the Alabama State Bar on the subject of taxation.

The committee will become active immediately.

3-In-1 Vaccine For Poultry Is Developed At API

Auburn, Ala.—The API Experiment Station has produced a combination vaccine that immunizes chickens against both cecal and intestinal coccidiosis. This new, cheaper poultry vaccine is now available to dealers through the Auburn Research Foundation and contracting supply houses.

Reporting on this development, API Extension Poultryman John Weeks said this week the multiple, single-dose vaccine is an improvement over that developed in Auburn and released two and a half years ago. The old vaccine provided protection against cecal coccidiosis, or bloody diarrhea. Now, the combination immunization gives protection against cecal and three intestinal types of the disease.

Weeks explained that the new inoculum, which is administered in the feed of 3-day-old chicks, costs little more than a cent per bird. Death losses from vaccination are less than a half percent, and chicks grow faster when they are inoculated young.

Preliminiary estimates put Canada's wheat crop acreage at 10 percent less than last year, and the Canadian rye acreage at 16 percent less.

THREE "C's" FOR EGGS— CLEAN, COOL COVERED

Auburn, Ala.—Homemakers have an added interest in eggs this month while the healthful food is especially plentiful and inexpensive And, to help food shoppers make the most of "January Egg Month!" API Extension Foods Specialist Mary Hulsey has some hints on how to keep eggs at home.

In her rules for egg care, Miss Hulsey stresses three C's—clean cool, and covered. Eggs with clear shells keep best, she says. But don't wash them until they are ready for use, because eggs have a protective film known as the "bloom" which seals the pores of the shell and protects the egg from odors and bacteria.

Eggs should be stored in the refrigerator, says Miss Hulsey. Coolness is important. She adds that it is also important to keep eggs covered to preserve their flavor and moisture.

Farm Credit Meet Set For January

Auburn, Ala.—The Second Annual Alabama Agricultural Credit Conference is scheduled to be held here January 23-26, according to an announcement by officials of the Alabama Bankers Association and the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

The three-day conference will deal primarily with agricultural outlook information, possibilities and limitations of farm irrigation, and financing farm machinery and forestry, poultry, sheep and swine enterprises.

The Alabama Agricultural Credit Conference is sponsored jointly by te Alabama Bankers Association, the Birmingham Branch of Federal Reserve Bank, and the School of Agriculture, Agricultural Experiment Station, and Agricultural Extension Service of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

JEMISON NEWS

(MRS. GEORGE NAISH)

We are told the three great essentials to success and happiness in life: have something to do; something to love and something to hope for. The following lines, author unknown, is an example of something to do:

An old man going a lone highway,
Came at the evening cold and gray,
To a chasm, vast and deep and wide.
The old man crossed in the twilight dim,
The sullen stream had no fear for him;
But he turned when safe on the other side,
And built a bridge to span the tide.
"Old man", said a fellow pilgrim near,
"You are wasting your strength by building here;"
Your journey will end with the ending day,
You never again will pass this way;
"You've crossed the chasm deep and wide,"
"Why build you this bridge at eventide?"
The builder lifted his old gray head,
Good friend, in the path I have come, he said,
There followeth after me today,
A youth whose feet must pass this way.
This chasm that has been as naught to me,
To that fair-haired youth, may a pitlfall be;
He too, must cross in the twilight dim—
Good friend, I'm building this bridge for him!

Love for others is expressed in these words and we can hope for better things to come.

Around OUR HOUSE

by [illegible]

The two-year-old has discovered the joys of getting mail. On sunny mornings, she waits out front for her friend, the postman, and when he gets to our corner, she runs to him to ask:

"Got any mail for me?"

Most mornings, of course, there is nothing for her and she has to be satisfied (which she usually is) with circulars and advertising matter that nobody else wants. Nothing makes her happier than those rare occasions when she gets a package of her very own.

It happened one morning this week. She came trotting into the house from her rendezvous with the postman calling:

"I got a package! Please peel it for me. Peel it quick!"

Peel it? Well, isn't that what you do when you take the wrappings off apples and oranges? It's just as logical to peel a package as it is to peel fruit. And thus our family language grows.

Speaking of mail, the neighbor down the street, the one with the big family, gets more mail than anybody else in the neighborhood. It's not just "box stuffers," either; it's real, genuine letters from friends, many of whom she hasn't seen in years.

Nobody could understand how she found time to carry on such a large correspondence until she explained:

"I don't really write many letters to my friends. What I do is run a kind of clipping service. I keep envelopes addressed to the people I like to keep in touch with, and when I run across something in the newspapers or in a magazine that I think will be of interest to some particular friend, I cut it out and put it in the proper envelope. Sometimes I put a recipe or a cartoon. When an envelope begins to bulge, I add a short note and mail it.

"Carrying on that kind of correspondence truly isn't much trouble at all. I probably never would find time to write long letters to my friends, but I keep in touch with them in this way. And they say they like my 'surprise package' letters."

I plan to give this neighbor's system a try. It might help me keep my New Year's resolution to be a better correspondent.

This neighbor gave me another practical suggestion I mean to follow, too. She has a tiny calendar pasted to the inside cover of her checkbook. When she writes a check she has the date right before her so all her checks are dated correctly.

Another miniature calendar is pasted inside the top of her stationary box where she can refer to it easily when she dashes off notes to her friends.

Keeping track of her friends' addresses used to be a problem for this neighbor.

"Folks keep moving around, and those tiny address books on sale at stores aren't big enough to record all the information I need," she says. "So I write the address on my stationary box. It isn't neat and it isn't systematic, but I can always find an address when I need it."

Included in this neighbor's note to a friend recently was this recipe for apple sauce parfait:

Combine 2 cups applesauce with 2 tablespoons cinnamon candy drops and let stand in refrigerator until candy dissolves. Make boiled custard by favorite recipe. Put layer of apple sauce mixtre in tall glass. Add layer of custard, another layer of apple sauce etc. When glasses are filled, garnish with whipped cream dotted with the cinnamon candy on top.

Pillow cases work almost as well as special nylon bags for holding fine garments while they go thru the washing machine. Just put several into a case and tie the open end.

SHOULTS NEWS

Ezra Lee Lawley

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith and children of Mobile spent a few days of last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A J. Lawrence. Mr. and Mrs. Smith are the proud parents of a new baby girl.

All the children of Mrs. John McKinney were home last Sunday for New Years dinner. A delicious dinner was served at noon, consisting of ham, chicken, roast, vegetables, salads and sweets. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Smith and daughter Carol, of Clanton; Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Motley, Mable and Harold of Maplesville; Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Lee Lawley, Sandra and Mary Lee of Lawley; and Mrs. Jack Kynard, Nancy and Richard of Selma; Archie, J. R. and Mrs. John McKinney and A-2c Bob and Mary Ann McKinney. It was a very enjoyable day. This is an annual affair.

Miss Mary Lee Lawley missed a few days out of school last week due to sickness.

The W.M.U. held its first meeting for several months last week at the church at 2 o'clock. The new president is Mrs. Bessie Garner. There were several members present.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawyer McGee of Selma and Mr. and Mrs. John Ratliff visited Mr. and Mrs. Gin Nichols Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Sherman Motley and Harold, A-2c Bob and Mary Ann McKinney, Archie, J. R. and Mrs John McKinney visited Mrs. Ezra Lee Lawley Sunday afternoon.

Rev. and Mrs. Dean spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Robert McAfee and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Gilliland and chlidren of Bessemer visited Mr and Mrs. Grady Harrison Sun.

Mrs. Charlie Stuart spent a few days last week in Selma in the hospital there. We are glad she is able to come home again and hope she continues to improve.

Mrs. Stella Broadhead Shoults was buried in the Live Oak cemetery in Selma, last Tues. afternoon.

The many friends and relatives here of Mrs. Stella Broadhead Shoults of Selma deeply grieved when they got the news of her death, in a Selma hospital. Mrs Shoults owned a farm and lived in this community for many years For the past few years she had made her home with an only daughter, Mrs. Wilda Ezelle of Selma. Her health has been failing for some time. She has one son, S-Sgt. Lavern Shoults who has been in Japan for several months.

We in this community pray our Heavenly Father to assuage the anguish of the family's bereavement. Mrs. Shoults always gave her time, talent and money to the Lord's work and to the betterment of the community in which she lived.

Mr. R. C. Latham and two bros.. Keith and Erbie and their families of California spent several days here during the holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rober Latham. They returned to California one day last week, their father going with them. If he finds work there and likes it, he will move his family, Mrs. Latham and two sons, Bobby and Donald to California. Mr. Latham has been living here for many years on the farm of Mr. Clarence Latham of Portsmouth, Va.

Mrs. Eula Brown and son Mr. Joe Brown and family and Mrs. Nancy Friday, all of Clanton spent last Thursday here with their bro. and uncle, Mr. Claude Hathcock.

T-Sgt. and Mrs. Phillip Hicks and son Corky, of McGuire Air Force Base, New Jersey spent last week here with their mother, Mrs. Willie Hathcock. They were enroute to Sacramento, California where Hicks will be stationed at an Air Base there. Leaving here last Fri. morning by auto they expect to arrive in California sometime this week, and will visit Hicks' brother, M-Sgt. Lumon Hcks who is stationed at Parks Air Base, Calif., and is only about 80 miles from where T-Sgt. Phillip Hicks will be stationed. This is quite a transfer for Hicks, from New Jersey on the East to California on the West. While here he also visited their sister, Mrs. Blanche Mitchell at Maplesville.

Mr. Wheeler Walker, Mr. Alton McAfee of Maplesville, Mr. Fred Oden and Mr. Herbert Walker of Montgomery visited Mr. Sam Shoults here last Wednesday, and did some bird hunting in the afternoon.

To remove excessive salt from soups, drop sliced raw potato into soup, boil for five or six minutes, and remove potato slices.

Lee Williams:

A Credit To His Community; An Inspiration To All Knowing Him

(By Bob Tucker)

We have always admired and respected the hard-driving, ambitious way in which Lee Williams has lived and done his duty toward his family and his own well-being.

Lee is known around Chilton County about as well as any colored person we know of and we've yet to come across anyone who didn't admire the way he conducts his family's business and his jobs.

Yes, Lee is a negro. he is 49 years young, close to 50, with a wife and six children. He has been married for 25 years and his children range in age from 23 down to 14. His oldest daughter, Willie Lee, who is 23, Lee has sent thru high school and on to college at A & M in Huntsville. The same goes for Mary Magdeline who is next in line in the family.

The two girls, after receiving such an education through the sustained efforts of their father and mother, now reside in California.

Lee's son, Eddie, 18, quit school and is now employed in Mobile. his daddy's one-time stomping grounds.

Lee was born and reared in Chilton County, but he got the roaming urge early in life and spent much of his time up and down the line between his home and Mobile and other points South.

Now comes the "ambitious" part, when he had his fill of wandering and decided to settle down he came back home to marry a county girl, Mary D. Williams and soon went to work at the Chilton County High School, his oldest position. He has now been with the high school for 17 years and says "I haven't missed but 4 days in 17 years; two for sickness and two for getting my girls in school at Huntsville." He also claims to have spent not more than five dollars on medical bills for himself since he has been grown which shows that he has been fortunate along with his hard-driving ambitious character.

He's sometimes slow, as he will readily admit, but he is faithful and he thinks that is the most important part of getting along in life.

Lee now holds down not one, two, or three, but four full time jobs and supervises the work of his twin boys. Lee works at the high school, the First National Bank, where he has been for about 10 years, the County Superintendent Office, and for the L & N Railroad.

He has worked under four Sup't. and two principals in his work connected with the Board of Education. They are: Sup't Luther Little, Rascoe Maddox, Delos Culp and Howard Boockholdt. The principals are Mr. Patterson Hicks and Mr. S. E. Waters who is now the principal.

Lee is apparently proud of his work and the record that he has attained over the past decade, and likes to talk freely about his work. He works an average 12 hours a day every day except Sunday. That, he says, is the day on which he attends the church of his choice in West End, Clanton. It is the West End Church of Christ and he and his family are in regular attendance there.

Lee's wife, Mary works for the Chilco Quick Freeze Plant where she has been employed for some time.

As if his other accomplishments weren't enough, Lee and his wife were blessed with twin boys 16 years ago. When we asked Lee if the boys had yet finished high school he said, "No they haven't finished yet, they're a little slower than the rest of them." We feel certain tha if Lee has anything to do with it, when the time comes, they may be slow, but they'll be loyal, and as Lee says, that's what counts.

He and his wife have done a remarkable job of raising their family and they can be proud of the results. His boys are good workers and courteous to their elders and his girls, although not familiar to us, must certainly be intelligent and ambitious just like their old man.

Another of his accomplishments is that he now owns his own home. located at 116 12 St. in West End. Lee says in all his workings on all his jobs, "I have never been cut on the payroll or been called to the office for anything and have gotten along fine with my employers". This is certainly indicated by the length of his jobs and the respect he has gained from all who know him. . . disregarding none.

Lee's other child is a son, Lee Jr., who is 14 years old, and the last time we saw him he was taking up money for the March of Dimes. He also, is a credit to the Lee Williams family.

Lee has worked hard since we've known him, and before evidently or he wouldn't be so far up the ladder. He has gone through many doors of hardship for his family of which he says, "we've been married 25 years," and then added, "and never been seperated."

He is a devoted father, an ambitious man, a strong citizen, and above all, a credit to his community and an inspiration to all those who aren't quite sure how far they can get in this life.

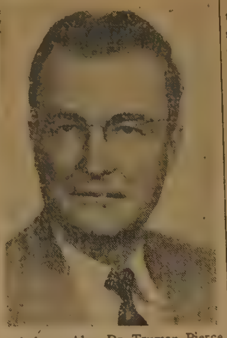
Look at Lee. He'll tell you it isn't all peaches and cream, but even so, he has made something of himself in his life and he's proud of what he's done.

State Broiler Chick Report

Broiler chicks placed with Ala. producers during the week ended December 25, totaled 677,000, a decrease of 15 percent from the week before and 19 percent less than the corresponding period last year. Of the total placements, Alabama hatcheries supplied 456,000 chicks and 221,000 were shipped in from other states. Alabama hatcherymen reported 764,000 eggs set for broilers last week, a decrease of 6 percent from the previous week.

Broiler chick placements in the reporting areas of the United States for which comparable figures are available totaled 8,631,000, down 24 percent from a week earlier, & down 29 percent from the corgesponding week last year.

PIERCE TO SUCCEED JUDD AS AUBURN DEAN



Auburn, Ala.—Dr. Truman Pierce director, Southern States Cooperative Program in Educational Administration, George Peabody College for teachers, Nashville will succeed Dr. Zebulon Judd as dear of the school of Education of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

In announcing the appointment of Dr. Pierce and the retirement of Dr. Judd next Sept. 1, Pres. Ralph B. Draughon was high in his praise of both educators.

"The pioneering work which you began here 40 years ago has paid tremendous dividends to public education in Alabama, in the South, and wherever Auburn-trained teachers have served," he said in a letter to Dean Judd who has served 41 years as head of the School of Education at Auburn. "You have a great record and you have built a strong School of Education which will remain as a lasting momento to you."

"Dr. Pierce is a person of proven scholarship and leadership in teacher education with a national reputation for ability," said pres Draughon. "I am certain that he will provide a high quality of leadership in teacher training in Ala. and the South."

Dr. Perce was born and reared at Equality, Alabama; received his Ph. B. degree from Piedmont College, Demerest, Ga., his Masters degree from the University of Ala. and his Ph. D degree from Columbia University. He has held high positions in schools at Berry, Ga.; Autaugaville, Fort Payne, Cedar Bluff, and Tallassee, Ala. at the Troy State Teachers College, Col. University, N. Y., the University of Tennessee at Knoxville, and Peabody College at Nashville.

VA Lists Eligibility Rules For Loans

The Veterans Administration said today that persons now in the Armed Forces and those entering service on or before January 31, 1955 may be eligible for GI loans for homes, farms and businesses when they leave service if they will meet all other eligibility requirements. The other requirements are: (1) At least 90 days total service, unless discharged sooner for disability incurred in line of duty. Not all the 90 days need be before January 31, 1955, any part of it could come afterwards. (2) A discarge or separation from active service under conditions other than dishonorable.

Those entering service after Jan. 31, the date established by. Presidential proclamation as the end of the eligibility period for certain benefits for veterans of the Korean conflict, will not be eligible for GI loans when they leave service, VA emphasized.

The presidential proclamation in effect also sets January 31, 1965 as the end of the GI guaranteed or insured loan program for eligible Korean conflict veterans.

The GI loan program is designed to encourage private lending institutions to make loans with minimum or no down payments and a reasonable interest rates because of the VA guarantee or insurance of part of the loan.

Three types of loans are permissable: (1) To purchase, construct or improve a home, (2) to buy a farm, farm land, stock, feed and seed, farm machinery, and other farm supplies and equipment. (3) to buy a business or otherwise to enable a veteran to expand a legitimate business venture.

To secure a GI loan, a veteran usually makes his own arrangements through the usual lending channels, such as banks, Savings or Building and Loan Associations, Mortgage Loan Companies, and the like.

A GI home loan may be guaranteed against loss up to 60 percent of the loan, with a maximum guarantee of $7500. On the other loans VA guarantees the lender against loss up to 50 percent of the loan, with a maximum guarantee of $4000 on real estate and up to $2000 on non-real estate loans.

The interest rate on guaranteed or insured or insured loans involving real estate cannot exceed four and one-half percent per year on the unpaid balance. The interest rate on insured non realty loans used by some lenders for farm or business loan purposes may not exceed a three percent discount or an equivalent simple interest rate of 5.7 percent per year.

Fees and charges may not exceed those allowed by VA.

HELPING DEVELOP ALABAMA

This policy will continue. Inspiring as the past development of Alabama has been, we believe the future holds even greater promise. Therefore our studies today are directed not only to the immediate future, but also to decades in advance. It is our intention to have ready in these future years, as in the past, ample facilities to meet the needs as they develop.

Alabama Press To Hear Two Top Newsmen At Convention

Athens, Ala.—Pulitzer Prize winner, Jim G. Lucas, Scripps-Howard correspondent and John Scott, assistant to the Publisher of Time news magazine, will be featured luncheon speakers at the 84th annual Convention of the Alabama Press Association, in Huntsville, January 20-22, at the Russel Erskine Hotel, announced Steele McGrew, APA President.

Recently Lucas was presented the Korean "National Medal" by President Syngmann Rhee, for his outstanding coverage of the Korean war.

Born in Chocotah, Okla., he received his first journalistic experience as editor of the high school paper. After a year at the University of Missouri, he quit college to work for the Muskogee, Okla. Daily Phoenix for $12 per week. In 1938 he joined the staff of the Tulsa Tribune.

Jim G. Lucas

John Scott

Enlisting in the Marine Corps shortly after the outbreak of World War II, Jim survived eight bloody island campaigns as a combat correspondent and emerged in 1945 as a first lieutenant. He won the Bronze Star Medal from the Marines and the National Headliners Award for brilliant reporting at Tarawa.

Lucas spent 26 of the Korean War's 36 months reporting the action from the front lines, and stayed on afterward to report on the returning American POW's. His dispatches reflected his ability to feel the average soldier's fear, anger, loneliness and, sometimes, dispair.

Besides the Pulitzer Prize, Mr. Lucas's many other awards include: The Gen. Omar N. Bradley Gold Medal given by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the George Polk Memorial Award given by Long Island University; the "Non Sibi Sed Partiae" award given by the Marine Corps Reserve Officers Ass'n.; an official citation by the U. S. Seventh Division in Korea; and the first annual Scripps-Howard Ernie Pyle award.

John Scott, just back from a 15,000 mile fact-finding trip through Europe, the Middle East and North Africa, will speak on "The New Soviet Foreign Policy."

Author, lecturer, foreign correspondent and at various times chief of several overseas bureaus for Time and Life, worked for eight years inside the Soviet Union, for more than seven years in Germany, France, Britain, the Balkans and the Middle East. Scott will bring to his listeners a wealth of experience and a deep first-hand knowledge.

He filled his first dispatches as a correspondent for Time, The Weekly Newsmagazine, from Japan in 1941. A year later, he became a contributing editor for Time in New York. In 1943, he was in Washington covering the State Department for Time, later that year he was sent to London and then to Stockholm where he was chief of the Time and Life bureau until 1945.

For the next three years he was chief of Time's Central European bureau in Berlin, after which he returned to the New York Office. During 1951, he was an editor for Time Inc., on a secret Air Force project produced by The March of Time.

He was in Europe and North Africa during the summer of 1952, spending most of his time in Germany and Austria, but also working in Greece, Turkey, Italy, Morocco, France and England. For the past three years he has been assistant to the Publisher of Time, doing assignments which have taken him all over the U. S. and Europe.

Born in Philadelphia, Scott attended schools in the U. S. and Switzerland. He graduated from George School, Penn., and attended the University of Wisconsin for two years.

NATURAL AS THE FOOD YOU EAT

CHILEAN NITRATE of SODA is the world's only NATURAL NITRATE FERTILIZER

NATURAL as the food your children eat, Chilean Nitrate is the only natural nitrate. Guaranteed 42 per cent plant food.

★ Chilean needs only moisture from the air to dissolve — no waiting for rain — fast, effective action.

★ Every ton of Chilean contains sodium equivalent to 650 pounds of commercial limestone — an acid-destroying agent. The more Chilean you use, the greater its acid-destroying value.

★ Sodium supplements potash — when necessary, substitutes for it — reduces leaching losses of potash, calcium, magnesium—releases unavailable potash in the soil.

★ Sodium increases availability of phosphate in the soil and improves efficiency of applied phosphate.

★ Chilean is rich in small quantities of minor elements necessary for healthy vigorous growth — it's the only natural combination of 100 per cent nitrate nitrogen, sodium and minor elements.

County Cancer Workers Attend B'ham Meeting

Several volunteer workers in the educational program of the American Cancer Society in Chilton County will go to Birmingham next Tuesday for a special meeting to discuss plans for the coming year, Mrs. Hugh Jones of Clanton, ACS county commander, said today.

The meeting, to be held at the Tutwiler Hotel, will consist of a morning session and a luncheon. County commanders will be informed of the educational work they are asked to carry on during the coming year.

The program for the meeting has been announced by Mrs. Lillian G. Meade of Birmingham, executive director, American Cancer Society, Alabama Division.

Speakers will include Dr. John F. W. King of New York, director of professional services for ACS; Chas. P. Taylor of New York, field representative of ACS; Irene Carroll, educational director for the Kentucky ACS Division; three cured cancer patients, Ed F. Reid of Andalusia, Mrs. Pete Pappas of Birmingham, and Woodrow W. Odom of Greenville.

County commanders are responsible for the American Cancer Socitey's continuous program of alerting the public to cancer's danger signals and encouraging regular physical examinations. The Cancer Society also carries on continuous work in the field of scientific research and service to medically indingent cancer patients.

Jimmie Davis Will Star In Inaugural Sing

Special Star of our Inaugural Sing, Sunday, January 16th, at the State Coliseum in Montgomery, is the former Governor of Louisiana.

From a share-croppers cabin to the Governor's Mansion of Louisiana, and his determination to succeed, made one of Hollywood's most fabulous pictures, "Louisiana," in which the leading role was played by Jimmy Davis himself.

Upon graduation from Louisiana State University, Davis started out in life as a teacher, and after one year's teaching, took up song writing and singing as a business. After a very short time he was recognized as one of the nation's top artists in the folk-music world.

He has written and recorded more than 300 songs. In his early recording days he only wrote one sacred song, "When it's Roundup Tims in Heaven." However, during the past three years Davis has devoted most of his time to sacred and gospel music, the music he loves best. Among the Decca recordings are, "Someone to Care," "Suppertime," "When I Prayed Last Night," "I won't have to Cross Jorden Alone," "Lord, I'm Coming Home," and many others. Jimmie's latest Decca recording is "Taller Than Trees," backed with "Near the Cross."

Mr. Davis is married and has one son, Jim, who is 9 years of age. They live in Shreveport, La.

Other special out of state guests appearing on the program will be Blackwood Brothers, Tenn.; Harmoneers, Ga.; Gospel Melody, Fla.; Hatfield Trio, Miss.; Master Workers, S. C.; Singing Star Trio, Texas; Revelaires, Ga.; Klaudt Indians, S. D.; together with many Alabama Quartets, Trios, Duets, and Solos.

"Y'all come," spend the night, attend the Inaugural of Big Jim Folsom, next day.

American Youth Singers of Montgomery will be the host to the visiting singers.

ANNUAL PRUNINGS RUN MUSCADINE YIELDS UP

Muscadine grapes yield beter if they are pruned each year, according to API Extension Horticulturist —John Bagby.

The specialist reminded farmers this week that pruning should be done not later than mid-January to avoid excessive bleeding. Bagby pointed out that grapes are born on new canes which develop from 1-year-old wood and that pruning stimulates the growth of new wood.

Old vines that have not been pruned regularly should have all dead wood removed and about a third of the old, unproductive canes cut out, the expert went on. The previous year's growth should be cut back to three or four buds which will produce new canes for next year's late summer harvest.

Muscadines are grown all over Alabama for local markets and home use.

Dimes Goal: Rebuild Lives

Making new lives for polio victims is a major goal of the March of Dimes, now in the second week of its drive for $64,000,000 in polio-fighting funds, according to Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, medical director of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

"From the time a polio patient is first diagnosed, skilled hands and wise heads are at his bedside to save a life and return the patient to normal living," Dr. Van Riper said. "For this, most patients need financial aid from the March of Dimes."

National Foundation research and professional education programs constantly provide new knowledge and trained personnel, he explained. The eventual conquest of paralytic polio is the goal and much progress has been made, but polio still cripples, he said.

TOTAL CASES FOR 5-YEAR PERIOD	96,904	197,190	?

JOIN THE MARCH OF DIMES JAN. 3 TO 31

More Getting Rehabilitation

"New treatment techniques, involving physical therapy and orthopedic surgery, plus improved self-help devices can give mobility to many paralyzed arms and legs," he declared.

A survey of 34,377 polio patients admitted or re-admitted to hospitals in 1953 showed that 6,298 of them had come back for this purpose, he added. Reports of admissions and re-admissions to hospitals during the first nine months of 1954 list 5,577 patients in this category out of a total of 25,097 admissions—more than one out of five.

Parallel Efforts

Describing the goals of the National Foundation, Dr. Van Riper said: "While the prevention of polio is our final objective, provision of the best available care and treatment must parallel our efforts to control it.

"We must provide the kind of treatment that will allow polio patients to return to their homes prepared and able to take an active part in the life of their community. You might say we must treat the whole person, not just the disease."

March of Dimes aid is essential, he declared. More dimes are vitally needed now to help thousands of polio patients realize their potentialities.

The campaign will continue until Jan. 31.

Dun & Bradstreet Requesting Financial Statements'

Each January business concerns in all parts of the United States receive from Dun and Bradstreet requests for their annual financial statements. This year the number of requests going out nationwide exceed three million, with over 300 going to Chilton County business men.

The Chilton County section of the current issue of the Dun and Bradstreet Reference Book contains listings of local names comprising manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers. It does not include some of the service and "professional" businesses, such as barber and beauty shops, real estate and stock brokers.

Better than 95 per cent of all commercial transactions in the United States are made on credit terms and the buyer and the seller are brought together by means of credit information.

When the owner of a business or his accountant returns his financial statement to Dun and Bradstreet, the owner has taken the first step in establishing his responsibiliy as a seeker of credit.

The statement becomes a part of the credit report on his business along with a financial analysis, a description of what the business does and a record of how it pays its bills.

On the basis of the information in the report, a rating is assigned and the businessman is listed in the Dun and Bradstreet Reference Book. This makes it possible for his suppliers and insurance underwriters, who use this book to look him up and in this way he is assisted in getting his goods and insurance.

In other words should a manufacturer or wholesaler receive an order for merchandise from a merchant in Chilton County, the listing and the rating of the merchant can be checked in the Reference Book. And it makes no difference where the seller is located. The listing of the Chilton County business man appears in every issue of the Reference Book in the United States.

A Reference Book listing contains the name of the business and the rating. The rating consists of two symbols. The first, a letter of the alphabet, indicates financial strength or capital. It is the difference between what the business owes and what it owns. The second symbol a numeral, reflects a composite of financial stability and payment record.

Cured meat should be smoked for the best quality product. Use green hickory, or some other hardwood, but never pine. Corn cobs will do if no hardwood is available.

Leaving Better Trees Improves Future Stands

Auburn, Ala.—A program for improving southern forest trees thru genetics research is now under way. It is being conducted at the API Experiment Station, the University of Florida School of Forestry, North Carolina State College, the University of Georgia, and other institutions in the South.

Commenting on the program, API Extension Forester Ike Martin said the idea behind the plan is to improve forest trees through developing better strains of seeds for production of future timber crops.

"But forest owners need not wait for results of this project to improve stands," Martin added. He suggested that farmers leave their best trees to reproduce and cut inferior ones for lumber and pulpwood.

The Extension expert quoted Dr. Clemens M. Kaufman, director of the University of Florida School of Forestry and chairman of the Southern Forest Improvement Committee, who pointed out that much of the timber and pulpwood used in the U. S. comes from the South. Tree improvement must go hand in hand with increased production if the southern forest industry is to meet this demand, said the committeeman.

NEW CONTROL FOUND FOR LP GAS SYSTEMS

LP (liquid petroleum), which is used for cooking and heating in many rural homes, has for the past few years been making headway as a fuel for tractors and trucks. And now, a national aviation corporation has developed a control which should give the fuel another boost in popularity.

J. T. Gaillard, API Extension farm machinery specialist, said this week a new line of more compact LP gas carburetion systems features a unique control. This control meters the fuel, providing extra gas for pulling, or for heavy loads, and then lessening the flow when the [illegible] Reports in the company which developed the control claim it will mean cheaper operation.

According to the Extension expert, LP can be cheaper over a long period of time if it is handled properly. He emphasized that these systems are complete and not just adaptors to regular tractor and truck engines.

Isabella School—

The F. F. A. boys have recently built a stalk cutter, remodeled the office and are remaking new tables for the shop. They say learning about electricity is hard, but they enjoy it.

The Mustangs are playing some good games in basket ball. Of course, they are losing as well as winning some games.

The home economics classes are studying foods and nutritions, also they are planning and preparing and serving meals.

Some of the groups are studying the home as to the furnishings and land scaping the farm home. They are also learning to refinish old floors and furniture.

The following girls are working for the State Degree, Janice Henley, Betty Jean Milford, and Mary Nell Veazey. The F.H.A. will have chapel program the fourth Thurs.

SEXED, STRAIGHT-RUN WHICH CHICKS BETTER?

Should poultrymen buy sexed or straight-run chicks? "The answer to this question," says API Extension Poultryman John Weeks, "must be decided on the basis of what business they are in."

Weeks goes on to say that farmers producing market eggs usually find it advantageous to buy sexed chicks, especially when they are short on labor, space, or capital. With sexed chicks, producers don't have to raise the cockerels, so they have more time, space, and food for the pullets.

Anonymous Donor Gives Needed Cornea, To Raymond Popwell

An anonymous donor completed a long trip yesterday when he arrived at a Birmingham hospital determined to give Raymond Popwell of Clanton a chance to see again.

Raymond lost the sight in both his eyes in a dynamite explosion on his farm on the Maplesville Highway six weeks ago. One eye is completely beyond vision but the other may be able to see the world again if it is given a new cornea.

The unknown donor gave the needed cornea from an eye in which he was blind. The removed cornea was put on refrigeration until it can be grafted into Raymond's eye.

The Birmingham eye surgeon who has volunteered his services in the fight to give Raymond back his vision, plans to make the graft within the next few days.

The donor, whoever he may be, can rest assured that there is thanks in the hearts of many people in this section, and Raymond in particular, for this unselfish sacrifice to help his fellow man.

Three Basketball Games At Local Gym Tonight

Three basketball games will be played tonight (Thursday) at the Chilton County High School beginning at 6:30.

Admission will be 10c or any larger contribution which you see fit to give to the March of Dimes. Girl teams from Thomas Jr. and Enterprise will play one game; the National Guard will play the Jr. Chamber of Commerce; and Bob's Drive-In will play a team from Jemison.

You can see it matters little how much you like basketball. It all in fun and all for a worthy cause. You try to be there with a dime.

As an added attraction the Dixie Playboys will be on hand for special entertainment. The Playboys will donate their time and talent, but will charge 10c for each request number.

Remember, games start at 6:30.

Howard College Extension School Changes Dates

Due to the Evangelistic Conference to be held in Montgomery January 24 and 25 the Howard College Extension School will hold its classes here Thursday night, Jan. 27. The original meeting date was Tuesday, Jan. 25.

The cooperation of those attending the extension school will be greatly appreciated. School will be held in the First Baptist Church of Clanton.

Week-End Revival At Mulberry

There will be a week-end Stewardship Revival at the Mulberry Baptist Church this week-end, beginning at 7 p.m. on Friday, Jan. 21 and continuing through the Morning Worship Service on Sunday, Jan. 23. The visiting preacher will be the Rev. J. E. Berkstresser of Mobile, Baptist Field Worker for the Southern District of the State.

Visitors from other churches and other communities are welcome.

The Mulberry Baptist Church is located in the Isabella Community.

The pastor is the Rev. Evan H. Johnson.

State Mental Health Drive Starts Soon

Alabama's first large-scale Mental Health fund drive will be spearheaded by Tuscaloosa Atty. Marc Ray Clement and Walker County Probate Judge Lecil Gray.

Mr. Clement, named chairman for the drive which culminates in May, was president last year of the Alabama Tuberculosis Assn., and during World War II received national recognition for his leadership of Alabama war bond sales.

Judge Gray, Mental Health co-chairman, is president of the Ala. Probate Judges' Assn.

An all-Alabama advisory board for the campaign, including 45 outstanding leaders, was named last week. Advisory board members are at work now on some 40,000 letters to Alabama residents, advising them of campaign goals and needs.

A $150,000 campaign goal for this year was described by Mr. Clement today as representing approximately one-half of Alabama's annual mental health education needs. The drive is aimed at establishing mental health education clinics across the state, and promoting statewide concern over critically over-crowded and under-staffed conditions at Alabama's state mental hospitals. Dr. J. S. Tarwater, supt. of the hospitals, has estimated one out of every 17 Alabamians today is suffering some form of mental illness.

John Maples Retires After Twenty-Four Years As Cashier

John Maples

Mr. John Maples has retired as cashier of Bank of Maplesville, after serving the bank and the community in that capacity for 24 and a half years.

We are sure that Mr. Maples takes justifiable pride in noting the results of his good work, as the bank grew in size and service under his supervision, from a small institution to one approaching the million dollar mark. His cheerful and helpful spirit of cooperation with customers of the bank will be missed by innumerable people throughout the community and the county. However, all his friends are wishing Mr. Maples well-deserved happiness in his retirement.

Mr. Maples has been an active and faithful member of the Maplesville Baptist Church, throughout his residence here, serving as Sunday School teacher for 19 years, deacon, and currently as Sunday School superintendent.

He is president of the recently organized Lion's Club, and is interested in serving the interests of all projects involving community improvement. We wish him the best of all good things.

On Mr. Maplese retirement Mr. Ed Clapp, assistant cashier was promoted to cashier. We hope that Mr. Clapp will be as much of a credit to us as Mr. Maples has always been. Mr. Maples was not only the cashier of the bank, but our friend.

New Officials Take Over In Various County Offices

Several new officers took their oath of office before Judge M. D. Tingle this week and began their duties.

Sheriff R. Odell Payton, Chief Deputy James Payton, Coy Rucker, Ab Porter and Jess Motes all took the oath of office in the Probate Office Monday afternoon in a short ceremony.

Lawrence F. Gerald, the new Solicitor, took office the first of Jan when A. B. Foshee was appointed to fulfill the term of Winston Huddleston who retired. However, Gerald's term of office began on Jan. 17.

Another county officer-elect is Howard Boockholdt, County Supt. of Education, who begins on his term of office on July 1st.

Tax Collector-elect George Smith and Tax Assessor-elect Charlie Patterson will begin their term of office on Oct. 1st, 1955.

Wreck Near Jemison Leaves Several Hurt

A wreck two miles west of Jemison on the Maplesville-Jemison highway caused serious injury to Wagmon Hobson of Marion, Ala. and slightly injured several others.

Hobson was taken to a Selma Hospital but the others were given first aid at Central Alabama hospital and released. Involved in the accident were Mr. and Mrs. R. C. McPherson also of Marion and Curtis Studivant and William Caton of Thorsby.

Dr. Broyles On WKLF Monday

Dr. Vernon S. Broyles, Jr.

Dr. Vernon S. Broyles, Jr. is a native of Tenn., but spent his boyhood in Alabama. He was educated at Davidson College and at Union Seminary of Virginia. He did post-graduate work at the University of Tubingen, Germany. He became pastor of the North Avenue Presbyterian Church in Atlanta in 1941 where he served until 1950 when he became Executive Secretary of the newly-formed Board of Church Extension. After four and a half years he was called back to the North Avenue Church where he is now pastor. He took the lead in organizing and promoting the Overseas Relief Committee of the U. S. Presbyterian Church.

He will be heard in the radio series "Find Life With God" over Radio station WKLF on Monday January 24th at 8:15 a.m. His topic will be "Obedience to Christ's Commands."

Mrs. I. E. Bazzell Wins Duroc Gilt

Mrs. I. E. Bazzell of Mountain Creek has been named a winner of a register Duroc bred gilt in the Ralston Purina Company's Hog Contest for Southern farmers.

Mrs. Bazzell was one of 50 first place winners selected from more than 10,000 entries. Contestants wrote 50-word statements on "hogs at my farm because. . .". The entries were judged by three prominent Southern farm editors.

The fifty bred gilts that were presented to the winners were selected from the famous registered Duroc herd of the King and Anderson plantation at Clarksdale, Mississippi, largest pure bred Duroc herd in the world.

Mrs. Bazzell will now be eligible to compete with all the other winners in a pork production contest sponsored by Purina. Prizes will go to the ten persons who have the best pork production records from the gilts they won.

Chilton Farmers Praise Costal Bermuda

O. H. Lawrence, Billingsley, Rt. , in carrying out his soil and water onservation farm plan with the No. entral Soil Conservation District, stablished 10 acres of Coastal ermuda grass in the Spring of 952. Mr. Lawrence states, "I think at Coastal Bermuda is almost a nder plant, and I plan on plantg six more acres this Spring. My acres of Coastal furnished more azing last year than all the rest my farm. It looks like with od fertilizer application the only iting factor is water. I believe an milk 20-25 cows and keep my lacement heifers and grow the azing and hay off fifty acres. If farmer wants good grazing and y I don't believe he could go ong planting Coastal Bermuda."

Lloyd Mims of the Mt. Pleasant mmunity planted three acres of astal Bermuda in carrying out soil and water farm plan, and ans on establishing twelve more res this spring. Lloyd states, astal Bermuda is the only grass t I ever grew that paid off. Coasyielded ten times as much grazand hay as anything I have."

eon Mims, of the Mt. Pleasant mmunity, and also a cooperator the North Central Soil Convation District, states, "I think can make Coastal Bermuda tever you want by applying ilizer and nitrogen."

D. Posey of the Posey's cross ds community, in carrying out plan planted five acres of Coastal Bermuda in the Spring of 1953. S. D. states, "I think it is a mighty good grass. It is the only plant that I have grown that cows would leave Kudzu for."

Charlie Patterson of Clanton, and a cooperator of the North Central Soil Conservation District states, "I planted eight acres of Coastal Bermuda, and of course it has been extremely dry during the last two summers. I feel it's potential is unlimited if given fertilizer and moisture. During the drought of 1953 I cut twice for hay and carried 28 head of cows on the eight acres from August to November. This year I cut 800 bales of hay and grazed hard from the 1st of April until June and from August until after frost." Charlie further stated, "I plan on planting fifteen additional acres this spring."

Other district cooperators having Coastal Bermuda are R. O. Williams, W. A. Williams, A. R. Taylor, Cleve Mims, T. E. Blackmon, C. W. Walker, E. M. Varden, J. H. Johnson, Claude Harper, Jack Roberts, Lloyd F. Mims, Ed Clapp, S. A. Jones and Joe Higgins.

If you are interested in feed for cows (either hay or grazing) and conservation of soil, you should investigate Coastal Bermuda. The scarcity of other seed makes the establishment of Coastal one of the cheapest sod crops a farmer can plant for 1955.

—Prepare land now and plant on March 1st.

O. H. LAWRENCE LOOKS OVER STAND

West German Teacher Speaks To PTA Council

The Chilton County Council of the Parents and Teachers Assn. met January 17th at Verbena High School. Mrs. R. C. Williams, Pres. presided over a short business session. The local Presidents were asked to check with their treas. to be sure that all state dues have been mailed in, and all contributions to the National Headquarters building fund, have been sent in. Mrs. Williams urged each unit to have a Founder's Day program in February with one-half a silver offering. A report was given on the District meeting held in Pell City and an announcement was made of the Annual State PTA Convention, to be held in Gadsden, April 21, 22, 23.

After the business, Mr. U. J. Lambert, Principal of Mt. Pleasant, introduced Mrs. J. W. Johnson who gave a most impressive devotional.

Mr. Sidney Griffin, Principal of Enterprise, then introduced Mrs. Lawrence Burkhalter, President of the PTA at Enterprise and Mrs. Odis McGhee, program chairman, who presented a panel composed of four parents and four students, discussing, "Guidance as They Grow—The Junior High Student." Mrs. Howard Boockholdt discussed the importance of music in the growing of a well-rounded personality, and presented twelve of her students, singing three numbers.

A highlight of the meeting was when Mr. U. H. Abrams, Principal of Clanton Elementary School, presented his guest, Mr. Henrick Eichenauer, from Wichelmshaven, Germany, an exchange elementary teacher, who has been in the U.S. four months and is spending five weeks in Chilton County. Mr. Eichenauer spoke informally to the group and then answered many questions.

Mrs. Sidney Gibson, Jr., Pres. of the Verbena PTA, with members of her hospitality committee, served delicious refreshments and punch, from a beautifully appointed table, in the Home Economics room.

There were 84 present, including 69 adults, 15 junior high students, 8 principals and 2 supervisors.

The next meeting will be held April 18, at 7 p.m. at Coopers.

Happiness is contagious, but someone has to start the ball rolling.

"Build a better mousetrap and the world will beat a path to your door." True, but you have to advertise so the world will know where your door is.

THAT OTHERS MIGHT BENEFIT—

Sunday, January 16th, marked a momentous day in Clanton when the local group of Alcoholics Anonymous celebrated their fifth anniversary.

We know of no other group that has done as much to rehabilitate human beings than the AA's. They have taken derelicts considered to be beyond help and not only rebuilt them to respected citizens but also taught them how to be beneficial to their fellowman. These same "new" citizens in turn have helped to lift others from the gutter and given them back their self-respect.

While the AA is open to anyone, they have one of the most exclusive memberships in the world. Every man and woman who is a member of Alcoholics Anonymous has one goal in common—the curing of alcoholics who want to be cured.

Clanton, as well as the rest of the world, owe much to this self-supported organization. The men and women behind it are to be highly commended for their definite contribution towards a better world in which to live.

This fifth anniversary marked the total abstinance from the "fifth" for many a Clantonian.

BRITISH FIGHT LUNG CANCER—

Government health authorities in Great Britain have linked the steady rise in lung cancer in that Kingdom with cigarette smoking. Health authorities are now devoting attention and research to the problem of finding a check to the form of cancer which is claiming an additional thousand Britishers each year.

Sir John Charles, chief health officer in Great Britain, said recently that lung cancer was claiming an additional thousand victims annually and that death from all forms of cancer totaled 87,924 last year This was a new record for cancer deaths in Great Britain.

Now that British health authorities are facing the problem of cigarette smoking and lung cancer squarely, it can be hoped that efforts supported by the Government will produce results.

Too Many Accidents Happen On The 'Left' Side Of Roads

If the solid center line markings of the public highways in the State of Alabama had not been violated during Christmas holidays and New Year's week-end of 1954-1955:

1. 6 of the 21 accidents, causing the death of 25 people, would not have happened.

2. [illegible] 40 injuries were caused from driving on the wrong side of the road, or failure to yield the right-of-way.

3. 12 or 57 percent of the 21 accidents, causing the death of 25 people, were the results of the violation of the solid center line markings.

4. Of 87 injury accidents investigated, 45 or 51 percent were due to violation of the solid center line markings.

In 1953, on the highways of the United States, there were:

38,500 deaths. . .900 more than in 1952.

2,140,000 injuries. . . highest in history.

684,270 casualties from speeding

If the speeders, and certain other drivers, realized they would lose their driver's license for the violation of the center line markings, they would kill and injure few people but themselves and occupants of their car.

Proposed Law

1. Individuals convicted of the violation of the solid center line markings of the public highways in passing another automobile, bus or truck on blind hills and curves automatically lose their driver's license.

First conviction driver's license suspended for a period of not less than thirty days, pay a fine of not less than $25.00.

Succeeding convictions driver's not less than six months, a fine license suspended for a period of jail sentence or both - at the discretion of the Judge.

The law in small red type to be printed on or attached to each driver's license issued.

2. The Legislature to pass more strenuous laws, and the laws be enforced, for driving on the wrong side of the highway, and in the wrong lane of traffic on the super highways.

If you approve of the law, write the Legislature endorsing it, and use your influence with your friend to do the same.

Sincerely yours,
-- C. C. McLean

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

In addition to receiving three special messages from the President, the members of the 84th Congress last week also were given their committee assignments.

President's Messages

In his first message President Eisenhower asked Congress for a three-year extension of his authority to negotiate reciprocal tariff reductions. He asked that he tariff rates by not more than five be permitted to reduce selected percent each year for the three-year period, to reduce to 50 percent any rates in excess of that level, and to decrease by half the rates on goods now being imported in very small quantities or not at all.

The President, in this message, asked for legislation to simplify customs procedures by revising the standards for valuation of imports. As a means of stimulating international travel, he requested Congress to raise from $500 to $1000 the amount of duty-free goods which tourists can bring home to this country in a six-mo. period. In addition, he suggested a 27 percent cut in corporate rates on business income from foreign branches of American companies in order to encourage investment abroad. His message also recommended continued participation by the United States in technical assistance programs. Along this line, he asked for American participation in international trade fairs as a means of telling the story of our system of free enterprise.

The President believes that the enactment into law of these particular recommendations will strengthen the foreign economic policies of our country.

In his second special message to Congress, the President asked for an increase in the salaries of postal workers and other federal employees and a boost in postage rates. For postal employees he recommended a flat five percent raise and for other federal workers an average of five percent with the largest increases being in the middle grades. He also asked for a group health insurance program for government workers of which the employees would pay about two-thirds of the total cost.

Although the President did not suggest a specific amount for postage increases, it is generally assumed that he favors a one-cent hike on first class and airmail letters as well as increases on second and third class mail. However, Sen. Frank Carlson (R. Kan.) who is ranking minority member of the Senate Civil Service Committee, has stated that he does not interpret the President's message as insisting on a postal rate increase at this particular time.

His third message, delivered to Congress last Thursday, called for a four-year draft law and legislation to create a vast military reserve force for the defense of our country in case of atomic attack. The President also asked for a secondary, non-organized reserve of men with prior service who could be called to duty by a selective process if they were needed. To induce more men to join the military forces, he suggested selective pay increases for members of the armed servics.

These three special messages contained some of the President's legislative recommendations for '55. will be followed by Congress can How closely his recommendations only be a matter of speculation at this time.

Gets Committee Post

I was very fortunate to be one of the seven Democratic Congressmen selected last week to serve on the House Foreign Affairs Committee. All new members of this Committee have seen previous service in the House as no freshmen Congressmen were assigned to it.

You will recall that the Sixth District was represented on the Foreign Affairs Committee for a number of years by former Rep. Pete B. Jarman. Senator Sparkman is at present a member of the Foreign Relations Committee which is the Committee on Foreign Affairs' counterpart in the Senate.

WRONG SHOES INJURE YOUNG, TENDER FEET

According to a recent survey, almost 80 percent of youngsters between five and 18 years of age have foot trouble.

Reporting on the survey's findings, API Extension Clothing Specialist Kathleen Thompson said this week the majority of children's foot ills are caused, or are aggravated by outgrown shoes. "A proper shoe-buying schedule for your child may stagger you," declared the specialist. "But if it is not followed, your neglect may cause the child to stagger now or years later with foot ailments."

Miss Thompson explained that the slightest tightness in shoes can cause trouble and that the wearing of soft-soled canvas shoes often leads to foot ills. Pointing out that young feet change size every four to eight weeks in youngsters from two to six and only a little less frequently thereafter, the clothing expert urged parents to make a special effort to see that growing feet are properly protected.

IT'S MY OPINION

How about those New Year's resolutions you made? You didn't? Well, Let me say you should have made some sort of "do better" resolve.

For those who didn't there are any number of things that we do every day that we shouldn't or that we should be more moderate with.

You could promise yourself to go to church every Sunday like someone I know did, and incidentally have held to it so far.

You might go to bed earlier at night or just plain take better care of yourself.

Some might quit smoking, but maybe you'd better pick something possible this year. No, seriously, it is entirely up to you whether you stick to your resolution, whether it be to quit smoking or to put the dog up every night.

For the young folks, we know very few who couldn't resolve to be a little more considerate and respectful to their elders, especially their parents. Not one boy or girl couldn't do better in this respect because you just can't have too much respect for your parents.

Maybe you could resolve to take more time off the job to do things with the rest of the family or in some cases, vica versa, take time off from the playing around to spend a little time and effort on boosting your chances for advancement.

Perhaps some of us could be a little more friendly and much more lenient with the folks around us and the ones we work with every day of the year. None of us have reached the height of either, probably. And there are folks around us right here in our town and county who are not what we'd call the most pleasant folks we know. Don't know whether they're self-centered or just plain don't give a darn, but it pays in the end and you'll be happier with yourself, especially if you're self-centered. If you'll wear a smile and speak to your acquaintances occasionally it will pay unbelievable dividends now and later.

Speaking of leniency, be more patient with grandma or grandpa when they don't quite sound like they know what's going on, but try to solve the problem anyhow. Time was, when they were in the same boat as you, and just might could have worked the problem out a whole lot better.

Now that their thinking has slowed up some, isn't reason to brand them as know nothings that should be stuck off in the corner somewhere. They may make the problem more complex at times, but think of the times when they were and are so helpful about things that we, as younger folk aren't able to see as yet.

Did you resolve to put more into your church and charitable organizations? If you haven't yet, it is never quite too late.

Or maybe some of us would like to start a little nest egg in 1955. Best way to do that is to sacrifice some of the things you want and enjoy. To get what we want, most of the time we have to sacrifice something else we already have in order to get that which we want. It's fair I guess.

One of the best resolutions that was ever made is, we think, the one the boy scouts make each and every year and every new member of that organization is required to make upon entering. That is, the one about doing a good deed every day for someone. There's not many of us that do that, even boy scouts, and each of us could make another happy by going out of his way just once a day. 'Course there is no law that says you can't do more than one, but that's up to you. And you'd be surprised at the possibilities of good deeds that we overlook every day. They're around to do if you'll just not avoid them. Do a little one today and a lot of big ones tomorrow.

THE PHILOSOPHER

by "Tuck"

Looks like Bro. Esty out Presbyterian Church way has it in mind to dress up his premises. He has recently installed two big flood lights in front of the church building which are strategically placed to set off the best features of the place. We didn't realize they had such an attractive church building until we saw it all brightened up one night. Now we look forward to seeing it at night when we pass that way. It is very effective and could prove even more so if folks would take it as a sort of subtle hint that there's a light that some of us have yet to see.

Here's a sure test for your religion or how much good going to Sunday School does you. Come out and find some joker has slung mud all over your brand new wash job. Brother if that doesn't make you see red you should go to Sunday School every week, it must help you. On the other hand if it does make you see red. . . you should go every week too, you need it. After what happened to us last week, we think we'd better go twice a week for the second reason.

We had a paragraph all set up this week about someone volunteering to take down the Christmas lights and before we could get a word in, ole' George Fulmer was up on them poles again unstringing the lights he strung up before the holidays. We don't know whether job the first time or not, but we or not George volunteered for the feel certain that he was appointed the second time. Anyhow they're down and we hope they're in good enough shape to use again next season.

A lot of people who feel they are a success would really be successful if they hadn't got the definitions mixed up.

Hear about the little kitten who asked the other little kitten why he didn't purr like an engine.

After the gas man had repeatedly muffed the job the harassed customer asked him, "How can you possible guarantee your work as incompetent as you are?" The gas man looked up and said, "I've never had any complaints, that's probably because anyone who would complain about something big like a leak or something wouldn't be around to argue with me."

Looked up from our work last Wednesday and lo and behold there stood Superman. We always kinda had a notion that he was nothing but a funny book character, but it was him, in the flesh. He had flown down from Thorsby to pick up a job for Mr. Ogburn at the bank. He was a great deal younger than what we would have imagined. . . guess he was every bit of four. He had a little lady with him too and although he didn't call her Lois we assumed it was his best gal Miss Lane.

He had on a Superman outfit allright, but we got a tip from a reliable source after "the man of steel" had left and they said it was Mighty Mouse in disguise. Now that we can almost believe, for he was surely a pint sized hero.

HILL INTRODUCES BILL TO EQUALIZE GI LOANS IN CITY AND RURAL AREAS

Senator Lister Hill, Democrat of Alabama, the new Chairman of the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare, will introduce a bill to equalize the guarantees on veterans' housing loans so that a veteran seeking to purchase a farm home can obtain from a private lender a loan guaranteed up to $7,500, the same amount now authorized to guarantee loans for city dwellings.

The bill amends the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944 so as to authorize loans for farm housing to be assured or guaranteed under the same terms and conditions as apply to urban residential housing. As now written, the law provides a $7,500 government guarantee of private loans for the purchase of city homes by veterans, but only $4,000 for guarantees on loans for the purchase of farms for residence.

"A veteran who prefers to live on a farm should be able to borrow from private lenders money guaranteed up to the same amount as a veteran who wishes to borrow for purchase of a home in the city," said the Senator. "Such veterans are entitled to equal treatment in securing loans for purchasing or constructing or making improvements on their homes."

Congressman Ed Edmondson from Okla. (D.), chairman of the Subcommittee on Veteran Housing of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, is author of the companion bill in the House.

Letter To The Editor

MR. R. M. Tucker, Editor
Chilton County News
Clanton, Alabama

Dear Mr. Tucker:

You as a newspaper editor should be vitally interested in reducing highway traffic fatalities.

In an endeavor to educate the general public to the danger of the violation of the solid center line markings of the public highways, the enclosed article is being submitted for publication in the "News".

The violation of the solid center line markings is not generally considered a major cause of the highway fatalities. In statistical reports it is classified by highway departments and newspapers as collisions between motor vehicles.

Sincerely yours,
-s- C. C. McLean

There were regular services at Mulberry church Sunday with Bro. Evan Johnson, pastor, delivering two wonderful messages.

Mulberry church is fortunate to have Rev. J. E. Bertkstress, Baptist Field Worker for the Southern District of the State of Alabama to lead in a week-end stewardship revival this week-end. The meeting will be at 7 p.m. on Fri. and Sat., January 21 and 22 and will close with the morning service on Sunday, Jan. 23. All members of the Mulberry church are urged to attend this special meeting and visitors will be cordially welcome.

There will be baptismal services at Mulberry on next Sunday night.

Bro. Johnson, announces that he plans to attend the Evangelistic conference, being held at the First Baptist church in Montgomery, on Monday and Tuesday of next week. He will drive down on Mon. and Tuesday and will return after the night services each night. Other members of the church would receive a rich blessing if they could attend all or a part of these services. The speaker for Monday night will be Dr. C. Roy Angel of Miami, and for Tuesday night, Dr. C. Oscar Johnson of St. Louis.

Mr. W. T. Tucker and the other workers on the Mulberry Baptist church pastorium state that they hope to have it ready by this Thurs. so that the pastor and family can move in. Probably the outside may not be complete, and there will be some work to be done after they move into it.

The librarians are happy to tell you we have some new books in the church library. The following are some of them: Silver Wings by Grace Livingston Hill; Life With Family, and the Bogby's of Brazil, some Ken books and others. Are you going to be the first to check them out?

The Jr. GA's met with Mrs. Emma Manning on Tuesday January 11 with twelve members and their leader, Mrs. Lewis McGee. Mary Elizabeth Sexton, the president presided over the business. Plans were made to send clothes to the needy in Mobile County. A program from the G.A. magazine, Tell, was given by several members.

Cookies, candy and Cokes were served by the hostess. The group stated that they enjoyed the social together.

The Mable Woodward circle met with Mrs. Mac Lecroy on Wed. Jan. 11. After the business session a program on faith was given with Mrs. R. R. Webster as leader. Seven members enjoyed refreshments during the social hour, served by the hostess.

The Ruth Ford circle met with Mrs. Casey Cummings on Tuesday, Jan. 10 at 7 p.m. with ten members present. Plans were completed and money given to pay for the hot water heater for the pastorium, which has recently been purchased. A program from Royal Service was given. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

A Star and A cross—

Looking up into a star-strewn heaven one December night, a young boy said, "look, dad, if you squint your eyes a little, each star looks like a tiny cross." His words remind us that there was a cross in the Star of Bethlehem, too. Even as the Prince of Peace lay cradled in his mother's arms, the hateful cross had been erected in the hearts of men.

Did the child see beyond the glitter and excitement to the deeper, fuller meaning of Christmas? Why not purpose anew that in the home there will always be a time for gratitude as you reflect on God's love. Thanks be to God for his unspeakable gift. II Cor. 9:15.

Friendship—

Friendship is a gift of God. It brightens all our ways. It blesses and enriches life in so many happy ways. A friendship never leaves your side if it is tried and true. For it is something you have won and it belongs to you. In friendship there is faith and hope and boundless charity, a helping hand and most of all, sincerest sympathy.

Sen. Hill Introduces Rural Library Bill

"Our farm and other rural families can and should enjoy the same library advantages as urban residents by having ready access to books, newspapers, magazines and other sources of information," Senator Lister Hill of Alabama, New Chairman of the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare, said as he announced that he and 7 other Senators, will today introduce a Rural Library Services bill.

"Rural America lives in a rapidly changing and extremely complex world. In its daily life, the farm family in America must keep up with all the new ideas and current facts regarding new products, new markets, new methods of farming, new sources of income and new ways of farm family living. As responsible citizens, our rural people must have the same opportunity as their city friends to keep abreast of the rapidly changing developments in the Nation and the world which must be understood by all of us if we are to cope with the many problems that threatens the economic strength and security of our country and the peace of the world," Alabama's Senior Senator continued.

"Over 26 million Americans, some 90 percent of whom live on farms or in small communities, are still without access to modern library services. The bill which I shall introduce today and which will be co-sponsored by Senators Aiken of Vermont (R.); Douglas from Ill. (D.); Jackson from Wash. (D.); Mansfield from Montana (D.); Carlson from Kansas (R.); Ives from N. Y. (R.); and Langer from N. Dakota (R.); aims at filling this important gap in our educational machinery. The bill authorizes $7,500,000 a year and is based on a five year program of grants to be used by State library agencies to foster the development of rural library services. It is, of course, so drafted as to guarantee that there can be no possibility interference with or control over State or local library agencies," Senator Hill concluded.

Cox Chapel News

Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson moved to Helena last week. They reported that they like it there just fine.

Committee Announces 1955 Farm Conservation Program

Chilton County's ASC Committee announced today that Chilton County farmers may request the Federal Government to share the cost of eligible practices on their farms in 1955 under the County Agricultural Conservation program which has been recently formulated by the County Committee, Community Committeemen and local representation of the Soil Conservation Service, Extension Service, Forest Service and Farmers Home Administration.

According to a committee spokesman the County program will help us to achieve necessary conservation of our soil and water resources which have become vital factors concerning our future prosperity.

Participation in the Agricultural Conservation program is entirely on a voluntary basis. Any farmer who believes he can do the needed conservation job on his farm without the aid of limited funds available under the program is urged to do so.

Federal cost sharing for practices contained in the County ACP program is conditioned upon the performance of the practices in accordance with all applicable specifications and program provision. Complete practice specifications and other information may be obtained at the County ASC Office.

Practices for which farmers may request cost-sharing under the 1955 County program are as follows:

1. Initial establishment of a permanent vegetative cover in orchards and vineyards for control of erosion.

2. Initial establishment of a permanent vegetative cover for soil protection or as a needed land-use adjustment.

3. Establishment of additional acreages of vegetable cover in crop rotation to retard erosion and to improve soil structure, permeability, or water-holding capacity.

4. Initial improvement of an established permanent vegetative cover for soil or watershed protection.

5. Initial treatment of cropland by liming to permit the use of legumes and grasses for soil improvement and protection.

6. Planting, interplanting, or replanting trees on farmland for erosion control, watershed protection, or forestry purposes.

7. Initial improvement of a stand of forest trees for erosion control, watershed protection, or forestry purposes.

8. Establishing permanent sod waterways to dispose of excess water without causing erosion.

9. Initial establishment of permanent vegetation to stabilize and protect gullies, dams, diversion ditches, drainage ditches, farm road ditches, and field borders.

10. Constructing terraces to detain or control the flow of water or check soil erosion on sloping land.

12. Constructing and enlarging permanent drainage systems to dispose of excess water. 12c per cubic yard.

13. Constructing farm ponds for livestock water to obtain proper distribution of livestock and encourage rotation grazing and better pasture management as a means of protecting established vegetative cover.

14. Constructing or deepening wells for livestock water to obtain proper distribution of livestock, and encourage rotation grazing and better grassland management as a means of protecting established vegatitive cover.

15. Constructing ponds for irrigation water.

16. Constructing permanent cross fences to obtain better distribution and control of livestock grazing and to promote proper management for protection of the established forage resource.

17. Initial establishment in the cropping system of winter annual legumes, annual ryegrass, or rescue grass for winter protection from erosion.

The period for filing requests for cost sharing under the program is from January 24 through February 15, 1955.

This program announcement is made at this time in order to give county farmers an opportunity to study the Conservation practices for which ACP cost-sharing is available in relation to the Conservation needs for the farm and decide on one or two practices for which ACP cost-sharing is most needed.

Forms on which request for cost-sharing must be made may be obtained at the County ASC office which is located at 106½ North 7th Street in Clanton.

Baptist Revival Taking Shape

Our people are getting into the swing of the Simultaneous Revival Crusade in a most interesting way. Seventeen churches have already made plans in a definite way in the Chilton-Unity Association up to this writing for their Spring Revival.

The dates for the revival in this Association will range all the way from February 27 to April 3rd. Some of the Evangelists for our spring revivals here have been employed for 18 months, but the brethern have a wonderful spirit of cooperation in the matter.

Great rallies have been planned by the various Chairmen who have various duties assigned to them. There will be a WMS Rally at the Liberty Hill Church, Feb. 24th, at 7:00 p.m. A music rally will be held at the First Baptist Church, Clanton, on Sunday afternoon, Feb 27th, at 2:00. A Youth Rally will be held at the West End Church on March 5th at 7:00 p.m. There will be a Sunday School Rally planned with some of our State Workers as main speakers. The date for this meeting will be announced soon.

The Pastors' Conference which will be held at the First Baptist Church on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 12, will be given over entirely to a "Prayer Meeting." So you can see that every effort possible is being put forth for the greatest revival crusade in the history of this country.

Every church in the Association is prayerfully urged to get into the swing with us on this great concerted effort. There is nothing that we can even imagine that is needed like an old time revival in our midst. We just cannot afford to let this opportunity go by in any of our churches when all around us will be great gospel preaching, singing, praying, and personal soul-winning efforts.

Let us know when your plans have been made in your church. We desire to list them in our advertising. Publicity Chmn.

ORPHANED LAMBS NEED CARE, NOT CODDLNG

Auburn, Ala.—An orphaned lamb is a pathetic little animal that most folks just naturally want to coddle. But much petting and bottle feeding are not best for the lamb, and these practices waste time and money for the owner.

According to W. H. Gregory, API Extension livestockman, a motherless lamb is better off if he is adopted by another ewe. Ewes recognize their lambs by smell, however, some steps have to be taken to get a foster mother whose lamb has died to adopt the orphan. Gregory says it can usually be done in one of several ways.

Sometimes a little of the ewe's milk rubbed on the lamb will make her take it as her own. The milk trick combined with the nearby presence of a dog will usually bring out the ewe's protective maternal instincts and do the trick. As a last resort, a farmer can take the skin of the mother's dead lamb and tie it around the orphan until she recognizes it.

George D. Smith Named To Head March of Dimes

George D. Smith, Chilton County's Tax Collector-Elect, is this year's County Chairman for the March of Dimes Drive. For nearly a month George has been contacting workers in every Beat and arranging to have local chairmen aid in the collecting of dimes and dollars for the fight against Polio. These workers will call on you during January and you are urged to cooperate with them to the fullest extent possible. Your dime today. . .may keep Polio away! Give generously to the 1955 March of Dimes!

The Beat Chairmen who will select workers for each community are as follows:

Beat 1, Mrs. Crit Jones; Beat 2, Mrs. Haymon of Jemison; Beat 3, Mrs. J. C. White; Beat 4, Mrs. Russell Williams, Mrs. Jim Wade, Mrs. Alex, Hayes, Ott Miller, Geo. Smith and others; Beat 5, Mrs. Winston Calloway, and others to be listed later; Beat 6, Mrs. Rayford Jones; Beat 7, Frank Brown and Mrs. Ed Clapp; Beat 8, Mrs. J. T. O'Neill; Beat 9, Sam Bentley; Beat 10, Mrs. Lois Taylor; Beat 11, Mrs. Young; Beat 12, Lonnie Cost; Beat 13, Sidney Porter; Beat 14 and 15, to be announced; Beat 16, Mrs. Huston Robinson. These Chairmen will report the names of their co-workers.

Other important key workers are Mother's March Chairman, Mrs. Russell A. Williams; Treasurer, Melvin, Headley; Chairman of Colored People, Rev. E. L. Mitchell; Special Events Chairman, Marion W. Easterling; Schools' Chmn James Duke Heflin; Publicity Chmn., Helen Parrish.

As these workers and others begin the task of raising money for the 1955 March of Dimes, they ask you to remember that only the full cooperation of every citizen in Chilton County will assure a successful campaign. A portion of everything you give stays in Chilton County to help local Polio victims!

HIGHLAND NEWS

Mrs. J. C. Billingsley

(Too Late For Last Week)

Our attendance was small Sunday on account of sickness and bad weather. The pastor, Bro. A. V. Bice, brought two wonderful messages Sunday and Sunday night. The ones who were not there missed a blessing.

Remember Thursday night is prayer meeting and family night. It seems like we are not interested in our prayer meetings on Thursday night. What is the matter with us all? Did you know that God expects to see his children at the House of the Lord every time there is a service.

We are very sorry to learn that Mrs. Edd Langston was operated on for appendicitis Sunday night at the Central Alabama Hospital. But we are very proud to know she is doing just fine. Let us all remember her in our prayers and visit her when we can. Not only her, but all the others who are sick in the community.

The Spring Revival will begin here the second Sunday night in March and continue throughout the week. Services at night only. The pastor will bring the messages. Keep this in mind and continue to pray for this revival.

NOW YOU RENEW YOUR DRIVERS LICENSE ON B'DAY

Montgomery, Ala.—Repetition of bygone years when there was a mountain of work for the Drivers License Division of the Public Safety Department once every two years is a thing of the past.

From now on, the Driver License Division expects its work to be spread out evenly over the entire year instead of having the situation where hundreds of thousands of licenses had to be issued in a matter of weeks once every two years.

The 1953 Legislature brought about the change.

It passed a law saying that each motorist would renew his driver license on his birthday anniversary, and to spread the work load out for the division, the lawmakers said that persons born in odd numbered years would renew theirs in the odd numbered year and that those born in even numbered years would renew theirs in even numbered years.

State driver licenses are issued for a two-year period and cost $2.25.

Capt. J. F. Brawner, chief of the Driver License Division, has said that each person holding a license will be sent a notice when it is up for renewal. This notice will serve as an application for a new license.

As for 1955, since it is an odd-numbered year, persons born in odd numbered years only will renew their licenses.

In all counties but Jefferson and Mobile driver licenses must be renewed through the probate judges of the respective counties. The commissioner of revenue will handle renewals in Jefferson and Mobile.

Slugger Wins the "Home" Game

Slugger White, the home town's star hitter, dropped by the other day to talk baseball, and to "tell one" on himself.

Seems Slugger had been baby-sitting. "I was doing just fine," he said, "until it was time for a 'change.' I called Mom for advice. Still didn't get it right. Then Dad set me straight."

"'Place the diaper like a baseball diamond with you at bat,' he said. 'Fold second base over home plate, and pin first and third base on home plate.' That did it—with no errors!"

From where I sit, Slugger's Dad had the idea. Often, like his Mom, a lot of us tend to give advice in our terms without considering the other fellow's way of doing things. Even in choosing your favorite beverage, it's best to think of your neighbor. If you like tea, and I prefer a temperate glass of beer, we should both "play the game" and try to understand each other's point of view.

Styling that's stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars!

The styling spotlight blazes down on a low-cost car this year—for the Motoramic Chevrolet is stealing the show from the high-priced cars with its subtle sweep of line, the brilliant sophistication of its European-type grille, the bold rake of its deep-curved windshield.

And there's even more excitement in the way it drives—the velvety comfort of Glide-Ride front suspension and outrigger rear springs, the handling ease of Ball-Race steering, the flashing performance of the new 162-h.p. "Turbo-Fire V8" engine or the two new "Blue-Flame" 6's. All this—plus the extra-cost options of Powerglide or Overdrive and a full range of power assists. Try a 1955 Chevrolet—now—and you'll know why it is stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars.

The luncheon table was covered with an imported linen cloth and centered with a milk glass Epernge, with brass cupid's feet and filled with fresh fruit. Flower arrangements in the living room and at the pier mirror were Narcissus, purple Iris, fevertew and fern.

Mr. Eichenaur is an exchange elementary teacher who has been in the states about four months and is spending several weeks in Chilton County observing educational methods.

Garden Club Met With Mrs. Johnston

The Garden Club of Clanton met on Tuesday afternoon, January 11 at the home of Mrs. Ralph Johnston. In the absence of the pres. Mrs. C. J. Carlisle presided. The meeting was opened by reading the Club Collect. Roll call was answered with members naming a native flowering shrub. Committee reports were given and other business dispensed with, after which Mrs. Woodrow Rockett presented the program for the day. She had for her topic, "The Value of Pruning Shrubbery," and she gave some very interesting gand valuable information on this subject.

At the close of the meeting the hostess served a delicious salad plate to the thirteen members present. One new member, Mrs. Fred Blackmon, was welcomed into the club.

Many Clanton Folk Attend Inaugural Ceremonies

Among the many thousands who attended the Inaugural ceremonies of Gov. James E. Folsom in Montgomery Monday were many Clanton folk.

Attending the Prayer Breakfast at the Whitley Hotel were Judge M. D. Tingle, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Speaks, Red Fulmer, Lewis Headley, Vernon Payne, Alex Hayes, Jim Dunlap, Harold Smith, and Hollis Jackson.

The parade held much interest for our local folk. Riding the beautiful and colorful Chilton County float were Misses Martha Bell, Ardith Ann Askins, and Janice Wood. And of course the CCHS well as the Maplesville High School Band Members and Majorettes as Band added much to the parade. Others riding in the parade were Chilton County's Representative Frances Speaks; Judge M. D. Tingle, Commissioners Jim Dunlap and Harold Smith and driven by Alex Hayes.

Representative and Mrs. Francis Speaks were present for all the inaugural activities. In addition to attending the Prayer Breakfast and participating in the parade and the Inaugural Ceremony they took part in the reception at the Mansion and the Ball that night.

Others seen enjoying the events were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gray, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cox, Mrs. Crit Jones, Mrs. J. D. Bullington, Mrs. James Parr, Mrs. Charles Wade, and son, Cecil, Pud Walker, Mrs. J. I. From over the County were seen Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Gulledge and Mrs. Charles Strock of Verbena, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Morgan of Cooper.

Donna Daniel Is Three Years Old

It was a happy time for Donna Daniel when she celebrated her 3rd birthday on Friday, Jan. 14, when her mother, Mrs. Curtis Daniel, entertained at their home with a play party from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

As the little guests arrived they were directed to the play room where small tables and chairs were set up and toys arranged for their playing convenience.

Winning the prizes for pinning the tail on the donkey were Amelia Bolton and Ken Poole.

Mrs. W. H. Klinner assisted in the games and took home movies of the happy group at play.

Donna's birthday cake was decorated in green and pink and was topped with 3 small candles. Across the cake was written, "Happy Birthday to Donna." As Donna blew out her candles the group sang Happy Birthday to her.

Cake, Ice cream, and a grape drink were served to the little guests.

Those enjoying the delightful courtesy were: Amelia and Louise Bolton, Kathy Wyatt, Belinda Brookshire, Judy Edwards, Gary and David Daniel, Ken Poole, and the honoree's sister Glenda.

Calling in the afternoon with lovely gifts and to wish Donna a Happy Birthday were Brenda Lecroy, Faye and Lynn Williams.

Mrs. Windham Hostess To Bykota Class

The Bykota Sunday School Class of the First Baptist held their Jan. meeting at the home of Evelyn Windham on last Monday evening.

Neil Powers, president, called the meeting to order. Prospective members and absentees were discussed. A sunshine Basket was prepared to carry to one of the class members.

The devotional was given by Lois Davis who used for her topic, "Be kind". She then led the group in prayer. Harriet Wyatt was in charge of the program which was on "Turning Over a New Leaf."

A delicious salad plate and dessert was served by the hostess.

A beautiful arrangement of gladioli in varigated colors adorned the dining room table.

Those present were Nell Mullins, Nell Burdette, Irma Durbin, Evelyn Vinson, Dot Lloyd, Frances Poole, Nell Powers, Marie Sims, Harriet Wyatt, Lois Davis, Bill Wyatt, Evelyn Windham and [illegible] Coppinger.

Clanton Music Club And Guests Enjoy Glyde Family Program

Members of the Clanton Music Appreciation Club and guests were very charmingly entertained on Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock when three members of the well known Glyde Family of Auburn presented a program of music with their string instruments.

Mrs. Leonard Farley was hostess for the occasion at her lovely home on the Lay Dam road. Co-hostess was Mrs. N. S. Johnson assisted by Mrs. W. A. Willis. Many beautiful arrangements of seasonal flowers adorned the living room where the party assembled.

Introducing members of the group was Mrs. Chester Gaines who told about the musical family. Mr. Edgar Glyde is a native of England a few of the many interesting facts where he received his musical training. At present he is Associate Professor of Music at API as well as conductor of the Montgomery Symphony Orchestra.

All members of the Glyde family play musical instruments; they are Mr. and Mrs. Glyde, and daughters, Wendy, who is 12 years old, Judy, who is 10, and Rose Marie, who is 6 years old.

A very entertaining program of music was presented as follows: Wendy Glyde who plays the viola and was accompanied by Mr. Glyde at the piano presented the 1st movement of the Veracini Sonata in E minor, Minuet by Mozart, and Moto Perpetuo by Carl Bohm. Judy Glyde who played the cello was also accompanied by her father at the piano. Her numbers were 2 movements from the Marcello Sonato in A minor, Cavatina by Raff, and Rigandon by Romeaa. As duets Judy and Wendy presented Govoppe and Mussette by John Sebastian Bach. As a trio, with Mr. Glyde at the violin, Wendy on the violin, and Judy on the cello they presented Allegro by Mozart from Symphony no. 12 and Prelude in C by Bach.

Prior to the program a business meeting was held with Mrs. W. A. Willis, president presiding.

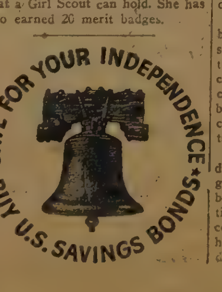
A delightful tea hour followed the program with Mrs. N. S. Johnson presiding at the tea table.

Nancy Meehan Receives Girl Scout Honors

Nancy Meehan, 15 year old daughter of Mrs. Martha E. Meehan, has recently received additional honors in her Girl Scout activities. Nancy has been selected as one of eight girls to represent her troop at a Southeastern Area Encampment in June. And in addition to this honor she was elected by members of this group to serve as their patrol leader.

By being selected patrol leader of her group, Nancy will attend a meeting of patrol leaders of the Southeastern region at Camp Aldersgate, Little Rock, Arkansas, March 18-21 with all expenses paid. She will be accompanied by a Huntingdon College student, Miss Rachael Fuller who is a neice of Mrs. Mary Oglesby of Clanton. At this March meeting the patrol leaders will study and plan the activities for the June 15-29 Encampment in Villa Platti, La. This encampment is to be a two week camping experience of primitive living.

Nancy has been very active in Girl Scout Work since she joined them six years ago. She has moved around to many different cities and towns but she always keeps her scout work as she does now, by being an associate member of troop 13 in Montgomery. Since becoming a member of the Scouts, Nancy has spent several weeks each summer in Girl Scout Camps. Nancy holds the treasured "Carved Bar" which is the highest honor of that type that a Girl Scout can hold. She has also earned 20 merit badges.



Women Of Church Met Last Monday

The Women of the Church met at the Presbyterian Church on Monday night, January 17.

Program chairmen and hostesses for the year were selected.

Mrs. J. S. Johnson, president, presented the program. She used for her topic, "The Introduction to the 1955 Work."

Around OUR HOUSE

The five-year-old has a toy motor boat, the kind that chugs around and around the bath-tub, and now his bath time lasts indefinitely. Thanks to that boat, he is cleaner than he has been in months—even his rusty heels are white again!

The other night, after a long session with his boat, he announced to anybody who might be listening:

"Well, I guess I'd better get out of the tub. I'm starting to shrinkle.

"Shrinkle?" I asked. I happened to be the one listening.

"Sure he answered. "I'm starting to shrinkle. Just come look at my hands and feet and you'll know what I mean."

He really was beginning to shrinkle.

Until he got that boat, I thought I was going to have to use the same treatment on him that the next door neighbor uses to get patches of dirt off her floors. She cleans the stubborn patches by rubbing them gently with fine steel wool moistened with turpentine.

That energetic next door neighbor is always busy at something. Not once have I ever seen her just sitting and rocking.

When I went over this morning, she was scrubbing the linoleum in her kitchen. I was tempted mightily to say to her: "Experts say more linoleum is washed away than is ever worn away," which is what I read just the other day. I restrained myself, however. It's comforting to know that my linoleum will last a long, long time!

The neighbor down the street, the one with the big family, does a lot of cleaning, but she admits it is a case of necessity, not because she is overly energetic or because she is a meticulous housekeeper.

"With a big family, there are always cleaning jobs to be done," she says. "One thing I thought I'd never get rid of is sticky fingermarks on furniture and woodwork. It seemed that everywhere the children touched, they left a sticky mark.

"The marks are left as often as before, but I now have a homemade solution to help get them off. I heated a quart of water and added 3 tablespoons linseed oil and 1 tablespoon turpentine to it, mixing well.

"When it had cooled, I bottled it to keep it handy for using on the sticky fingermarks. I wring out a cloth in that solution, rub the spot and then dry at once with a soft cloth.

"The sight of stick candy and popsicles doesn't fill me with dread the way it once did—not since I learned to use this remover."

This neighbor has found a way to keep her floors from being scarred by having furniture dragged across them, too.

"Youngsters, it seems, are never satisfied with the current arrangement of furniture, especially the position of chairs, and are always changing things about," she says. "I've found that waxing the rockers and feet of chairs helps protect the floors."

For lunch or for supper some night, try heating together equal parts of chicken soup with rice and onion soup. Real good!

EXTENSION PUBLISHES A NEW GARDEN BOOKLET

Auburn, Ala.—"Good Gardening for Better Living," a new bulletin published by the API Extension Service, is now available for free distribution through county agents' offices.

Announcng publication of the booklet, John Bagby, API Extension horticulturist, said this week the work has 11 color plates of common garden insects, the first color to be used in an Extension bulletin. Bagby wrote the book in cooperation with Experiment Station Horticulturst Charles Isbell.

Sections in the publication are devoted to every aspect of home gardening, Bagby declared. The book covers planning, planting, fertilizing, and cultivating the garden controlling pests and disease, and harvesting and using garden products.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

SLEEP

While the required hours of sleep vary in individuals, the rest is essential to good health. Some persons fare very well on a few hours of sleep, while others re quire more than the average eight. The type of sleep also plays a role in the amount of rest. A restless sleep, interrupted frequently by fitful periods of wakening is not conducive to good repair of body tissues. A good, sound sleep provides complete recovery from previous fatigue. Less than the conventional seven or eight hours of sleep proves, in most cases, wearing. The result is not only a haggard face but a strained disposition.

There are many persons who, otherwise normal, believe they require more hours of sleep, anywhere from ten to twelve hours. As a rule, the healthy person who wants an unusual amount of sleep is not suffering from mental exhaustion, but from lack of exercise and sluggish digestion. In fact there are some authorities who believe that oversleeping is just as bad as overeating.

Since sleep is essential to good health, every effort should be made be established. Freeing the mind of to induce body-building hours of slumber. Good sleeping habits should all care and worry is one step. Problems cannot be solved by restless thrashing about in bed. A mind, refreshened by a quiet sleep, can cope with the problems of everyday life with more logical application.

Room temperature is improtant in sleep. Bed clothing should be comfortable as should sleeping apparel. Sleep inducers should be avoided. These are but crutches for a normal pattern of sleep.

Help yourself to a good night's sleep by training yourself to good sleeping habits.

CAREFUL WITH CHEMICALS CAUTIONS DR. GILL

Alabama's State Helath Officer today urged the state's farmers to exercise care in the use of agricultural chemicals.

"Although the use of these chemicals has resulted in public benefits, such as improved nutrition," Dr. Gill pointed out, "their use is also potentially hazardous, because of their poisonous nature."

"Workers who apply these chemicals are often subjected to excessive exposure," Dr. Gill said, "and children are otfen accidentally exposed."

However, Dr. Gill pointed out that studies conducted by toxicologists showed that few accidents occur when instructions for the use of the chemicals are followed and the prescribed precautions are taken.

LESPEDEZA SEED SHORT, ORDER NOW FOR SPRING

Auburn, Ala.—The lespedeza seed crop produced during the past year was the second smallest in 18 years. It ran less than half the 1942-53 average.

J. C. Lowery, API Extension Service agrnomist, cited these figures this week, pointing out that the seeds are going to be short when planting time comes around. Lespedeza is planted in late February and early March over most of the state, Lowery said. Annual and perennial varieties are used in pasture mixtures, or seeded alone for grazing or for hay. The seeds produced in Alabama are grown chiefly in the Tennessee and Coosa valleys with some plantings in the Piedmont area.

Since the demand for seed is likely to exceed supplies, Lowery urged farmers to make arrangements for their spring seeds as soon as possible.

THORSBY NEWS

ESTELLE HAYES

Thorsby Institute News—

Semester examinations will be held on Thursday and Friday and the second semester will begin on Monday, Jan. 24.

Miss Mae Stoddard, now visiting in Japan, but a former teacher at Thorsby Institute sent a very fancy broom to Room 4, which was her home room last year.

Mrs. Pearl Mims of Thorsby Institute and Grandson, Robert Thomas Dorminey of Keesler Air Force Base, Biloxi, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. Carmon Mims and family and other members of the family had Sunday dinner with Mrs. G. C. Hindrix and grandmother Bates. It was a very nice birthday dinner for Eason D. Bates.

Miss Helen C. Jenkins and her mother, Mrs. Sarah E. Jenkins spent the week-end in Birmingham visiting Miss Grace Stanley who is still in st. Vincent hospital. They do not know when she will be able to be home.

Thorsby Institute boys played Coopers in a basketball game last week.

T. I. boys won the ballgame by a score of 64 to 42.

American Legion and Auxiliary—

The American Legion and Aux. enjoyed a pot-luck supper last Tuesday night, Jan. 11, at Legion Hall. A goodly number of members were present.

At this time the Legion Post voted to give $50.00 to Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Franklin. Mr. Franklin suffered a cerebral hemorrhage in late November leaving a permanent brain injury and paralysis.

They also voted to replace the three pints of blood given to Nels Petersen during his recent illness. Members of the Post giving the blood are: B. G. Johnson, Sam Bentley and Douglas Glass.

Neither of the two men who were so generously remembered Tuesday night by the Post, are war veterans, but are member of our community. The Legion and Auxiliary are always ready to help any worthy cause and community service is one of the main objects of the organization.

At the presentation of the pins to the Past Presidents the emblem of the Auxiliary was explained, as follows, "There shines the emblem of the American Legion Auxiliary. It is your badge of distinction and honor. It stands for God and Country and the highest rights of man. It consists of several parts and each part has a meaning. The rays of sun that form the background stand for the principles of Loyalty, Justice, Freedom, and Democracy; dispelling the darkness of violence, strife and evil. Unity and Loyalty are represented by the unbroken circle of blue. the field of white exemplifies the hope of Freedom. The star of blue is the emblem of service in war; it is no less the emblem of service in peace.

The emblem of the American Legion Auxiliary is the emblem of Americanism. Let us not forget that to each generation comes it's patriotic duty and upon willingness to sacrifice and endure as those who have gone before, have sacrificed and endured."

Our B.T.U. begins at 6:30 p.m. and preachingg service at 7:30 p.m. Let's everyone come out for Training Union.

We had several visitors for Sunday School and peraching. We were especially glad to have Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Headley.

Everyone remember prayer meeting every Wednesday night at 7:00 o'clock.

PROPER KILLING METHOD MAKES FOR BETTER PORK

Auburn, Ala.—Crisp days, cold nights—hog-killing weather is here. January and February will see a lot of pork go into smokehouses in Alabama, whether the animals are killed on the farm or at locker plants.

If you kill your hogs on the farm, Extension Animal Industry Specialist G. B. Phillips has some pointers for you to remember. Pick a clear, cool day with the temperature in the mid-thirties, and kill either early in the morning or late in the day so the hogs will chill out.

The animals to be slaughtered should be healthy and well finished, preferably from 200 to 250 pounds, says Phillips.

It is best not to let the hogs get too excited just before slaughter. Handle them quietly, kill quickly, and bleed immediately. If these steps are followed by a good clean job of scalding, cleaning, and cutting up the hogs, you should get some good pork, the expert concludes.

Mr. Akin I Collins and Mr. R. H. Goodgame purchased the gin and home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thompson last week.

Miss Betty Ray spent the week-end in Birmingham with her aunt, spent Sunday in Birmingham with Mrs. T. C. Curley.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Knight Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Cogburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Rube Williams attended the funeral of Mr. Arthur Ennis in Georgia last week.

NATIONAL MEETING OF COUNTY AND PROSECUTING ATTORNEYS

Birmingham, Alabama — County and prosecuting attorneys from all parts of the nation will gather here for a mid-winter session of the National Association of County and Prosecuting Attorneys, February 23-25.

Announcement of the meeting was made by Emmett Perry, Solicitor, Tenth Judicial Circuit of Alabama, who will serve as host to the group.

Mr. Perry said approximately 100 prosecuting attorneys will meet here to discuss policies of the Association and further close ranks against organized crime.

Mr. Perry said nationally known law enforcement figures will appear.

Harold W. Kennedy, of Los Angeles, national president of the Association said the group expects to emphasize its objects and purposes in its continuing program of "organized law enforcement vs. organized crime."

Mr. Kennedy said further: "The public law enforcement officers of the nation must be mindful of their responsibility in furnishing courageous and intelligent leadership in the struggle for law and order. National crime is increasing four times more rapidly than the population. Certainly, members of our organization must do all within our power to reverse this trend."

In addition to visitors from out-of-state, most of Alabama's circuit solicitors also are expected to be present.

Pallbearers for the services were Norris Felts, Clifford Holley, R. W. Hicks, Jr., Grady Adams, Woodrow Roberts and J. E. Rasmussen.

A number of relatives, friends and acquaintances live in this and adjoining communities.

Rarely is the story of Cancer relieved of its bleakness. But in the case of Geddes Self, principal of Walker County High School at Jasper, Ala. an outpouring of love and sympathy on the part of his fellow citizens would seem to have done all that human kindness could do to help him in his ordeal. Seriously ill with cancer, Mr. Self is faced with the necessity of long and expensive treatment in an effort to restore his health. Last week the people of Jasper officially observed "Geddes Self Day", conducting a successful campaign to raise funds to pay for an educator's treatment. Truly a man must have given much to a community to be so honored in the hours of his adversity.

Mr. Self, a former principal of Bibb County High School, Centreville, Ala. and Albert G. Parrish High School at Selma is dearly beloved by all who know him. Mr. Self underwent an operation at Dr. Pak's Cancer Clinic in New York, Friday, Jan. 7, and reports from his bedside say that his condition is good.

A reunion of all the Charlie Gay family at their home recently. Mr. and Mrs. George Gould (Ila Ruth Gay) and son of Brooklyn, N. Y. paid their parents a surprise visit and soon after their arrival telephones started buzzing and all the family gathered together for an enjoyable reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Played (Katherine Weaver) moved to Selma last week where they will make their home.

Marines Do Away With Enlistment Waiting List

Temporarily discontinuing a policy that has been in effect for the past few months, the U. S. Marines are now accepting men for immediate enlistment, thus doing away with the waiting list.

'This announcement came from M-Sgt. John T. Collier, NCO in charge of Marine recruiting in this area.

"We have just received instructions from Marine Corps Headquarters, Wash., D. C., which lifted the restrictions concerning the number of men we may enlist during certain periods of the month."

"It means simply that any qualified young man who wants to enlist and go on duty immediately may do so without having to wait as was the previous policy."

Young men who enlist are sent immediately to the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S. C. for ten weeks of basic training.

Upon graduating from recruit training they may be assigned to any one of the many technical schools, the aviation branch of the Marine Corps, a tour of duty aboard one of the large ships of the Navy, or a large Marine base for further training.

Interested young men are urged to contact M-Sgt. John T. Collier at the post office building in Clanton each second and fourth Tues. from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m.

It is necessary that ewes be exercised regularly up to lambing time to prevent pregnant ewe disease.

QUALIFICATION!

(By Lee A. Popwell)

Qualify for what? The second best gift God ever gave to man! Requires what? Only two things, repentance and obedience.

Turn with me to 1 J. 1:9, fall on your knees, confess your sins. If we confess our sins, he is faithful to forgive our sins, to cleanse us from all unrighteousness. When God hears and cleanses us then we are begotten of God. (1 J. 5:18) The unrighteousness flows out of us, the empty space it leaves is filled with righteousness. We arise to our feet, walk off in his precepts, statutes, judgements, keeping and teaching his testimony, keeping and teaching his commandments, doing all things that are pleasing in his sight, for thy faith hath made thee whole, (Luke 17:19). For by the grace are ye saved thru faith, and not of your selves, it is the gitf of God, Eph. 3:8.

Please keep in mind I said ye are begotten of God the last part of 1 J. 5:18.

It is true God has given you a new heart, (only in the flesh, nothing immortal), but the gift of the annointing of the Holy Spirit has given you the faith, mind and power of Jesus Christ, made you know all things, made you able to do all the miracles Jesus did, even more said Jesus, J. 14-1.

You no doubt will say that is a lot of power to be given unto a begotten child of God. John 3-16, tells you Jesus was the only begotten child of God. There now is a vast number of begotten sons and daughters of God. You say Christ told Nicodemus he must be born again, that is true, so you too must be born again. The only difference in you and Nicodemus is this: Nicodemus was gathering all the light he could obtain, but you are turning down all the light that is coming your way. Nicodemus knew that Jesus Christ was the light of the world, but one thing he did not know, (neither do you know) that Jesus could not have given him Eternal life. You say why: it takes God to give eternal life. Jesus had to be born back into the family of God, and declared to be the son of God with power according to the spirit of holiness by the resurrection from the dead, Romans 1:4.

Jesus in John 3:16 was only begotten, but now born back into God. You are only begotten now but you will too one day go thru the same thing that Jesus went through, Romans 1:4. Then you will be Priest of God, and of Jesus Christ. Yes, you will be God jus like Jesus Christ is God. You say where is your proof? I have it in my Bible, so do you, if you cannot find, bring your own Bible, any hour of the day or night (I prefer the day,) but will read with you as is convenient with you. Please come only for light, not for argument.

The commandments never save anyone, neither has anyone ever been saved that did not first fulfill with love in their hearts all the commandments.

The commandments causes you to be saved, and keeps you saved as long as you keep them, but oh how trouble when you offend in one point.

One thing, you must know that all the commandments are religious

Ps. 119:172 ,all his commandments are sure. They stand fast for ever and ever, and are done in truth and uprightness, Ps. 111: 7-8.

Those Entering Service After Jan. 31 Not Eligible For Korean GI Benefits

Veterans Administration today explained the effect that a Presidential proclamation ending eligibility for certain post-Korea veterans benefits will have on the Korean GI Bill Education and Training program. The proclamation sets Jan. 31, 1955 as the last day of the Korean emergency for purposes of acquiring eligibility for certain GI benefits, including Korean GI Bill training.

Those who enter the Armed Forces after January 31 will not be entitled to education or training under the Korean GI Bill when they are discharged or released. Those who enter service before January 31 will build up entitlement for Korean GI training only up to and including January 31. Under present law, they will not accumulate training entitlement for service after January 31. Entitlement is computed on the basis of one and one-half times the length of military service up to and including January 31. For example, a man who entered service December 1, 1954, would receive GI training entitlement only for the period between December 1, 1954, and January 31, 1955 — about three months of schooling. Under the present law those who enter service this month will be entitled to still less GI training - only a few weeks at the most. But before any veteran can qualify for GI training after discharge, he must meet two other requirements of the law. He must have been seperated from service under other-than-dishonorable conditions with at least charged sooner for a disability in-90 days of active duty, unless discurred in line of duty. Not all the 90 days need be before January 31; any part of it could come afterwards.

Post - Korea veterans already out of service are not affected by the January 31 end-of-the-emergency period, so far as starting Korean GI Bill training is concerned. Under the law, they still must start their courses within three years after discharge or release from active duty. This applies to all eligible veterans but the date does have a bearing on the ending of the entire Korean GI training program. The law states that all training must be ended eight years after the termination of the emergency period, or eight years after a veteran leaves the service, whichever is earlier. The eight-years-from-end-of-emergency date -- the final date of the GI program - now has been set as January 31, 1963.

The President's proclamation also affects Public Law 894, a vocational rehabilitation training program for veterans disabled in service since the outbreak of Korean hostilities. Veterans disabled on or before Jan. 31, 1955, may be eligible for training, provided they need it to overcome the handicap of their disability. But veterans disabled after January 31 will not be eligible for the vocational training benefit. As a result of the proclamation, the end of the vocational rehabilitation program for eligible post-Korea veterans will be January 31, 1964, or nine years after release from active service, whichever is earlier. No training may be provided beyond those dates except for certain hardship cases which, under the law, are granted an additional four years in which to train.

JEMISON SIXTH GRADE GIRLS 4-H CLUB MET

State Flocks Hit By Poultry Pest

Auburn, Ala.,—Alabama poultrymen are warned to be on guard against a new insect—the Northern fowl mite, or feather mite. Appearance of the insect in heavy infestations was reported this week by API Extension Poultryman John Weeks.

Weeks said most outbreaks have occurred among caged layers. Unlike common mites, the pests stay on birds all the time, very much like lice. Mites are usually discovered crawling on eggs. Close examination of an infested bird will show millions of the insects on feathers around the chckens abdomen. The pests multiply rapidly and cause a sharp drop in egg production where ever they get a foothold.

Earlier presence of the Northern mite in Alabama flocks was localized in small areas, Weeks stated. He urged poultrymen who find the mites to contact county agents immediately for treatment suggestions.

'Lungs' Meant Life or Death For 6,000 Stricken by Polio

Life or death for more than 6,000 of the 40,000 polio victims stricken in 1954 depended on iron lungs and other breathing aids, according to a preliminary report from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The report showed that approximately 15 per cent of all polio victims needed mechanical breathing aids to stay alive in 1954.

The National Foundation said it had been able to move almost 2,000 March of Dimes respirators into epidemic areas to save lives in 1954. In addition, over 600 rocking beds were supplied to patients.

Every effort is made to get patients out of their iron lungs as soon as possible, the National Foundation said. But about 900 of those stricken in 1954 still are in tank respirators all or part of the time. They have joined another 1,000 patients from previous years whose horizons still are limited to the mirrors at the head of their machines.

More Need Help Today

"The March of Dimes goal is to free as many as possible," declares Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, medical director of the National Foundation. "Recent increases in the percentage of patients with severe paralysis, who depend on breathing aids to stay alive, make it imperative that more facilities for weaning such patients from iron lungs be provided.

"Fortunately, improved treatment techniques have been developed—largely through March of Dimes grants to 13 regional respirator centers—that offer real hope of freeing the majority of such patients."

Patients Help Each Other

In 1950, the March of Dimes provided initial funds for two pioneer respirator centers to bring small groups of iron lung patients together for treatment. New equipment had to be devised and special personnel trained. Results began to be seen almost at once. A few patients freed from iron lungs and able to go home encouraged others. By the end of 1954, twelve of these centers were in operation, with a 13th about to open.

Total capacity of all centers is 400 respirator patients and 160 using no mechanical breathing aids. For the latter, improved physical and occupational therapy enable them to gain self respect and the chance to become self supporting.

Since the first center opened, over 1,000 respirator patients have been admitted, with almost 750 liberated from their regulation iron lungs.

"This is a program that pays off in human as well as economic values," said Dr. Van Riper, "but March of Dimes funds are vital for its operation."

The 1955 March of Dimes is now going on and will end Jan. 31.

Folks and Things ABOUT TOWN

—By Ben

This is a story of a construction man. A building construction man we mean. The story you are about to hear is true. It happened here in Clanton and we know because we work here---we're nosey. Seems this construction fellow went to Florida to take a job. He worked down there for a week and things were pretty. Up here the weather was bad and the wife sat here at home dreaming of the good fishing down there, and the pretty sunshine and the sandy beaches. So, she packs up to go to Florida to join her husband. And what happens—he comes home on the next bus. Just a coincidence of course.

The mother smiled at her little son in his new Boy Scout uniform. "Well, Jimmy, have you done a good turn for today?" she asked. "I sure have", answered Jimmy "I taught that little girl next door not to stick out her tongue at Boy Scouts."

The Board of Revenue and Control has approved financing a 4,000 foot runway at Gragg Field. The runway will be 300 feet wide with a 100 foot paved runway down the middle with 100 foot shoulders on either side. Work should start in the near future on this project which will mean much to the future of our county.

Fellow said he read where a scientist discovered he could get milk from a peanut. That would take a mighty low stool, wouldn't it?

The Democratic Executive Committee met last Saturday afternoon at the courthouse and elected new officers. J. B. Atkinson was re-elected as Chairman for another four years and Luther Little was elected Secretary and Treasurer. A very interesting meeting was reported with Cliff Walton of Jemison giving one of his usually inspiring talks. A large crowd attended there being many new faces in the Committee attending their first meeting having been elected to their new office in the Democratic Primary.

If you don't believe smoking makes a woman's voice harsh just try flicking ashes on the rug.

Just got to congratulate Sheriff Odell Payton on the good work he is doing. He had no trouble at al in getting the burgulars that broke in the local post office the other night. 'Course maybe he got a little lucky break on this case, but he was right on the job and lost no time in bringing the guilty ones to justice with the aid of the local law enforcement officers. The law enforcement officers of the county are working well together. This goes for the Sheriff's Force, State Highway Patrolmen and the local Police. This makes good law enforcement and each branch can benefit by the cooperation of the other. We hope this condition continues.

A story out of Washington goes like this:

Barkley and Mrs. Barkley were out driving when in the distance, Mrs. VP noticed McCarthy on an elephant.

"There's Senator McCarthy out riding too," said Mrs. Barkley.

Barkley looked long at the man and the elephant. "Can't be McCarthy," said he, "that man and the elephant are both going in the same direction."

Mothers Will Make United March On Friday Evening

Three Million Join Mothers' March on Polio

TURN ON YOUR PORCHLIGHT!
signal you'll give to MOTHERS' MARCH ON POLIO

Three million women in over 50,000 American communities will provide a stirring climax to the month-long March of Dimes this week by staging a Mothers' March on Polio.

The Mothers' March is the biggest single source of funds for the March of Dimes. In many communities, it has become the event of the year with almost everyone participating.

The Post Office motto about "snow, nor rain, nor sleet," etc. could well apply to these women. The annals of the Mothers' March are filled with examples of how they have used dog sleds, skis, snowshoes, hip boots and sou'westers to make their "appointed rounds."

They have gone out in blizzards, sleet storms, hurricanes and cloudbursts, to visit every home where a porchlight signaled a waiting contribution for the March of Dimes.

The desire to give is strong, as the following incident shows: In a Wyoming city, Mothers' March headquarters received a call late one night from a widow with seven small children. Somehow, she said, the family had been missed.

When the marching mother got there she found the seven children dressed in their best, waiting to donate their pennies to help "protect children against polio."

The 1955 March of Dimes continues to January 31.

Ray Yeager Holds High Average At University

Watson Ray Yeager, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Yeager of Clanton, entered the University in the fall of 1952. He is enrolled in the school of Commerce and Business Administration and is majoring in Merchandising. He is now a junior.

Since his entrance into the University Ray has maintained an overall 2.5 or B-plus average. In addition to his high scholastic average, he has been active in several intramural sports and various campus activities. He has played on his fraternity (Theta Xi) football, softball, basketball, and volleyball teams. The softball team won the campus championship last spring.

Ray's campus activities include the following: He has recently been elected steward of Theta Xi fraternity; he is a member of the Chi Alpha Phi honorary fraternity and a member of Delta Sigma Phi, Commerce professional fraternity he is also a member of the Cadet Officers Club.

The Music Club brought the Hugh Thomas Chorus to Calnton. The Music Club is bringing the Fiddlerettes to Clanton.

From one end of Chilton County to the other, mothers of all ages will join Friday evening in a united march against polio. They will be on the march in each community and will call on the homes that have a lighted porch to welcome them.

In Jemison the Mothers march will be from [illegible] o'clock until 7 and will be directed by Mrs. J. I. Raymon, Mrs. Flora Reynolds, Miss Mary Clements, Miss Betty Easton, Mrs. Woodley, Mrs. Des Little John, Mrs. Elena Cost, and Mrs. Lester Pate.

In other sections of Beat 2 the following women will be in charge: Mrs. Gladys Rhoegan, Oak Grove; Mrs. Clara Northcutt, Oak Hill; Mrs. Jesse Sorrell, East Jemison; Mrs. Bill Porter and Mrs. Luke Porter, beyond Mars Hill; Mrs. Hansel Leach, Mars Hill; Mrs. Ted Cobb, Center Hill.

In Maplesville and throughout Beat 6, the Mothers March will be at 6:30 until 7:30. Mrs. Rayford Jones is responsible for securing workers in Enterprise, Bethsalem, Bethany, Pleasant Valley, Shiloh and New Cedron Homes in Beat 15 will be called on from 2:00 to 5:00 by the following chairmen: Pleasant Grove; Mrs. C. M. Graham; Mt. Nebo, Mrs. Sam Wilson; Sardis, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Short; Pletcher, Mrs Jimmy Harrison and Mrs. Cecil Abbott; Pilgrim, Mrs. Earl Ousley; New Harmony, Mrs. Leon Cleckler; New Cedron, Mrs. R. G. Carter; Antioch, Mrs. Leslie Robinson.

From 5:30 until 6:30 the mothers will march on Beat 16 under: Mrs. Huston Robinson, Beat Chairman; Mrs. Curtis Huett, Mrs. Johnny Robinson, Mrs. Eary Bates, Mrs Calvin Robinson, Mrs Ervin Cleckler, Providence: Mrs. Mosey Earl Bates; Sunshine: Mrs Quince Minor and Mrs. Cecil Cleckler, Oak Grove.

Clanton, Lomax, and the Mill Village will be contacted from 6:00 until 7:00 by : Mrs. Leonard Sandlin, Lomax; Mrs. Homer Melton, Mrs. Raymond Price, Mrs. A. H Meacham, Mrs. Buck Headley, Miss Geraldine Thomas, Mill Village; Clanton, Mrs. Luther Mims, Mrs. H. G. Day, Mrs. Dave Tingle, Mrs. Reedie L. Taylor, Mrs. Earl Ellis, Mrs. John Foshee, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Sewell, Mrs. Howard Fulford, Mrs. George Waites, Mrs Erskine Wyatt, Mrs. Referee Lineberry, Mrs. James Wade and others.

Highland, Mrs. Clint Billingsley, Macedonia, Mrs. F. C. Gibson Verbena Mrs. Winston Calloway and others; Refuge and Pinedale, Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Wyatt · Lime Springs, Cane Creek and Bell Lane, Mrs. Young and others

This concentrated effort will pay off with the public lending a hand. The mothers are lendingg a hand with their time: you lend a hand with your dimes and dollars and don't shun anyone asking for donations for such a worthy cause. After all, it isn't for them and it could turn out to be for you, so dig deep, and if you can't dig deep, then treat the ladies nice.

Donald Merchant, Thorsby Postmaster Since 1932, Died

Donald Merchant, for more than 28 years a resident of Thorsby and its postmaster since 1932 died after a heart attack last week.

He was a Mason, a member of the Eastern Star and a member of the Thorsby Baptist Church. He leaves the widow, Mrs. Annice Kemp Merchant; two daughters, Mrs. J. D. Townes of Montgomery and Mrs. W. E. Baker of Columbia, S. C. Three grandchildren also survive.

The Rev. L. E. Daniels, Rev. J. W. Jones and Rev. B. B. Burks conducted the services. Active pallbearers were: Varney Wyatt, Sam Bentley, Eugene Littleton, Gene Davenport, Delbert Collins and Bill Higgins. Members of the Masonic Lodge were honorary pallbearers.

We have noticed of late several drivers of automobiles who are, we are sure, just as good a driver as the next guy. But, through some idea, whether it be an acquired habit or just plain unconcern, have started giving turning signals with their right hand from inside the car. We will certainly have to admit that this procedure, sometimes is satisfactory as far as the driver behind you is concerned, because he likely sees your arm in front of the mirror and thinks, "well, that guy's going to do something, or he wouldn't be waving at me." On the other hand, a person could fail to see you "waving" at them and smash into you or pass you and you smash into them. It is very definitely not satisfactory from the standpoint of safety, only that of convenience. As far as safety goes, the driver behind doesn't have the faintest notion which way you intend to turn, he only knows that you're about to "do something".

It's high time we quit making little pet rules all our own for driving convenience. The laws are made for safety not convenience and are made for everyone.

Would you consider the subject at hand good driving? Would you even consider it courteous driving? We would not. And don't excuse yourself by saying the weather's too bad to roll down the window. The weather never gets so bad that it can't kill an innocent person through your own carelessness and due to your thinking of your comfort instead of the safety of the roads and your responsibility.

It's straight from the law books of the State of Ala. that "whenever a signal is given by means of the hand and arm, the driver shall indicate his intention to stop or turn by extending the hand and arm horizontally from beyond the left side of the vehicle." Nowhere in the entire book does it say use of the right arm in front of the mirror is legal or even good,common sense. Mechanical signals, and pointers are O.K., but the other is out. . . that is if you want to stay within the law, and when an accicent occurs on the highway, the only person who can feel at ease, if he's able, is the person who was well within the law. The other folks. . ? well, they don't feel so good.

NEW APPROACH TO HIGHWAY PROBLEM—

The Eisenhower "grand plan" for a 10-year program of building 40,000 miles of interstate highways is about ready for presentation to Conress.

Its purpose is to develop maximum use of the main highways for a possible national emergency, as well as to bring the main traffic arteries up to a standard commensurate with the rapidly growing motor transport that serves the nation. This includes cars, trucks, buses and all types of motor vehicles.

The Clay commission has recommended expenditure of $54 billions over the next 10 years, in addition to the $47 billions now planned.

Most of the financing would be done by the federal government through a big new federal agency, similar to the former RFC. The money would be raised by means of bond issues.

In effect, the government would take over construction of the 40,000-mile "strategic network" of interstate highways, leaving the 48 states to take care of their own intrastate systems.

Presumably, former federal aid to the states would be withdrawn, and this money used in financing the Eisenhower "grand plan."

Whatever the final form in which there is a division of both money and tasks, the plan does mark out a new approach to the problem of modernizing the nation's highways—the federal government taking over the interstate roads, and the states confining themselves to their systems of intrastate highways.

This breaks with the present method of federal funds being matched by state and county funds on all types of roads and bridges.

If the Eisenhower plan is adopted, Alabama's problem will be much changed. Gov. Folsom wants at least a $100,000,000 bond issue—some say he would prefer something like twice that amount.

With federal aid cut off, but participation in construction of major interstate traffic arteries not required, his problem would be greatly changed.

For this reason, it would be a good idea to hold up plans and concrete action until the exact role of Alabama in future road building is thoroughly clarified. It's very nebulous as of now.

IT'S MY OPINION

MUD-SLINGING; NOT EXCLUSIVELY POLITICAL

Indications are that some of us are condemning some of our county office holders before they are even in office long enough to tell what the outcome will be. Is that the Democratic way we do things? If there had been any kind of concrete evidence to the extent of the disabilities of some of them don't you think it would have been brought to light before now? Even if it hadn't been we like to give folks a chance before we start tearing them down. Besides that, from all hearsay, it was our opinion that the public opinion was that "mud slinging" was strictly exclusive in the field of politics. Now that the shoe's on the other foot, we're not so sure about that opinion. The public is capable of their own brand of slinging, and from here it isn't becoming at all.

We disagree with anyone that there is cause to slander a person for misdoings until that person has been proven guilty of those charges, that's in the constitution, or had you forgotten? It's also in the Bible, or didn't you know it? We do not believe in malicious gossip. Plain old "female gossip" is another colored horse (which we all indulge in at one time or another) but the kind that is detrimental to the character and standing of another is wrong, we're sure.

We do hate to be wrong about a person as much as the next fellow, but we'd rather have been wrong about them and said nothing than to have been right and been the cause of the stink. Whatever the reason you have to throw a person's name in the dirt, make sure it's a darn good one, or it won't support you. You, then will be known as a passer of idle, painful gossip and that's no way to build up trust and dependability towards yourself from others. If you speak in such a manner of one person, then you'll likely speak that way of others. Not a very sure way of winning trusting friends.

If it's something bad you know on your neighbor, keep it to yourself, chances are it is something you heard and isn't worth repeating or else there is an explanation somewhere. If there is neither one, don't you be a part of it. The respect you gain will more than compensate for the pleasure you may derive from passing along tales that are "only tales".

Leland Hudson Accepts Award For WKLF

Baptist Hour Recognition Day was observed in churches of the Southern Baptist Convention across the nation this month to honor the more than 200 radio stations in 38 states and seven foreign territories that have broadcasted the "Baptist Hour" a year or more.

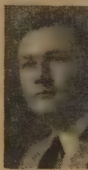
Radio station WKLF of Clanton has been broadcasting the "Baptist Hour" throughout this community continuously since November 1947.

In recognition of this distinctive public service the radio and television Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention, producers of the "Baptist Hour", have issued an award from its headquarters in Atlanta, Georgia, signed by chairman Malcolm E. Knight and Director Paul M. Stephens.

It is reported that the program now has a conservative estimate of over six million listeners throughout the United States.

The award was presented to the manager, Leland Hudson last Sunday at services. He was representing WKLF.

Report from Washington



BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

The members of the Alabama Congressional delegation, including all nine House members and both Senators, made a hurried trip to Alabama last week to attend the inauguration of Governor James E. Folsom. Most of us returned to Washington by plane the following morning.

-Budget Message-

Here in Washington last week the President sent two important messages to Congress. The first was the annual budget message and the second was his yearly economic report. These bring up to five the number of special messages President Eisenhower has sent to Congress since his State of the Union address on January 6th.

A total of $62.4 billion was requested by the President in his recommended budget for fiscal year 1956, of which $58.6 billion is to be in new appropriations. The President's budget is always carefully scrutinized by the Appropriations Committee of both Houses of Congress and, of course, there will be many changes before the appropriation bills are finally enacted into law. Incidentally, the President's complete budget document weighs a full 12 pounds and contains 1224 pages.

A budget item of importance to those of us who live in the Sixth District was the sum of $4.1 million for the Warrior Lock and Dam. As you know, $1.8 million was appropriated by the last Congress to begin the construction of this important installation, and the U. S. Corps of Engineers began their preliminary work last fall. Every effort will be made by the Member of Congress from Alabama to see both the House and Senate retain in the 1956 budget the amount necessary to continue on schedule the construction of this vital link in our improved Warrior-Tombigbee River system.

The President's report on the economic state of the nation sent to the Congress on the second anniversary of his inauguration, was very optimistic. Mr. Eisenhower said that our gross annual production can be increased with "wise management of the national household" from about $360 billion this year to $500 billion within the next 10 years. He also restated his stand against further tax cuts this year, but held out hope for possible reductions in 1956.

-Prisoner of Russians Testifies-

At my first meeting of the Foreign Affairs Committee, I had an opportunity to hear the testimony of John H. Noble, an American who was released on January 5 after nine and one-half years in Russian prison camps.

Mr. Noble who is now 31 years old, was born in the United States. When he was 16 years of age he returned with his parents to his father's native Germany where they operated a camera factory in the city of Dresden. During World War II he and his father were "locally interned" in Germany and in 1945 they were arrested by the Russians. Although neither ever stood trial, Noble said he believed they were arrested because th Russians wanted their camera factory and also because many American soldiers had visited in their home. Noble and his father were imprisoned first at a camp in East Germany but in early 1950 young Noble was moved to another camp and his father was released from prison shortly thereafter.

In August 1950, Noble was sent out of Germany and passed through three prisons on the way to the Vorkuta Prison Camp. This latter camp where he was held until June of last year, is located near the Siberian border. Noble testified before the committee that the average wintertime temperature at the Vorkuta camp ranged from 30 to 45 below zero and sometimes even lower temperatures were experienced. Most of the prisoners in the camp worked either in the coal mines or in the lumber yards and life, according to Noble was extremely difficult. He pointed out that his weight dropped below a hundred pounds on several occasions and there were times when he was sure he could not have survived had his health not been unusually good.

Noble stated that he was given no reason for his release but that he was moved last June to a prison camp near Moscow where officials were told to "fatten him up" so he would look good when turned over to the Americans.

After hearing John Noble's testimony, one realizes more than ever how fortunate we are to live in this great country.

Always cook cheese at a low temperature so that it does not become tough and stringy.

YOUR CHILD'S READING ABILITY

The ability to read is a most important factor in a child's development. While reading readiness is generally considered by the age of six, it should be remembered that the mental and not the physical age is important. Some children can read simple sentences at the age of five and even four.

Reading difficulties stem from many causes. Very often, and eye defect is involved. And, then again other physical and mental factors are the cause for this condition, which is medically identified as dyslexia.

A child with reading difficulties need not be mentally deficient, since many physical factors are involved, which make the problem one for the physician and educator alike. According to a summary of the National Society for the Study of Education, such physical deficiencies cover malnutrition, fatigue, infections, defective glandular activities, bodily injuries and defects, visual and auditory defects. Other factors include educational immaturity, general emotional instability, and inadequate teaching.

While a slow intelligence appears in some children with dyslexia it is interesting that the condition also accompanies children of a very high intelligence.

Many parents push the child too fast. In an effort to hurry up his learning progress they will encourage him to read material beyond his understanding. The original difficulty then becomes exaggerated and more ham is accomplished.

Children with reading difficulties should be given a careful examination to rule out the presence of physical and mental factors that may be responsible. The environment of the home should be studied since the child reacts so strongly to the influences about him. It is logical that everything that influences the child's life will also influence his learning ability.

SALT IS A FEED SAVER BUT STARTS HOGS SLOWLY

Hogs that have not had salt in their feed or on a free-choice basis may get salt poisoning if the mineral is first offered to them in unlimited quantities.

Explaining that feeding of salt usually increases the rate of gain in hogs, API Extension Animal Industry Specialist G. B. Phillips warns farmers that salt-starved animals must be started slowly. Just sprinkle on boards for a few days before offering it free choice, the expert advised.

Mrs. Alma Schurter was quite ill last week. We are glad to report that she is doing nicely at this writing.

We regret to report that Mr. Jim W. Cleveland of Lawley, is very ill in the Selma Baptist hospital. Cards and letters will reach him at Room 310.

Among the out-of-town people called to this section due to the passing of Mrs. Ellen Shoults were: Mrs. J. P. Montgomery (Clara Smitherman) of Starkville, Miss. Mr. Emmett Smitherman of Starkville, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Carroll (Dorothy Sitherman) of Montevallo, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Fuller of Mobile, Mrs. Cora Fuller of Tuscaloosa, Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Taylor, (Wilda Shoults) of Jasper, Ala. Mrs. Paul Murray of Starkville, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Keith of Mobile, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Jefferson of Jasper, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fox of Selma (Selena Latham), Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Sexton of Selma, Oscar and Mr. Bush Shoults of Selma, Mr. Tommie Shoults, Selma, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Ezell of Selma, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shoults, Bessemer, Mrs. Stephen Crews and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Oden (Daisy Latham) of Montgomery.

Spending the day last Thurs. with Mrs. Alma Schurter were: Mrs. W. C. Dyer (Ethyl Fitts), Birmingham; Mrs. Gilbert Haslam (Lorene Dyer), Andarke, Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Dyer of Trenton, Ga.; Mr. W. V. Dyer of Bessemer.

Mrs. W. C. Beagle (Vivian Schurter) of Fulton, Ala. spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. Alma Schurter.

Mrs. Ellen Shoults died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. H. Taylor (Wilda Shoults), Friday, January 21, 1955, in Jasper, Ala. Mrs. Shoults celebrated her 101 birthday on March 19, 1954. Mrs. Shoults was the daughter of Roland Latham and the former Polly Smitherman and was born and reared in Chilton County. In early life she married Joseph Hampton Shoults and to this union twelve children were born, six sons and three daughters of which survive. They are: Mrs. C. H. Taylor, (Wilda) of Jasper; Mrs. W. H. Smitherman (Ida) of Stanton, Ala. and Mrs. James Spiers (Anna) of St. Petersburg. Walker Shoults of Felda, Florida; Croff F. Shoults, Sam Shoults and George T. Shoults of Lawley; Oscar Shoults and Bush Shoults of Selma. A number of neices and nephews survive as well as 50 grand children, 46 great grandchildren and 18 great, great grandchildren.

Mrs. Shoults was visiting her daughter, Mrs. Taylor and had been there for some two months. She had been in declining health for some time.

Much could be said of the life Mrs. Shoults lived. She was a Christian. Joined the Pleasant Grove Church near Lawley, Ala. in early life and was among this church' first members. Mrs. Shoults was of a quiet nature, a good wife and a devoted mother. She loved to attend all services at the different curches and never failed in her talk to tell of her faith and devotion. Twas said of her at her funeral by her former pastor and friend that she was as near perfect as a person could be. She loved people of all walks of life and never failed to let her family, her loved ones and friends know that she loved God and wanted them to know her Saviour. She will be greatly missed. Mrs. Shoults had made her home with her daughter Mrs. Willis Smitherman in Stanton since the death of her husband some 25 or 30 years ago. Funeral services were held at the Pleasant Grove Baptist Church Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. Pastors officiating were Rev. Grady Williams and Rev. William Dean, pastor of the church. Pallbearers were: Wendell Smitherman, Emmett Smitheran, Eugene Fuller, Harry Fox, Tomie Shoults and Joe Shoults.

Special music by the Plantersville Baptist Church with Mr. and Mrs. Oran Carroll in charge of flowers.

Mrs. Jim W. Gay is in Selma visiting with her daughter, Mrs. V. C. Eiland (Claudine Gay) and Mr. Eiland.

Mrs. John S. Carter (Ophelia Gay) returned to her home last Tuesday after spending several days with her daughter Mrs. Fred Veazey. We are glad to report that Mrs. Veazey is doing nicely at this time. John Veazey came home with his grandmother and spent until late Thursday afternoon.

We regret to report that Mrs. Willie O'Neal Lovelady, age 78 her last birthday, widow of the late Richard Lovelady, is confined to the Selma Baptist Hospital, room 319. If is our understanding that Mrs. Lovelady is quite ill and much anxiety is felt over her condition at this time. Mrs. Lovelady was born and reared in Perry County and is the daughter of the late Levi O'Neal and Jennie Price O'Neal.

Revelation Lectures At Adventist Church

Illustrated with artistic charts for the next severeal Sabbaths the sermon topics will be on "Revelation Mysteries". The sub-titles for these lectures will be: "The Mystery of Godliness and the Mystery of Iniquity"; The Beast and the 666 Man of Rev. 13:18"; Wat it Means to Worship the Beast"; What is the Mark of the Beast"; The Woman Clothed With the Sun and the Moon Under Her Feet"; The Scarlet Woman of Rev. 17"; The Seven Last Plagues and the Time of Trougle"; The gathering Call and the Harvest."

Visitors are invited to hear these weekly thirty-minute talks on the last-day prophecies of Revelation.

Pastor of the Adventist church in Glendale is the Rev. Allen Walker.

PEANUT BUTTER TASTY, EASY WAY TO KEEP NUTS

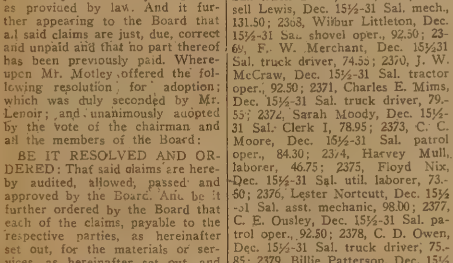
Miss Lavada Curtis, API Extension Service food preservation specialist, believes that Alabama farm families should store five pounds of peanuts per person for home use. And delicious peanut butter is an easy way to keep part of that amount, says she.

The home specialist explains that a mixture of Virginia or Spanish peanuts usually makes the best blend for butter. If it is too fine, peanut butter sticks to the roof of the mouth: if it's too course, it is gritty. Here is Miss Curtis' method for making good peanut butter:

Shell four cups of peanuts and roast. Remove skins, grind the peanuts through a food chopper, and add one teaspoon of salt. Then run half the crushed peanuts thru the chopper a second and third time, using a smaller knife. Mix the coarse butter with the fine. Pack the product tightly into sterile jars and seal.

A thin film of softened butter spread on bread will keep sandwiches from becoming soggy.

NATURAL AS A MOUNTAIN STREAM



CHILEAN NITRATE of SODA is the world's only NATURAL NITRATE FERTILIZER

NATURAL as the water in the stream, Chilean Nitrate is the only natural nitrate. Guaranteed 42 per cent plant food.

★ Chilean needs only moisture from the air to dissolve — no waiting for rain — fast, effective action.

★ Every ton of Chilean contains sodium equivalent to 650 pounds of commercial limestone — an acid-destroying agent. The more Chilean you use, the greater its acid-destroying value.

★ Sodium supplements potash — when necessary, substitutes for it — reduces leaching losses of potash, calcium, magnesium—releases unavailable potash in the soil.

★ Sodium increases availability of phosphate in the soil and improves efficiency of applied phosphate.

★ Chilean is rich in small quantities of minor elements necessary for healthy vigorous growth — it's the only natural combination of 100 per cent nitrate nitrogen, sodium and minor elements.

There were good congregations at Mulberry Sunday for both services. On Sunday morning Rev. J. E. Berkstresser brought a special message on Stewardship at the Sunday School hour. At the worship service he preached an inspiring sermon on Consecration. These messages were the closing of a great Stewardship revival, which began on Friday evening, January 21. As a result of this revival there were twenty six old tithers and 41 new tithers that signed pledge cards to tithe.

On Sunday evening our pastor, Rev. Evan Johnson, delivered a great message. Between Baptist Training Union and Worship service Sunday evening, Margaret Lecroy was baptized in the baptistry.

A brief business session was held on Sunday night. The church voted to give an offering to help advertise the simultaneous revivals to be held in March.

On Sunday morning, Jan. 23 the Primary class was 100 percent in attendance in Sunday School. They are glad to welcome Mike Clenner as a new member.

The Laurie Williams circle met with Mrs. O. F. Davenport on Tuesday night, Jan. 18, and the chairman, Mrs. Davenport, presided. Report was made on the purchasing of inlaid linoleum for the kitchen and bathroom and light fixtures for the pastorium. A stewardship program was given with Mrs. J. H. Wells leading.

Coffee and cake were served to the seven members present, by the hostess.

On Monday of this wek Rev. Evan Johnson and family moved into the new pastorium of Mulberry Baptist church. The community is very happy to have them living among us now. A phone was installed in the house and thee number is 582-J30.

Are you the one that is missing at prayer service on Wednesday night? Our young people are leading the service. Let us join them on Wed. night.

Wednesday, Feb. 2 will be family night. Women, men, boys and girls, take notice. Be present at Mulberry next Wednesday night.

What are you reading these days and nights? Why not check out a good book from Mulberry's library and read it?

Rev. J. E. Berkstresser of Mobile was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Lecroy while he was here preaching in last week end Stewardship revival.

NOTICE—

The Baptist Training Union and mid week service at Mulberry will begin at 6:30 p.m. instead of 6:00 p.m. Be on time.

Isabella School—

The girls 4-H Club of Isabella met in Miss Sybil Langston's room on Thursday Jan. 20th. Bible reading was by Charlotte Edwards. The song, Row, Row, your Boat, and School Days, were sung. Miss Bates gave the demonstration on laying a pattern, which was enjoyed by all, also very helpful to the girls. The game Dog and the Bone was played. The meeting adjourned to meet again in Feb. Club reporter, Mary E. Sexton.

Here is a schedule of Isabella Mustangs basketball games for the remainder of this season:

Music Club To Present The Fiddlerettes In Concert, 15th

The Music Appreciation Club will present the Fiddlerettes, a string trio composed of three talented music majors at the University. All music lovers of the community are cordially invited to enjoy this delightful evening of entertainment that will be provided by the Fiddlerettes on Tues. evening, February 15th at 7:30 in the Wadesonian Theatre. Tickets of admission can be obtained from members of the Music Club. Adults $1.00 students 50c. The proceeds from the concert will be applied on the piano fund.

The group known as "The Fiddlerettes" at the University of Alabama is composed of Debbie Young from Kewanee, Ill; Genie Baird from Bowling Green, Ky., and Penny Leka from Springfield, Ill. They are members of the Univ. Symphony Orchsetra. Debbie plays the cello. Genie leads the second violin section. Penny is concert mistress of the orchestra. The three girls met at the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Mich. There they were in the high school orchestra, the string orchestra and the honors orchestra. And at Interlochen the girls studied with Ottoka T. Cadek who is serving as head of the department of music at the University. Professor Cadek's exceptional teaching ability influenced these girls to enter the University for their college training. They are contributing generously of their time and talent in the musical development of Alabama.

The Fiddlerettes are most popular on the University campus. Last year they won the individual act in the university stunt show. Genie is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta social sorority while Debbie and Penny are members of Pi Beta Phi.

The repertoire of the Fiddlersettes is comprehensive including the finest classical and delightful popular numbers of humerous quality. There are times when they use costume and dance steps to illustrate the lighter numbers..

The concert in Clanton will consist of a wide variety of musical numbers. Keep this date open, support the music club by your presence Tues. evening Feb. 15 at 7:30.

The place is the Wadesonian Theatre.

Mrs. Chester Gaines Entertains Students

CARD OF SYMPATHY

Our deepest sympathy goes out to the Merchant family as they mourn the loss of their husband and father. May God bless and comfort them is our prayer. To them may we say, in the words of Burton deWolfe Davis, missionary, "It is a great comfort to know that nothing at all can touch us nor affect us unless God allows it; and since love is His most precious attribute He can certainly desire us nothing that through love will not become a blessing."

Intermediate Girls Meet With Judy Miller

Intermediate Girls II of the First Baptist Sunday School met with Judy Miller at her home at Lay Dam on Friday night, Jan. 21.

Following the business meeting a program on the Jewish religion was presented.

After enjoying a delectable supper prepared by the hostess and her mother, Mrs. H. A. Miller, the group rode to town to attend the basketball game.

Present for this delightful occassion were: Mrs. Russell Lewis teacher; Caroline Dickinson, Priscila Hubert, Brenda Branch, Mrs. W. C. Dickinson, the hostess and her mother.

Mrs. Maddox Hostess To Golden Circle Class

Mrs. W. C. Maddox was hostess to the Golden Circle Sunday School class of the First Baptist Church when 13 members met at her home on Monday evening, Jan. 24.

The program was related to the New Year and the life aim of individuals for the oncoming year. An inspiring devotional on that subject was given by Mrs. Dave Tingle, class teacher, who also led in prayer. Miss Mary J Logan reviewed an interesting article from the Christian Herald entitled "Architects of the New Year."

During the business session, presided over by Mrs. Beert Snead the class reviewed the Standard of Excellence for A Sunday School class.

The hostess Mrs. Maddox served a delicious dessert plate to the following: Mrs. Tingle, Miss Logan Mrs. Snead, Mrs. Archie Hardiman, Mrs. James D. Heflin, Mr Raymond Cox, Mrs. Gerald Weed Mrs. Cheseter Gaines, Mrs. Charles Mims, Mrs. Robert Powers, Mrs Johnny Vines, and Mrs. Vernon Payne.

E. H. Carroll's Celebrate 64th Wedding Anniversary

Celebrating their 64th wedding anniversary last Saturday, Jan. 22, were Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Carroll of West End. They have spent most of their married years in Chilton County. Helping them to celebrate were their five children, their families, and other relatives and friends.

The five children, all of whom are living are: Mrs Lena Culver, of Birmingham, Mrs. A. V. Culver Mr. Henry Carroll, Rev. Homer Carroll and Mr. Hughey Carroll all of Clanton.

At noon a lovely buffet dinner was served. Centering the tables was the tiered white anniversary cake embossed in pink and green and adorned with a lace embroidered "64".

In the afternoon the time was spent visiting with each other and taking pictures.

Approximately 35 guests paid tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Carroll during the day.

Myra Robinson Celebrates Birthday With Friends

Myra Bess Robinson, who was 11 years old Sunday, Jan. 23, was the recipient of many happy thrills on Monday afternoon when her mother, Mrs. Howard Robinson, arranged a birthday party for her at school with her class mates.

Mrs. W. F. Haywood's class room was the scene of much gaiety as the boys and girls played games and sang happy songs accompanied by Mrs. Percy Pitts on the piano.

Myra's cake was white embossed in blue and pink rosebuds and topped with 11 tiny candles. Happy birthday, Myra was written across the top. As Myra blew out the candles the group wished for her many more happy birthdays.

Cake, candy, and Cokes were served.

A big thrill came for Myra when she opened her lovely gifts and displayed them for the group to see.

Thirty-nine boys and girls were present for this delightful courtesy.

NEW SALEM BAPTIST

Services at this place were well attended Sunday morning and night. Rev. Lowery brought a very soul stirring message at the morning service.

We were glad to have Bro. Vonnie Blalock to bring the message Sunday night. Everyone enjoyed his message very much.

There seems to be quite a bit of sickness in this community at this writing.

Last Wed. night was family night at our church. There was a nice crowd out and everyone enjoyed the fellowship together.

Rev. and Mrs. Herman Lowery and family were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Burber Bean Sunday.

Mrs. Lillie Bean visited Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Harris and Janis at Tallassee a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Maddox, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Maddox and boys and Mrs. Lillie Bean were the Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Emma Maddox.

Everyone remember our prayer meeting each Wednesday night. I'm sure you'll receive a great blessing from these meetings.

Also remember our Sunday School at 10 a.m. and worship at 11 o'clock each Sunday morning. Training Union at 6:30 and worship service following, each Sunday night. Each and every one has an invitation to attend these services.

Clarence Horton Cited For Record Setting Campaign

An Alabamian who led the state's record-setting March of Dimes campaign in 1954 has been cited for outstanding service by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Clarence C. Horton of Montgomery, director of Veterans Affairs for the state, has been awarded a colorful, framed certificate of service by NFIP President Basil O'Connor of New York.

The award was presented to Mr. Horton "in recognition of outstanding services rendered on behalf of the men, women and children of the United States of America who have been stricken by polio."

R. C. [illegible] of Birmingham, senior state representative of NFIP in Alabama, presented the award on behalf of Mr. O'Connor.

Ralph Kennamer of Montgomery, State Chairman of the 1955 March of Dimes, commended Mr. Horton for his leadership in the 1954 March which raised $[illegible],321.35 for the fight against polio.

Mr. Kennamer said that Alabama should raise $1 million in the 1955 March of Dimes to shoulder the state's share of $64 million needed nationally for polio prevention work, patient care, rehabilitation and education.

"We have adopted as this year's slogan, 'Let's Reverse the Trend'," Mr. Kennamer said. Since 1938 Ala. has received from the National Foundation far more than is had raised in Dimes marches.

"From 1938 through last June Alabama received $3,196,642.31 in NFIP grants and appropriations. During this period the amount sent to National headquarters was $1,639,792.25 to aid the national fight against polio. An equal amount was retained and spent by the local chapters in the state for patient care. This means that Alabama received $1,556,850.06 more than it sent." he said.

"If the Salk vaccine is validated as anticipated, thousands of Ala. children will be eligible for polio preventable shots. Funds are needed for this program, and to help with the high cost of care and rehabilitation of previous polio victims," Mr. Kennamer said.

Seed Supply Plentiful For Most Alfalfas Now

Auburn—Alabama farmers should have no trouble getting alfalfa seed for their Spring planting.

Making this announcement in Auburn this week, Ralph R. Jones, API Extension seed crops marketing specialist, said the 1954 alfalfa crop was the second largest ever produced. The supply of most varieties is equal to or better than it was the previous year.

The supply of Oklahoma Approved seed will be slightly larger than that of last season, explained the expert. Certified Williamsburg seed are about as plentiful as they were last year, and the Kansas Common crop is only a little less plentiful. Shortest in supply of the varieties recommended for Alabama is Certified Buffalo seed, which runs about a third less than last year.

Jones pointed out that state farmers import their alfalfa seeds from mid-western states. They bought about 125,000 pounds of the seeds last year to plant some 6,200 acres for grazing and hay.

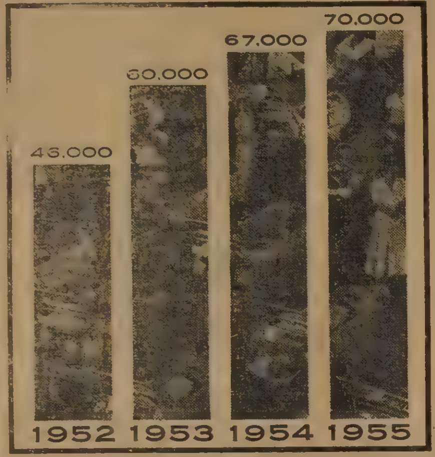
POLIO AFTERMATH

VICTIMS NEEDING AID AT START OF EACH YEAR



JOIN THE MARCH OF DIMES JAN. 3 TO 31

Each year sees an increased number of polio patients from previous epidemics who can be helped by long-term care paid for by the March of Dimes. As the proportion of deaths decreases, the cost of mending lives for the thousands who survive steadily increases.

Polio Hit Hardest In Small Counties

In recent years citizens of small counties have been stricken by polio more often than their big-county cousins, according to data released by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Statistics just compiled for the five-year period 1948-52 show the average annual polio attack rate in counties with a population of under 50,000 to be 27.4 cases per 100,000 people, while the average annual rate in counties of 50,000 or larger was 24.0 cases per 100,000 population.

Final incidence figures for 1953 show the average annual attack rate for the entire United States was 22.3 cases per 100,000 population. They also show unusually high attack rates in many small counties. Here are examples of high incidence counties in the 3,500 to 38,000 population range. (Figure following the county is the number of times its attack rate exceeded the national average):

Golden Valley, N. D., 13; Washington, Va., 8; Polk, Wis., 8; Avery, N. C., 8; Pope, Minn., 7; Schuyler, N. Y., 7; Del Norte, Calif., 5; and Richland, Va., 4.

No one knows just why this pattern exists, the National Foundation reports. Scientists are analyzing data on case rates among different population groups, but have not come up with any answers as yet. Among "guesstimates" advanced is that improvements in sanitation among rural communities may have reduced "silent" infections in infancy, which are believed to give natural long-term immunity.

Whatever the cause, more and more small communities are seeing at first hand how their March of Dimes contributions aid polio patients. This may be one reason why such areas lead the honor roll in per capita giving to the March of Dimes.

Some of the records set in 1954 by counties with a population under 15,000 were Alpine, Calif., where residents gave an average of $4.16 per person; Pulaski, Mo., where citizens averaged $3.16 each; Mineral, Nev., with $2.32 per capita, and Jeff Davis, Tex., with $2.22 per person.

Around OUR HOUSE

by Kathryn Tucker Windham

Where do children get the names they give things?

The two-year-old has quite an array of dolls. Some of them were given to her when they were new, some she got when the eight-year old discarded them, and some she gains possession of only when the eight-year-old is at school. Whether her ownership is permanent or temporary the two-year-old requires that the dolls all be named.

For a while the naming of all the dolls and keeping their names straight was a problem to her. Now, however, she has a simplified system: all the girls dolls are called old gal, and the boy dolls are all named bigger boy. Her system is not ony quite simple, it is also entirely satisfactory.

The neighbor down the street, the one with the big family, says that her little girls' collections of dolls threatened to disrupt their household. There was no suitable place to keep all the dolls, but any suggestion that some of them be given away was met with horrified protests from the young mothers.

"Give our dolls away?" they'd ask in a hurt tone. "You wouldn't want to give any of your children away, would you?"

And there the matter rested (the dolls continued to clutter up half the house) until the dolls' grandfather worked out a solution satisfactory to everybody.

First, he painted several coat hangers in pastel colors. When they were dry, he pressed the ends together and bent them so that they would fit around the body of a doll. Then, using picture hooks nailed into the walls, he hung the coat hanger doll holders with their dolls around the walls in the girls' rooms.

"The dolls really add to the attractiveness of the girls' rooms," this neighbor says. "And you've no idea what a relief it is to have them up, out of the way.

"The girls can get the ones they want to play with down from the wall, but they understand that all dolls not put back in their proper places are in danger of being given away."

If only something similar could be worked out for ranch sets, footballs, skates and trucks.

While this father was in a painting mood, he gave coats of shellac to the children's cardboard game boards—monopoly, parchesi, checkers, uncle wiggily, etc. The shellac protects the playing surfaces and makes the games last much longer he says.

* * *

This clever father also uses shellac to help to keep his children's book covers bright and clean. He gives the cover of each new book a coating of shellac before the book is used.

Now that the dolls have been cleared from under foot, this neighbor has time to make marmalade nut bread, a real treat for the neighborhood. Here's her recipe:

Sift together 3 cups sifted flour, 5 teaspoons baking powder and 1 teaspoon salt. Add 1 cup broken pecans and 1 tablespoon grated orange rind. Combine one-third cup orange juice with two-thirds cup of milk, 1 well-beaten egg and three-fourths cup orange marmalade. Add to dry ingredients and stir with fork until just blended. Pour into greased 3" x 5" x 9" loaf pan and bake at 350 degrees about one hour. Remove from pan cool.

Farm Phone Percentage Hits All-Time High

According to a recent survey, 45.3 percent of American farms have telephones. This is an all-time high. The report comes from the Crop Reporting Board of the Agricultural Marketing Service, which explained that the actual number of farms having telephone service is smaller than in 1920, when the percentage of farms with phones was 38 percent.

An increase in amounts paid by farmers for local service was accompanied by an increase in quality of service, as more phones went from crank to lift and from lift to dial-type service.

When planning the farm site, remember that barns, outdoor toilets and other sources of contamination should be located at least 100 feet from the water supply.

MAKE SURE OF ALL THINGS:

Bracing Up The Mind For New Nation Activity

The new nation is not modern Israel in Palestine nor any other nation formed by imperfect men who are part of this old world or old system of things. The new nation is the nation fore told by Isaiah as being "brought forth at once." (Isa. 66:7, 8, AS) It is the nation that is happy, because its God is Jehovah. (Ps. 33:12, Ro.) It is made up of the remnant of the members of Christ's body, and the glorified enthroned Jesus Christ is their reigning King; but now there associate with this spiritual nation a growing flock of the other sheep of the King-Shepherd. John 10:16, NW; Ezek. 34:23, 24.

And what is the activity of this new nation and its good-will companions? It is that of bearing witness to the great King of eternity, Jehovah God, and preaching "this good news of the Kingdom" "in all the inhabited earth for the purpose of a witness to all nations." Matt. 24:15, NW.

And why should it be necessary to brace up our minds for such activity? As Christians we need to brace ourselves, because the whole world is going in the opposite direction and is arrayed against us even as it was arrayed against our Master when he was on earth. It was foretold regarding him: "I have set my face like a flint"; and as the time drew near for his being offered up "he firmly set his face to travel to Jerusalem." Because of this determined bracing of himself he was able to say, by way of encouragement to his apostles on the night of his betrayal: "In the world you will have tribulation, but cheer up! I have conquered the world." (Isa. 50:7, RS; Luke 9:51; John 16:33, NW). And that world includes not only the visible enemies of the new nation by primarily its invisible enemies, Satan and his demons. Eph. 6:10-12.

Because of this opposition to New Nation activity Peter admonishes us: "Brace up your minds for activity, keep completely balanced and set your hope upon the undeserved kindness that is to be brought to you at the revelation of Jesus Christ. 1 Pet. 1:13-15, NW.

It is with the girdle of truth that we must brace up our minds for the strenuous activity that must be carried on by those who belong to the new nation. It means "keep on watching and praying." It means diligently studying God's Word, not contenting ourselves with a mere superficial reading of it and the spiritual food Jehovah provides at the present time. It means being alert to one's opportunities of service and to the snares that lie in one's path. It means being forward looking, of a positive frame of mind, strong in faith, firm in hope, having our minds filled with thougts that are righteous, chaste, true, praise-worthy and virtuous." Phil. 4:8.

Government Offers Booklet To Simplify Income Tax Filing

To help federal income taxpayers in Chilton county to determine what they should and should not pay Uncle Sam this year, the United States Department of Commerce in Atlanta is again offering them a little booklet chockful of valuable information on the subject published by the number 1 authority on the subject, the Federal Government itself.

The booklet, entitled "Your Federal Income Tax, 1954," has just come off the press and it incorporates all of the personal income tax provisions enacted through the last session of Congress and incorporated in the new internal revenue code.

According to Merrill C. Lofton, manager of the Commerce Department field office in Atlanta, the booklet is the work of the Internal Revenue Service. It not only covers such elementary subjects as who must file a return, when and where, the deductions that should be made, family exemptions, and types of returns, but also the more recent changes.

For example, there are new provisions regarding deductions for medical expenses, including the outgo for drugs, deductions allowed working mothers, divorced or widowed, for the care of children, and other deductions allowed for illnesses.

The booklet, which is priced this year at 25 cents to defray the cost of printing, is issued each year and is possibly the best-selling government publication. Thousands of copies are distributed each year by the U. S. Department of Commerce in Atlanta, the address of which is 336 Peachtree-Seventh Street Bldg.

Baptist Simultaneous Crusade To Be Held During March

More than twenty churches in the Chilton-Unity Association have already made definite plans to participate in the simultaneous revival crusade in March. We are expecting several more to join in within the next few days as they have time to work out their plans.

The following churches have already made their plans for the revival:

Clanton First, Maple Springs, Liberty Hill, West End, Mars Hill, Macedonia, Samaria, Jemison, Floyd, Refuge, Pleasant Grove No. 2, Mulberry, Union Grove, New Salem, Mt. Pleasant, Concord, Chestnut Creek, Pleasant Valley, Bethsalem, Collins Chapel, Poplar Springs, Maplesville, Bell Lane.

The following churches have sent in contributions to pay advertising expenses:

Samaria, $10.00; Mars Hill, 5.00; Jemison, 10.00; Macedonia, 5.00; Pleasant Valley, 5.00; First Church, Clanton, 30.00; Shiloh, 5.00; Bethsalem, 4.50; New Harmony, 4.30; Poplar Springs, 6.25; Liberty Hill, 20.00 and West End 20.00.

It is the plans of the committee to use two full pages of both county papers the week of February 21st with all the churches participating. The names of the pastor and the evangelist and the date and hour of each church services will also be thereon.

Your publicity chairman together with the enlistment chairman, Rev. Evan Johnson would appreciate having the plans of your church revival as soon as plans are worked out. Please give us the name of the pastor, evangelist, date and hour of the services.

Of course, you will desire to have part in defraying expenses of the advertising which we plan to do. Send your money direct to Mr. R. L. Duffy, Clanton, Ala.

You will certainly want to attend the special musical program wich will be at the First Baptist Church in Clanton on Saturday night of this week at 7:30 o'clock. Dr. Hutchinson informs us that five sisters from York, Penn. will be there with various kinds of musical instruments. They also know how to use these instruments to the best advantage.

State Cattlemen Go To Mobile This Week

Auburn—On slate for the 12th annual meeting of the Alabama Cattlemen's Association in Mobile this week-end are addresses by five notables in the nation's cattle industry. Experts from the API Extension Service, School of Agriculture, and School of Veterinary Medicine will also take part.

Association members from thruout the state will gather at the Admiral Semmes Hotel Friday and Saturday for the session. They are led by M. C. Stallworth Jr. of Vinegar Bend, president.

Robert C. Farquhar, assistant Extension beef cattle specialist, said yesterday the following men will be featured speakers:

Jay Taylor of Amarillo, Texas, president of the National Cattlemen's Association; Tom Collins, publicity director of the Kansas City National Bank and Trust Co.; Tom Glaze of Chicago, Ill., head of Swift's agricultural research department; A. R. Ring of Chicago, director of meat merchandising for the National Livestock and Meat Board, and Jerry Sotola of Chicago, associate director of Armour's livestock bureau.

Use of manure or legumes does not reduce the need for extra nitrogen on land planted to trucks crops.

WANTED BY THE FBI

CLARENCE DYE
with aliases Jockey Dye, "Jock"

Unlawful flight to avoid prosecution—armed robbery

DESCRIPTION: Age 44, born July 5, 1910, Pad, W. Va.; height, 5 feet 10 inches; weight, 140 pounds; build, medium; hair, brown; eyes, blue; complexion, fair; race, white; nationality, American; occupations, waiter, cook, bartender, ship fitter, welder, laborer; scars and marks, several small pit scars over face, scars over left eyebrow, blue scar over right eyebrow, small cut scar on right index finger, tattoo of initials "C. D." on right forearm.

A Federal complaint was filed at Akron, Ohio, on November 9, 1951, charging Dye with unlawful flight from the State of Ohio to avoid prosecution for the crime of armed robbery.

Dye is probably armed and should be considered extremely dangerous.

Any person having information which may aid in locating this fugitive is requested to contact the nearest office of the FBI, the telephone number of which appears on the first page of local telephone directories.

Machines, Though High Are Cheaper Than Men

Auburn—Machines are replacing man in more and more fields.

In spite of the fact that machinery and motor supplies have increased in price since pre-World War II days, doing many farm jobs with pistons, gears, and wheels continues to cost less than tackling the same tasks with manpower alone. That's because labor is even higher than machinery, according to U. S. Department of Agriculture economists.

J. T. Gaillard, farm machinery specialist for the API Extension Service, said this week that a USDA report shows farm wages now run more than four times as high as those paid before World War II. Gaillard explained that these and other statistics indicate that the amount and cost of labor saved by farm mechanization will continue to be an important consideration in farm management.

REPENT, OBEY, BELIEVE

First thing I wish to call your attention to is; Jesus spake; the Holy Spirit inspired; Moses, Psalmist, prophets, and apostles wrote.

You may say that was thousands of years before Jesus Christ. No, he is a lamb slain from the foundation of the world, Rev. 13:9. The testimony of Jesus is the spirit of prophesy, Rev. 19:10. As he spoke by the mouth of his holy prophets since the world began, Luke 1:70.

For had ye believe Moses, yet ye believed not his writings how shall ye believe my words, J. 5:46-47.

The Psalmist David wrote of Jesus and the Holy Spirit told David that Jesus said ye are Gods, and you go ahead and write for it is the truth and is no lie. Ps. 82:6; John, 10:34-34.

I have shown you where Jesus spake, the Holy Spirit told Moses to write the words he (the Holy Spirit) heard Jesus speak. Also what the Holy Spirit heard Jesus spoke and told David to write, will you believe?

I must get to my subject ye are Gods. Yes friends, man is created in the image and likness of God. Likeness and glory of God. I Cor. 11:7. In the very nature and character of God, James 3:9. Yes friends man is God. Yet he has to be begotten and that must come through repentance, and obedience, Matt. 7:21; Luke 6:46; etc. Yes he must have a new heart, must have the gift of God, that is the annointing of the Holy Spirit. He now has the faith, mind and power of Jesus Christ, (I mean while Jesus was just a begotten son of God) can do all the miracles Jesus did while on earth, Jesus said even greater, J. 14:12.

We now have man only begotten son of God. The time is fast drawing nigh when man will be declared to be the son of God with power, according to the spirit of Holiness by the resurrection from the dead. Rom. 1:4.

Yes friends, that second birth, immortality, eternal life, and all the good things that ever come to you comes through the resurrection from the dead and is brought to you by Jesus Christ at the resurrection of the just, Luke 14:14.

I know you will search the scriptures, please do, read and study.

Yours in Christ,
Lee A. Popwell

PROGRESSIVE SOIL CONSERVATIONIST

J. W. Bradberry and H. O. Headley are planning on establishing Bahia grass meadows for their contour rows of peaches to drain into.

Hoyt Freeman has some excellent grazing of Crimson Clover and Rescue Grass on forty-odd acres and states, "You know, I like Bahia grass and I am thinking now that I will plant this field in Bahia as soon as the seed of the Clover and Rescue are mature."

R. O. Williams still has one of the best winter grazing programs in the county. The farm is 100 per cent green. Rescue grass has furnished a large percent of the grazing, but he has some Crimson Clover and Fescue.

Monroe Boles has started land preparation for a spring planting of Coastal Bermuda and Bahia Grass on fifteen or more acres.

Proper outlets with a good terrace system is the first essential in conserving soil or row crop land. E. W. Ward of Jemison has made arrangements for a good system to be installed on his farm. Outlets were staked out and terrace lines were run.

Luther Z Giles of Jemison said "I want to do 10 or 15 acres of timber stand improvement this year under the Agricultural Stabiliza tion Conservation program."

Cooperator John B. Deramus has cleared about 15 acres of nice land Just off the Floyd-Verbena road. Terrace lines have been staked out on this land and plans for a border strip around the field has been made. The border strip will act as water disposal area for terraces and hay for livestock. It will be seeded to Siricea or Pennsacola Bahia Grass.

DALE CARNEGIE

AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING"

ALL his life, says Elvin L. Baer, 1030 S. Glendora Avenue, W. Covina, California, he has been a procrastinator. Five years insurance selling made him realize that he has always had an unconscious fear of meeting certain types of people. He admits he is an expert in making excuses and putting things off. He has improved in recent years, but he finds himself still making excuses for his defection.

CARNEGIE

One day he had a lot of fun when a variety of happenings took place in that one day more than normally happen to him in a week. This was the result of his doing the important things that popped into his mind immediately and without hesitation. In analyzing his list of calls at the beginning of the day he found that most of them were not essential. So he discarded these, made the important ones, and then started out "cold-turkey." The day ended with six new policies sold and most of the premiums collected on the spot. He even got free beer on one of his last calls, and he knows that he got one policy because he played duets on a piano with a housewife. He adds that if someone had told him a year before that he could go out a week before Christmas and have a day as good as he had he would have laughed derisively.

"But, fellow sufferers," he says, "I am a procrastinator no more."

Folks and Things ABOUT TOWN

—By Ben

First thing we want to make a correction. Last week we stated that the boys caught in the burglary of the local post office were sentenced to five years. From the Welfare Department we learned that the boys were sentenced to no definite term in the State School at Mt. Meigs, but for a period of training. The school teaches vocational, religious and many other studies and their term depends on their conduct while at the school.

Charlie Cox was telling us that Bill Drinkard, the new director of the State Department of Conservation had turned loose 12 deer in Oakmulgee Swamp this past week. Mr. Cox suggests that we notify the hunters and all others to watch out for, and protect the deer. In time we can have some real deer hunts in Chilton County and these local deer hunters won't have to go so far to do a little deer hunting.

That was the tallest tale about John Higgins and the heavy loot that was going the rounds this past week-end that we ever heard. The story first came to us that he had found eleven thousand dollars. Well, the next time we heard about it—which was a few hours later he had found twenty-two thousand dollars. Then Monday morning it had grown to a hundred and twenty thousand dollars. Now mind you, all this money was supposed to have been buried behind the Willingham Hotel. Of course there was no money there at all and how the story ever got started no one knows. Reports are though, that many a car drove by the hotel and around it the past week-end to see if any undue action was going on there—like some one counting money.

A farm couple taking in the sights of the Nation's Capital at night passed by the White House and the man stood for a minute looking the place over from one end to another.

The wife, expecting some wondrous remark, was startled when her spouse snorted: "Hmph! For a family of two they shore burn enough lights."

Representative Francis Speaks called us some of the best news we had heard in a long long time Tues. night. Seems he and Dave Yarbrough, our Senator, had been talking to Governor Jim Folsom and our little bitty buddy told them that within the next 90 days bids would be let for the building of a bridge over the Coosa River on Alabama 22. Rep. Speaks also had some big plans for extending State 22 across the entire state and making a U. S. Highway out of it. That would bring more gasoline revenue in 30 days than the gasoline men would lose in a year because of the increased gasoline tax now before the Legislature. Anyway we're glad our friend in Montgomery has seen fit to start things on our new bridge. That will be appreciated at one time or another by every citizen of our county.

Army News

President Eisenhower ordered an end to wartime benefits for men who enter active duty after 31 of Jan. of this year.

The president's action halted benefits of the Korean GI Bill including mustering out pay, combat zone tax exemptions, and many other "wartime" benefits for men entering military service after the Jan. 31 cut-off date.

The following men enlisted in the U.S. Army last month so as to take advantage of the benefits of the GI Bill:

William C. McSheridan of Rt. 1, Clanton; George Hubbard of 1, Calera; Jesse W. Dawson of Rt. Rt. 1, Jemison; L. C. Nix of Rt. 1, Randolph; Memphis Wallace of Columbiana; Charles R. Cobb of Jemison; Ronnie W. Shaw of Jemison; Delmar E. Bailey of Rt. 2, Verbena.

One of the local morning radio announcers, Mr. Harry W. Culp enlisted in the Army the 24th of Jan. along with Daniel Nedford Williams of Rt. 4 Clanton.

It is reported that Harry is to go into a highly technical training course on communications.

Your local Army Recruiting Office is located over the Western Auto Store here in Clanton. Tel. 963.

Blast Victim---

Raymond Sees Light Again

Raymond Popwell, after eight weeks of total darkness, can see light again.

Raymond, a local farmer, was blinded in a blast from a premature dynamite explosion on his farm two months ago. One eye was lost completely but the other eye received a transplanted cornea and can distinguish light again.

The Birmingham doctor who grafted the cornea to Raymond's eye two weeks ago says the healing of the eye is a slow process and may take months. He will give no statement as to what extent Raymond will be able to see when the eye is completely healed.

Raymond returned home from a Birmingham hospital yesterday and is doing fine.

Y.W.A. Rally Thursday Nite

There will be a YWA Rally on Thursday night, February 17th at 7:30 at the Chestnut Baptist church in Coopers. All YWA girls of the Chilton-Unity Association are urged to be present. Please bring any girls who are prospective members to this meeting. All counselors of the YWA are asked to come. Pastors and their wives are to be special guests. A special film will be shown. A good program is planned and we want every young woman in the Association to be present.

Mr., Mrs. Davis Move To Clanton

Mr. and Mrs. LeForte Davis of Birmingham are moving to Clanton and will reside with Mayor C. Fenn Jones.

Mrs. Davis is the neice of Mr. Jones and the daughter of the late Dr. Julius Jones of Rockford. Mr. Davis is in the insurance business.

Baptist Youth Rally Meets Saturday

The Baptist Youth Rally will meet Saturday, Feb. 5, at 7 p.m. at the Union Grove Baptist church. This church is located five miles from Jemison on the Mineral Springs Road.

The speaker will be Rev. Rasberry, pastor of the Maplesville Baptist church. Rev. Rasberry has a pasion for souls and is serving God by preaching his word.

Terry Jones will give his testimony. A song service has been planned. After the service refreshments and fellowship will be provided.

The church extends a cordial invitation to all young people and adults.

MARY NELL VEAZEY

Mary Nell Veazey is Miss Future Homemaker of the Isabella Chapter of F.H.A. for 1955.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Veazey. Mary Nell is 15 years old. She is an "A" student in the tenth grade. She has been active in FHA for two years and is working steadily toward her chapter degrees. She is a member of the Glee Club and the Beta Club. She studies piano and likes to sing. She prepares meals for the family and says she likes to cook and assist with general house work.

Emergency Feed Program Helped 300 In Chilton County

According to Joe M. Murphree, County Supervisor, Farmers Home Administration, it has been determined by the State Drouth Committee that all applications for emergency grain and hay will have to be processed by February 15, 1955. Each eligible applicant may apply for a supply of grain or hay to meet the minimum feed requirements through March 31, 1955. Approximately 300 Chilton County farm people have benefitted from the Emergency Feed Program to date.

Be sure that your applications reach the Farmers Home Administration office not later than noon on February 15th.

Wins First Prize In Writing Contest

Mrs. Sarah G. Palmer, teacher at Chilton County High School, won first prize in the short story division of the Birmingham Annual Festival of Arts being held in the Magic City.

Mrs. Palmer, who's story was titled "Love is Not Like Leaven," will receive her award in Birmingham tomorrow night at the opening of the Little Theatre.

New Engineer Heads Chilton's Sound Program

By BOB TUCKER

Since the resignation of Chilton County's able and efficient County Engineer, Mr. George Tolbert, the county has looked hard for a replacement for that important position in the County's welfare. Just recently plans and negotiations were completed for the services of Mr. Harold Lewis to perform the important duties of the road engineer for Chilton. He comes highly recommended by the Alabama Highway Department and is reported to have more than 15 years experience in his chosen field.

Mr. Lewis is married to the former Odelle Turner of Columbiana. They have two children, a girl eight years old and a son six years old. The Lewis family comes to us from Etowah where Mr. Lewis held the same position which he will hold in our county. They are to live in Clanton in Glendale and are already setting up house-keeping here.

The 40-year old Lewis is considered among the most efficient and most reliable men of his profession and is highly favored by Probate Judge Tingle and the Board of Revenue and Control. He has taken over his duties here with us and looks forward to a co-operative year in Chilton County.

The Board of Revenue and Control, since its organization here has made tremendous strides in the advancement of our road system and have thus far put Chilton County roads in the best condition since the birth of our county.

Under the present Board system, the roads of Chilton County have been under constant watch and there has been little time that some form of improvement hasn't been underway.

In 1953, for example, under the able leadership of the late J. D. Bullington, Chilton County roads were second only to one other county in the entire third district of the State Highway Department. Mr. Bullington and the Board of Revenue and Control accomplished 71 miles of paved road in the county, and when Mr. Bullington entered the office, he and the Board had a $60,000.00 debt hanging over

Retail Merchants Organize

At a meeting of the Clanton retail merchants, held last Monday evening at the City Hall, an organization was formed and officers were elected in order to solve many of the problems faced by local merchants.

M. C. Sutley was elected as president, Cecil Ramsey was elected vice-pres and J. M. Langley was voted sec-treas.

In addition to these officers each division of retail stores elected a chairman to represent their respective trades.

Glenn Motor Co. New Packard Dealer Here

H. H. Glenn, local automobile executive, has been appointed the Packard dealer here for service and sales. Clare E. Briggs, vice-president, Packard division, Studebaker-Packard corporation, announced today.

Highlight of the opening this week of Glenn Motor Co. 975 S. 7th St. is the introduction of the new Packards and 1955 Clippers which have new V-8 engines with the highest horsepower in motorcars and the new torsion bar suspension which eliminates conventional coil and leaf springs.

Glenn will begin to provide service for Packard cars immediately. His modern servcie facilities have been completely equipped with Packard parts and accessories. Intensive training courses for his serivce staff have been carried out during the past two months with emphasis on the new type of suspension and transmission being installed for the first time in American production cars.

The new dealer has been in business for 5 years.

Service manager of the firm is C. H. Patterson.

Commenting on Packard's new business affiliation in this city, Briggs said that one of the first results of the formation of Studebaker and Packard as the fourth full-line manufacturer in the automobile industry has been an increase in dealer representation. The new company is now close to its objective of service in 4,000 key cities across the country. Motorists will never drive more than one hour without passing through a town where there is dealer service.

Briggs said the dealership here is one of the first to secure a franchise under this program. The dealer will handle the Packard cars in the higher price field and clippers in the medium priced market.

The showing of the 1955 models marks the completion of the Packard program launched 2 years ago by president James J. Nance, to regain the company's leadership in the luxury car field.

Four major goals were reached. The company returned to prestige car manufacturing with its Packard line, while bringing back the Clipper line for the medium price field. A new, young management team was put in place with about 50 percent new executives. The firm returned to making its own car bodies for the first time since 1941. All car building and assembly operations were put into new single-story plants which are considered the most modern in the industry in the use of automatic equipment and electronic quality inspection devices.

Briggs said the new dealership will be included in a series of customer service programs to be pilot tested for effectiveness before they ar introduced in dealerships in other states. The study to be made will include determining the effect of outstanding service departments on repeat service orders.

Chilton Schools Support Dimes March

James Duke Heflin, who was appointed sub-chairman for schools by George Smith County Chairman, reported this week that up until Jan., 31, $471.89 had been turned in by the schools of the county.

In his report Heflin stated "I am sure there is more money to come. We shall have a complete listing at a later date and thank you, and may God bless you, who had a part in giving to the March of Dimes that others might walk."

Some of the county schools are quite small and of course could not make a great showing, but the list to date is;

Cooper School, $6.98; Stanton School, 12.22; Clanton Elementary, 177.86; Pinedale School, 4.30; Concord School, 7.10; Riderville, 8.35; Jemison High and Elementary, 94.88; Verbena Colored, 15.35; Enterprise, 54.06; Lomax Colored, 10.55; Isabella High and Elementary, 80.22.

Conservationists Stress Need For Protecting Soil

A visit with L. J. Green of Stanton found him wanting to plan for hay and grazing for his cattle in years to come. He is now planning and setting Coastal Bermuda on two acres and will increase his acreage as his cattle increase. Mr. Green is making application to do 20 acres of Timber Stand Improvement this year under the Agricultural Stabilization program.

Mr. W. A. Williams of Clanton said, "I need 40 acres of Coastal Bermuda grass to keep my dairy going."

Proper marking and cutting of timber needed for farm use is a paying enterprise. By marking the trees need to cut, not only gives you what you need, but leaves a good stand for future use. Mr Monroe Foshee of the Mt. Pleasant community marked a small stand for harvesting posts.

Clyde DeBardleben of the Enterprise community is sodding 20 acres to Coastal Bermuda grass and the balance of the open farm land is planted to peaches. Clyde says "I want cows and fruit to be my farm crop", The timber I will hold for insurance."

District Cooperator Monroe Bowles stopped by the office one day last week and made the statement that I wish all of our farmers, landowners, renters or whoever controls land in any way could have heard directly from him. His statement was "this land we call our very own is not actually ours. We have it in our charge for awhile, and how we treat it will determine what we have to pass on down to our children and our children's children." Mr. Bowles believes in soil and water conservation and is carrying out a good plan on his farm. Last year he bought 80 acres of run-down land near him and has started land preparation to sod down a large acreage of Bahia and Coastal Bermud grsses this spring.

'Dimes' Money Stolen From Verbena School

The school at Verbena was entered the week-end and money was taken, some of which belonged to the March of Dimes Campaign.

Tuesday it was reported that $27.00 in checks had been found in a creek and returned to the school. There was approximately $100.00 of the March of Dimes money taken. Reports from the Sheriff's office are that no arrests had been made but some suspects were being questioned.

I. S. Levine Named ASCC Director

I. S. Levine, Clanton, was elected a director of the Alabama Society for Crippled Children and Adults at the annual meeting of the Easter Seal workers in Montgomery, January 28.

Levine has served as Chairman of the Chilton County Chapter of the Society for fifteen years and is noted for his outstanding work for Alabama's Crippled Children.

Others elected to the Board of Directors at the annual meeting were:

T. L. Lindsey, Fayette; Mrs. Otis Jordan, Tuscaloosa; Frank Bromberg, Birmingham; Mrs. E. E. Camp, Huntsville; Walter M. Jackson, Decatur; Dr. C. P. Nelson, Anniston and Mrs. John Lakeman, Haleyville.

Joe Williams Named Red Cross Chairman

Joe Williams has been named American Red Cross Campaign Chairman and Rev. Don Esty has been named co-chairman. This action took place last week when the local Chapter held its regular meeting at the City Grill.

Chairmen in the various communities will be named and they are asked to come by the local Red Cross office on Mondays, Thursdays or Saturdays for their campaign supplies. The Red Cross headquarters is over the Upchurch Drug Store.

The County Chairman asks that this be done as soon as possible so the workers can get the campaign underway by March 1st. The chairman said that each and every worker was being counted on to make his quota which is $5000 this year.

DENT WILLIAMS, INC. DISSOLVES PARTNERSHIP

Announcement is made today of the dissolving of partnership between J. R. Studdard and Dent Wililams in the Dent Williams Motor Co., Inc.

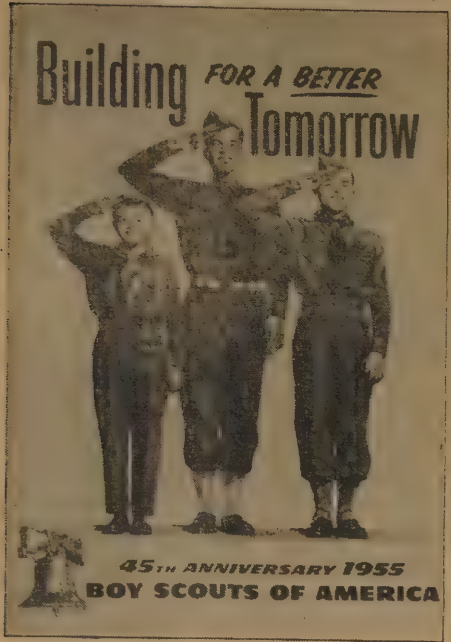
SCOUTS OBSERVE 45th BIRTHDAY



Snow use talking about it brother, it's been cold as hail.

* * * *

Communist China says we won't stop shooting at Formosa and Uncle Sam says if you don't we will start shootin at you—so just how do you expect to stay out of war with a set-up like that?

A NOTEWORTHY BIRTHDAY—

We salute the Boy Scouts of America on their 45th birthday, now being observed during Boy Scout Week of Feb. 6th thru the 12th.

Since its founding in 1910 the oranization has enriched the lives of over 22,750,000 boys. Truly Scouting represents a living cross section of our way of life.

Boys of every race, religion and economic background are attracted to Scouting. Today we find 2,700,000 boys in its ranks. Add to that impressive figure the 960,000 adults of good character who give generously of their time and talents to serve as leaders of units, Merit Badge Counselors and many other capacities. There is hardly an American family that has not felt its influence.

It is of vital importance that we train the boys of today to be ready for positions of leadership as they grow to manhood.

Strong character, participating citizenship and physical fitness are the needs of our boys and young men who are served by the program of Scouting in cooperation with the home, the school, the church, and all other community institutions actively interested in training our future citizens.

Scoutings' purpose, stated in the Federal Charter granted by Congress in 1916, is to promote the ability of boys to do things for themselves and others, to train them in Scoutcraft, and to teach them patriotism, courage, self-reliance and kindred virtues.

It is that training that we heartily endorse on this noteworthy birthday.

WHERE LIES THE BLAME?

Juvenile delinquency is discussed pro and con in all the dailies and all the magazines that come across our desk, but none of them seem to be able to put their finger on "who is to blame"?

Recently several burglaries have occurred in Chilton County and it is pretty well known that behind the crimes were juveniles.

The most recent case was the entering of the Verbena High School the past week-end. A sizeable amount of cash was taken that belonged to the March of Dimes Campaign and was being kept in the school safe.

It is far beyond our ability to say who is, or who is not to blame for the epidemic of juvenile crimes, but this we know—a great responsibility rests in the home.

Take stock of yourself and your home. Are you doing your part to see that your boy or girl is growing up in the ways that will make him, or her, a credit, or a debit, to our community?

If you are guilty of neglect on your part do something about it. If not, thank your lucky stars that your children are being guided along the road to good citizenship.

Things we -SEE- and Hear

by "Tuck"

We've come to the conclusion that the only thing that will keep drivers from killing themselves is drivers killing themselves.

Funny how an ignorant person can't stand ignorance.

We saw the city police car pull up by another car down the street the other day and since the fellow was stopped in the traffic lane we assumed that he was waiting on someone. We also assumed that the guardians of the law were reprimanding the driver for blocking traffic. It is against the rules and regulations, but we thought it unfair because we've seen (in fact we've had to go around it) the police car parked in almost the same place.

Since we have to drive in this here town from now on, maybe it was an acquaintance and they were talking to him, friendly like.

Talking to a little fellow the other day who was practicing his number work and was busy counting up to (40 we believe) on a peice of paper. He showed us the finished product and we tried a little constructive criticism by saying "what about the ones that ar backward?" He says, "Oh, I already know those." Well, so we're stupid, when we were in kindergarten we didn't have to learn any backward numbers.

Hear about the fellow who sent in his income tax report without signing his name to it. Well don't laugh, it was me.

Hear Mr. Gordon Robertson has been out of circulation the past week suffering an eye that won't work properly. We had some experience with such as that once and we can honestly sympathize with the Robertson's. We hope, however, that he can be up and back with Reddy Kilowatt and the gang before too many moons. Knowing him, he's likely back already.

Also heard the other day that Dr. C. O. Lawrence was in an auto accident with his son in Birmingham last week. It seems no one was seriously injured fortunately. Must be a pretty tough young man, that Doc, we saw him treating an emergency case at his office Sunday and he looks none the worse for wear.

Saw an article in a magazine the other day that said "eat anything with false teeth." How you gonna find out whether the cow or pig had his own teeth or not. Wonder if they could have meant someething else?

Had a Mr. Porter at a filling station in Jemison fix our jalopy the other day and we, at the time were completely busted. (without funds). When he finished, naturally we waited 'till he finished, we ask him what it was and he told us. We tried feebly to explain that the paycheck hadn't come in yet and he was perfectly satisfied with trusting us until we could dig up the necessary cash. The big part of it is he didn't know us from Adam's house cat nor we him. Just a little faith in the other fellow is all it was and it made us feel good. We believe he is an honest man, too. One thing is certain, Mr. Porter will likely get paid before some folks with less trust for the other guy. He didn't treat me as though I were trying to cheat him and now he's gained my respect as an honest man. To me he was honest. Maybe we could all try it in some form or fashion just to see if it really works. He showed me it will.

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

The House speedy and overwhelming approval last week to a resolution authorizing the Pres. to employ the Armed Forces of the United States to secure and protect the Formosa area. The Senate followed suit only a few days later.

The President made a request for such action in a message sent to both Houses of Congress on Mon. of last week. The necessary joint resolution was introduced following the President's message and the House Foreign Affairs Committee, of which I am a member began immediate consideration of it.

The Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, and Admiral Arthur Radford, Chmn. of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, appeared before our committee and testified in support of the resolution.

Secretary Dulles reviewed the mounting tension caused by Communist Chinese attacks on Nationalist-held territory, and stressed the strategic importance of Formosa and the Pescadores Islands to the United States and the importance of their remaining in friendly hands. The Secretary of State emphasized that he considered it imperative at this juncture that the United States take a position of firmness backed by national unity. Failing to do so, he pointed out, would invite miscalculations which could lead to a far more serious situation than exists today.

Admiral Radford supported wholeheartedly the views expressed by Secretary Dulles, pointing out that from a military viewpoint the island chain from the Aleutians to New Zealand is vital to the defense of the United States.

After careful consideration of the facts that were presented to us, the members of the Foreign Affairs Committee reported the resolution unanimously. The following day the House, by a vote of 409-3 adopted the resolution that gives firm and positive notice to the world of the policies this country has adopted and upon which we stand united.

In giving our almost unanimous approval to this resolution, the Members of Congress realized a calculated risk was involved. Yet, most of us strongly believed we would take a far greater risk if we failed to act firmly and unitedly. It is my prayerful hope that our firm declaration of policy will not take us into a conflict but instead will bring to us and a troubled world a greater hope for peace

--Educational Benefits--

During the first week in January a Presidential directive was issued designating January 31 as the cut-off date for the computation of Veterans educational benefits. This directive has the effect of ending on January 31 the further accrual of educational benefits of more than a million men now serving in the armed forces.

In order to correct the situation the House last Thursday unanimously adopted a measure which provides that persons who were in the military service on or before January 31 may continue to accrue educational benefits under the Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act of 1952. This measure will undoubtedly be considered by the Senate in the near future where unanimous approval is also expected.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

Earaches

Severe infections in the ear are not as common today as they once were. The sulphonamides and antibiotics have, in recent years, reduced the painful earache until it no longer is a problem with numerous complications.

Most earaches occur during child hood and may even appear in the first few months of life. Many times earaches in children come with a cold, "runny" nose or sore throat. The cold may be quite mild and have been present for several days before an ear infection develops. This earache is a warning signal that the infection has spread to the middle ear.

An infection of the ear begins when bacteria reach the middle ear. As they multiply in the ear and produce toxic substances, the body responds by different means. First the blood vessels expand to carry more blood to the ear. Serum passes from the blood vessels into the middle ear to try to neutralize the invading bacteria. Soon white cells also pass into the middle ear to destroy the bacteria. Eventually an abcess forms. Pain, which is due mainly to increased pressure from the developing abcess is a warning to seek medical help.

Any earache may leave a hearing loss. This is sometimes difficult to detect in children unless the hearing is markedly affected. Sometimes children do poorly in school without any one realizing their hearing is affected. If not treated the hearing loss may become permanent. Every child who is suspected of poor hearing should be examined by a physician.

Today an earache need not mean a long, painful illness with possible serious consequences. Earache indicates an infection which usually, with prompt care, can be overcome.

Farm Social Security Benefits Better Now

Congress has made it easieer for farm employees—hired help— to qualify for Social Security benefits. Beginning Jan. 1 of this year cash pay of $100 or more in a year from one farm operator will start you on the road leading to Social Security benefits for yourself in yourself in your old age and for your family in case of your death.

The person you work for will keep back two per cent of your cash pay for Social Security, add the same, amount as his share of the tax, and send the total to the District Director of Internal Revenue with his Social Security report. You should make sure the farmer you work for has a record or your name and Social Security number exactly as they appear on your Social Security card.

Questions on reporting farm workers' wages and payment of taxes should be addressed to the District Director of Internal Revenue, Birmingham, Alabama.

Questions concerning the benefit rights which the Social Security Law gives and how to go about claiming them should be directed to the Social Security Administration District Ofifce, 1825 First Avenue No., Birmingham. You should apply to that office for a Social Security number if you do not already have one.

Commander Writes VFW—

Another message from your District 6 Commander, another year has gone by. Have we done our best? Have we done all we could this past year to make our community a better place to live in? If not, let us make this one of our resolutions and to also help our comrades, widows and orphans or our departed comrades, as you know I lost my only son in Korea, Aug. 6, 1950 fighting for the things you and I so dearly love, LIBERTY. There are war clouds gathering in the far East, the Communist would like to destroy our place and our way of life, now is the time for us all to stand and be counted and to stand united as never before so as to prevent this from happening and to preserve our way of life and the future of our Country. Looking forward to seeing you in Gadsden on Feb. 5 and 6 at our Mid-Winter Conference. Yours in comradeship, George D Gillespie.

February—

The month of February has several days of note. The first is Ground Hog Day, on the second. This is the month of Lincoln's and Washington's birthday. Henry Cabot Lodge said, "Lincoln was not a type, he stands alone, no ancestors; no followers, no successors, and the nation has not lived in vain which has given the world a Washington and a Lincoln; the best great men and the greatest good men whom history can show.

Lincoln once said, Most folks are as happy as they make up their minds to be.

Lincoln's Birthday—

This is the month of Lincoln's Birthday and we pause to celebrate the memory of one whose name will be forever great. A man who rose from humbleness to be our Pres. and moved with care and caution; was never hesitant. A foe to all intolerance, he struggled day and night, for lasting peace and brotherhood, in every human right. He sorrowed over the bloodshed and he wept for those who died and there were few who ever knew how hard he toiled and tried.

Let us remember him and all the nation pause to say a prayer for him who was a martyr to his cause.

Local Band Members Compete In State Tri-outs

Four members of the Chilton County High School senior band will be going to Livingston Friday to compete in the all-State festival of Band tri-outs. The local band members, if lucky enough, will go on to Tuscaloosa March 21-23 to play in one of the all-State bands.

These students are Cecil Messer who will play the solo cornet; Betty Joyce Patterson, solo trombone; James Clinkscale, solo trombone; and James Shirley, baritone. They will also play with the clinic band in a concert on Saturday night. Mr. LaMar DeLoach, local band director, will accompany them on this trip.

This band clinic is to be held at the Livingston State Teachers College on February 4-5 and is one of several district clinics to be held over the state.

Jan Sexton Celebrates Seventh Birthday

It was a happy occasion for Jan Sexton when she celebrated her seventh birthday which was on Jan. 31 with a party at her home Saturday afternoon. Jan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sexton.

After the guests had arrived and assembled in the living room contests such as Pinning the Tail on the Donkey, and a balloon bursting game were enjoyed. Following the contests a lollipop hunt on in the yard created much gaiety for everyone.

The dining room table was centered with the white birthday cake embossed in tiny pink and white variegated flowers and topped with seven pink candles. Inflated balloons in many colors added a festive touch to the occasion.

As the guests gathered around the table to be served refreshments they sang the "Happy Birthday" song to Jan.

Those enjoying the delightful occasion were: Jerry Davis, Benny Joe Williams, Jerry and Brenda Conway, Charles and Shelia Traywick, Pat Sharp, David Conway, Martha and David Johnson, Beth Maddox, June Almon, Nelda Mims, Martha Frances, Emily, and Danny Cooper, Brenda Kay Lecroy, also, the honoree's aunt and uncles, Mr. and Mrs. Dorman Williams of Bessemer and Mr. and Mrs. Ottis Traywick of Birmingham. Several friends called during the day to wish Jan a happy birthday.

Primaries And Juniors To Present Program For WSCS

An interesting and unusual program has been planned for the February 7th meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service. This meeting is the regular monthly program meeting and will be held at 3 p.m. in the MYF room at the Methodist Church.

The primaries and Juniors of the First Methodist Church will present the devotional and program. The Primaries of Mrs. Norman L. Roberts class will bring the devotional. Faye Williams will do the call to worship, playing a piano solo. Perry Vickers will sing a prayer. The responsive readings of the scriptures will be led by Claudia Fields. Others taking part will be Janice Traywick, George Tucker, Willie T. Vines, Freddie Headley, Patricia Gibbons, Mary Clyde Chism, and Woody Fulmer.

Mrs. Ben Tucker, Supt. of the Junior Dept., Mrs. Joe Campbell, Mrs. Clifford Traywick and Mrs. Ben Tucker, teachers of Juniors, are planning a program which will be presented by the Junior boys and girls. They will tell stories of the lives and work of Missionaries in India.

The Junior boys and girls will present to the Woman's Society of Christian Service gifts to be used for missions. The boys will give money to purchase a plow for a farmer in India. The girls will give money for children's literature and medicines in India. This is a culmination of their study of missons.

Chilton County Girl Sings In Birmingham

Miss Patricia Huddleston, a lovely and talented Chilton County girl, is receiving much recognition and is gaining popularity throughout the state and the south for her singing abilities. A native of Clanton, Miss Huddleston is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Huddleston.

In April Miss Huddleston will compete in Miami for the national title of "Jeanie With the Light Brown Hair". This trip came as a result of winning the state contest for a "Jeanie" in Florence last November. For both contests she was and is being sponsored by the Music Appreciation Club of Clanton.

Miss Huddleston or Pat as her friends know her, is a Junior at the University of Alabama majoring in voice and is a candidate for the Bachelor of Music degree. Her campus activities have been numerous. Last spring she sang the leading role in the University production of the Broadway musical, "Brigadoon". At present she is singing the lead in a one act opera, "La Serva Padrona", by Pergolesi which the University took on tour February 2. Pat will sing the opera in Gadsden, Huntsville, B'ham., and Tuscaloosa.

Pat's performance in "La Serva Padrona" in Birmingham will be February 4 at the Little Theatre as an event of the annual Festival of Arts. Another opera in English, "The Jumping Frog of Calaveras County", will be presented Friday night also when the Capstone Opera Workhouse presents the two operas. Both operas are under the direction of Alma Hanks workshop director and music department voice professor.

During Christmas Pat sang the soprano solos in the production of Handel's Messiah by the Chattanooga City Chorus in Chattanooga.

[illegible] will give her Junior recital at the University of Alabama in the spring.

Pat's home folks, and many friends are wishing the best of luck for her on her tours, the national contest in Miami, and for a wonderful musical career.

Chilton Farmers Can Benefit From Social Security

The following information is condensed from a U.S. Bureau of Old Age and Survivors Insurance publication (OASI - 1954-6), and is intended to answer many of the questions relative to the new amendment to the Social Security Law that bcame effective January 1, 1955.

"Farm earnings will count toward Social Security benefits for more farmers and their families - toward monthly payments in old age (even if the farmer is already 65 or over) and monthly payments to survivors in case of the breadwinner's death.

Self-employed people contribute to a fund while they are working, and when earnings stop because of death of the worker or because of his retirement at age 65 or later, payments are made from the fund to the worker and his dependents or his survivors. The tax for self-employed people is 3 percent of their earnings. They pay this once a year along with their income tax return.

If you are self-employed farm operator with earnings of $400 or more in a year, you should get a Social Security card, unless you already have one. The place to get it is your nearest social security district office. There is no charge. If you once had a card, but lost it, tell your social security office that you want a duplicate. If it is not convenient for you to go to your social security office in person, you can get an application blank at your post office and get the card by mail. The self-employment tax on your farm earnings applies to taxable years ending after 1954. If your first report is for calendar year 1955 you will make the report early in 1956 as part of your income tax return.

It is highly important that you show your social security account number on your report, as that number identifies your individual account and makes it possible to credit your account correctly. Your benefits are figured from this account.

Self-employment by independent contractors who do custom plowing and harvesting is also covered by the law."

Your Right To Benefits And How To Claim Them—

To become entitled to old-age insurance payments, or for your family to become entitled to payments in case of your death, you must have worked under social security for a certain period of time, depending on the date you reach age 65 or die.

In general, people who come under the law for the first time in 1955 will be insured after they have worked under it for a year and a half.

After this year and a half, they will stay insured if they remain in work covered by the law. After September 1958, however, they need only one-half year of work under the law for each year that passes. and after a person gets ten years of work under the law, he is insured for life.

If you already have some social security credit, any credit you earn under the new law will be added to your present record. To claim benefits, or to get more information about them, get in touch with your nearest social security office.

How To Pay Social Security Taxes—

A farm operator who makes $2,000 profit in a year will pay $60 social security tax. Social security taxes are not collected by your local social security office but by the Internal Revenue Service-the same agency that collects income taxes and other Federal taxes. For instructions on whether you owe or do not owe social security taxes, or about how and when to pay them, get in touch with the Internal Revenue Service nearest you. If you do not know the address, your postmaster can give it to you."

Churches Are Urged To Join Baptist Revival Crusade

The time is swiftly drawing near for the beginning of our great Revival Crusade in the churches of the Chilton-Unity Association here in Chilton County. Of course, other associations have their own plans worked out, but the revivals will begin with us on Sunday, Feb. 27th and continue through the first week in April. However, most of the churches will have their revival March 6-20. It is a simultaneous effort to be sure, and if you just cannot arrange a revival within the range of the two weeks given above, just plan to have it when you can.

May we urge you to let us have the plans of your revival just as soon as they are worked out by your church, including name of pastor, Evangelist, date and the hour of the meeting. Plans are well under way to publicize the plan of every church that participates in the revival crusade in the full page advertising of both county newspapers in Clanton, Ala. and it is Very Important to have your plans in hand by the second Sun. in February. However, do not wait that long unless it is absolutely necessary. We will assure you full cooperation right up to the last hour, but we must depend upon your full cooperation also.

At this writing, we have 28 of the 45 churches enlisted for the Revival Crusade and others joining day by day. However, some of the plans have not been fully worked out among a few of the churches which we have listed in regard to the Evangelist, etc. but they will inform us as quickly as possible we're sure.

You will certainly bear in mind some important rallies in the near future which is vitally connected with our Crusade. We will mention just a few of them coming up soon: "Youth Rally at the Union Grove Baptist Church next Saturday nite at 7:00 o'clock. There will be a Sunday School Rally at the First Baptist Church next Sunday, Feb. 6th at 2:00 o'clock. Let every Supt. and teacher and pastor be present and all others as well. Mr. Strickland of the State Sunday School Board will be present.

Jehovah's Witnesses Hold District Meet

Clanton and Jemison will be represented by a delegation of 12 at the Circuit Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses in Andalusia to be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 4-6 1955.

Mr. Robinson presiding minister here and head of the delegation, announced today that the group would join more than 700 other witnesses of Jehovah in the three day period of Bible instruction.

Mr. Robinson pointed out that Jehovah's witnesses are coming from 21 different congregations in Southeast Alabama and Columbus, Ga. The high point of the assembly will be the public address at the Armory Sunday, Feb. 6 at 3 p.m. The subject: "Does God Really Care."

"Throughout the world" Mr. Robinson said, "Jehovah's witnesses now have over 525,925 ministers preaching in 159 lands in over 100 languages. Each year Jehovah's witnesses report annually a world wide increase of about 20 percent in the number preaching. We expect many to be baptized at the assembly."

Due to the Circuit assembly the studies at the Kingdom Hall will be cancelled Saturday and Sunday.

Tuesday at 7 p.m. the Book Study will be held. "New Heavens and New Earth" is the study. Chapter 6.

FLOYD NEWS

Sunday School every Sunday at 10:00 o'clock; precahing every 1st and 3rd Sundays; Training Union every Sunday night at 6:30; prayer Meeting every Wednesday night at 6:30. There was a nice crowd out for Sunday School and Training Union Sunday.

Our sick folks are all improving. There are a few more cases of measles around and some bad colds. We are praying that they will all soon be able to come back to church. Your Sunday School Supt. and Training Director will be happy to see you back at church.

Our Singing Sunday afternoon was a grand success. We thank everyone that came and helped in singing, and we were proud of all our listeners too. We welcome everyone back when they can come our way.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Prickett of Montgomery were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Latiker Sunday and attended the singing.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Craig of Oak Ridge, Tenn. were the guests of her parents last week, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Stroud.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Headley of Birmingham were the guests of his mother, Mrs. P. H. Headley Sun. and attended the singing.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Cawthorn and children of Elmore were up for the singing Sunday.

Next Sunday is our regular preaching day, so don't forget to come out, your pastor will be glad to see you at church. So come and give him your full cooperation. Hoping to see you at church Sun.

Elliott's Rural Library Bill Being Endorsed By Civic Groups

Congressman Carl Elliott, of Jasper, Ala., on January 24 introduced in the House of Representatives a measure designed to promote the further extension and development of public library service to the more than 26 million citizens of our country living in rural areas who are now without such services or with inadequate services.

This bill, known as the Library Services Bill, provides Federal assistance in the amount of $7½ million each year for a five year period. These funds, which must be matched by the States, will be divided among the States on the basis of their rural population as compared to the national rural population. The State library agencies are given full jurisdiction over the development of plans for the use of the funds and in carrying out those plans. While this legislation will not remedy all the present deficiencies, it will sitmulate the States to greater action in providing adequate public library service to all their citizens.

Nineteen other members of the House have joined with Congressman Elliott in introducing identical Library Services Bills. These measures will all be referred to the House Education and Labor Committee.

On January 10, Senator Lister Hill, of Ala., introduced the same Library Services Bill in the Senate. Senator Hill was joined by thirteen other Senators in sponsoring this measure. Early action by both Houses of Congress is expected.

Farm, labor, educational, civic and veteran groups have already wholeheartedly endorsed this legislation. These organizations feel that books and library service help people to learn to do better what they already are doing; to learn new things, to follow current events intelligently, to find relaxation; and to develop understanding generally.

The library Services Bill—which would provide an annual grant to each state of $40,000 plus additional funds based on rural population o the state for a period of five years is aimed specifically at rural areas, which under the terms of the present Bill includes towns up to 10,000 population. Passage of the Library Services Bill by the 84th Congress would bring direct benefits to 2,11[illegible],329 or better than two-thirds of Alabama's total population. According to statistics compiled by the Alabama Public Library Service Division as of September 30, 1954, there are fourteen counties in Alabama with no public library facilities and twenty six counties with partial or in adequate service. Therefore, Alabamians stand to gain much by the passage of the Library Services Bill by this Congress. It is significant that the Bill was introduced in both houses of Congress by Alabama representatives.

Four Chiltonians Enlist In Army

Four Chilton County young men, all of whom have been selected for specialized training under the Army's program for volunteers to choose their fields of specialization before enlisting, were processed by Master Sergeant Jess W. Gibbens Clanton's Army Recruiting Sergeant, and sent to the Army Recruiting Main Station in Montgomery where they were enlisted on January 25.

The four young men enlisting together were James R Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith Rt. 1, Verbena, James H. Pyron, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Pyron, Rt. 1, Clanton; Harry W. Culp, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Culp, Rt. 3, Clanton; and Daniel N. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Crawford L. Williams, Rt. 5, Clanton.

Smith, the maternal grandson of Mrs. E. A. Robinson, Wilton, Ala., and the paternal grandson of Mrs. Mary K. Smith, Rt. 1, Verbena, graduated from Verbena High School class of 1953. He played basketball and baseball while a student at Jemison and Verbena High Schools, and was also a member of the Beta Club at both schools. His brother, Douglas Smith, is currently serving in the Navy and is stationed at Norfolk, Va. He was formerly employed in construction work in Birmingham.

Culp, the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Chasteen, Rt. 4, Clantonton, graduated from Tallassee High School Class of 1952, and later attended API at Auburn. Culp is an ardent sports fan having played 2 years of varsity football, baseball, and basketball at Isabella High as well as 2 years of varsity football, baseball, and basketball at Tallassee High School. He also played freshman basketball at API as well as three months of varsity basketball at the same institution. His brother, Pfc. John E. Culp, is currently serving in the Army at Norfolk, Va. He is well known to the radio listeners in Clanton as a staff announcer with WKLF and the popular program, "Housewives Jamboree."

Williams, the maternal grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ira B. Yeargan Rt. 3, Clanton, and the paternal grandson of R. A. Williams, Rt. 4, Clanton, graduated from Chilton County High School, class of 1952, and later attended API at Auburn. He is a past president of the [illegible] 4 years varsity football [illegible] Club at Chilton County High. During his high school years he played [illegible] student at Isabella and Chilton County High, two years varsity basketball and 2 years varsity baseball. He was formerly employed [illegible] the Alabama State Highway Department.

Pyron, the maternal grandson of Mrs. C. H. Cowart, Montgomery and the paternal grandson of Mrs. J. W. Pyron, Birmingham, graduated from Chilton County High School, class of 1952, where he was a member of the "C" Club and played on the varsity football and baseball teams in 1951. He was formerly employed by the L&N Railroad.

All four enlistees were sent to Fort Jackson, South Carolina for indoctrination, basic training, and further assignment.

884 In Chilton Received Old-Age Checks In December

For the month of December, 1954, 884 persons in Chilton County received benefit checks under Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance. These benefits were payable because these people worked in employmnt covered by the Social Security Law and paid social security taxes.

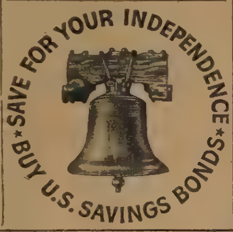
Beginning January 1, 1955, the money made from farming will count towards social security benefits. Thus, Chilton County's self-employed farm operators may find themselves receiving benefits under this program in their old age. Should they die, their dependents might also qualify for benetifs. The year 1955 will be the first time that earnings from operating a farm can be reported for this protection.

Since no social security retuens will be made on self-employment farm earnings until the end of the 1955 crop year, blanks for making reports will not be available until that time. However, any questions you might have concerning the reporting of earnings and the paying of taxes should be directed to the District Director of Internal Revenue's Office at Birmingham. Any questions about rights and benefifts under the Social Security Act should be directed to the Social Security Office at 1825 First Avenue, North, in Birmingham.

Positions Open As Internal Revenue Agents With U. S.

The United States Treasury Department has announced that it is again accepting applications from men between the ages of 18 and 35 who are interested in jobs as Internal Revenue Agents. The entrance salary for these positions is $3410 a year. These positions are located in various offices of the Internal Revenue Service in the State of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Missippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, and the Canal Zone. Applicants selected from the register for appointment will be given special inservice training with a view to promotion to grade GS-7 as soon as the prescribed training course is completed. This is an excellent opportunity for senior students who are majoring in accounting and persons with accounting training or experience who are interested in career employment in the Internal Revenue Service. The duties of these positions include office audit of income tax returns or field investigations, examinations, and audit of accounting books and records of individuals, partnerships, corporations, trusts, etc.

Full information may be obtained from Reese G. Mullins, at the local Post Office.



Farmer Co-Ops Have All-Time High In Memberships

American farmer cooperatives have about doubled their membership in the past ten years. And in Alabama last year, farm co-ops listed 87,259 patrons.

These facts were revealed by API Extension Marketing Specialist A. W. Jones, who said that county agents reported the operation of 110 state cooperatives during 1954. Together, the Alabama co-ops did a record business in excess of $41 million.

Newly released figures from the United States Department of Agriculture's Co-op Service show that cooperative organizations in the nation had a total membership of seven and a half million and did nine and a half million dollars in business in 1953.

The Extension expert said the Co-op Service report revealed that consolidation of marketing and service co-ops has sent the number of those organizations down a little.

6th Grade Visits Water Works

Our Trip to the Water Plant—

On Tuesday, Jan. 25, Mrs. Thomas' sixth grade class visited the Clanton Water Plant. We had made up questions that we wanted answered about Clanton's water.

We went in squads. The squad leaders made rules for their respective squads.

The water plant was established in 1939. First, we went downstairs and saw the water when it first comes from Yellow Leaf Creek. Then we went upstairs. We saw where the alum, lime and chlorine are mixed into the water to purify it. Next, Mr. Wood showed us the filters. He said that two hundred gallons of water go thru the filters each minute. After that we saw some water with mud in it. Mr. Wood said that 95 percent of the mud went to the bottom. The water is tested frequently. We saw where Mr. Wood makes experiments. Then we saw some guages to tell whether the water is on or not. Mr. Wood said one water tank would hold 100,000 gals. another 400,000 gallons, 900,000 gals., and still another 1,400,000 gallons. Ten to twelve million gallons of water per month is used by the people of Clanton.

On the way back to school we stopped at a service station and got some drinks. I enjoyed our trip very much.

James Henderson

At The Water Plant—

Pure water's something each one likes,
And ours, I learned, is brought through pipes.
At first it's muddy and full of slime,
But chemicals help it; one is lime.
Then in comes chlorine, I count dear.
By adding this, they make it clear.
Some mud right to the base will sink,
But it's filtered well before we drink.
There we saw the sand and gravel,
Through which all our water'll travel.
Calgon's put in drop by drop,
By adding this, all rust is stopped.

Carolyn Mims

At The Water Plant—

Our water comes in from a creek,
Through six-inch pipes that have no leak.
It reaches Clanton not so clear,
But, when we drink it, there's no fear,
For chemicals will make it pure
That they are added, we are sure.
There's chlorine, alum, yes and lime,
They're added all, in just no time.
So, when you're thirsty and want more,
Just turn the fount and let it pour

Our Water Plant—

Walking, walking, walking, walking,
Down to the plant we go,
An eager group of sixth-grade youngsters
Planning new knowledge to show,
Walking, walking, walking, walking,
All thru that plant we tramp,
Learning of all the chemicals used,
At all times, dry or damp.
Learning, learning learning learning,
As there in the midst we stood.
The chlorine, alum, calgon and lime
Were explained by Mr. Wood.

Important Facts On Federal Services Bill

The actual cost to the Federal Government would be a maximum of 7½ million dollars a year for a five-year period. The Bill does not provide for continuing Federal aid; Federal assistance will be given for only five years.

Actually the cost of this Bill would amount to less than 5c per person, but it would be impossible to measure the potential value of the return from such an investment.

The Bill is aimed specifically at rural areas. A city of more than 10,000 population can not receive money to improve its service to people within the city limits. The only way cities can qualify is by agreement to extend their service to people in their surrounding rural areas not having library service or having inadequate service.

The state library extension agency (in Alabama this is the Public Library Service Division) will be responsible for administering the Bill in the state. All plans for the expenditure of funds will have to be worked out at the state level between the local librarians and the state library agency.

The Bill does not have any Federal control of any kind except for fiscal control. The plans for spending of the funds rests entirely with the state. The Commissioner of Education as Admniistrator of the Bill must approve the state plan but only to the extent that it does not violate any of the restrictions. There will be no Federal control over the book selection or personnel, and no Federal official can say that any definite amount shall be spent for books. These things are entirely up to the States, and each state pattern can be different.

There are three definite restrictions under the Bill: The use of Federal funds for the purchase of buildings or lands is prohibited; urban areas (over 10,000 pop.) can not benefit directly from the funds the Commissioner of Education can not select books or other materials, nor can he designate what personnel shall be employed.

The Library Services Bill is non partisan. Of the eight sponsors of S. 205, four are Republican and four are Democrats. (co-sponsors with Senator Hill are George Aiken, R., Vermont; Paul Douglas, D. Illinois; Irving Ives, R., New York Mike Mansfield, D. Montana; Frank Carlson, R., Kansas; Henry Jackson, D., Washington; and William Langer, North Dakota). Since January 24, twenty-two other Congressmen have introduced into the House of Representatives bills identical to that of Congressman Elliott. Fourteen of these sponsors in the House are Democrats and nine are Republicans.

All but three states have passed legislation which will enable them to receive Federal Funds for library purposes. The three that can not accept Federal Funds are: Delaware, Utah, and Wyoming.

Seventeen national organizations have indicated official approval of this Bill and support it. They are: American Association of University Women, American Booksellers Association, American Federation of Labor, American Home Economics Association, AMVETS, Assn for Childhood Education, Congress of Industrial Organizations, Cooperative League, Farmers Union, General Federation of Women's Clubs, International Association of Machinists, National Council of Chief State School Officers, National Education Assn., National Grange, National Congress of Parents and Teachers, National Congress of Colored Parents and Teachers, United Auto Workers.

Industrial Relations Report On 1954 Employment

Alabama non - farmemployment as of December stood at 674,000. . an increase of 2,500 workers from November, but 11,400 under the December 1953 figure, according to Murray A. Battles Acting Director of the Department of Industrial Relations. The over-the-year loss amounted to only 1.7 percent.

Here is how the various industries contributed to these totals:

In manufacturing, trade industries increased their employment seasonably by 5,600 workers from November. Gains were registered in both wholesale and retail segments. In the latter category, general merchandise stores added 3,900, while apparel store employment was up by 1,200. There was a 400 worker increase in food stores. Seasonal factors also played a part in Federal government employment as post offices put on an estimated 2,500 temporary workers to help with holiday mail. Increases in defense work was offset by decreases in transportation, communications and utilities, and mining.

Contract construction, at 311,600 in December, represented a 3,600 worker loss from November. However, the present figure is approximately six percent above the year ago total. Indications are that the current employment level for contract construction will remain slightly above last year's totals for the next quarter.

A 1,100 slump in manufacturing employment was centered in the durable goods group. Losses were in: Primary metals, 900; and Transportation equipment, 400.

Battles said that the lone bright spot in this category was lumber employment for the fifth straight month. . . this time, 300 workers.

Soft goods employment for Rec was fairly stable, with slight gains in textiles and rubber. The food industry showed considerable fluctuation as settlement of a strike in the meat packing industry and expanded activity in sea food processing offset losses in other phases of the industry. Seasonal contraction in cottonseed oil mills contributed to a 200 loss in the chemical industry.

Average hourly earnings for Alabama's 196,400 factory production workers in December was $1.46—one cent above November and five cents above the December 1953 average. The average work week of 40.3 hours underwent no change from November 1954.

Alabama's 4-H Leaders Flock To Magic City

Auburn Ala.—Alabama 4-H Club members will be flocking into Birmingham for the state 4-H council meeting Thursday and Friday.

Council presidents from 67 Alabama counties, state officers, state 4-H talent winners, and adult leaders are to take part in the annual session. The meeting is sponsored by the agricultural committee of the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce.

Hanchey Logue, API Extension state 4-H Club leader, said here this week that boys and girls who go to the Magic City have a round of educational tours, sightseeing trips, and entertainment in store for them during their stay at the Redmont Hotel. The main business of the meeting will include setting up club activities for the year.

On the fun side, the youngsters—some of them in Birmingham for the first time—will tour the city's most interesting spots on Thursday. They will visit the great iron statue of Vulcan on Red Mountain. A banquet Thursday evening is planned by the Alabaa State Fair Authority, with entertainment to be provided by the 4-H talent winners. Recognition awards will be given to state officers at that time. Following the banquet, Norris Hadaway, manager of the Alabama Theater, will entertain the group at a picture show party.

Friday the 4-H'ers will tour TCI and the Chamber of Commerce Building, where the host organization will honor them at a luncheon. Club members will then head for home.

Leading the delegates from Alabama counties will be Joe Beasley of Red Bay in Franklin County, state 4-H Club president.

High Operating Heat Helps Keep Tractor Engines Healthy

Cold weather can be extra hard on the motors of tractors, trucks, and automobiles. Water formed from Burned gasoline often blows past pistons and condenses in the oil pan, where it may cause corrosion and excessive wear.

Asked for suggestions to farmers who will soon be using their tractors to prepare land for spring planting, API Extension Farm Machinery Specialist J. T. Galliard said that high operating temperatures as recommended by manufacturers can do much to keep engines dry and healthy. High temperatures keep oil hot, vaporizing water that gets into the pan, explained the specialist.

Galliard advised farmers to operate their tractors at above 160 degrees. Temperatures up to 180 degrees make fuel go further, he said. But the farm leader warned that when vehicles maintain these high heats a permanent-type anti-freeze must be used in their engines.

Thermostats and radiator covers or shutters will help keep operating temperatures high during cold weather.

Merit System Jobs Open With State

Montgomery—The State Personnel Department has announced three examinations for merit system classifications.

Application for the examinations may be filed with the Personnel Department any time between now and February 15, 1955. Application forms, Form 3 for assembled examinations, may be obtained from the State Personnel Department or from any Alabama State Employment Service office.

The job classifications and monthly salary ranges are: Seafood Warden, $198-$265; Seafood Warden-Boat Captain, $210-$280; Highway Patrolman, $200 (training rate for six months training period), $250-$326.

Peanut Yields Can Be Upped By Fumigating Soil

Auburn, Ala.—Soil fumigants applied to land heavily infested with nematodes has doubled peanut yields at the Wiregrass Substation.

Revealing this information, API Extension Agronomist J. C. Lowery said this week that the practice seems to have promise for good peanut growers who follow other recommended practices. He went on to explain that fumigants not only raised peanut yields, but they also increased the number of sound, mature kernels.

Results of the tests showed that Dowfume W-85, applied at the rate of four and a half gallons per acre, gave the most effective control of these soil pests.

An important rule in the control of leucosis, or range paralysis, is to brood chicks at least 100 feet away from mature poultry.

Around OUR HOUSE

by Kathryn Tucker Windham

Children will have accidents, even when all normal safety precautions are taken. Around our house, it seems that most of the accidents happen to the eight-year-old. Maybe it's because she's so active and venturesome, but, whatever the cause, she has had a high accident rate ever since she first started walking.

Just the other day, she dropped a flower pot on her foot. Fortunately, no bones were broken, but the injury was quite painful. She was soaking the bruised foot in hot water when the head of the house came in to see about her.

"My foot doesn't hurt much now," she assured him. "It feels so crowded though." And she held the swollen foot up for him to examine.

The neighbor down the street, the one with the big family, keeps accidents at a minimum around her house by carrying on a constant safety campaign. Each child in the family is rewarded by a 10-cent increase in his weekly allowance for each safety hazard he discovers and corrects in their home.

The plan seemed to be working smoothly at first, with one exception: their energetic and resourceful 11-year old was collecting entirely too many dimes. A bit of detective work on the old members of the family's part disclosed that the youngster had a real racket. He "first created a safety hazard and then discovered and corrected it and put in his claim for a reward.

The story reminded me of a boy I knew years ago, when his cash was low, used to let daddy's prize hound dogs out of the dog yard and later would get paid for rounding up the "runaway" hounds.

The next door neighbor, when she learned about a home safety campaign springing up in the neighborhood, gave it her full endorsement.

"It's a splendid idea," she said. Then she added casually: "Every year, 29,000 persons die as a result of home accidents, and another four million are injured in homes. Falls are the cause of most fatal home accidents."

Where she gets such information it and work it into her conversation and how she manages to remember I'll never know. She's an amazing woman, that next door neighbor!

She's right about falls, and the role they play in the high home accident rate. Around our house, people may stumble over skates, marbles, baseball bats, trains, doll buggies, trucks and other assorted toys, but it's comforting to know that highly polished floors will never be blamed for causing a fall.

The next door neighbor didn't have any figures on how many people get fish bones stuck in their throats each year, but it's a safe bet that lots of people do.

If such an accident occurs around your house, here's what to do to give relief to the victim, while waiting for the doctor: give him a lemon to eat. It sounds almost too simple, but it seems that the lemon juice helps dissolve the fish bone.

Here's a fish dish (boneless) that's a favorite around our house: Fry three strips of bacon until brown and crisp, then remove from skillet. Add 2 tablespoons chopped onion and three-fourths cup rice to bacon drippings and cook until light brown. Add 2 tablespoons chopped celery, 1 can tomatoes, 1½ cups water, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt and 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper. Drain 1-pound can salmon and arrange whole peices of salmon in center of sauce. Put slices of onion on top of salmon and sprinkle crumbled bacon over sauce. Cover and simmer over low heat about 45 minutes.

Cotton Seed Shorter, But Adequate For '55

Auburn, Ala.—Although there isn't a big surplus, the seed supply of recommended cotton varieties for Alabama will be adequate for 1955 plantings.

Ralph R. Jones, API Extension seed crops marketing specialist, made this statement this week. He explained that the total supply will be somewhat less than that of last year, with certified seed running a little shorter than non-certified seed. Prices on both kinds may be a little higher, he added. There was no carryover of cottonseed from previous years.

Jones cautioned farmers to watch analysis tags for the germination rates of cotton seed they buy, since last year's drouth badly damaged the planting value of many seed. Get seed germinating at least 80 per cent or better if you can find them, urged the specialist.

An Industrial Development Report

"When are you going to bring us a new industry?"

That is a question asked frequently of representatives of our Industrial Development Department. It is a question they can't answer for two reasons:

1. They have no way of knowing when a prospect will make his decision.

2. Alabama Power Company doesn't bring industries any place. We do try to learn of industries which might be seeking locations for expanded or new manufacturing or distribution operations. We do this through personal calls, advertising, correspondence. Our Industrial Development Department makes a study of the needs of such concerns. It then places before the interested parties the facts about locations in our service area which might meet those needs. Usually in doing so it also is working with railroad and other utility representatives, chambers of commerce and other civic groups, public officials and local property owners.

The decision of where and when to locate is entirely within the discretion of the prospective industry. Our chief concern is to present to prospects facts about those areas which most nearly will meet their needs. We have no preference for one community over another which can meet the specifications.

During 1954 members of our Industrial Development Department conducted 66 parties of visitors to one or more areas of the state. More than 15 different types of industry (310 different concerns) were contacted—247 of them personally. Sixty-two special studies were prepared. From these contacts 31 currently active prospects resulted and 53 which are expected to become active.

This intensive cultivation work is continuing during 1955. We hope to see a number of these prospects locate in Alabama. We will present the facts; the decision on where to locate will be theirs.

It is always gratifying when a community in our service area is selected to be the location for a new industry; particularly pleasing is that spirit of welcome which often plays so large a part in a decision on where to locate.

Irene Riggins

I John 4:10; herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us and sent his son to be the propitiation for our sins.

Mr. Emmett Kendrick and family visited his father and children last Sunday.

Miss Frances Kendrick is in Tex. We hope she will be happy in her new place of residence.

Eugene Oaks is in the Air Force and is stationed in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Fulmer visited Mrs. G. Melton this week.

Mrs. Jeanette (Mims) Teel is in California with her husband John who is in the Navy and stationed there.

We welcome into our community Mr. and Mrs. W. Pate.

Rev. J. D. Ellison brought us a fine sermon Sunday night. We thank him for having come our way.

George Hamm, Jr. son of Rev. and Mrs. G. H. Hamm has joined the Navy and left for his station Friday. Let us pray for all our boys in service.

Lt. Ivan Smith was home over the week-end to visit his parents. Mr. and Mrs. C. Riggins.

The week-end guests of the Riggins family were the T. S. Eiland family of Calera, Mr. and Mrs. M. Deltz of Birmingham and Mrs. Lemmie Melton.

Some members of our church attended the singing at Floyd and reported a fine time and a good crowd.

We have prayer service every Wednesday night and we are studying Hebrews at present. Come and join us, won't you?

OAK GROVE

We had a wonderful time with the Lord at our church this past Sunday. The Heavenly spirit was there in a mighty way. We had a large crowd present, each one receiving a wonderful blessing. There was plenty of lunch for everyone and plenty left over. Each week our pastor, Bro. Thomas Glover brings us wonderful messages, led by the Holy Spirit and it does not fall on stony ground. So if you are lacking for a direct blessing from whom all blessings flow, come and be with us next Sunday. To you who do not know Christ as your personal Saviour, won't you come and let us introduce you to our friend and Saviour.

Our Sunday School and Training Union both are on the upward climb. Perry Burnett is our Sun. School Supt. He and his group of wonderful teachers are doing a marvelous job teaching this quarter. Sunday School begins at 10:00 o'clock, preaching services at 11. Parents come and bring your children for they will be our church of tomorrow. They must take our place sometime so let's prepare them now for the job.

We had several visitors for Sunday School and preaching hour, and we are so very grateful for their presence. Among those we noticed were Bro. Lee Crowson of Mars Hill, Mr. Tom Smith of Pates Chapel. To you and all the others who came we were happy to have you and please come again.

Last Saturday night a social was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Burnett for the young people of the Training Union and Sunday School. A most wonderful time was had by all. They had plenty of Coca Cola, Chile, ice cream, and cake for all. There will be other socials in the near future, so come and be one of us.

We will have our annual monthly singing next Saturday night, Feb. 5 beginning at 7 o'clock. We are expecting outstanding singers to be with us. If you want to hear some good singing for the Lord come and be with us next Sat. night.

Miss Sue Varden spent last Thursday night with Mrs. Ruth Matthews. Her guests this week are her daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Griffin and children of Selma.

Clanton FFA Chapter Visited Alabama Polytechnic Institute

On January 26, the boys of the Clanton F.F.A. Chapter made a trip to Auburn. We arrived there about 10:30 and visited the college creamery where we bought some ice cream. After we had eaten our ice cream Mr. Dennis carried us over to the hog farm where Dr. Squirees talked to us about hogs. They were experimenting on a new breed of hogs called the Landerance.

Then Mr. Dennis took us to the forestry plot where Professor Livingston talked to us on forestry. They had approximately an acre of Arizona Cypress trees which were six years old. He said they had taken about three hundred trees the past year and gotten about three hundred dollars, which had paid all the expenses up to now. Surrounding the cypress trees was loblolly, slash, long leaf and short leaf pines. Mr. Livingston showed us a small area of land at the end of the forest that had been burned off each year and was badly eroded and in the area where the pines were was not.

After we left the forest we went and ate lunch. Then we went to the cattle barn and saw the cattle. They had several breeds consisting of Angus, Brahma and Shorthorn.

Then we went to the machinery experiment station. Mr. Stokes told us that college students worked with this machinery for the experience they might receive.

We enjoyd our trip very much! Mr. James Dennis the local purina dealer, went along with Mr. Thompson as chaperon. We hope we can make other trips of this nature in the future.

County Roads-

their heads, had a balance of $1,000.00 in the till and the equipment was inadequate for modern, up-to-date methods of keeping our roads in tip-top shape.

Two years later our county officials in charge of our roads had paid off the debt, had $100,000.00 worth of up-to-date modern equipment for which they paid cash, same two year period, the Board of Revenue and Control and the and $150,000.00 to the good. In the County Engineer's office paved 40 miles of farm-to-market roads in our county, improved more than 210 miles of dirt road and to top it off had put in 500 wooden bridges throughout the county.

Under the then new "unit plan" system which Chilton had adopted, the laws required a purchasing agent for purchases of more than $50.00 and ruled out entirely, the old system of Commissioner's buying power. This change apparently is what set our county of Chilton on it's feet and enabled it to go forward with the rest of the state in its rigid road program. Chilton not only went forward with the state, but rose from very low to a high position in the "better roads" bracket.

Records are now kept on all the goings-on of the county road dept. Accurate records are kept by Harold Smyer, the purchasing agent, the engineer's office itself, the county machine shop, the treating plants, current construction projects and the personnel of the dept. In this way the taxpayers are kept informed on the goings on inside the department and the departemnt knows where it stands financially and otherwise by looking at the records. There is no hush-hush negotiating done and the public is fully informed on the actions of the Board through the publications of the minutes of each meeting.

It is also reported that some jobs of construction are contracted while all that are possible are done with county labor and under the complete supervision of the engineer.

Too, the new system has given rise to salary increases to county employees and has given them social security benefits, which they formerly did not have, without causing any sway in the balance of county taxes and funds for the maintenance and construction of roads and bridges. The county also boast the best line of equipment which it has ever had and has done this with a definite gain in both abilities and finances.

With this evidence of what i is capable of doing and has done in the past the Board of Revenue and Control with the co-operation and hard work of the County Engineer's office plan to pave the following roads this year with the use of county funds only:

From Ala. highway 22 to Isabella, from the Lay Dam road beyond Pinedale Church, from old U.S. 31 west past Providence Church, and from Ala. up the old Thorsby road to the intersection of Liberty Hill Church road. The above are definite plans and not the program in its entirety. Whenever possible, and wherever needed, the Board will pave roads where it sees fit and will inform the public of their intentions and their progress.

The following Farm to Marke roads are intended to be completed this year with the aid of county state and federal funds:

The completion of the road from Mineral Springs to the Lay Dam road, from U. S. 82 west toward Sprott to the Perry-Chilton county line, from Verbena west to Enterprise, and from Cooper west to Enterprise. These, like the county supported roads will be added to whenever possible and you can be assured of efficient work and first hand information on all projects.

Bridges in line for construction and completion include the completion of the Waxahatchee Creek bridge, the completion of the Yellow Leaf Creek bridge, and a miscellaneous definite plan is to seal coat the Jemison-Mineral Springs road. As was stated before, these programs will be improved upon whenever possible.

All in all the Board members and the County Engineer's office have done an excellent job in the past three or four years in spite of the handicap of having difficulty with the employment of engineers.

It is self-evident that the Board and te Engineer's office have given a marvelous boost in the righ and her roads are concerned. You might say, "they put us on the map" as the saying goes, and in some instances and on some of their projects they did exactly that.

The Board and its members along with the Engineer's office are to be commended for the fine way in which they have handled the county road system. All indications are that they will continue to strive for better roads in Chilton County and for the betterment of the citizens of our county.

Ours is a road system to be proud of and to maybe even brag about a little and it is all made possible through efforts of the Board of Revenue and Control and our County Engineer's office.

Folks and Things ABOUT TOWN

—By Ben

The B.O.W. Sportsman Club will meet Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at the regular meeting place and all members are requested to be present. These boys are doing things and having fun and when you miss a meeting you miss a good time.

One of our young housewives complained to her grocer that the eggs were awfully small. "They were just brought in fresh this morning," the storekeeper told her. "That's the trouble with our farmers," she said. "They're so anxious to get these eggs sold they take them off the nest too soon."

Clanton is to have a City Manager starting March 1st. He is Mr. D. L. Wall of Fort Payne, Ala. It is understood that Mr. Wall has had considerable experience in the management of City affairs and will be of great benefit to Clanton. We wish him well and hope he learns to love our little city.

Lallie Bates and Roy Coker are having the Grand Opening of their South City Service Station on Saturday of this week. They're giving away a heap of prizes and stuff down there on that date. Go down and join the fun. And oh yeah, just to make Ben Studdard happy; they sell that good Gulf gasoline.

Speaking of making Studdards happy. John Studdard who operated the Gulfpride Service Station for so long and then sold out to enter business with Dent Williams has taken a position with the Hayes Chevrolet Company. We kinda think that's good business for Dick Hayes and John. John is selling cars and you know cars took the place of horses. Well, if there ever was a horse trader, John Studdard is him.

On Monday, February 21, there will be a Womanless Wedding at the Old Wadesonian Theatre. There will be all local talent in the play and it will be sponsored by the Chiton County High School Parent-Teachers Association. Women generally speaking, are generally speaking you know, so you don't want to miss this gay affair.

The grand total of the March of Dimes drive has reached $4232.80 as we go to press. Of this amount $803.00 has been donated by the school children. George Smith has done a good job as Chairman of the Drive this year and he and his whole staff of workers are to be commended.

[illegible] Robinson, who has been around now for quite some time will celebrate his 104th birthdate on Feb. 11th, Friday. The Chilton County News and its staff wish him good luck and hope he's around to celebrate another anniversary of his birth next year and many years to come.

JACK LAWRENCE JOINS LOCAL FIRM

Friends here will be glad to know that Jack Lawrence has resigned his position with the V. J. Elmore stores to join his brother John Ponder Lawrence in the Lawrence Paint & Hardware Company.

Jack was manager of the V. J. Elmore Store at Greensboro, Ala.

Sheriff's Force Destroys Stills

Members of the Sheriff's force and ABC men destroyed several stills in widely seperated parts of the county last week.

Two small stills were destroyed in the western part of the county and several barrels of mash was poured out. In the northern part of the county a large copper still was destroyed. This was reported to have been a very large still but was not in operation when discovered. No arrests were made during either raid.

The Fiddlerettes Are Coming Here

On Tuesday evening, Feb. 15, at 7:30 in the Wadesonian Theatre on Second Street a string trio composed of three beautiful, talented music majors at the University will present a concert under the sponsorship of the Music Appreciation Club. These popular young ladies known as the Fiddlerettes, are in great demand. Their versatility is amazing. They play the most difficult music arranged for cello and violins, and they play the crazy popular tunes where fiddles take a mad holiday. With all this talent they have charming good looks and a wonderful way of announcing their numbers which wins listeners immediately.

Debbie Young from Kewanee, Ill. plays the cello and doubles on the piano.

Genie Baird from Bowling Green, Ky., and Penny Leka from Springfield, Ill., play the violin.

All three girls are in the University Symphony Orchestra. Penny is concert mistress of the orchestra.

All three girls began the study of strings at an early age, were in high school orchestra, receiving many honors and awards.

All three girls attended National Music Camp at Interlochen, Mich., and were honor students there.

Influenced by the excellent teaching of Dr. Ottokar T. Cadek, who is head of the department of music at the University the three girls are now studying for their degrees at the University of Alabama.

It is with real pride that the Music Club offers this treat to the music lovers of Chilton County. It is hoped that the beauty and talent of these very young artists will inspire the youth of our County to study and enjoy music with renewed delight. Some day Chilton County students may have the opportunity to play in high school orchestras and to develop a love for string music.

Suport the Music Club in their effort to bring the best and finest in music to our community. Hear the Fiddlerettes Tuesday night.

MAPLESVILLE PTA MEETS TONIGHT

There will be a meeting of the Maplesville Parent-Teachers Association tonight at 7:30 p.m.

An interesting program entitled, "A Tribute to Our Founders," will be presented by Miss Louise Foshee and Mrs. W. E. Cobern.

All parents, teachers and the general public is invited to attend.

Local American Red Cross Chapter Elects Officers

Above is shown the group of Chapter Officials of the Chilton County Chapter of the American Red Cross when they met last week at the City Grill to elect Officials for the coming year.

Joe Wiliams was elected Chairman and Rev. Don Esty was elected co-chairman. Community chairmen will be named at a later date.

FFA Sweetheart

Mary Lou Green

Pictured above is Miss Mary Lou Greene, the 17 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Greene of Lay Dam. Miss Greene was elected the F.F.A. Swethart of Clanton Chapter, by a majority vote. Runner up was Miss Bonnie Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Gray of Clanton.

Chilton Motors In New Location

Chilton Motors of South Clanton have moved to a new location, across the street from the Willingham Hotel. We hope our many friends and customers will visit us there. As well as auto sales we have a shop to repair most any make car at very reasonable price.

Was Guest Speaker At Kiwanis Meeting

Guest speaker for the Clanton Kiwanis Club at its February 3rd meeting was Mr. Heinz Eichenauer native of Wilhelmshaven, Germany. Mr. Eichenauer, a teacher in his home, was in Chilton County and Clanton Schools studying the educational program of the U. S. He had formerly spent some time in the Oxford, Ohio, system. His speech to the Clanton Kiwanian dealt with the educational and economic situation in East Germany.

Bethsalem Demon. Club Held Meeting

The Bethsalem Home Demonstration club met Thursday afternoon, Jan. 27th at the home of Mrs. L. G. Green.

The meeting was called to order by the persident, Mrs. E. I. Pierce. Mrs. J. C. Boockholdt gave the story of the hymn, What A Friend We Have In Jesus. Mrs. Leo Hamm gave the devotional.

The demonstration was given by Mrs. Lane on covering lamp shades.

Mrs. J. C. Boockholdt was present for every club meeting in last year's work. Congratulations Mrs. Boockholdt.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mrs. E. I. Pierce, Mrs. G. C. Hathcock, Mrs. R. N. Vinson, Mrs. M. Q. Yeargan, Mrs. G. M. Hathcock, Mrs. J. C. Boockholdt, Mrs. Leo Hamm, Mrs. C. R. Pierce and Mrs. Lane. The meeting adjourned by repeating the club creed.

Baptists Take Census Before Revival Crusade

In preparation for the Simultaneous Crusade in the Baptist Churches a community census will be taken by many of the Baptist Churches Sunday afternoon. The First Baptist Church, the Northside Mission of the First Baptist Church, and the West End Baptist Church will cooperate in taking this census within the city limits. Some of the other churches outside of the city limits will take the census in their own territories.

It will greatly facilitate this work if all of the residents will remain at home until after the census takers make their visit. It is planned to go out as soon as possible after the morning worship service. The workers will not go home, but will eat a light lunch at the church and proceed immediately to their assigned territories. The help and cooperation of everyone will be greatly appreciated.

Imediately after the census cards have been returned to the church, all cards for other denominations will be sent immediately to the pastor or some other representative of each denomination. In this way, not only Baptists, but every church in the community will benefit form this census.

Surely everyone will give whole hearted cooperation in this mater.

Two Youths Jailed In School Burglaries

Ralph Mims and Charles Ha[illegible] have been charged with burglary and grand larceny according to report from Sheriff Odell Payton.

Charges were lodged against the boys for burglarizing Con[illegible], M[illegible] Pleasant and Thomas [illegible] schools. A third youth, [illegible] was arrested and jailed on the same charge as the others but [illegible] himself in the county jail [illegible] Hay is out on [illegible] [illegible] made bond Tuesday afternoon [illegible].

[illegible] that the [illegible] youth's hands were bound when he was discovered dead in his jail cell but Coroner Leroy Martin stated this week that this was not true. He said the boy did have a piece of quilting around his wrists but it was so loose that it could have been dropped off with ease.

No report has been made as [illegible] yet in the [illegible] School which occurred [illegible] weeks ago.

Indoor Circus At High School Friday

The All American Indoor Circus will perform in the gymnasium of the Chilton County High School tomorrow night at 8:00 p.m.

The public can obtain tickets from Senior students to attend this gala affair.

Heartline Service At Temple Assembly Sunday Night

The WMC Class and the Young WMC Class of the Temple Assembly Church will be in charge of the complete service on Sunday night, Feb. 13th, in recognition of National WMC Day—their motto being, We Minister As Unto Christ.

The theme of the program will be, Heartline of the Church, being closely connected in a spiritual way with Valentine Day, with all members taking part.

The WMC's are a great financial aid to the church in numerous ways; they are a united prayer band for the church, and also help a number of our Foreign Missionaries.

Mrs. Troy B. Helms is vice-president of the WMC of the State of Alabama. Our church officers are Mrs. W. D. Patterson, pres.; Mrs. Kate Easterling, vicepres.; Mrs. Alvin Bridges, sec.-treas.; The officers of the Young WMC's are: Mrs. Eugene Mims, pres.; Mrs. Bernie Mims, vice-pres.; Mrs. L. C. Ray, sec.; Mrs. Jim Wilson, treas.; and Mrs. Arthur Mims, Misionary secretary.

You have a cordial invitation to attend this service, beginning at seven o'clock, Sunday night, Feb. 13th.

Morgan To Speak At Maplesville

David Morgan

There will be a meeting at the Maplesville High School Tuesday night, February 15th, at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is invited to attend. Mr. David Morgan, Administrator of the Chilton County Hospital, will be the speaker for this program. He will explain the progress and the plan for operation of the new County Hospital and will explain how the money you and I have been paying on our hospital tax is being spent. So everyone make a special effort to attend this meeting.

Big Foxhunter Rally Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow night, February 11th, the Chilton County Foxhunters Association is giving a barbecue, bench show and an [illegible] night fox hunt at the home of Alf Norrell's. Mr Norrell lives about five miles west of Verbena.

The bench show will be a Medley show. Each class of hound will be judged by a different judge and the unique part of the show is that the judges have never judged before. It's all for fun. No prizes will be given and there will be no entry fee. If you don't think it's going to be fun, look at the judges.

Dewey Farmer, Jessie Pierce, Demp Johnson, Gaddis, Steele, Clyde White, Frank Smith, J. R. T[illegible], Clark Headley. That's your judges. None have ever judged before but all have shown hounds at one time or another.

Barbecue will be served beginning at 4 o'clock. Following the show the hounds will be released for an all night race.

R. T. Carter, president and Mrs. J. R. Porch, secretary, urge all hunters and friends to come early, bring the family and enjoy the evening.

All Day Singing At White City

The Annual all day singing will be held at White City Baptist Church on Sunday, February 13th, beginning at 10 o'clock.

Everyone has a cordial invitation to attend and enjoy the day with us.

The Overcrowded Classrooms Are A Block To Effective Teaching

The problems of our public schools are many and they have increased in recent years due mainly to the increased birthrate, the stepped-up cost of living, the shortage of competent teachers and the trend towards further consolidation. These problems are well known to the general public but ever so few people have alerted themselves to the vast role our public schools play in our society and their service as a bulwark to our democratic way of life. Our system of public education has been the greatest contributing factor in making America what it is. Our stature as a nation has been built upon the basis of universal public education. They can play even a greater role with increased aid and understasding on the part of the public. There are many flaws in our social fabric today that could be erased if the people were sufficiently concerned. The increasing irresponsibility of our boys and girls for their mental and moral conduct demands understanding and correction. The public schools must share part of this blame, but the public is responsible for the public schools. The schools are expected to do a job for which they are insufficiently equipped. The public must awaken to an understanding of the powerful potential role the schools can play in building character and in instilling the moral and spiritual values in the minds of those children from homes with disrupted moral atmospheres where negative values have been allowed to control the thinking and acting of their children. Teachers can do much to build character in children, but the conditions must be favorable. Juvenile delinquency will decrease when the public schools are suficiently staffed and housed. There are thousands of classrooms in our state with over forty children each. To ask the teachers of those groups to do an excellent job of teaching each of their pupils is presenting them with a task which is impossible.

Effective teaching and learning is a very personal something and it takes place only when there is persosal warmth between the teacher and the child. Children learn in order to secure the love and approval of the teacher who stands in place of the parent. This is especially true of the very young ones. They demand to be treated as individuals. They refuse to be treated as identical grains of sand. The most serious inadequacy of present day public school instruction is the depersonal nature with which it is given. A teacher must not be hampered by such large numbers that she cannot give individual help and guidance to every child in her charge. Understanding a child brings sympathy and permits character. Understanding requires the true assessment of the child's capabilities and attitudes. Much of this information must come from observation, records, tests and lengthy conferences with parents all of which require effort and time. Teachers must have time to listen to children and acord to them the respect and rights of an individual.

Children in our public schools are grouped into classes in keeping with the democratic principles which do not recognize economic or social levels of their parents; nor do they take into consideration the mental ability of the children to do schools work. The variation in mental ability is enormous and ranges from extreme dullness to superior learning capacity. This type of grouping is influential in preserving our democratic ways of life, and the public schools are dedeciated to the task of preserving the democratic ideal. These groups have in them the children of all people.

The good teacher divides this group of children into three or four groups making each group as homogeneous as possible. One group will be capable of easy and rapid progress; one group can progress normally and the other group will progress at a slower pace. But each group will receive equal help. Each group will be assigned work according to its ability and needs.

Each personality is different; each from a different home. Some of these homes are beautiful and clean, some modest but clean, some modest and unclean, and some are mere shacks. Some of the parents have taught their children the religious values, and have given their children depth of character; some parents have been very indifferent in teaching the moral and spiritual values; while some of the fathers and mothers have set such poor examples before their children that they learned only negative values which now control their thinking and acting. These children present a real challenge to the teacher in building into them good character which will lead them in later years, into wholesome ways of living. But the teacher must have the time to deal with the parents as well as the child. This takes time and more understanding by the teacher which comes only with extra study.

The gifted child must not be neglected and must be given work that challenges his best efforts. The timid must be given confidence and self-assurance, the under nourished must be fed, the normal child must not be slighted, and the aggressive one studied so that the reasons for his behaviour may be ascertained. What a job for the teacher!

The young are bombasted with more influences today than ever. Cheap movies, cheap literature, comic books, bad radio programs and television shows consume too much of their time. To the schools fall a large part of the effort in counteracting these influences. Teachers need more time to emphasize the moral aspects of education. Pure verbalism is not enough. Personal guidance based upon competent counseling made possible [illegible] a better understanding of mental hygiene must be employed. Strict accountability must be required of all children who do not meet required standards of work and behavior. Pride of accomplishment must be developed thru suitable incentives and rewards. Teachers must have time to return all writen work. It cheapens character to require children to submit work that is not returned. It leads children to believe that excellence of accomplishment is not the thing that is required but the mere compliance with authority.

A time consuming phase of the best teaching is the assessment and appraisal of the individual's talents, capabilities, interests, aptitudes, and attitudes. The teacher wants to know his pupil's standing in regards to the usual school subjects such as arithmetic, spelling and reading. This information is obtained by consulting the cumulative record cards, by observatios, mental tests, achievement tests, conferences with the pupil's former teachers and the child's parents. These facts are mentioned to point out the fact that it takes time to understand children at school and that there is a limit beyond which the most talented and industrious teacher can go.

THE LITTLE GIANT—

Ten thousand men cannot do the job that is daily accomplished by an object scarcely larger than one man's fist. This object is never a "clock watcher", it works 24 hours a day, receives no overtime, and rarely ever complains. Although 10,000 men cannot do it's work, parodoxically every man posses this object—his heart.

Each day the human heart pushes from five to ten tons of blood through the circulatory system, enough to fill a gasoline tank truck. In a lifetime, the heart exerts enough energy to lift a battleship 14 feet above the water.

In a sense, the heart can be looked upon as a machine, and like all machinery, the human heart sometimes becomes worn, either through age, through strain, or through injury, and like all machinery it must be cared for and repaired, or it ceases to function.

During 1953, there were 12,318 hearts that ceased to function in Alabama. Three hundred of these hearts belonged to children, and represents an alarming child death-rate figure seven times larger than deaths by all other childhood diseases combined. These shocking figures could have been reduced if more were known about the human heart.

To gain this knowledge, there must be research. This is why the Alabama Heart Association, a voluntary health agency, was formed in 1949. Through this organization, the public and medical science join forces in the fight against heart diseases.

Each year, the Alabama Heart Association conducts an annual fund campaign. This year, the Association has set as its goal $150,000, for education, community service, and research in the field of heart disease.

Every Alabama citizen has the opportunity, and is urged to support the Alabama Heart Association fund drive campaign, both morally and financially. By supporting this cause, every man is helping his family, his neighbor, his fellow worker, and himself. No one is immune to heart disease.

BROTHERHOOD WEEK'S GREAT PURPOSE—

Brotherhood Week, Feb. 20 to 27, is the vehicle designed by the National Conference of Christians and Jews for the advancement of justice, democratic principles, understanding and good-will among all peoples.

All men are created equal, they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights. As Americans we believe that—however imperfectly we may carry it into practice.

It is wise that a week be set aside for the eradication of prejudice in our thinking, for the betterment of social justice and for the promotion of harmony.

It should not be a week of mere superficial attention to nice gestures toward brotherhood. It should be a week of renewed devotion to the great underlying principles which make brotherhood attainable.

Patience with one another, love of neighbor as of self can cement the people of America into a spiritual force with an effort beyond our power to appraise. In the very nature of things such a force can not be confined to the borders of America.

Brotherhood Week carries the wholehearted endorsement of leaders of every faith, of business figures labor chiefs, educators, government officials, men and women in every line of endeavor.

Brotherhood Week gives the impetus for intensive interest in human values that should carry through all the weeks of the year. Emphasizing its theme helps to bring to reality the highest type of idealism. Let us be thankful for the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Brotherhood is the common bond among children as they play together unaware of any chasm between them. It is the link that makes buddies of soldiers who fight together. Brotherhood impelled the chaplains of three different faiths to give up their lives at sea for the men they served.

Let us therefore practice this brotherhood in our every-day contacts, as we transact our business and as we kneel in our sanctuaries. Let us export it in such quantities as people beyond our borders will accept.

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

In another of his special message to Congress, President Eisenhower last week renewed his request for a national health reinsurance plan. At the same time, he recommended the appropriation of more federa funds for public health facilities

When the President's health insurance proposal came before th House for consideration last yea it was defeated by a vote of 23 to 134. The rejection of this particular legislation was considere a significant setback for the Eisenhower Administration.

Although the President's lates message did not spell out the reinsurance program in detail, legislation has already been introduced to carry out most of his genera recommendations. A bill was introduced in the Senate only las Wednesday whereby the government will pay up to 75 percent of any abnormal losses suffered by private health insurance groups which are willing to broaden their coverage. The Senate measure alsc provides for federal insurance of loans for construction of health facilities and a five-year program of grants to states for training practical nurses of less than college grade.

In addition, the Senate bill recommends the consolidation of the various types of federal grants to states for public health programs. Under terms of this measure, the federal government's share o matching funds would be based on the relation of a state's per capita income to that of the country as a whole. The federal contribution could not be more than two-thirds of the total cost of the health program or less than one-third.

Still other parts of the President's health plan will involve amending the Social Security Law. Legislation for this purpose has been introduced in the House and referred to the Ways and Means Committee. The proposed amendments to the Social Security law are designed to provide grants-in-aid for the medical care of persons already receiving public assistance, as well as larger grants-in-aid for maternal care and certain health services for children.

-Attends Rel. Breakfast-

I again had the privilege of attending the annual breakfast of the International Council for Christian Leadership which took place last Thursday at Washington's Maytlower Hotel. The House of Represntatives' Prayer Group, whose meetings I have attended since coming to Congress, is affiliated with the I.C.L. Host on this occasion for the third consecutive year was Conrad Hilton, owner of many of America's most famous hotels.

Two years ago President Eisenhower spoke at the breakfast and last year Chief Justice Warren was the main speaker. Guest speaker for this year's I.C.L. breakfast was the Rev. Billy Graham, world-famous evangelist.

In his brief but optimistic and forceful message, Dr. Graham said he was convinced that we are now in an era of unprecedented spiritual resurgence. "It is easier to discuss religion today," he said, "than ever before in the history of this country."

Prior to Billy Graham's talk, Senator Frank Carlson of Kansas read a message from President Eisenhower. The President said that the meeting of the International Council for Christian Leadership furnished "inspiring evidence of the conviction that religious principles must not be kept in a realm apart from everyday life."

Among the more than 800 persons present at the breakfast were the Vice-President, the Chief Justice of the United States, several cabinet members, a score of Senators, and dozens of House members. Seated directly across the table from me was Admiral Arthur Radford, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, with whom I had a most interesting conversation.

IT'S MY OPINION

It is my opinion that the vandalism and such that has been going on in our fair community is now coming to an ugly head. It is neither a pleasant thought nor an unpleasant one. Or is it both? We are pleased that such goings on have been spotted and will be acted upon, but we are, to say the least, displeased and much concerned about the fate of the boys involved in the misdeameanors and worse.

It is not the least bit gratifying to note that boys from our own community and county have stooped to stealing and general plundering as a means of recreation and are now under the critical eye of each and every citizen. It is not at all pelasant to note that boys who have been accused of these crime are our own children's playmates and associates. It isn't at all pleasant to feel that they just might have had an influence on Junior. No, it isn't pleasant to think of these things, but most of them are now before us.

In the first place, the teen-agers in Clanton and Chilton County have next to nothing in the way of wholesome entertainment such as befits their age and what you and I want them to be associated with. Surely, we now have the city park here in Clanton, but of what good is that during the winter months when the weather denies the enjoyment of those facilities. It is of no importance, at the moment, what other communities have or have not. Under the circumstances we are concerned only of the welfare of our children and our community. It is entirely in the hands of the parents and the community to supply youngsters a place in which to use up the energy that they are inevitibly going to generate. Time was when youngsters didn't need such things, but times have changed, and changed rapidly, which is apparent when you look for the facilities of which we mentioned. Today, there are more children than there used to be, there are more outlets and inlets for vandalism and the like, because, we who have acquired bad habits know they aren't the least bit hard to acquire, but are next to impossible to get rid of. Do you think we are any different from these youngsters. With more possibilities it stands to reason that there will be more bad habits.

Our neglect of their welfare is no excuse for their misdoings, it is the factual reason. Until we wake up to the fact that our youngsters need a little aid and attention from us now and then we cannot expect to be rid of bad influences and vandalism. Neither can we condemn a young boy or girl for a situation which we ourselves created. That is the height of hypocrisy and is definitely shifting the load of a man onto the shoulders of a boy.

Are we in Chilton County afraid to face the cold facts? If we are then we can resign ourselves to a fate of just what we've been speaking. On the other hand, if we can wake up to the fact that our boys and girls need recreational guidance as well as educational and spiritual guidance which we provide, we will see remarkable changes in the actions and attitudes of our younger set. They are not to blame and if you point your finger it will certainly wander until it points right back in your face.

We can correct the cause and thereby correct the sutuation and until then there is not one of us that should be able to condemn anyone, because it was our fault in the first place.

Until all our adults grow-up, how on earth can we expect our children to?

Things we -SEE- and Hear

by "Tuck"

We will never understand why a man is sometimes paid for how old he is or how many kids he has rather than for the effort he puts forth and what he's worth.

It was Red Fulmer who, after bumming a cigarette and a light down cafe way the other day, said, "I'm out of everything but the habit." Boy, there's a pre-e-c dicament. Habits are sometimes expensive.

It's a pity we all are so wrapped up in our own troubles that we claim not to have time to listen to the other fellows. After all, what's a friend for.?

Unlikely Definitions:

Over-stuff—(ex.) "Pick up that over-stuff."
Abash—(Ex.) "You need abash."
Gorse—Offspring of a gow and an 'orse.
Grapeshot—Under the influence of grapejuice.
Irregular—Car notes are paid.
Sewing bee—A very talented bee with a pierced stinger.
Tanner—Mother or dad.
Tanned—Junior.

Since we have so many holes in our own shoes, we should hold our tongues, and not scuff up the other fellow's shine.

Little boys who play with big dynamite are in for a big surprise according to some folks. Seems there's been some dangerous practicing with the stuff by youngsters Also seems that said boys are in for a rude awakening when their substitute for fire-crackers is taken away from them. They should have been taught better.

See where there will be 250 million Americans by 1975. That's lotta folks, but you know, if we could concentrate all our combined efforts and skills to the problems of construction rather than those of warding off destruction, we wouldn't even be able to tell the difference in the population after the progress made from uninterrupted concern over our own welfare in peacetime rather than concern over whether we'll be here or not in 1975.

It seems unfair, but you know it's true,
We can try too hard in the things we do.
Sometimes we try for the thing that's right,
Knowing all the time it'll come alright.
Then something happens to our zest for gain,
We tried too hard, now it's very plain.

Adventist TV Program

The readers of this announcement are invited to see the Adventist TV program, 'Faith For Today", which comes out of New York City over channel 13 from Birmingham Sundays at 10 a.m. The denomination pays $500,000 a year to bring this program into homes all over the nation.

This pastor will exchange pulpi Sabbath with the pastor of t Montgomery church, Elder Ben nett. Visitors are invited.

Rev. Allen Walker is the pas of the Adventist Church here i Glendale.

But of this we're sure; in our upward climb,
The results of trying, will pay, in time.

A nose for news shouldn't be confused with an ear for gossip

What untold benefits will the farmers derive from the new 4,000 foot runway at the airport that is to be started in the near future? We don't know all of them, but it i for sure, a step in the right direction and them Yankees will finally be able to taste a peach that hasn't been frozen for the past two seasons. If we coul swing that we couldn't raise enoug peaches to supply the North much less our own appetites. And, ther would never be a season with peaches left rotting on the trees for lack of shipping facilities.

It's a pretty dream.

Extension specialists say the recent building boom indicates that farmers can expect a good stumpage price for their timber, though the price rise may be qualified by higher wages for sawmill workers.

Plan to plant a cotton variety recommended for your area.

To The People of Chilton County:

I scarcely can believe it, but the four weeks I could stay in Clanton and Chilton are over, and I have to depart now. The time was too short - or I think now. Frankly spoken - before I came here I was a little bit afraid to be quite by myself without sufficient knowledge of English. But now I am awfully sorry to leave for good all those kind and nice people I met here. I owe them many thanks for their hearty welcome, and their marvelous hospitality, and their helpfulness that enabled me to succeed in fulfilling my program, which consisted in observing the schools of the Chilton County, getting to know American life and culture, and improving the mutual understanding between our nations, which have so much in common without any exaggeration I dare say that thanks especially to the school officials, to quite a few Clanton families, which invited me to see their homes, to the Lions and Kiwanis and Study Clubs, and to the Methodist Fellowship. I fully reached my aims in the fields I mentioned above. There were so many visits of white and colored schools provided and planned by the Board of Education that I almost cannot remember their names, but I certainly shall never forget the friendly, rooms and homelike atmosphere which I found in all of them, nor the excellent methods of teaching, and the many new ideas and impulses I got. Alabama may congratulate herself to have teachers, who take an interest in their jobs - and perhaps raise their salaries a bit. The children were well disciplined and I am sure will be good citizens. It was always a pleasure for me to tell them about my country and its children and schools. There certainly will be vivid correspondence between your and our youngsters that - I am sure you hope the same with me will be an important tribute to avoid future sores and quarrels between America and Germany. The Clanton ladies will be delighted to hear that they succeeded in convincing me that American women-at least as far as they live in Dixie-are very good cooks, housekeepers and charming and attractive ones too. I certainly enjoyed my stay and appreciate very much to have been sent here and say many, many thanks to you folks, young and grown-up in Clanton and Chilton County. I hope to see you again.

Yours very gratefully,
Heinz Eichenauer

The API Extension Service has added a new specialist to its staff. Windell Vickery, forest products marketing expert, will serve as advisor to Alabama farmers, county agents, and wood-consuming industries in the marketing of forest products.

Extension Director P. O. Davis this week announced that the new office was aded to existing Extension departments as a joint Agricultural Marketing Act and Extension project to develop market for Alabama hardwoods.

Before coming to Auburn, Vickery was a consultant for a B'ham. Forestry Management firm. He i an API graduate in forestry.

Sparkman And Jones Urge Farm Housing

Senator John Sparkman and Congressman Bob Jones, both Ala. Democrats have moved for re-enactment of the Sparkman-Jones Rural Farm Housing Act. They jointly sponsored the Act creating the program in 1949. Last year however, even though Congress unanimously extended the program, President Eisenhower and Secretary Benson did nothing about it and virtually let the program die.

Sparkman and Jones stated that since the program went into operation in 1950, approximately 20,000 farm families have been able to build or repair their homes or to construct farm service building needed for profitable farming operations. They said that approximately 1,000 of these are farmers of Alabama. The Senator and Congressman pointed out that the borrowers under their Farm Housing Program have established an unparalleled repayment record. They said that a great percentage of them paid more than was due and that in Alabama over 99% o the borrowers were either up-to date or ahead in their repayable schedule.

Senator Sparkman and Congressman Jones cited figures to show that there is a critical need for the continuation of their program. They said that one-fifth of America's more than 6,000,000 farm dwellings are in a dilapidated condition and that more than three fourths of all farm houses st. lack hot water, or private bath and toilet facilities. They said tha their program is the first and only farm housing program that is designed to give farm families similar opportunities to have decent housing as do those who live in cities.

The Ala. Lawmakers explained that their Farm Housing Program would provide help to enable farmers to build new homes, to repair and modernize existing homes and to construct or repair farm buildings necessary for an adequate total farm operation. Their program, they expalined, is designed not only to maintain existin profitably-operated farms, but also to enable borderline farms to attain profitable levels. They pointed ou that their program is intended primarily for farmers who are unabl to get loans from banks and othe lending institutions, and that the loans would run at 4 percent interest up to a 33-year repaymen period.

Senator Sparkman and Congressman Jones were critical of what they termed the President's apparent disregard of the urgent need to enable America's farm families to have decent up-to-date farm homes and farm buildings. The said that this failure is simply further indication that this Administration is either not sufficiently aware of farmers' needs or i does not intend to take adequa measures to meet those needs. They stated that this is particularly tru of the family size farms which their program intends to reach.

CHILEAN NITRATE of SODA is the world's only NATURAL NITRATE FERTILIZER

NATURAL as the grass these cattle are grazing, Chilean Nitrate is the only natural nitrate. Guaranteed 42 per cent plant food.

★ Richest of plant foods, Chilean's many extra values make it one of the most efficient and economical nitrogen fertilizers.

★ Chilean's nitrogen content is 100 per cent nitrate. Ideal for top-dressing and side-dressing. Free flowing, spreads evenly and smoothly.

★ Chilean needs only moisture from the air to dissolve — no waiting for rain — fast, effective action.

★ Every ton of Chilean contains sodium equivalent to 650 pounds of commercial limestone — an acid-destroying agent. The more Chilean you use, the greater its acid-destroying value.

★ Sodium supplements potash — when necessary, substitutes for it — reduces leaching losses of potash, calcium, magnesium—releases unavailable potash in the soil.

★ Sodium increases availability of phosphate in the soil and improves efficiency of applied phosphate.

★ Chilean is rich in small quantities of minor elements necessary for healthy vigorous growth — it's the only natural combination of 100 per cent nitrate nitrogen, sodium and minor elements.

Around OUR HOUSE

by Kathryn Tucker Windham

The two-year-old isn't at all satisfied with the accepted arrangement for celebrating birthday anniversaries; being limited to one birthday observance per year doesn't suit her at all. As she grows older, of course, a yearly birthday will be more than enough, but right now she isn't happy about it.

When the eight-year-old had her birthday, the youngest member of the family was eager and excited over the festivities. But after all the presents had been "peeled" and she realized there was no gift for her, she came to me with her lips quivering and her eyes brimming with tears to ask pitifully:

"Where's my Happy Birthday?"

She's too young to understand that she already has had a Happy Birthday last September and would have another one at the proper time. We had to scurry around and find something for her right then.

If she has her way, everybody would have at least three Happy Birthdays every year!

Among the eight-year-old's gifts were several tiny china dogs to add to her collection of miniature animals. I was wondering what to do with this accumulation of animals when the neighbor around the corner, the one with so much imagination, came by for a chat.

"Why don't you buy two or three cutlery trays, the kind you use to hold your silver in your kitchen drawer, at the dime store, and use them to hold the collection?" she suggested.

The wooden tarys, she explained, could be painted any color the eight-year-old selected and then hung on the wall of her room. The hanging tray will provide three shelves just the right size for holding small articles—quite a number of them.

This neighbor's idea, it seems to me, could be used by any family in which the members collect small objects like tiny pitchers, arrowheads, rocks, soldiers, etc.

Everybody in this neighbor's family collects something, which probably explains why she has suggestions for the display of the collections.

Her husband's hobby is collecting arrowheads. He made display cases for some of his choice specimens by filling round plastic boxes with cotton, placing the arrowheads on the cotton like spokes in a wheel, and taping the tops of the boxes securely in place. He has outlined the door facings in his den with the arrowhead-filled boxes, making an effective display.

The neighbor herself collects recipes, and she has used her favorites to decorate her kitchen. Using gay plaid gingham for mats, she framed them in narrow black frames and hung them in groups on her kitchen wall.

So far though, this neighbor says, nobody has been able to think of a way to display her young son's growing collection of live animals!

One of this neighbor's framed recipes is for Sweet and Sausage Casserole made like this:

Put six pork sausage links in heavy skillet with one-fourth cup water. Cover and steam for five minutes. Pour off remaining water and cook solwly over low heat, turning sausages until brown. Remove from skillet and add one-half cup sugar, one-quarter cup wine vinegar and 1 teaspoon salt to pan drippings. Mash 1 no. 2 can sweet potatoes, stir into skillet mixture and beat until fluffy. Core and cut three tart apples into wedges. Place in covered pan with a little water, cover and steam for three minutes. Fill gerased casserole dish with alternate layers of potato mixture and apple wedges, beginning and ending with potatoes. Arrange sausage links on top of potatoes like spokes and line the rim of the dish with apple wedges. Bake in moderate oven for 30 minutes.

Farmer Co-ops Sponsor New 4-H Essay Program

Auburn, Ala.—The 4-H Club essay writing and public speaking contest which has been conducted in the Tennessee Valley area for the past two years has been widened to include all of Alabama.

This announcement was made this week by API Extension Marketing Specialist A. W. Jones, who explained that the state program will be sponsored by a number of farmers' cooperatives in Alabama. County eliminations will be held in the spring. The boy and the girl who go on to win top places in each district will get free trips to the annual youth meeting of the American Institute of Cooperation at Purdue University. State awards will be $200 defense bonds.

Boys and girls entering the contest will write and deliver essays on any subject relating to cooperatives. "Many farmers have shown a need for an educational program to acquaint rural people with the cooperative way of doing business," the Extension specialist said.

"This program is one way of meeting that need."

THE BILL NOW BEFORE THE ALABAMA LEGISLATURE

WOULD INCREASE THE GAS TAX
ANOTHER $15,000,000 A YEAR

. . . and that over and above the $65,000,000 a year you are already paying in state, federal and local gasoline taxes and state motor license fees.

It would make Alabama by far "the highest gas tax state in the nation"—and with the local gas taxes we have in eleven counties and 198 towns, Alabama is almost the highest today.

Combined state and federal taxes on gasoline would then be 10 cents a gallon (nearly 50% of the price). With those local taxes added, the total rate some places would run as high as 13 cents.

Think what that would mean! You would be paying $1 to $1.30 in tax on every 10-gallon purchase . . . You would be paying the price of another 5 or 6 gallons of gas you wouldn't get.

And Efforts Are Being Made to Push This Through Without a Vote of the People

Perhaps YOU Can Stop It--If You Act Now!

Write, wire or call your State Senator in Montgomery today . . . or better yet, go to see him personally. Tell him what YOU think about this bill. Tell him to vote against the gas tax increase — but tell him TODAY!

Mr. and Mrs. Nels Petersen have recently moved into the new Good-game home just a short distance out on the Collins Chapel Road. We hope they will be very happy in their new home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Laurell, Mrs. Marie Petersen and Mrs. Peggy Petersen spent Sunday in Birmingham with the Jack Petersens The occasion was Mrs. Marie Petersen's 86th birthday and they enjoyed a bountiful birthday dinner, large embossed birthday cake and all.

On Monday afternoon a number of friends called on Mrs. Petersen to wish her Happy Birthday and to enjoy coffee and cake with her.

The many friends of Mrs. J. O Johnson are sorry over her removal to a convalescent home in B'ham. Mrs. Johnson left on Saturday, and she will be missed so very much by all of her friends. Though she has been confined to her wheel chair, since a fall which resulted in a hip injury and left her unable to walk, she has otherwise been quite well and was always in a jovial mood. All of her friends in Thorsby hope and pray for her, that she will one day be able to return to her lovely home here. We also hope that she will be happy in her adopted home as long as she is required to remain there.

We extend our deepest sympathy to the Norwood Johnson family in the loss of their loved one.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ross and Gary wish to express their appreciation for kindnesses extended Gary during his recent illness.

I Know Something Good About You—

Wouldn't this old wolrd be better
If folks we meet would say—
"I know something good about you!"
And treat you just that way?

Wouldn't it be fine and dandy
If each handclasp, fond and true,
Carried with it this assurance—
"I know something good about you!"

Wouldn't life be lots more happy
If the good that's in us all
Were the only thing about us
That folks bothered to recall?

Wouldn't life be lots more happy
If we praised the good we see?
For there's such a lot of goodness
In the worst of you and me!

Wouldn't it be nice to practice
That fine way of thinking, too?
You know something good about me,
I know something good about you.

MAPLESVILLE NEWS

(MRS. KATHRYN GOFF)

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 6331 entertained the Veterans at the hospital in Montgomery with a party last week. The program was made up of: the speaker, Mrs. Ed Clapp, Maplesville High School Band and the FFA Quartet. The patients enjoyed the program as well as the people that put it on. Refreshments of cookies and orange juice were served.

Congratulations to Miss Opal Taylor and Mr. Doss Lovelady, Jr. on their recent marraige. They plan to make their home here.

Congratulations to Rev. and Mrs. J. D. Hopper (Marjorie Wallace) of Mt. Creek on the arrival of a new son last week in a Montgomery hospital.

PTA will meet tonight (Thurs.) at 7:30. The program "A Tribute To Our Founders". Devotional will be given by Mr. J. P. Thomas. Program, Miss Louise Foshee and Mrs. W. E. Cobern.

Won't you come?

The Ladies Auxiliary held their regular meeting Thursday night of last week, with quite a few members absent due to illnesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wright of Linden spent last week-end with Mrs. M. O. Perry.

Last Friday night the Maplesville A and B teams of basketball met Jemison. Jemison defeated in both games with the A team winning 52-30 and the B team winning 32-27. Robinson for Jemison was top man with 15 points. Brown was top man for the losers with 11 points. The contest was close during the first period but after that Jemison went out front for the rest of the time.

Rev. J. Reube Bearden was voted into the presidency of the Chilton County Cattlemen's Association recently. He will replace Charles Patterson. Dr. H. M. Nix was elected as a County Director along with several others from different parts of the county. The purpose of this organization is to improve beef production. Last year some of the advances made were: three experiment station tours, improved construction show facilities at the Clanton Airport, local tours and a county beef show.

Jap Perry had another operation on his leg Tuesday of this week. The bone in his leg has healed but he continues to have an infection in it and this is the cause of his recent trouble. At this writing we have not been able to find out just how he is getting along. He is in Vaughan Memorial hospital in Selma.

Mr. and Mrs. Garland Smith and Sonny of Isabella community spent last Sunday with Mrs. Emma Smith. At this writing Mrs. Smith has shown lot of improvement. Hope she continues to improve.

Visitors in the J. L. Mathis home the week-end of Jan. 29 were: Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Graham of Stanton. Mr. Mathis' mother is with them now and is ill, visits from friends and neighbors are appreciated.

Kelley, Beulah, Leroy and Thomas of Pools Cross Road Elom Kelly from Jacksonville St Teachers College, Mr. and Mrs Fred Oden and Mrs. Lycia Oden of Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Kelly and children of Prattville. This was an enjoyable day for everyone present.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Kelly visited Mr. and Mrs. Virgel Kelly in Lawley, Tuesday, Feb. 1st.

Mr. Curtis Sims of Selma spent last week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Sims.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gillespie attended the Mid-winter conference of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Ladies Auxiliary to the VFW last Saturday and Sun.

Tune in to station WKLF each Sunday morning at 8:15 a.m. and hear the "Hour of Decision" messages brought by Rev. Andrew Lloyd Dennis, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. A. (Doc) Dennis of Maplesville. Rev. Dennis is full time pastor of Big Springs Baptist church at Billingsley. Rev. Dennis was reared here and we regard him as one of our own boys. Like to hear him and he brings some inspiring and soul winning mesages.

The Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Eugene Smitherman last week for their Feb. meeting with 15 members present and one visitor, Mrs. O. Merchant of Randolph. The meeting was called to order by the pres. Mrs. Thelma McGee. Devotional was given by Mrs. Erline Higginbotham, taken from the 32nd Ps. after which she led in Prayer.

Mrs. Evie Cochran gave the history of the song for the month, "There Is A Fountain Filled With ing it. The demonstration was on Blood", and led the group in sing- favorite egg dishes put on by Mrs. Eugene Smitherman and Mrs. Lovenia Johnson assisted by Mrs. Johnnie Lane, Home Dem. Agent. The egg dishes prepared were served with coffee to the group. Two new members joined, who we welcome, Mrs. Irene Smitherman and Mrs. Clyde Smitheran. The Club was dismissed by repeating the club collect. The following members were present: Mesdames Johnnie Lane, Frankie Seales, Clyde Smitherman, Irene Smitherman and little Pat, Loevnia Johnson, Annie Owens, Evie Cochran, Erline Higginbotham, K. D. Maplesville School News—

Friday, Jan 28 the Lions Club sponsored the FFA speaking contest. The contestants were picked from the ninth and tenth and eleventh grades. The boys who made the public speeches were: From the 9th, James Fuqua who won second place; from the 10th, Edward Fuqua who won third place; and from the 11th grade, Horace Lee Payton, who won first place.

All the speeches were very good and were well given. We wish Horace Lee all the best luck in the county contest and hope he will get to go to the State Contest.

We also wish the FFA Quartet the best of luck in the county singing contest. We are very proud of them and hope they make a real success for old MHS.

The Beta Club has recently invited new members. They are:

Maudine Maddox, Lucille Smith Wayne Harden, Billy Davis, C. W. Rush, Leslie Benton, Buddy Williams, Roy McGee, Jimmy Harrison, Leland Lawrence. We, the Beta Club members welcome you. Qualifications for becoming Beta members are: good mentality and character, creditable achievement and commendable attitude to be approved by the leaders of the school.

The Beta Club sponsored Stunt Night, Feb. 3rd. Thehre were prizes given for the best stunts. The fifth grade won for the grammar school, ninth grade for Jr. High; and tenth grade for Senior High. The Beta Club sponsored the prettiest girl and most handsome boy with Billy Joe Lenoir and Maudine Maddox winning.

Old Maplesville High School has come a long way since that first class of high school graduates back in 1932. There were only eight graduates that year, Jerry Ratliff, Ruth Jud Farnell, Imogene Dawson, Hershel Shanks, Merritt Walker, K. M. Davis, Jr., J. J. Hayes, Jr. and Pert Mount. The class of '33 had only seven, Marjorie Wallace, Frances McCary, Theresa Carter, Kathryn Williams, Charles Parnell, C. M. Foshee, Jr. and Melvin Dartis Perry. Since then the classes have increased this year there will be 29 seniors.

Since that first class of Seniors graduated from Maplesville, many things have been added to the improvement of the school. A new Home Ec. building, a well equipped agriculture shop.

A lunchroom has been built under the leadership of the PTA. There the students get a well planned meal for 20c. A very nice library has been added with many reference books and fiction with two large dictionaries. Steam heat and gas.

Something very important is typing which is now offered both first and second year. A good football field surrounded by floodlights. There are numerous other little things that have added to the school in the line of building onto it. There are other things that have been added for the betterment of the school. Beta Club, FFA and FHA, Glee Club, Music teacher, Band and Band director, and the "Crimson Gleam, the paper.

Maplesville High and grammar schools have the honor of having two of their graduates as teachers. Mrs. Thresa Carter Gay and Mrs. Martha A. Smith Cowan. Mr. J. E. Daniels is still top man up there as he was in 1932.

You, the former graduates and we who will graduate in some tomorrow, all have many fond memories of Maplesville High School but right now as I sit here looking out the window I see the Stars and Stripes waving high and mighty over our school. Above and beyond the flag is a bright blue sky with white clouds which I know are silver lined. And even greater and more stirring than all this is the fact that over our school, our nation and our world, an almighty God is watching over us from beyond the deep blue.

Copied from the Crimson Gleam and since I was one of those Seniors way back yonder in those small class days I felt like passing this on to some of the other Seniors of past years that get the County Papers but do not get the school paper.

The high school classes have chosen the favorite boy and girl from their room. Tenth is Jean Moore and Jap Perry; eleventh is Joyce McAfee and Efton Shorts; twelfth grade is Annie Sue Walker and Kenneth Chandler. We are proud of those who were chosen.

Mulberry Church—

There was a fair congregation for both services. Rev. Johnson delivered two very fine messages. Following the morning worship service the regular monthly business meeting was held with the minutes being read, reports were given from the various organizations. Treas. peropt was given. Letters were granted to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hightower. Our church wishes them much happiness in their new church field.

The Sunday School Supt., Mac Lecroy, announced that the church census will be taken the third Sunday afternoon. He asked for volunteer helpers.

Rev. R. W. Stuckey will teach the Mission Study Book, Under the North Star, at Mulberry on Thursday, Feb. 17 beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Remember the mid-week service. Don't miss it.

The Valentine Banquet for the young people has been postponed from Thursday night of this week until Friday night the 11. Plans are being made for a great banquet and a good time for all the young people of Mulberry.

There will be a BTU Study Course at Mulberry beginning on Sunday night, Feb. 20 and runing through Wednesday night, Feb. 23. The adults will study the book, A Church Revival. The Intermediates book will be Witnessing For Christ. The book for the Juniors is Jesus Saves. The BTU director, Mr. L. S. Calfee and pastor, Rev. Evan Johnson are insisting on all the members to take this course. We will announce the teachers later.

Last Wednesday night was family night at Mulberry. All the organizations were represented. The WMU members made plans for the week of prayer program to be had the first week in March and the book, Under the North Star to be taught by Rev. R. W. Stuckey. A missionary program taken from the Royal Service was given. The Brotherhood planned to have cottage prayer meetings just preceding the spring revival. The other organization had their regular business meeting and Missionary program. There was a fair crowd present but there should be more to attend these meetings.

The librarians at Mulberry appreciate the interest you are showing by reading books from the library. Tell your friends about the books when you read them Help us to advertise the library.

Our spring revival will begin the second Sunday in March.

Isabella School—

Next Monday night is regular PTA meeting at Isabella. Program subject Winding our Way Into Founders Day. All parents and friends are invited to attend.

Isabella School states that it was a privilege to have Dr. Dotson, State Supervisor of Instruction spend the day last week in our school. He was a pleasing visitor and seemed to enjoy being our guest. As he visited the rooms he talked with the students. He said many interesting and helpful things. One of his statements was that for success in life, be something, know something, and do something.

In chapel last Friday the entire student body and faculty had the privilege of hearing Prof. Eichenaur speak to them.

Elementary PTA Has Interesting Program And Silver Tea

The Parent-Teachers Association of the Clanton Elementary School held a delightful meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 1, when two outstanding personalities, Dr. Delos P. Culp of Livingston and Mr. Karl Eichenaver of Western Germany, were guests of the association.

Mr. Dent Williams, PTA president, presided at the meeting. A devotional was given by Mrs. R. C. Williams who also introduced Dr Culp, the main speaker for the occasion.

Dr. Culp, a native of Chilton County and who at the present is serving as president of Livingston State Teachers College, was a very captivating speaker. For his topic Dr. Culp used the founding of the Parents-Teachers Association and the role that such organizations play in public education.

Another interesting guest was Mr. Karl Eichenaver of Wicheimhaver, Germany, who has spent several weeks in Clanton studying the public school system and American culture. A question and answer period was spent with Mr Eichenaver answering questions about his home land, the results creating better understanding of Germany.

A Silver Tea followed the program. A yellow and white color scheme was carried out in the table arrangements of seasonal flowers. Burning tapers in silver candelabrum spread a soft glow over the reception room. Mrs. Charlie Patterson served as chairman of the hospitality committee.

Early-hatched chicks are due in the brooder house before the last of February. Those started early will be producing eggs in the fall when prices are best.

Band Students Make Good At Clinic

Four local band students made good at the Livingston Band Clinic and try outs this past week-end. All four had done much practice prior to their trips. Many hard and long hours had been spent in preparing solos, ten scales from memory, and various exercises. To Betty Joyce Patterson, James Clinkscale, Cecil Messer and James Shirley, all this work proved very helpful.

These four and their director, Lamar Deloach arrived in Livingston last Friday morning around 8:30. After registering a clinic band was organized and try outs began. Rehearsals continued after lunch with Col. Carlton K. Butler directing. Friday night the college held a dance for all the students. Saturday still held more work and try-outs. Saturday night the clinic band gave a concert, thus ending the two day visit to Livingston. Not ending the trips and more competition.

James Clinkscale and Betty Joyce Patterson led District Six in trombone players. They were selected after thirty-two try out as the best in our section. Only one point seperated James and Betty 94-93 out of a possible 100. Our congratulations to them. Both are to be recommended to the White allstate band. Cecil Messer and James Shirley were recommended to the White and Blue bands. All players if chosen by the allstate band committees will go to the U of A March 22-24 for more tryouts and proper placement, and to take part in the all state bands.

The spring schedule for the band is select groups to Selma March 4 and 5 for District Six vocaling clinic. Full band to Troy Music Festival March 19th for State contest recommendations. Allstate band groups to U of A March 21 thru 23. Band Concert April 1 in the gym. Full band to Univ. of Ala. for state contest (if recommended).

Study Club Held An Open Meeting

An open meeting of the Study Club was held at the Methodist church on Friday, Feb. 4, when the club was honored to have Alabama Educator, president of State Teachers College and native son of Chilton County, Dr. Delos P. Culp, as guest speaker.

After the business session, Mrs. Hugh Jones introduced Dr. Culp to club members and a number of guests. Dr. Culp spoke on the United Nations at Work, emphasizing its purpose in reading the preamble, and following throughout with its objectives, principles, and finally the working of the body.

Among the guests attending was Mr. Eichenaur, German Exchange Teacher who has been observing in the Clanton public schools for the past several weeks. He was introduced to the group.

At the conclusion of the program the program committee invited guests and members to the tea table. The table with appointments of silver, was centered with an arrangement of snap dragons and spring flowers. Presiding over the coffee were Mrs. Joe A. Moore president of the club, and Mrs Harold Lawrence, chairman of the program committee. As the guest mingled over the coffee congratulations were heard going out to Dr. Culp and the club for a splendid program.

Valentine Day—Feb. 14th—

An ancient Valentine legend has it that Feb. 14 birds began to mate, tho this theory may not be true. Then there were two St. Valentines, both in the 5th century, one a Roman priest and one a bishop. One authority calls it accidental that the day should have acquired such romantic, sentimental accociations through the centuries.

St. Valentine's Day was observed first in the United States during the Revolutionary War. Until 1840 all Valentines were hand made. During two world wars, valentines have linked loved ones seperated b. great distances.

Again this year cupid can joi. in spirit, lovers oceans apart, witl oceans of love. Whether its th friend at hand or the one across the ocean, he can be remembered with an affectionate message.

Look Out For The Week-End Wrecker

If you're going to use the family limousine this Saturday or Sunday, you'll want to keep a sharp lookout for the Weekend Wrecker.

The Weekend Wrecker last year caused more than two-fifths of all deaths due to traffic accidents.

Mr. Wrecker is an average fellow most of the time. A good family man, he holds down a steady job and is well liked in his neighborhood. He's careful with nearly all his personal affairs, but the trouble is that once out on the open highway he throws common sense out the car window.

In 1953, the Weekend Wrecker killed 15,830 people and injured a total of 774,700. In two days' time he slaughters nearly as many persons as die from traffic accidents during the other five days of the week.

It doesn't make any difference how much safety is engineered into our roads and streets. It makes no difference what the automobile manufacturer does to put extra safety into a motor vehicle. The Wrecker will still manage to pile up his auto and the persons inside.

So here's a weekday tip to all motorists. If you're planning a highway junket this week-end, be sure to drive at a reasonable speed and to observe the rules of the road. Don't you be a Weekend Wrecker.

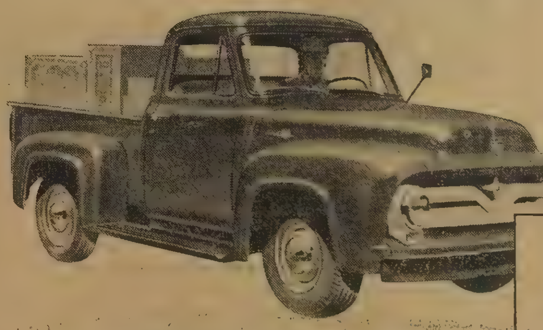
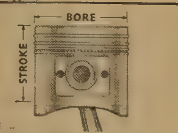
ASK THE MAN TO OPEN THE HOOD!
Ask: "Does this truck have a modern Short-Stroke V-8 engine?"
THIS YEAR the truck industry is beginning to follow Ford's lead to modern short-stroke V-8's. They last longer—prolong ring life up to 53%! Save up to one gallon of gas in seven! But ONLY FORD has four V-8's . . . one for every size truck in a full line . . . available right now!



Ford's got the most modern short-stroke SIX too! Ford's 118-h.p. Cost Clipper Six has the shortest piston stroke of any Truck Six! It's available in this new Ford Pickup, GVW 5,000 lbs., and all Ford Trucks through "2-ton" Series.



HOW TO TELL if it's a short-stroke engine: check the specifications! The "stroke" is always as short as, or shorter than the "bore."
Modern short-stroke V-8's are beginning to take over in trucks—just as they've already done in passenger cars. Today, virtually every passenger car offers short-stroke V-8 power. Before too long, the same will be true of trucks. So, if you buy a truck with a long-stroke Six today that's not being built tomorrow, what will happen to its ultimate trade-in value? Play it safe! Don't settle for anything less than a modern short-stroke engine!
We have 'em NOW! Ford Triple Economy Trucks

James Allen Lee, 74, who retired in 1950 as superintendent of education for Dallas County and had made his home in Greenville, Ala. for several years past, died unexpectedly at about 2 o'clock Fri. morning following a breif period of indisposition which had not aroused alarm. Mr. Lee had a record for leadership in Rotary dating back to the earlier years of the Selma Rotary Club, which he once headed as president. He became district governor of the old 164th District, composed of the entire state of Alabama, in 1935 and attended several International Conventions of Rotary. As a minister of the Christian Church, serving in a lay capacity, Mr. Lee had filled pulpits in the Selma First Christian Church, Old Prividence Church below Orrville, the Christian Church at Demopolis, Cleveland Mills Christian Church near Suttle and the Plantersville Christian Church. Mr. Lee was a graduate of Transylvania College, Lexington, Ky., he was born April 4, 1871 in Braggs, Ala. Mr. Lee came to Dallas County as a young educator.

Was principal of the Dallas County High School, Plantersville. On Aug. 20 1926, Mr. Lee was made assistant to the Dallas County Superintendent of Education. Was made Superintendent in 1928 after the death of Supt., Mr. Calloway. On becoming 70 years of age, Mr. Lee retired June 30, 1950. His services to education were wide and valuable. After residing in Selma, Mr. and Mrs. Lee moved to Greenville, Ala. in September of 1953 to be near their only daughter, Mrs. W. H. Ryan, Jr., (Olga Lee).

Funeral services took place at 10 a.m. from the Mt. Willing Christian Church with the Rev. James Wallace, pastor of the 1st Christian Church of Selma, and Dr. Ernest Childs, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Greenville jointly officiating. Nephews served as pallbearers. Interment in the Mt. Willing Cemetery.

Immediate survivors include the wife, Mrs. Ethel L. Lee; the daughter, Mrs. Ryan; and two grand children, W. H. Ryan, III and Lee Ryan. One brother, E. L. Lee of Mt. Willing.

Mr. T. O. Carroll of Plantersville is confined to the Vaughan Memorial hospital in Selma.

Mr. John Parnell returned to his home Saturday from the Selma Baptist hospital.

The fourth birthday of Tommy Herrod, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Herrod of Tuscaloosa was celebrated at a party held Wednesday afternoon at the home of his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Amos Brown, on Lauderdale St. Selma. Mrs. Herrod and Mrs. Brown were co-hostesses. Mr. and Mrs. Grady Herrod of Stanton, the Paternal grandparents, were special guests at the party. Tommy, his mother and his infant sister, Kim, who have been recent guests in the Brown home, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Herrod, Sr. back to Plantersville for an overnight visit before going on to their home in Tuscaloosa.

Mr. Dale Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Green was a patient in the Selma Baptist hospital last week-end. Dale underwent a tonsil operation.

Sympathy is extended the loved ones of Mrs. A. T. Dawson (Winnie Bell Jeffcoat) of Maplesville.

Mrs. Alma Schurter suffered a set-back last Monday, however, we are glad to report that she is much better at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Beagle (Vivian Schurter) of Fulton, Ala. spent Saturday with their Mother, Mrs. Alma Schurter.

Mrs. R. E. Fitts, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. West of Safford, Ala. visited Mrs. Alma Schurter over the week-end.

Mrs. Sallie Bennett of Selma spent Sunday with her School mate and friend, Mrs. Velma Huff.

We are very sorry to report that Mr. Samuel Hillman, son-in-law of Mrs. Velma Huff was carried to Jefferson-Hillman hospital in B'ham Monday. It is understood that Mr. Hillman's condition is serious and that all members of his family have been called to his bedside.

P-T A meeting held Monday night. Mrs. Maudine O'Neal is Pres of the P. T. A. and urges you and you to attend. Each parent of the school should attend these meetings whenever possible.

Egg And Broiler Outlook Is Much Brighter For This Year

The general outlook situation is as follows:

1. In 1955 we start with the hard fact that 1954 was a year of low returns to the producers of both eggs and broilers. Egg prices last year were the lowest since 1950 and broiler prices the lowest since '52.
2. Production of both eggs and broilers was a record high in 1954. Jan.-Nov. egg production was 5 percent above 1953 and 12 percent above average. November egg production was 41 percent above the 1943-52 average.
3. At the year's end, Ala. poultrymen were receiving about 37c per dozen for wholesale grade large extra, 60 percent A quality eggs, about 14 percent below a year earlier. Egg prices held fairly steady for the last month after declining most of last year.
4. Broiler output has been declining the last several weeks after increasing about 8 percent for all of 1954. Here in Alabama, where production has increased more than in other producing areas, placement of chicks in brooder houses fell below a year ago the second week in December. This means fewer broilers coming to market in Ala. and over the nation.
5. The smaller broiler output has already strengthened prices. In Mid-January, Alabama growers were receiving 24c to 26c per lb. compared to about 18c per lb. a month earlier.
6. Egg production responds more slowly to price changes than broiler production because of the longer time it takes to bring pullets into production than to produce and market a broiler.
7. Last year producers responded with increased production to the highly favorable market situation of 1953. Lower prices last fall resulted in cut-backs in chick hatchings. This indicates that fewer pullets may be grown out for flock replacement this spring along with reduction that has already occurred in broiler output. With this prospect it seems likely that good poultrymen who raise enough pullets to keep their flocks up to present size should be enjoying a more favorable price situation for eggs after about the

GOD AND MAN

Jesus Christ is God in the old testament; created all things, set all things in motion. A God with unlimited power, beside He there is no God.

Jesus Christ in the new testament scriptures: I God stripped of all power by the Father, placed on level with man, who had no power and could do nothing. When the father was ready for the son to begin his work he gave the son a gift. That gift was the spirit of the Father, which made the son able to do all the miracles and work he did on earth. Yes, made him to be the first and only begotten son, J. 3:16.

Now the only begotten son began on his mission which lasted three and one half years, did so much in that short time the Bible could not contain but very little of his work His work all being finished he was declared to be the son of God with power according to the spirit of holiness by the resurrection from the dead. This placed Jesus back as the original God. Jesus Christ the only God with all the power that ever existed.

Back to man, only a poor helpless creature, still unable to do any thing. The Holy Spirit is now leading man to God, saying confess your sins through repentence, faith, and obedience.

God will forgive your sins and cleanse you from all unrighteousness. Then if man will walk in the precepts, statutes, and judgements keeping his testimonies and commandments, then Jesus Christ will give man the same gift the Father gave the Son, that made the Son the only begotten, J.3:16.

This gift will make man a begotten, son. Give man the faith, spirit and power of Jesus Christ make man able to do all the work and miracles Jesus did while on earth, even greater work shall he do, because I go unto my Father, J. 14:12.

Believe it or not, what I am writing is the truth and is no lie, make you know all things, I J 2-20.

When man has lived out his alloted time, in righteousness only a begotten son, then man too, is declared to be God with power according to the spirit of Holiness by the resurrection from the dead. Yes God just like Jesus Christ is God

Man is just now born again, and placed where he was cerated to be. Jesus Christ is God with all power in Heaven and earth, and like in all scriptures from Gen. 1-1 to Rev. 22:21. Jesus spoke, the Holy Spirit inspired.

Moses, the Psalmist, prophets and Apostles wrote, making all scriptures come to you under three witnesses: Is truth and is no lie.

Seed Supplies Are Low In Some Of The Pasture Crops

Auburn, Ala.—Reporting on the outlook for 1955 plantings, API Extension Seed Crops Specialist Ralph Jones said this week that seeds for a few pasture crops are expected to be in fairly good sup- er grasses and legumes will be dif- ply. But high-quality seeds of oth ficult to find.

Alabama farmers should have no trouble getting alfalfa seed from the mid-west for grazing and for hay, Jones stated. Some varieties are a little less plentiful than last year, but the overall alfalfa supply wi be excellent.

Although 1954 production was off almost half the large 1953 crop, there should be enough ladino (giant white) clover seed for all. Jones explained that the large government carryover will probably bring the supply up to, or above, normal: Ladino is the principal pasture legume planted in Alabama

Prices are expected to be higher on white clover seeds; the 1954 crop was the smallest in 10 years.

Lespedeza seeds produced last year were the second smallest crop in 18 years, with the sericea variety being shortest in supply. The seed crops expert predicted that sericea available won't meet the 1955 demand.

Turning to grasses, conditions look a little better. The 1954 crop of red top is the smallest on record and there will probably not b enough seeds coming in from the East to meet demand. Domestic orchard grass may be short too since production was down 51 peh cent from the average. But Ky bluegrass, which is used for pastures in North Alabama, is in good supply, with prices lower than last year. Sudan grass, a supplementary summer grazing crop, was 41 per cent below the 1953 production, but still slightly larger than average. Jones believes the supply of tall fescue (Ky. 31 and alta) will be ample to meet demands.

Removal of the cross-compliance regulations on basic commodity crops does not relieve a farmer of liability for harvesting more than his share of allotment crops.

(Too late for last week)

It was a shock to Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Merchant about tre death of his nephew, Mr. Donald Merchant of Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Mayfield attended services at Randolph Sun. at the Baptist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Rhodes visited his father, who is ill. We hope for him a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson had as their dinner guests on Monday her aunt, Mrs. E. C. Grooms and daughter, Mrs. Bess Lecroy of Mulberry.

Mrs. Nora Lovelady and Aunt Mary Wallace were home for a while Saturday. Her daughter, Mr and Mrs. Howard Johnson brought them home, and all went back to Birmingham Saturday evening.

Mrs. Bill Wilson has been on the sick list. We hope for her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Ratliff had as their guest for the week-end his brother of Birmingham.

The men of this community attended a meeting Saturday Jan. 29 in Centerville, concerning the blacktopping of this road, north of Maplesville to Wilton. We hope them success, as it is in bad need of a black top.

YOUR HEALTH

X-RAY

Roentgen or x-ray is employed in medicine both for diagnosis and treatment of many forms of disease. It is also used in veterinary medicine and in industry, especially for detecting faults in metal construction such as weldings, castings, airplane parts and fuses for artillery ammunition.

In medical diagnosis, roentgen rays are used for making permanent records on films, called radiographs. They are also used in making a fluoroscopic examination of patients. This procedure does not produce a permanent record such as the x-ray film but enables the physician to study the act of swallowing, the movements of the diaphragm in breathing, the pulsations of the heart, and the motion of the organs concerned with digestion.

X-rays are necessary in the management of some fractures and other bone injuries, the detection of swallowed and inhaled foreign bodies, and the detection of tuberculosis of the lungs. In fact, it is used to show anything with the shadow density of normal body tissues. With the proper technic it is possible to show up many details of soft tissues and to distinguish between aft and muscle and tendon structures. Certain substances can be swallowed by the patient which render hollow organs of the body visible. This is true of the esophagus, or gullet, the stomach and the intestine. In conditions affecting the gall bladder and the kidneys, it is possible to inject into the blood stream a small amount of properly prepared opaque material. Certain substances are also introduced to aid the study of the bronchial structures of the lungs, the blood chambers of the heart, the arteries and veins of the entire body, and the spinal canal and the cavaties in the brain for the spinal and brain fluids.

X-ray examinations are not harmful to the patient. The application of x-rays in the treatment of certain skin conditions, cancer and the management of fractures is of great help.

Rev. James Jones, pastor.

Our attendance was very good Sunday and Sunday night, even though the weather was bad. Bro. Jones delivered two wonderful messages that was enjoyed by every one present. We received another new member Sunday night. It makes our heart rejoice to see young people step out on the side of the Lord.

Our spring revival will be the first week in March. Our pastor will be bringing the mesages with the help of Rev. Charles Carter of Birmingham. Bro. Carter will preach two nights. We urge each Christian to pray much for this revival that much good will be accomplished.

We are still working on our curtain funds if you would like to help us on this it would be greatly appreciated.

Remember to come to Sunday School and B.T.U. each Sunday and Sunday night.

Alabama Leaders Hail Helen Keller

Sparkman

NEW YORK, Feb. 1 — Senators Lister Hill and John Sparkman were among Alabamians who paid tribute yesterday to one of the Cotton State's most distinguished daughters, Miss Helen Keller.

The tributes were in the form of messages read to the 74-year-old deaf-blind author and educator at a Farewell Banquet here sponsored by the American Foundation for Overseas Blind, New York. The affair honored Miss Keller's forthcoming 40,000-mile good will visit among the physically handicapped in the Far East.

Senator Sparkman expressed "the pride of an Alabamian . . . in the tremendous accomplishment you have achieved. You have been an inspiration to millions of people all over the world."

Senator Hill called Miss Keller "the world's most remarkable woman." He said her faith "lifted high a great light of understanding and of peace."

The Foundation is sponsoring the five-month journey in cooperation with governments of India, Pakistan, Burma, the Philippines and Japan. It is aimed at inspiring expansion of facilities for the deaf and blind.

A letter from President Eisenhower headed the list of more than 40 tributes, which were read by CBS news commentator Douglas Edwards, himself a native Alabamian. Former Governor Gordon Persons expressed hope "the rest of the world will gather inspiration from the noble example of so illustrious an Alabamian." U. S. Rep. Carl Elliott wired: "God bless you, Helen Keller, for what your life means in inspiration to physically handicapped people everywhere." President Eisenhower praised Miss Keller's "unique contribution to understanding among the peoples of the world."

Now that Valentine is past :
We'll here and now admit;
We never got a single one
But we don't care a bit.
Cause Valentine is once a year.
And that is much too rare.
To show the ones you really love,
Just how much you care.

Grady Heflin, down at the Peoples Savings Bank, says that if we don't stop trying to close them every Yankee Holiday he is coming up here with a shotgun. Now he ain't just kidding either. Last week when it was Lincoln's Birthday we run an ad advertising that all the banks in the county would be closed on that day. Well it is a national holiday but the banks here don't hold with that "northern propaganda."

The city boy was spending the night in the country and upon being routed out at 4 o'clock in the morning, he yawned: "Huh, It sure doesn't take long to spend the night here."

Dr. C. O. Lawrence who was injured in an automobile accident in Birmingham two weeks ago is able to be out and seeing his patients. According to a member of his office staff he has been doing just a little bit too good so will have to slow down. He left Wednesday morning to be gone for a week or ten days. After that time you will probably find the good Doctor back at his usual place—his office.

This must have happened back during the war when everything was rationed. The local church was jammed for the wedding and after the ceremony there was a rush to kiss the bride. Finally she looked at one man and said: "I don't know you. Why are you kissing me?" "I don't know lady. When I joined the line outside, I thought it was for hamburger."

Don't miss the fun at the Wadesonian Theatre next Monday night when the High School Parent-Teachers Association presents their Womanless Wedding. You'll have more fun than a barrel of monkeys. Get your tickets early so that you will be sure of a seat.

Probate Judge M. D. Tingle and the Board of Revenue & Control certainly have a year of work cut out for them. There are 35 miles of paving to be done this year in the county and seven miles of resurfacing to be done. There are four bridges to be constructed and this does not include the big bridge across the Coosa on State 22 that has been promised us. There is the completion of the new Chilton County half-million dollar hospital. A one-hundred thousand dollar armory that is now under construction. A 4000 foot runway at Gragg Field is to be constructed. Of course on top of all this the present road system will need constant repair and attention. The Board of Revenue and Control has a big year ahead but every member seems to be doing a grand job and their primary interest is that Chilton County gets what's coming to her.

Gulf States Paper To Hold Annual Conservation Contest

Gulf States Paper Corporation will hold a conservation program inaugurating its eleventh annual contest in 21 high schools of West and Central Alabama in Chilton County, scheduled as follows:

Feb. 23 at Verbena High school at 11 a.m.

The students are being asked this year to write an essay of not more than 500 words and not less than 300 words on the subject: "Tree Farming and My Future."

The Company is again offering three prizes in each school. The first prize will be a 25 dollar savings bond. Second and third prizes will be ten and five dollars, respectively in cash.

The judging of the papers will be in the hands of school faculties and after prizes have been awarded the winners, together with the faculty representative from each school, will be invited to meet in Tuscaloosa as guests of the Co. for a tour of the company's plant and a luncheon.

Womanless Wedding At Wadesonian Next Monday

The Chilton County High School Parent-Teachers Association will present a Womanless Wedding at the Wadesonian Theatre next Monday night, February 21, at 7:30 o'clock.

Rev. Don Esty will be the narrator and V. L. Bulger will be the Bride with Vernon Payne as Groom.

Parson Brown is played by H. W. Yeager and the bridesmaids are: Reese Mullins, B. N. Studdard, J. C. Barr, Clifford Jones, Bert Snead and J. M. Dunlap. The Maid of Honor is played by Claud C Craig and Robert Popwell is the Flowergirl.

The Bride's Mother is Ed Propst and the bride's father is James Kincaid. Vocalist is Roy Wood and the pianist is Mrs. Myrtle Pitts.

Other members of the cast of this hilarious farce are Miss Wantaman played by Jimmy Bell and Miss Nosey played by Judge M. D. Tingle. The hostess for the shower is Bing Lecroy. Grandma and grandpa of the bride are Ed Mullins and Hollis Jackson respectively

A negro mammy that brings the baby on the stage in the closing moments is played by J'Reed Thompson and the "Baby" is played by Joe Campbell.

Tickets are on sale by the high school children and the committee urges you to get your tickets early if you want to get a seat at this social affair.

Chilton Student Has Part in College Night At Alabama College

Montevallo-Feb. 12, A Chilton County student at Alabama College will have a leading part in producing the College's 37th annual College Night presentation, scheduled this year for February 24, 25, and 26.

Miss Madge Mullins, daughter of Mrs. Reid Mullins of Clanton has been named as one of the writers for the "Gold" production.

College Night, the annual music-art-drama production started as a modest observance of George Washington's birthday 37 years ago, and is now recognized as one of the outstanding amateur productions in Alabama, attracting thousands of visitors to the campus each year.

The entire student body at Ala. College is divided into two sides, the Purples and the Golds four weeks before the actual College Night productions. During the four week period each side writes, composees, directs, and stages a music drama-art production. The entire performance is planned and executed by students.

Culmination of the four weeks' efforts is the three-night run, open to the public, and held in Palmer Hall on the Montevallo campus. The entire program is judged by out-of-state judges, experts in art, music and drama. The winner of the college night competition is announced immediately after the Saturday night performance. Last year's College Night was won by the purples.

Alabama Leads The Nation In Broiler Build-Up

Auburn, Ala.—Alabama broiler growers outdid all others in the nation last year in expanding their business. These poultrymen produced nearly 48 million commercial broilers during 1955, marking up a 68-percent increase over the previous year.

Revealing this information today in Auburn, API Extension Poultryman John Weeks said the increase in 16 states which grow three-fourths of the nation's broilers was only 12 percent for the same period.

Sales in 1954 brought the state's broiler producers well over $32 million, as compared with slightly less than $20 million in 1953, the expert added. Alabama poultrymen sold their birds for an average 22.8 cents per pound, about the same average price received throughout the U. S.

New born pigs need some additional heat during the first few days of their lives. Even in the coldest weather, they don't arrive wearing heavy coats.

Chestnut Creek To Hold Singing Friday Night

There is to be a singing at the Chestnut Creek Baptist church Friday night, February 18 at 7 or 7:30 p.m. Special singers are being brought from Selma and Montgomery to help make the singing a bigger success. Jack Jones, chairman, says that Everyone is invited to bring someone with them.

Four Chiltonians On Alabama College Dean's List

The names of four Alabama College students from Chilton County are included on the Dean's list for the first semester of the 1954-55 school year, according to an announcement made by Dr. Richard Powers, Dean of the College.

Miss Mary June Handley, junior from Jemison is listed on the first honor roll. Among those listed on the second honor roll are Miss Judith Williams, sophomore and Miss Bobbie Bretta Gray, junior both from Clanton, and Miss Sue Bratton McKinney, senior from Jemison.

Klaudt Indians To Return Friday

The Klaudt Indian Singers will again visit the Clanton Church of God, Friday night, February 18 at 7:30. They will be dressed in their Indian attire, playing their instruments and singing the songs you love. If you miss this singing, you will have missed a blessing. They sing, play and preach the Gospel of our Lord. There will be no admission, come one and all.

Liberty National Approaches Billion Dollar Mark

Frank P. Samford, President of Liberty National Life Insurance Company, in reporting to the stockholders of the company at their annual meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 15, 1955, stated that 1954 was the best year in the history of the company. e pointed out that the insurance in force was in excess of $948 million and he predicted that within a few months the company would pass the billion-dollar-mark. Mr. Samford called attention to the recent report by the Institute of Life Insurance to the effect that there are only forty-eight companies in the United States with as much as a bililon dollars of insurance in force.

In his report to the stockholders Mr. Samford emphasized the strong financial position of the company in that in addition to the policy reserves of almost $140 million, there was a policyholders' surplus of over $16 million. The resources at the end of 1954 were $20,560,000 greater than at the end of the previous year, which gave the company the greatest increase in assets from operations ever experienced in any year.

The report emphasized that the company was in a stronger position than ever before in its history with a more efficient and bettertrained organization both in the Field and in the Home Office. The company is now licensed in ten states, and the total number of employees increased during the year from 1,832 to 1,904.

According to a recent report, the number of sheep and lambs on feed for market Jan. 1 was nearly four million that's about four percent below the 1953 figure.

Letter To The Editor

Clanton, Ala.
Feb. 15, 1955

Mr. R. M. Tucker, Editor
Chilton County News
Clanton, Alabama

Dear Mr. Tucker;

The Education Committee of the Clanton Study Club wishes to thank you for the consideration and attention which you gave to our article on "A Block to Effective Teaching—The Overcrowded Classroom." We appreciate your giving it prominent space in your paper.

We also wish to express our deep appreciation to Mr. U. H. Abram of the local Elementary School who composed the article for us. It was a splendid presentation of the problem of the overcrowded classroom and we feel grateful to him and to you.

Your cooperation is an inspiration to us.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Joe E. Gowan
Mrs. J. R. Mullins
Mrs. L. C. Warr

REV. E. L. SMOTHERS

Rev. Smothers from the First Baptist church of Athens, Ala. will begin a school of Evangelism at the First Baptist church on March 7th and will continue through Mar. 11th. Services will be in session from 10 a.m. until 11:30 a.m.

The public is cordially invited to attend and all pastors and other church workers are especially urged to be in attendance.

This school will probably be a highlight in the great Evangelistic Crusade and will be of great value to those who attend.

Farley Drug Store Making Alterations

There will be a brand new Farley Drug Store within about three weeks according to Leonard Farley, who for the past several days has been busy painting, redecorating, etc.

New fixtures are being brought in and most all departments in the store have been changed. Dr. Farley stated Wednesday that the blueprint for the changes came from the Walgreen Agency direct and were recommended by them. The changes will be for the benefit of a better display of merchandise and to make shopping more pleasant for the customer.

Welfare Office Closed Monday

The Chilton County Department of Public Welfare office will be closed Monday, Feb. 21st and Tuesday, Feb. 22nd, in observance of the two State holidays for Geo. Washington's birthday and Mardi Gras Day. The office will be open as usual on Wednesday, Feb. 23.

Good News For Peach Growers

Total accumulated chilling hours through February, as reported by A. R. Long of the U. S. D. A. Weather Bureau in Montgomery, is 1155 hours. This is encouraging and important information to all Chilton County peach growers. Most varieties grown in any appreciable volume in Chilton County can be expected to come through with normal fruit and leaf development with the above indicated accumulation of chilling hours.

Rev. Vickers Speaks On Cuban Trip

Rev. M. K. Vickers, of the First Methodist Church, will speak on "Missions in Cuba," at the morning Worship Service, February 20, at 11:00 a.m. The public is invited to be present for this service. Rev. Vickers has been attending and participating in a Misisonary Evangelistic Project in Cuba, and will have a first hand report on this subject.

WOW To Meet

There will be a meeting of the local WOW group at 7 o'clock, Feb. 28th. M. E. Kilpatrick, state manager, will be present.

Veterans Resume Construction On Co-Op Home

For the past ten years we have been hearing a lot about the Veterans in and around Clanton getting together and building a club or home. Well, it seems that this dream will become a reality in the not too distant future.

The foundation for this home was put down over a year ago by the local chapter of Disabled American Veterans. About nine months ago a mass meeting of the local veterans including the American Legion, Disabled American Veterands and the V.F.W. was held at the City Grill and it was mutually agreed that they would pool their resources, incorporate and build the Club or home on a cooperative basis. A couple of weeks ago it was decided that something should be done so R. L. "Bob" Fullen was appointed supervisor and he went to work. We are happy to report that the outside walls are going up.

Fullen stated that he doubted whether there were sufficient funds to complete all the walls but that he would go as far as possible and depend on the Lord for more when that runs out. W. Louie Smith at Peoples Savings Bank is secretary and treasurer and all bills must clear through him.

Bob said that they hope to make this not only a veterans home but that they wanted it to be a community project as well. He pointed out that perhaps some people would like to make donations to this worthwhile project as a type memorial to a son, husband or brother who served his country in time of need. Should anyone desire to make such donations, they are requested to contact Mr. Smith who will issue a receipt.

Fishbait sales brought Alabamians slightly over $902 thousand last year.

Selective Service Calls Two Here

State Selective Service announced today that Alabama will send 454 men to the armed services in March, the state's quota of a 11,000 man nationwide call.

Alabama's February call was for 494 men. Of this number 2 will be called from Chilton County.

Speaking Contest At Marbury Tonight

The Autauga County speaking contest will be held at Marbury High School Thursday night, (tonight), February 17 at 7 p.m. There will be speakers from Prattville, Billingsley, Autaugaville and Marbury.

THE TOP MEN OF THE YEAR—

One of the amusements which passes across the American scene each year, usually toward the end of the year, is the selection — by members of the press, usually — of the top men or women, or this or that, of the year. The latest group of dandies, we believe, were the top men of the year, and nine of these were selected.

Also selected were the ten outstanding young men of the year, the ten best-dressed women of the year, and the five, ten and fifteen other best something or other.

It is a source of smiles to us to see the importance with which some of those selected view their selection. We do not attempt to ridicule, or be cynical, but we must point out that the top men of the year are probably not men in the public eye at all. The top men of the year might be little-heard-of men, who face unknown problems and unknown odds and who face them bravely and achieve reat results.

Of course, headline figures must be chosen by the various pollsters because what they do is known. Also, because they are known, the news story is a good one. But, even so, the intelligent citizen should realize that these selections are just sources for news stories, just as is the best-dressed selection, which always include famous people, and which does not include the best dressed.

Our country and our way of life is the greatest on earth and we like a little hokum to pass the time. The polls about the top this-and-that group are mostly hokum.

THE BIRTH RATE GOES UP—

Recent figures show that the number of babies born in 1954 set a new record in the United States. Tentative figures show over 4,100,000 1954 births.

The significance of this record crop of babies is further increased by the fact that it represents the fifteenth year of successive increase in the U. S. birth rate.

The long-term economic result of this trend is to be felt within five years. There seems to be little doubt but that the babies born in the early Forties will begin to earn salaries and wages increasingly in the next five years. By 1960, the number of students entering college and entering the job market will be rapidly rising and thereafter, the effects will be felt on a very broad economic front.

These figures have led many experts to be optimistic about the future in the United States. There seems to be little doubt that the soaring birth rate in the United States will increase the demands for goods and services and education in this country to a prosperous high in the coming years, barring some economic catastrophe.

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

Federal aid for school construction was the subject last week of President Eisenhower's special message to Congress. The President asked for a three-year emergency program to promote the building of new schools at a cost of approximately $7 billion. The federal government's share of the total cost under the President's proposal would be about $1.1 billion in loans and grants.

Three methods of financing the school construction program were outlined in the President's message. First, he recommended that the federal government be authorized to spend $750 million over a period of three years to purchase local school bonds from communities, "which are handicapped in selling bonds at a reasonable interest rate."

Second, it was recommended that federal aid be made available to state school building agencies that would build and rent new schools to local communities. The President did not ask for a specific sum to aid the school building agencies, but suggested that Congress authorize the "necessary funds" for federal participation.

As his third proposed method for financing a school construction program, the President recommended direct federal aid to communities that cannot issue bonds or pay rent on new schools. At the same time, the President asked Congress to appropriate $200 million over a three-year period to be used for federal grants-in-aid for these communities.

In stressing the importance of the school construction program, President Eisenhower pointed out that the nation needs 300,000 additional classrooms at this time and, with mounting enrollments, 50,000 new elementary and high school rooms will have to be added annually.

Alabama's senior Senator, Lister Hill, labeled the President's construction proposals as inadequate for present needs. Senator Hill is the author of a bill to provide federal funds of $500 million a year for a two-year period for emergency school construction grants and, as Chairman of the Senate Education Committee, will have a strong voice in the formulation of any school construction legislation that may reach the floor of the Senate for a vote.

Opposes Pay Raise

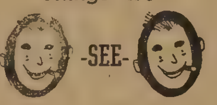
The bill to increase the salaries of members of Congress is scheduled to come before the House this week, possibly today.

When I first became a candidate for Congress, I was fully aware of the salary I would receive. I was willing, if elected, to serve for that amount. Had there been a tremendous increase in the cost of living during the two years I have been a member of Congress, possibly I could justify in my own mind an affirmative vote. That has not been the case however. Although the cost of living has increased 37.2 percent since the last increase in 1946 of Congressional salaries, the cost of living has risen only .8 percent during the two years I have been a member of the House of Representatives. The proposal which the House will consider constitutes an increase in salary of 80 percent, and I shall vote in opposition to it.

I realize the reason I have just given against an increase in Congressional salaries does not apply to every member of Congress because a great majority of them have been here longer than two years. But aside from my reaction to this matter on a personal basis, I frankly do not feel this is the time for Members of Congress to vote for themselves any type of salary increase. With an already astronomical debt and our budget still unbalanced, it is my belief that all plans for a Congressional salary increase should at least be postponed.

I hope it will be possible to get a roll-call vote on this legislation. But, whether the vote is by roll call or by voice, mine will be in opposition to the measure.

Things we -SEE- and Hear



by "Tuck"

The height of something or other is the old colored gentleman who was in a local drug store the other day and made a 57c purchase.

It seemed the old fellow didn't have but 55c, but it being a good day we imagine, the clerk graciously let him have it for that amount. He walked hesitantly toward the exit and finally turned and came back to ask if they'd mind putting it in a paper bag. You'd have to serve the public to appreciate that one.

And speaking of hunky dory. The Callen Alred Drug Store is getting to be quite the well equipped place. We didn't realize they had come so far so fast until a visit the other day. Everything from soup to nuts and the service seems to be second to none. They have come a considerable way towards making and holding a name for themselves.

Thought the old fella was gonna roll off the sidewalk the other day when we tried to walk through the bank doors and they were closed. He liketa split a seam laughing at the blunder. Not seeing anything quite so sidesplitting we didn't share in the mirth. Just spoil sports I reckon. We imagine the old boy was trying to inflate his ego after he had miscumbooberated it a few minutes earlier by trying the same stunt we did. Even though it was at our expense, we hope he succeeded successfully.

Congratulations to Howard and Barbara Buckner. They have a new little daughter in the family. She was born via the local hospital last Tuesday (we hope) with the doggonedest head of hair you ever saw. They have named her Ramona Ann.

There were quite a few other acquaintances up there this week but I just can't recollect all of them. One that did sort of stick with us was some fella named Tucker. Yeh, "Little Ben" Tucker, that's it. Yes sir, Mrs, Kelley doesn't realize that all that saved her from a neck hugging was weakness on my part. I sure felt like doing something unthinkingly when she said those magic words, "you have a boy."

His full name's Robert Benjamin.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

Mental Outlook

The manner in which an individual reacts to everyday situations largely displays the state of his mental health. In other words, his attitude to a given situation, whether good or bad, reveals the degree of his emotional maturity.

Worry, frustration and too much anxiety are factors that may influence a person's thinking. Jealousy, rage and inability to adjust are other factors that may, if uncontrolled, bring on or show underlying psycohologic disorders. Some persons, through improper training and guidance in their early years, outwardly express a normal mental attitude to everyday living. When confronted with one or several incidents of an unpleasant nature, they "blow up." These people, unfortunately, make up a large part of our population.

Many persons who have physical complaints, such as an abdominal pain, often have no physical basis for that pain. This type usually shops from physician to physician, insisting that the pain is organically based, even when x-rays and other evidence point to the contrary. These individuals must be taught to understand how emotions can cause pain, to check their attitudes, and to help manage their own minds.

Think it over. Don't let the storm of conflicting emotions create a mental illness which very often might create physical ills too, ills such as indigestion, palpitation, headache, shortness of breath and even ulcers. Much mental suffering can be avoided by understanding your emotions. Don't feel sorry for yourself if things don't go your way. Take it in stride. You'll be happier, as will those about you. By understanding yourself, you can help your mind help you.

Consult your physician; and if he advises the help of a psychiatrist, get it. The help of a good psychiatrist is as essential as that of a good internist or surgeon.

Transcontinental Gas Line Has Safe Year in 1954

Safety figures for 1954 have been compiled by Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp.' revealing that it was the safest year in the firm's four years of operations.

The annual safety report has just been compiled and released by Transco's safety department.

For its safe operation during the year, Transco won several significant awards, including the American Gas Association Accident Prevention Award and the National Safety Award of Merit.

Data in the annaul safety report show that Transco's entire facilities worked during 1954 with no injuries to the public or damages to the pipe or any public property located along their 2,250 mile right-of-way.

Transcontinental, a pipeline transmission firm, transports Texas and Louisiana natural gas to markets in the Southern Piedmont area and to the New York-New Jersey-Philadelphia metropolitan area. Its home offices are in Houston.

High Winds Can Make Weed Sprays Backfire

Many Alabama farmers will be using chemical sprays to control pasture weeds during the coming weeks. And some of these weed killers can be turned into crop killers by high spring winds.

J. C. Lowery, API Extension agronomist, said this week that many chemicals which offer good control of sour dock and other pasture pests can be used safely if proper precautions are followed. The greatest danger in using such sprays is in allowing them to be spread to other fields.

Lowery emphasized that pastures should be sprayed before cotton planting time, since many weed sprays are especially harmful to cotton. Best thing to do is to check with your county agent anytime you get ready to spray, concluded the farm specialist.

Be sure to buy chicks that are bred for whatever purpose you plan to use them.

(MRS. J. H. WELLS)

Mulberry Baptist News—

The Young People of the church enjoyed a Valentine Banquet in the church basement last Friday night, Feb. 11. The committees and the women who prepared the food did a fine job, and an exceptionally fine banquet was enjoyed by all those attending.

The Rev. R. W. Stuckey will teach the WMU Mission Study Book, "Under The North Star," at the church tonight, Feb. 17, beginning at 6:30. Both men and women will be welcome and are invited to attend this study course

A partial census to bring last summer's census up to date will be taken this Sunday afternoon, February 20. Volunteers to assist in this work are urged to contact the pastor or Mac Lecroy.

A study course for the BTU will be taught at the church each night, beginning with the Training Hour on Sunday night, Feb. 20, and continuing through Wednesday night. Every member of the church is urged to participate in this study course. The teachers for the course will come from the West End Baptist Church in Clanton, Ala.

The worship service on Sunday night will feature two specials that the people of the community will not want to miss. The Isabella Hi Glee Club will be featured in the service, and the FFA boys of Isabella High School will be honored guests in the service. A section of the church will be reserved for each of these groups. The members are urged to come early and enroll in the BTU study course and then remain for the Worship Service which follows.

Mulberry Baptist Banquet—

The Mulberry Baptist Church had a banquet to honor its Intermediates and Young People on Friday night, Feb. 11. The banquet was held in the church basement with the Rev. Evan Johnson, pastor, serving as Master of Ceremonies.

After the invocation by Jack Tucker, the king and queen, Leslie Smith and Jean McCraw, were crowned. Group singing was led by Pat Webster. Mrs. Marverine Tucker recited a love poem. A girls quintette composed of Molly Webster, Janelle Hayes, Estelle Fox, Mary Nell Veazey and Ophelia Conway sang "Always". A skit entitled "Living Sweathearts" featured the following scenes:

Jean McCraw and Ronny Hayes in "First Sweethearts"; Sarah Carter and Leslie Smith in "Teen-age Love"; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tucker in "The Real Thing"; Mr. and Mrs. James Langston in "A New and Tiny Valentine" and Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Davenport, Sr., in "Old Valentines." Following the skit, the pastor led in a short devotional and the banquet closed with the singing of "My Jesus I Love Thee" and the benediction by Mr. O. F. Davenport, Sr.

The basement at the church was beautifully decorated, with huge red valentines dispersed around the walls. The stage for the skit was also framed with a huge red valentine. The tables were decorated with large Valentine dolls at the head of the tables and with smaller dolls down the other tables A small picket fence with flower around it ran the length of the tables.

The committees who worked ou the banquet were as follows:

Program Committee: Mrs. Margaret Johnson, Mrs. Evelyn Conway and Mrs. Jack Tucker; The Decorations Committee, Mrs. Molly Smith, Mrs. Grace Smith, and Mrs. Louise Lecroy; The Food Committee: Mrs. R. R. Webster, Mrs. E. C. eLcroy, Mrs. Hazel McGee, and Mrs. Garland Smith. Mrs. Molly Smith and Mrs. J. H Wells also assisted with the serving of the food. Food for the banquet was prepared and donated by the women of the WMU of the church

Have you written to any of our service men recently? Here are some of their addresses: John C Cummings, Jr. (USN) 443-43-51, USS Hornet (C.V.A.-12), San Francisco, Calif.; James Alton Lecroy S. N. 9698242, USN, USS Helena, C. A. 75; 2nd Div. care of F.P.O. San Francisco.

These boys state in their letters that they enjoy the news from Isabella in the paper. Alton is in Formosa with the 7th Fleet. He and Burt Chandler are still together. They write home that they are doing fine and ask an interest in our prayers. Your news correspondent would like to get other boys' addresses so they could be printed in our news column. We all know any of them would be glad to get a letter from some one back home.

Mrs. Amy Lecroy is still in the Highland Baptist hospital in B'ham. The last report from her is that she continues to show improvement.

Mrs. C. H. Oliver spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. Emm Manning.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bryant and boys, Mr. and Mrs. James Arnold Bryant, all of Birmingham were week-end guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bryant.

Mr. and Mrs. Mac Lecroy and children visited Wilbert Billingsley at his home Sunday afternoon. Wilbert has just been dismissed from the hospital. He had the misfortune of having a car wreck recently and getting seriously injured.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Calfee and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lecroy and Mr. E. C. Grooms visited Mrs. Amy Lecroy in the hospital in Birmingham Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wells' week end visitors were Mr. and Mrs Joe James Wells and children of Montgomery.

Miss Edna Earl Tucker has not returned home at the time of this writing. She went to help her sister, Mrs. Betty Lee Clenner, drive to Key West. They left last week. Mrs. Clenner and the children joined their husband and father, Chief Earl Clenner there

JEMISON NEWS

(MRS. GEORGE NAISH)

Feb. 22: Washington's B'day—

The nation will observe Washington's birthday on Feb. 22nd.

He has been called the Father of His Country. Tho Washington did not have any children of his own, he was a devoted father to his two step children, Nellie and Jacky Curtis.

Washington was a prosperous farmer in his day. He arose early and made a tour of his fair plantations before breakfast. He tried many agricultural experiments, and drew up weather charts, and studied all his crops. He commented that he was pestered with the tobacco worm questioning Noah's wisdom in admitting that creature into the ark.

He had better luck with his wheat, one type being shipped to the West Indies. Possibly he could have qualified as a Master Farmer if there had been such recognition in those days.

Possibly Washington lives in the lives of boys and girls in the story of the cherry tree and what is more so in the lives of adults when they recall scenes of Valley Forge and how the general knelt in the snow and prayed.

County 4-H Club Has Industrious Members

Carolyn Hill, thirteen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hill of Clanton, Rt. 2 is in her fourth year of 4-H Club work at Thomas Jr. school. This year Carolyn is reporter of her Club.

Carolyn has had sewing and cooking as her projects every year, she has also had home improvement several years.

Dorothy, Carolyn's sister, was a member of the 4-H Club and helps Carolyn with her projects. Carolyn says, "I help bake cakes and make candy for Christmas. I have helped plan and cook meals." "I have made several dresses and skirts. With one of my dresses last year I won third place at the school and honorable mention at the county revue. I have made button holes and keep my school clothes clean, ironed and ready to wear." "I really do enjoy 4-H work, the meetings and especially the Rally."

Carolyn is very busy now working on her dress for the Revue which her Club will have in March.

With two 4-H'ers working together to make the best better there is no doubt about the good results they get. That is just what Linda and Patsy Messer of Thomas Jr do. These two girls are the daughters of Mrs. Louise Messer, Clanton Rt. 2. Both girls have as their projects, cooking and ironing.

Patsy, 12 years old, has been a 4-H Club member for three years. She says, "I would like 4-H Club because it helps me now and will later, too." Patsy is a song leader of the Thomas. Jr. Club this year. Linda, 13 years old, has been a 4-H'er for three years also. Linda likes the Club because she wants to learn to cook and do other things while she is young.

Patsy and Linda say 4-H Club has helped them in many ways. With two younger brothers to care for they can be a great help to their mother. Ricky is seven and Donnie is six. The girls do all the ironing for the family. They either cook by themselves or help their mother cook every day.

These two girls are doing good 4-H work and we know they will continue striving to Make The Best Better.

Christine Clark, 13 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Clark, Clanton, Ala., Rt. 2, enjoys her 4H Club work not only for the knowledge she gains, but the social aspect too. Christine says, "I joined the 4-H Club because I wanted to work with my friends and to learn all I can while I'm young."

Christine is in the seventh grade at Thomas Jr. school and has been a 4-H member there for four years. This year she is song leader of her Club.

Now Christine is busy with her a lot of work and has a lot of recording. Her projects this year are records of her projects. She does cooking and sewing. Christine says sewing is her favorite. She does quite a bit of sewing, making her school clothes, mending and helping her mother quilt. Not only does she help her mother quilt, she also has found time to work on a quilt of her own. Mrs. Clark says Christine is a big help to her in all the work at home.

Christine's cooking record shows she does a lot of work on that too. She especially enjoys cooking cakes and cookies and candies.

Christine is truly a hard working 4-H'er.

"To make the best better" is my motto." Helen Glenn has chosen the 4-H Club motto as her own because she is striving to do just that—make her best better.

Helen is 14 years old and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Glenn, Clanton, Rt. 2. Helen has been a 4-H'er for four years and vice-pres. of Thomas Jr. Club for two years. This year her projects are cooking and oom improvement Helen enjoys both her projects. A lot of the household responsibility was given to Helen when her younger brother was sick and with what she learned at home and in the 4-H Club she was a great help to her mother. Helen says, "I like 4-H Club because it will help me in the future as it has already helped me. I hope to do more in the future than I have done in the past, and to make the best better."

A&P Cuts Coffee Prices Still Lower

A&P Food Stores, the nation's largest coffee distributor, today cut coffee prices up to 12 cents a pound on all four of its own brands.

The price slashes, to go into effect in A&P stores throughout the country immediately, brought premium quality coffee prices to the lowest levels in almost two years, and represented reductions of as much as 40 cents a pound from the highs of August, 1954.

The drastic reductions—first to be announced by a national distributor of premium coffees since Saturday's break in the South American Green Coffee market—brought Eight O'Clock coffee down to 79 cents a pound, Red Circle to 83 cents and Bokar to 85 cents. Prices of the thhree pound bags will ed Coffee was reduced to an all be 2 cents a pound lower.

In addition, A&P Vacuum Packtime low of 89 cents a pound.

National FFA Week Observed Feb. 19-26

During the week of February 19-26, 370,000 farm youths in Ala. the rest of the United States, Hawaii and Puerto Rico will observe "National Future Farmers of America Week. This will be the 27th anniversary of this national organization for boys who are studying vocational agriculture in our public high schools.

J. C. Cannon, state FFA adviser, explained that the purpose of FFA Week is to focus attention on the work of the Future Farmers of America of today who will be the successful farmers of tomorrow. These boys are receiving experience and training now, so that as young adults they will be firmly established in a farming program that promises a good future.

Alabama FFA Association executive secretary T. L. Faulkner, Auburn, says that the 12,670 Alabama Future Farmers in 255 chapters are planning extensive special programs to celebrate the founding of the largest farm youth organization in the world. Some of these activities will be: parent night banquets, radio broadcasts, special chapel programs, programs at civic clubs, and special displays in merchant windows.

Each year, "National FFA Week" is held during the week of George Washington's birthday because FFA members regard America's 1st President as America's first scientific farmer. Contour planting, crop rotation and other soil conservation measures used at Mt. Vernon were not used generally until more than 100 years after Washington's death.

Future Farmers of America must be vocational agriculture students in high school, although they are permitted to retain membership for three years immediately after graduation. This Vo-Ag and FFA combination is the most effective yet developed for training boys to become good farmers.

The purposes of the FFA are to: broaden the Agricultural Program by providing opportunities for the development of leadership abilities, learn the essentials of cooperative endeavor, contribute to the welfare of the school and community, and develop other characteristics necessary for good rural citizenship.

The teacher who instructs these boys is an agriculture college graduate with much practical farming experience. He is employed on a 12 month basis. Each student, in addition to his classroom activities, must carry out a supervised farming program on his home farm and actually put into practice the theory learned in the classroom. The vo-ag teacher makes frequent visits to the student's farm to supervise these projects which are designed to be profitable for the student while they increase his knowledge.

Around OUR HOUSE

by Kathryn Tucker Windham

The Brownie Troop of which the eight-year-old is a member had an exciting outing recently: they boarded a train and rode 20 miles to a roadside park where they had a picnic.

It was the first train ride for some of the little girls, and it was a Big Event for all of them. Railroad officials reported that all records for water consumption were broken during the short ride, and the constant swapping of seats made it appear a game of "Fruit Basket Turn Over" was in progress.

As a special treat for him, the five-year-old was invited to go along, one lone boy with all the Brownies.

A group of mothers drove their cars to the picnic grounds to bring the travelers home. One mother drove a station wagon to the scene. All the youngsters wanted to ride home in the station wagon, and all of them did.

"It was fun," the five-year-old reported. "But it was mighty crowded. There were feet everywhere. I never knew before that girls had so many feet."

The clothes the Brownies wore on that outing got very dirty (as did the Brownies themselves), and some of the mothers had real problems getting them clean again. Made me wish they all knew the neighbor down the street, the one with the big family, who is an authority on washing and ironingg.

When I stopped by to see her the other morning, and a cold morning it was, she was out in the back yard hanging clothes on the line to dry. Do you know what she had in the bag with her clothes pins? A hot water bottle!

"You've no idea how nice it is to warm your fingers while you're hanging up clothes on a Winter day," she laughed. "I keep my hot water bottle right with my other laundry equipment from October through April, wouldn't think of being without it."

In her pocket, this neighbor had several marbles she had borrowed from her young son's supply. As she hung her nylon hose on the line, she dropped a couple of marbles down in the toe of each stocking.

"The marbles keep the stockings from blowing and snagging while they're on the line," she explained.

Then there was that broken phonograph record on her ironing board. It really had me puzzled.

"Oh, that," she said. "Nearly everybody asks about it. That old record is the best thing I've found for smoothing an iron that sticks When my iron misbehaves, I rub it over the surfafce of the record and it irons smoothly again.

"Of course, I have to be sure the iron isn't too hot or I'd really have a mess!"

But among the strangest things this neighbor uses to lighten her laundry is a clean fly swatter—she uses it to sprinkle her clothes!

On laundry days, this neighbor often prepares a quick and good noontime meal by mixing a can of deviled ham with a can of baked beans, heating in a heavy skillet and serving with rye bread and green salad.

Gardens Ready For Some Spring Plants During This Month

Some vegetables, like some folks, don't like hot weather.

This reminder comes from John Bagby, API Extension horticulturist, who explained today that cabbage, lettuce, broccoli, and their kin have a tendency to go to seed when the weater gets hot.

Cabbage and onion plants should be set the latter part of February in North Alabama, said the specialist. They should already be planted in southern counties: Lettuce, beets, carrots, and radishes should also be planted during this month.

Another gardening job on the calendar right now is the starting of tomato, pepper, and eggplant seeds. Put them in a hot bed or plant box, Bagby advised, so the plants will be ready for setting in the open after danger of frost.

A good practice for hog producers is to farrow a gilt's first litter during the desired month, then manage gilts saved from the first litter so that they will farrow the same month a year later.

Under favorable conditions, some ponds have been found to yield sufficient water to irrigate three acres for each surface acre of the pond.

Social Security Law Revisions Help More

An important provision of the new Social Security Law makes it possible for some survivors of deceased workers who were not eligible to collect benefits under the old law to rceive them now, according to J. W. Overstreet, Jr., District Manager of the Social Security Administration. Under this new provision any worker who died after June 1940 and before September 1950 is considered to have died fully insured, provided he had at least a year and a half credit in employment covered under Social Security.

Mr. Overstreet explained that a surviving child, an unremarried widow of any age with a young child of the wage earner's in her care an unremarried widow over 65 o an aged dependent parent may become entitled to monthly benefits. Such survivors of workers who who died before September 1950 and who were not eligible for Social Security benefits before, may now be eligible. This is true even though application was not made earlier, or application was filed and disallowed.

Mr. Overstreet urges all survivors who think they are eligible to inquire now. Dependent parents have until September 1956 under the new law to prove dependency on a deceased child who may be deemed to hav died insured. No lump sum payments may be made under this special provision.

Unless application is filed, an eligible survivor may not collect benefits. Application may be made at the Birmingham Social Security Office, 1825 First Avenue, North, Monday through Friday.

Mr. Overstreet emphasized that workers who died without having worked under Social Security at least a year and a half would not be considered insured and survivors would not be eligible for benefits.

Honey and syrup may be used as sugar stretchers in canning jams, marmalades, or pickles.

In Memorium

At 9:30 P.M. on the eve of his 76th birthday, God in his infinite mercy and wisdom saw fit to call from this earth of sorrow and trouble, Mr. Norwood Johnson, Sr.

Sometime in life God calls to al.; and leads us to rest so gently that we go, scarcely knowing if we wish to go or stay, being too full of sleep to realize how He who gave knows best when to take away.

Deceased was born January 30, 1879, near Prattville, Alabama and has been a resident of Thorsby, Ala. since 1923. He was a faithful member and Deacon of Thorsby Baptist Church until bad health a few years ago made it difficult for him to attend as regularly as in his youth.

His burden was cumbersome. But he braced himself to better bear its weight, the load was heavy. His joy was that you could not see his burden. You could see shadwos in his eyes and lines in his face that had been etched by anxious thoughts regarding strength to carry the burden. You could hear caught-back tears in his voice in moments of stress when the burden had drained him of gladness but you could not see the burden. God said to him on January 29, You have carried your burden, whatever it may be, too long. Let me carry it for you. And with one loving gesture God took his hand and received all his burdens. Grandaddy is living with God because of a well invested life. All of his journeying perils have past he has reached his home and rest at last.

It was hard to give him up, but we sorrow not as no hope, for in our Father's house are many mansions, and we feel that his going will make heaven more desirable for us all. Our loss is Heaven's gain.

Beyond the clouds in Heaven above, He is happy, for all is love for his pains and sorrows have passed away. Where darkness has turned to eternal day.

Meeting At API On Tap For State Seedsmen Monday

Auburn, Ala.—Plans for the Alabama Crop Improvement Association's annual meeting, which will be held here next Monday, have been announced by association officials. Clare R. Porter of Lincoln, Neb., president of the International Crop Improvement Association, will be featured speaker during the day-long session.

These plans were told today by Ralph R. Jones, API Exten. seed crops marketing specialist, who said a banquet Monday night will follow the meeting. Some of the seed producers will stay over until Tuesday morning for a tour of the agronomy farm, Auburn, and the plant breeding unit, Tallassee.

The guest speaker, Jones reported, is a University of Nebraska faculty member and secretary-manager of the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association. He is serving his second term as president of the International association.

On the program, along with Porter, will be Tom Sharmon, superintendent of the API foundation seed stocks farm; Jack Butler, president of the Alabama Seedsmen's Association; Henry S. Ward, API botany professor; Louis N. Wise, director of the regional research laboratory, Mississippi State College; A. W. Todd, Alabama commissioner of agriculture; J. C. Lowery, Extension agronomist, and F. S. McCain, API plant breeder. A panel disucssion on the growing and processing of certified seed will be conducted by ACIA members C. P. Storrs, Wetumpka; Henry Jackson, Opelika; John Lowery, Pittsvies; Jack Wadsworth, Prattville, and Earl Solomon, Belle Mina. H. Owen Murphree, Jr., of Prattville, ACIA head, will preside at the meeting, and the invocation will be offered by Joel D. McDavid, pastor of Auburn Methodist Church

The banquet will be held at Magnolia Hall on the API campus. Its entertainment bill of fare, according to ACIA vice president Jimmy Henderson of Miller's Ferry, will include an address by Editor Earl Tucker of the Thomasville Times. W. A. Womack of Ashford will act as toastmaster.

CHILEAN NITRATE of SODA is the world's only NATURAL NITRATE FERTILIZER

NATURAL as the crops in your fields, Chilean Nitrate is the only natural nitrate. Guaranteed 42 per cent plant food.

★ Richest of plant foods, Chilean's many extra values make it one of the most efficient and economical nitrogen fertilizers.

★ Chilean's nitrogen content is 100 per cent nitrate. Ideal for top-dressing and side-dressing. Free flowing, spreads evenly and smoothly.

★ Chilean needs only moisture from the air to dissolve—no waiting for rain—fast, effective action.

★ Every ton of Chilean contains sodium equivalent to 650 pounds of commercial limestone—an acid-destroying agent. The more Chilean you use, the greater its acid-destroying value.

★ Sodium supplements potash—when necessary, substitutes for it—reduces leaching losses of potash, calcium, magnesium—releases unavailable potash in the soil.

★ Sodium increases availability of phosphate in the soil and improves efficiency of applied phosphate.

★ Chilean is rich in small quantities of minor elements necessary for healthy vigorous growth—it's the only natural combination of 100 per cent nitrate nitrogen, sodium and minor elements.

Simultaneous Revivals-
Thirty Churches Join Giant Baptist Crusade

Thirty of the forty-five churches in the Chilton-Unity Association are now definitely a part of the great crusade, and we believe that others will yet come in and be a part of the soul winning effort in this campaign.

The interest and cooperation has simply been wonderful especially among the pastors. The writer has received several phone calls since we began preparing this article for the press. Among them was Rev. Foster Bean of Bell Lane Baptist church who called to say that his church was sending in an offering to Mr. Duffy to assist in defraying advertising expense for the revival crusade. He further stated that if there was any more information needed from his church concerning plans for the revival, or anything that he could be or do in any way that he and his church was ready. I would like to go on to mention other who have made the same efforts in this gigantic undertaking but space will not allow it.

Now folks, that's what I an talking about. Rev. Bean didn't say that his church was sending a large contribution, but I'll declare unto you, for that young church, it was a very worthy offering.

Well, the finances are being cared for gradually under the leadership of our Chairman of Finance, Rev. R. W. Stuckey. Several churches have responded in a nice way.

We have, I think, most of the needed information for that great week of advertising from the various churches participating. Next week is the big week. If any changes have been made in your plans in any way in your church, please let me have it. And, if your church wishes to get into the crusade, let me know and I will go the second mile, but you will have to go the first one. If your church decides to get into the crusade this coming Sunday, let me know early Monday morning and I will assure you that we can take care of the matter This is hoping that you will.

A full page will be carried in each of the county papers next week here and also a thirty minute broadcast over WKLF from 8:15 to 8:45 a.m. A different speaker will be in charge each day. Do not forget, this is next week.

Come to the youth Rally at New Salem this Saturday night.

One of the outstanding features and highlights of the great Evangelistic simultaneous Revival Crusade is the School of Evangelism which will be directed by Rev. E. L. Smothers, pastor of the First Baptist church at Athens, Ala. The services will be held at the First Baptist church, Clanton, Monday thru Friday March 7th thru 11th. Held from 10:00 until 11:30 a.m. Rev. Smothers is the Evangelist for the revival with Rev. Brookshire at Libert Hill during the week mentioned above. Since the morning services that will be held among the churches during the Crusade will be at an earlier hour there will be no conflict in the great inspirational and informative services directed by Rev. Smothers.

It is sincerely hoped that all pastors, Sunday School Supt. Deacons, Training Union Dir., WMU Workers, Lay members and all will avail themselves of the privilege of attending these five services You will be inspired and will return back to your church with greater enthusiasm because of the great fellowship and inspiration of the hour. Even if your revival is not in progress during that week, you will receive blessings to carry back to your people.

We have spent the most of our ministry and chirstian life here in this county, and we have never seen so much interest among christians in our Baptist churches concerning anything as there has been in regards to the Simultaneous Reviva: Crsuade. And, the beauty and interest of the whole thing is, that the interest is growing. Therefore, we are going to experience great things.

Has your church planned to be a part of the crusade. I do not believe that there is a Baptist church anywhere that does not have a "key person" in its membership somewhere that could stir enough interest in the body that would give them a keen desire to become a part of the greatest Evanglistic Crusade that has ever been waged in all history. Pray for and about it, preach about it, get the old song book and sing "Marching to Zion." Tell your people that you do not want your church to be left out. You will get results if you will not give up.

Finally Talked Herself Out

A certain talkative young lady almost spent a night locked in "Doc" White's drugstore.

She entered Doc's store about 11 PM, going directly to the pay phone. At eleven-thirty Doc went home—not having seen a customer for a half hour. Around midnight he got a call from the store . . . she had finally run out of conversation (and money) and found the front door locked tight.

Doc vowed he'd leave her there to teach her a lesson. But Mrs. W. spoke up: "Now you go turn her loose. It's hard to cut a good conversation short — something only a woman understands!"

From where I sit, however, plenty of men are as hard to pry away from a telephone as any female. Some people are just naturally long-winded, while others are the silent type — just as some of us like coffee and others prefer a glass of beer. The important thing is to be considerate . . . before friends start giving us the "busy signal."

Folks and Things ABOUT TOWN

• —By Ben

The play at the Wadesonian theatre last Monday night certainly pointed out the crying need in Clanton for an auditorium. The house was literally packed and many, many, had to be turned away at the door. Why the powers-that-be can't see this and get behind a project so needed and worthwhile we cannot understand.

We finally got to meet Mrs. G. H. Bell of Columbus, Ga. she is the mother of Jimmy Bell and was here this week visiting. We have wanted to meet Mrs. Bell for a long time but it just seemed our paths would never cross. Anyway, she's a very charming lady and the pleasure was all ours.

A little boy attending his first wedding asked his mother why the bride wore white. "Oh," answered the mother, "that stands for purity and joy." "Well then," asked the boy "why does the groom wear black."

Sheriff Payton wants violators to know that a driver can be arrested and his automobile confiscated whether he has five gallons of whisky or whether he has a half-pint. It seems that some of the parties that have been arrested by Sheriff Payton and his deputies are trying to argue the point that they are not subject to arrest unless they have five-gallons of whisky. Sheriff Payton says that the law has been replaced by a new law that puts no limit on the violation. So you violators remember, you can be arrested with a cup full or a barrel full—it makes no difference in the eyes of the law. The Sheriff says the best thing to do is to keep it out of your automobile. Enn he ain't just kidding.

Mrs. Herbert Klinner who is president of the Chilton County High School Parent-Teachers Association asked us to do her a favor. She wants us to thank all the ladies and gentlemen who worked so hard to make the Womanless Wedding, that was presented at the Wadesonian Theatre Monday night, the great success that it was. To all the performers, the directors, the assistants in every department and the teachers and school children, Mrs. Klinner in behalf of the Parent-Teachers Association wishes to extend sincere thanks. It was a job well done by everyone.

Now for a few orchids on our own. It would be absolutely impossible to pick any one of the men who performed as the best but we can do this. We can give them an orchid and let them divide it among them. We honestly think that any one performance stood out as well as another and they all did a marvelous job. The proverbial hat is off to them all.

A farmer took his new hunting dog out for a "trial." He soon shot a duck and the dog walked out on the water, retrieved the duck, and walked back to shore. The farmer rubbed his eyes in amazement. He tried again with the same results. This was just too good to keep so he invited a neighbor to go out hunting with him the next morning. True to form, when either of the men shot a duck the dog would walk out on the water and bring the duck back. Finally the farmer asked his neighbor: "Don't you see anything unusual about this dog?" "Sure," his neighbor answered: "he can't swim."

Probate Judge M. D. Tingle has an anniversary coming up this week which revives memories not so pleasant. On Feb. 24, 1944, just eleven years ago he was shot down over Germany. After that time he spent a year in a German prison camp under extremely trying circumstances since he was badly wounded and still suffers at times from results of this injury. As the Judge says: "A lot of water has passed over the dam since that day."

WMS Rally At Liberty Hill, 24th

The ladies of the Chilton Unity W.M.S. will have a special rally at the Libertl Hill Baptist church on Feb. 24th at 7 p.m. The inspirational speaker will be Rev. L. D. Brookshire, a great preacher and servant of God. All members of the W.M.S. are urged to attend and to bring their husbands and children. We would like to have every member of the family to attend this rally in preparation for the Simultaneous Evangelistic Crusade.

Red Cross To Kick-Off Fund Raising Campaign March 1st

A kick-off meeting will be held in the Dixie Cafe private dining room in Clanton on March 1st at 8:30 a.m. It marks the beginning of Red Cross 1955 Fund Campaign. All campaign workers are urged to be present. The guest speaker for this occasion will be Mr. Maurice Reddy, Washington, D. C. who is a former assistant National Director of Disaster Services for American National Red Cross. Mr. Reddy is well informed regarding Red Cross services and an interesting speaker. We are fortunate in being able to obtain his services at this time.

2500 Gallon Still Destroyed Saturday

The Law Enforcement officers destroyed a 2500 gallon still last week near the Steel Bridge. According to Sheriff Odell Payton the still was hot when discovered and ready for action. No one was near, so no arrests were made.

Alabama Mills Entertains Seniors

Seventy-five members of the Senior Class of Chilton County High School were entertained by Alabama Mills Tuesday. The class was taken on a tour of the mill here and shown how cloth was made from the raw product to the finished material. Refreshments were served the Alabama Mills guests during the tour which started at 10 o'clock.

At noon the guests met in the basement of the First Methodist Church where they were served luncheon by the Circles of the W.S.C.S. Bob Argo, public relations man from the Birmingham office, presided and introduced Sidney G. Holder who made a talk on "True Americanism".

Mr. Paul Redmond, Jr., was introduced and presented Richard Easterling, president of the Class a new American flag for the school. Easterling led the group in the pledge of allegiance to the flag. Each member of the class wore a small American flag on his lapel and the ladies of the church followed the Washington Birthday motif in their decorations.

This is the sixth annual entertainment of the Seniors by Ala. Mills.

Subjects Announced For Methodist

Rev. M. K. Vickers announced this week that next Sunday his sermon series on "What Methodists Believe In Ebangeiism", and at the evening hour the subject will be "We Believe In A Neat World".

A fellowship hour is held in th basement of the church immediately after the service every Sunday night. A cordial invitation is extended to those who wish to attend the service and the fellowship hour.

School Report Of March Of Dimes

Complete returns from the school portion of the 1955 March of Dimes show that 25 of 26 schools in the public school system of Chilton County took part in that drive. The principals, teachers and students of these 25 schools are to be commended for the interest they have shown and they are the ones responsible for our schools contributing a total of $818.54 to the 1955 March of Dimes.

Following is a list of participating schools and the amounts that they contributed; remember now, some of these schools are very small and it is amazing that they were able to join in this drive as they did.

Cooper Jr. School gave $7.11. Stanton Jr. School gave 12.22. Clanton Elementary gave 180.66. Pinedale School gave 4.30. Concord School gave 7.10. Riderville gave 8.35. Jemison High and Elem gave 94.88. Verbena Colored gave 17.35. Enterprise gave 54.06. Lomax Colored gave 10.55. Isabella High & Elemen. gave 80.24. Verbena High and Elemen. gave 27.10. Clanton Colored gave 51.22. Mt. Pleasant gave 21.74. Maplesville Colored gave 8.95. Vermont gave 6.90. County Training School gave 50.45. Mineral Springs gave 5.14. Chilton Co. High School gave 64.94. Collins Chapel gave 11.65. Jemison Colored gave 27.09. Maplesville High and Elemen. gave 26.54. New Convert gave 4.16. Thomas Jr. gave 21.10 Thorsby Jr. gave 14.74.

Verbena High and Elementary School suffered the misfortune of having approximately $75.00 of their March of Dimes contribution stolen when their school was broken into. This amount is not included in the total for the schools.

Big Things At Mt. Pleasant Tomorrow Night

The festivities at Mt. Pleasant School begin Friday, Feb. 25th with a hot dog supper at 5:30 p.m. This will be followed by a Tom Thumb wedding, Negro Wedding, and Three skits which begin at 7 o'clock.

The public is cordially invited.

Wyatt Appointed To Local Office

Mr. James T. Lunsford, State Director of the Farmers Home Administration, announced today the appointment of Mr. John R. Wyatt as Assistant County Supervisor of Chilton County.

Mr. Wyatt was born and reared on a farm in Crenshaw County. He served with the army during 1944, 1945 and 1946. He attended the Alabama Polytechnic Institute and received his degree in Agriculture in 1953. He has been teaching Vocational Agriculture at the Pleasant Home High School in Andalusia.

County FHA Girls Make Big Plans For Rally Day

Another New Year has started off with a bang for the Chilton County 4-H girls. Twenty-two 4 H Clubs met in January with a total attendance of 763 girls.

Some cause for excitement in the Clubs is the fact that big day-Rally Day-isn't far away. The girls are already busy planning for their Dress, Skirt and Apron Revues. Their Club Revues will be held at their regular scheduled meetings in March. At this meeting, the winners of the three Revues will be selected to compete at the rally for the county winners.

The demonstration in 4-H Clubs this month was "Laying A Pattern". Many of the girls had never used a pattern before, so emphasis was put on selecting a pattern and studying it carefully before cutting the material. Then steps were shown on how to lay the pattern correctly on the material. We hope this information will be put to good use, particularly by those girls planning to enter one of the revues.

In the February meeting of the Girls 4-H Clubs the demonstration will be "Making Cornmeal Muffins.

Experts say a cross between purebred meat-type boar of one breed and a purebred meat-type sow of another will produce strong, trifty pigs.

Revival Begins At The First Baptist Next Sunday

Rev. Wayne Dehoney

The First Baptist Church Revival meeting is one of the first of the Chilton-Unity Association's Simultaneous Revival Crusade Meetings. For their meeting Dr. Hutchinson, the pastor, has secured Rev. Wayne Dehoney as the evangelist and Rev. W. F. Wagner as the song leader.

Rev. Dehoney is a member of the Alabama Baptist Convention Executive Committee and has been pastor of Central Park Baptist Church, Birmingham since June 15, 1950. During this less than five years period, 1825 new church members have been received, Sunday School attendance has increased from 971 to 1700 and the training Union average attendance has increased from 300 to 600. This shows how the Lord can bless his work.

Rev. W. F. Wagner is pastor of the First Baptist Church of Columbia, Ala. He was here for the Fall Revival and his work was most acceptable. He is being brought back to be the song leader in the present revival because of popular demand. Bro. Wagner brings a gospel musical program and will work with the Juniors and other groups in the church during the Revival meeting.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend the Revival Meeting at the First Baptist Church of Clanton at 7 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. from Feb 27 to March 6.

Ellis Burgess Named Farmer Of Year By Jemison FFA

Ellis Burgess has been selected Future Farmer of the year by members of the Jemison FFA chapter. He was selected because of his outstanding accomplishments as a member of his local FFA chapter. Ellis has served two years as pres of his chapter and one year as county FFA president.

In addition to his school activities, Ellis has carried out a very good farming program according to L. C. Shields, his local FFA adviser and vocational teacher. Some of his projects last year were:

18 acres of corn, 1 brood sow, 1 acre of blackberries, 2 acres of sweet potatoes and 1 acre of oats. This year he blans to expand his program even further. He plans to make application for the State Farmer Degree this summer and will be a candidate for a state FFA office. Ellis is the son of Mr and Mrs. Hoyt Burgess of Collins Chapel.

Womanless Wedding Makes Big Hit

The Womanless Wedding that was presented Monday night by the Chilton County High School Parent Teachers Association played to a packed house. Not a vacant seat was to be found in the house and many had to be turned away at the door for lack of seats. There is a possibility that there will be another presentation of the show if the demand is great enough.

Those who made the show possible but have had no recognition for their efforts are:

Script, Mrs. Sarah Palmer and Miss Marguerite Perry.

Directing, Mrs. Reese Mullins and Mrs. Sarah Palmer.

Publicity, Mrs. Clarence Cox.

Casting, Mrs. C. C. Craig and Miss Marguerite Perry.

Costumes, Mrs. Joe Campbell, Mrs. Clifford Traywick, Mrs. Ed Propst, Mrs. Ed Mullins, Mrs. Meahan and Mrs. J. Gilbert Hutchinson.

Music, Mrs. Percy Pitts and Mrs. Marion Wood.

Staging and Prop Committee, Mrs. Hollis Jackson, Miss Elizabeth Barton, Mrs. M. C. Hayes, Mr. Eddie Waters and Mr. Leo Thompson.

Tickets and Program, Mrs. Ben Tucker and Mrs. Referee Lineberry.

Mrs. W. H. Klinner, President of the Parent-Teachers Association stated: "Especially do I want to express my appreciation in behalf of the P-T.A and sincerest thanks to all who took part in any way to help our project be the wonderful success that it was."

Woodman Circle Meets Tonight

Curtis Bice Hurt In Auto Accident

Reports reached Clanton Tues. morning that Curtis Bice, son of Will Bice, was seriously injured in an automobile accident n Birmingham early Tuesday. Details of the accident were not obtainable at presstime but members of the family here stated that the parents of Bice were at his bedside and his condition was serious. He is at the TCI hospital.

CCHS Seniors To Present Play March 15th

On Tuesday, March 15, the Sr. III class of Chilton County High School will present it's annual play. This year's play is "One for The Money" and will be presented at the Old Wadesonian Theatre.

The cast consists of the following: Mrs. Allie Prescott, Charlotte Wilder; Helen Prescott, Ann Spicer; Barbara Prescott, Janice Young; Randy Prescott, Norman Glasscock; Drusilla Baird, Barbara Crockett; Prof. Alonzo Q. Pipps Curtis Baker; Bill Ethridge, Obra Wilson; Mrs. Adelaide Cooch, Julie Sheppard; Miss Exie Watkins, Mary Lou Greene; Janie King, Myrna Crew; Morton Grant Buddy Reeves; Darthula Matson, Martha Bell; Sam McDougal, Charles Payton; Officer Phillips, Edward Billingsley.

The play is a hilarious riot. Come out and see it.

Church Services At Trinity Episcopal

Rt. Rev. George M. Murray, Suffragan Bishop of Alabama, will celebrate Holy Communion and administer Confirmation, Sunday February 27th at 4 p.m.

The public is cordially invited.

ACS Stresses Public Education On Cancer Facts

What we are trying to do as a unit of the Alabama Division of the American Cancer Society in Chilton County is:

TO SAVE LIVES by creating and sustaining a public attitude toward cancer that will make people go to their doctors for proper treatment before it is too late

This, basically, is the final objective of any American Cancer Society Public Educational Program, national, state or local. Any amount of literature can be supplied upon request to Mrs. Hugh Jones, County Commander.

Ours is a problem of motivating individuals to act in their own behalf, and until science gives us the means to prevent or cure all cancer, we must carry on a continuous year-in and year-out, nation wide, educational program. Every citizen in every community must be kept constantly aware of the threat of cancer, and what he as an individual can do about it.

Make everyone in every community aware that:

Cancer can strike anyone. No one is immune. If the present trend continues, cancer will strike one in every five of us at some time during our lives.

Most cancers can be cured, but only if treated in time.

Twice as many lives could be saved every year if people would go to their doctors before it is too late.

Jim Taylor Initiated Into Fraternity

Jim Taylor was one of the pledge class that was initiated into the Beta Theta chapter of the Sigma Nu fraternity at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute recently. The pledges were initiated at a formal ceremony held at the chapter house.

★ Something new is being added to the grocery shelves of your Chilton County grocery stores this week. Jams and jelies from Chilton County berries, made by new processes for retention of natural flavors, is the brand-new Chilton County product that is appearing on grocery counters throughout the county this week.

The new jams and jellies are a result of a cooperative project being supported by Chilton County blackberry growers, the Chilton County Chamber of Commerce, and the Agricultural Experiment Station of Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Alabama Polytechnic Institute's Department of Horticulture research officials have developed new and superior processes for manufacturing jams and jellies to retain natural fruit and/or berry flavors. Local berry growers have supplied approximately 17,000 pounds of locally grown blackberries. The berries are being processed in the experimental laboratory at Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, Ala. A Chilton County Chamber of Commerce group is aiding in financing the production of the jams and jellies.

In addition to local Chilton County sales of this new food item, a detailed sales and consumer acceptance test of this new product is being conducted in Montgomery County. The consumer acceptance test is being conducted by Alabama Polytechnic Institute's Department of Agricultural Economics.

Accepting the assumption that all tests continue to show favorable reports, the local Chamber of Commerce group plans to develop a Chilton County manufacturing plant that will be designed to use the newly developed processes and will offer an additional market for Chilton County blackberries and other fruits.

Ask your grocery manager for a tumbler of "CHILCO" brand seedless "Blackberry Jam" when you go shopping this week. Try this new Chilton County commercial food item. Let your County Agent, your Berry Grower's Ass'n. officials, or a member of the Chilton County Chamber of Commerce know your reaction to its quality. We feel that a superior product has been developed. Try it and let us know if you can agree that it is a top-notch new food item.

Wanted: More School Rooms

By Howard Boockholdt

One of the most crippling handicaps that a business, factory, or farm can have is the need for more space. This is also true of a school. Few factors are more detrimental to a good school program than a shortage of rooms in which to carry on the program.

Almost as bad as not having the space is to have unsuitable space Hence, a building intended for some other purpose makes a poor substitute for a school building. In Chilton County today we have the following conditions existing in our schools:

10 classrooms are subnormal (too small, poorly arranged, etc.)

5 teachers are teaching in lunchrooms.

4 teachers teach in libraries.

3 teachers are teaching in churches.

2 schools are using the principal's offices for classes.

6 music rooms are undesirable (crowded, small, cold, etc.)

20 classrooms are needed TODAY to relieve obercrowding.

In addition to the classroom situation, other housing facilities are needed. This is shown by the following:

3 schools need new lunchrooms; 3 need extensive alterations.

5 schools of six teachers or more have no auditoriums.

2500 of the 6200 pupils do not have access to desirable auditorium facilities.

3 high schools are without gymnasiums.

16 schools with 1730 pupils are without sanitary toilets.

12 schools with 1161 pupils use coal space heaters.

Here we mention only those apparently essential rooms for a school program. To provide the desirable situation, many more could be mentioned. The situations mentioned here are not imaginary, nor even "stretched", but real, genuine present-day Chilton County situations.

Whose problem is this? Who is going to solve it? This situation is not confined to Chilton County Neither is it confined to the State of Alabama but our state presents one of the worst in the Nation.

HONORING FUTURE FARMERS—

This week of February 19-26 belongs to a group of farm youths in the United States, Hawaii and Puerto Rico. It is "National FFA Week" and will be celebrated by more than 365,000 Future Farmers of America.

Here in Alabama, 12,670 active members in 255 FFA Chapters in 66 counties will take part in the festivities. Each chapter has made plans for some special activities. Plans have been made for special radio programs, chapel programs, banquets, and other socials, and many newspapers are cooperating by putting out special editions or special pages paying tribute to the organization.

FFA is recognized as the world's largest farm youth organization. Since 1929, the FFA membership has grown from 30,000 to more than 365,000. The National organization is patterned closely after the Future Farmers of Virginia because of its high ideals and purposes.

Henry C: Groseclose is called the "Father of FFA". He is credited with having named the organization, written the constitution, bylaws and rituals which were first used by the Future Farmers of Virginia and are now used by the National organization. Groseclose realized the need for such an oranization for farm youths because of his own difficulty in adjusting to college life due to his lack of self-confidence and poise.

The FFA is an intra-curricular activity. It is a definite part of the vocational agriculture curriculum. Among other things FFA members learn how to conduct and participate in group meetings; how to speak in public; how to buy and sell cooperatively; to solve their own problems; finance themselves; and to assume civic responsibility.

The purposes of the FFA are to: broaden the Agricultural Program by providing opportunities for the development of leadership abilities, learn the essentials of cooperative endeavor, contribute to the welfare of the school and community and develop other characteristics necessary for good citizenship.

The organization's motto —"Learning to do, doing to learn; Earning to live, Living to serve".

AND WHO WAS CAIN?—

The following editorial is in the interest of National Brotherhood Week—February 20-27.

By Carl M. Saunders

Editor, Jackson (Mich.) Citizen-Patriot

In Southern Michigan prison, which is just over Cooper St. hill from my office, are hundreds of men who bear the Mark of Cain.

And who was Cain? The man whose crime is the first recorded in the Bible, the murder of his brother.

But outside of that great prison — the largest in the world — are thousands upon thousands of others who share the guilt of Cain in a scarcely lesser sense.

Because it was Cain who asked of the Lord in slurring sarcasm: "Am I my brother's keeper?"

His obvious answer was, "No".

And that is the answer of the thousands who turn their faces against others in a negative response to the question, "Am I my brother's keeper?"

They not only turn against individuals but as well groups and races. They blanket all with the sins of the few in an arrogant intolerance.

And they belong to no single class, sect or race.

They say:

"I was insulted by a Jew. I hate Jews."

"I found a Methodist, who went to church on Sunday, violating his marriage pledge on Tuesday. Methodists are hypocrites."

"I know those Catholics. I used to live next to a Catholic family. They never missed early mass, but they threw their rubbish in my backyard and their kids broke windows in my house. I want nothing to do with the Catholics."

And so it goes among those who bear in a somewhat lesser degree the Mark of Cain — hatred of their brothers.

It is only small men and small women who thus damn millions for the sins of few.

In the big prison, which is so near my desk, are Episcopalians, Catholics, Jews, Negroes, Methodists and Mennonites. Criminals all. But outside in this city, which is close to the prison, are fine, understanding friendly Episcopalians, Catholics, Jews, Negroes, Methodists and Mennonites.

How can any man deny with Cain his kinship and his responsibility for his brothers simply because some among every sect and race are evil?

Living near a prison perhaps is helpful to an understanding of the need of brotherhood. Many—too many—of the more than 6,000 convicts out in Blackman township are there because of hate and intolerance for the frailities of others. And many—too many— might have been saved from imprisonment had someone at the right moment shown the spirit of brotherhood and accepted the responsibility of a positive response to the Scriptural question, "Am I my brother's keeper?'

IT'S MY OPINION

A name is as good or as bad as the owner makes it. You've heard that many times. It applies to our business as well as our personality and sometimes some of us fail to realize the benefits we may derive just from being friendly in our business and acquiring a pleasant greeting and personality.

It has been my experience many times, to deal with employees of establishments who weren't, we felt, doing justice to the position entrusted to them. Most owners of businesses, large or small, have, through the years, developed a paying knowledge of how to greet a customer and make him glad he dropped into your establishment.

Some employees on the other hand, have not had the experience or the training of a self-employed individual and are sometimes careless in the conduct merely because they fail to see the advantages to the business and in the long run, to themselves. Ironic as it seems, there are those of us who hurt themselves through unconcern of their responsibilities simply because they're sorry that they aren't a successful self-employed man. Most selfemployed men would tell them right quick that they're better off.

Businesses cannot run forever on a good name established yesterday. If the good name is not petted and pushed today, tomorrow may be the rude awakening to those of us who feel we owe nothing to that which gives us our livlihood.

It can take years to build a reputation for courteous, dependable service and it can be torn down in a fraction of that time by someone with the unconcern not to treat the customer as though he were a customer.

Of course we're all aware of all this, that's why there are no rude clerks or unconcerned ones in our fair city and we get along like peaches and cream. I'm speaking of these other places where the clerk or attendant is just about as concerned over your particular problem as I am about the next planetary flight to the moon. Eagerness to serve is the first rule of waiting on a customer. (In my book, anyway) even if you find you can't help the customer, at least show courtesy and treat him as though what he wanted were important. Selling a man is not what keeps him coming back to your store. . it's satisfying him that does the trick. There are examples of both; you may judge for yourself:

There have been occasions for me being waited on by attendants who felt that they had to wait on every customer in the establishment when he really isn't waiting on anybody properly. Each time you ask anything, he either doesn't hear you or has his head turned the other way when he answers; usually yelling something to someone else Nobody, not a soul, likes to feel that what they want isn't important. A person who acts as though they're doing you a favor by even so much as listening to you is not the customers delight.

Then there's the nice type of fellow who, even though he doesn't have what you want, may suggest where to find it, usually treats your problem like he would his and is concerned, and does not let you leave without some kind of suggestion or remedy or apology for your particular need and problem. That's the fellow who will stick in the customers mind. The other guy is likely to stick in their mind too but which would you ather go back to. It's bad that these folks aren't aware that they're running their customers off, but in their haste, and possibly wish to help everybody, they don't even scratch the surface toward fulfilling their responsibility toward even one customer.

It is not our opinion that selling the customer is the way to make the customers list grow. It is the fact that you have gone out of your way to help them get what they want and seen to it that they went away pelased, even though empty handed. If you are the type who feels he cannot go out of his way to help someone else, you are not the type to meet the public. . especially in someone else's business at someone else's expense.

THE PHILOSOPHER

Cost Of Corn Crib Seed Scares The Thrifty Farmer

Auburn, Ala.—The corn crib may look like a source of cheap seed, but it has proved to be the most expensive place a farmer can go for planting stock of hybrid varieties.

Planting home grown seed of hybrid corn can cost farmers from 15 to 20 percent in reduced yields, said API Extension Seed Crops Marketing Specialist Ralph R. Jones today in commenting on the outlook for spring plantings. Jones reported that two-year tests at 5 places in North Alabama, six places in central Alabama and four places in South Alabama showed that an average 7.7 bushels of corn per acre were lost when second generation seed of Funks G 714 hybrid corn were planted. On the roughly two and a quarter million acres which Alabama farmers plant to corn, at a dollar and a half a bushel, that kind of yield reduction would amount to well over $24 million lost income, Jones pointed out.

The seed crops expert explained that corn crib seed, which are second generation, has lost some of the hybrid vigor that makes first generation hybrids good yielders. Since certified seed are likely to be short this year, Jones recommended that farmers stretch available supplies by using round grades instead of flat grades for planting. Kernel for kernel, round grades will produce the same yields and quality of corn that flat grades will. And the round seed cost about half as much Jones concluded.

Things we -SEE- and Hear

by "Tuck"

They say you're getting old when you feel that the best part of your vacation is getting back home. We're not gettin' old 'cause we surely are looking forward to that one we're not gonna get this year.

Leave it to granddaddy Yeargan to think of something unique that no one else had or would think about. When he came up to see Little Ben the other day he gave him a fifty-cent piece and said, "bet that's the first money he ever got." It was too, and we'll see to it that he has his "first money" for a long time to come.

What's this talk we hear about a bus station going up in Calnton. Fiction or fact, it's one thing we've often wondered about. The biggest stop between Birmingham and Montgomery (or vice-versa) and not an up-to-date bus depot. The one we have, mind you, is most efficiently run, but cannot support adequate facilities such as we need in a town the size of Clanton. It would definitely be a feather in our cap to get a modern bus stop here because tourists would have a much better chance for a much better view of Clanton. Anyway, we could use a little feather in our cap at present.

The joke's on us. The Jaycees are putting on a drawing or sump'n to give away an air conditioner and got some tickets printed with us. By the time the ambitious fellow (Reedie Taylor, the young, or should we say younger one) left the place he had sold enough tickets to ding nigh pay for the printing. Like we said, the joke's on us, but we could manage to laugh a lot harder if we could win that 'are air conditioner.

Acie Mims, of Goodyear fame, is indeed a practical joker. Some of the jokes he pulls aren't the least bit practical, but that's the accepted term anyhow. Other morning early as he was going to work he paused at the front window long enough to let us know we had a flat tire (he even specified which tire), so we took the 'good samaritan" at his word and went to the filling station and asked if they might fix it. When we returned we went to see the damage and someone had either switched cars or blown up the tire 'cause i was in perfect condition. We had to tell Dewey it was all a mistake and that Acie was pulling ou our leg. Don't be surprised Acie if you receive an anonymous phone call next week asking if the new Plymouth that just got sideswiped is your very own. No, we ain't gonna sideswipe it, not on a flat tire anyway.

Here's a joke that's not on us The 'ladies" taking part in the Womanless Wedding that took place Monday night weren't the least bit feminine or dainty. Seems Dave Tingle was supposed to catch Mr. Jimmy Bell when he "fainted" on stage and Mr. David was so engrossed in the script that he dropped his cue (and that ain't all). Needless to say, Mr. Jimmy has been nursing a sore elbow, the results of an untimely dress rehearsal and untimely timing before the real how. We'll bet one thing; that Mr. Jimmy saw to it that there was someone around to prod his "hero" into action when he "daintily" hit for the deck.

We can't live BY mistakes, but we most surely have to live with them. So, make the best of it.

Talking to Mr. Jimmy Bell, Sr. last Sunday and we understand that Jimmy Jr. was within one point of getting on the Dean's list last quarter at API. He's studying electrical engineering. We were almost on the Dean's list one time ourselves. Dean's list? Isn't that the list that the Dean has telling him who he's gonna throw out next quarter. Naw, we weren't on either of them, Jimmy, but we know which is which and congratulations. If that's a list of Dean's, he's come further than we imagined.

We can't stand big wheels who don't mind speaking and talking to you when they are not otherwise occupied, but don't even see you in a crowd or when they're talking to someone whom they feel is a bigger wheel. Get right down to it, we can't stand big wheels. . . period.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

EMERGENCIES—PART I

With accidents occurring every minute in the home, office and street, everyone should have some knowledge of the basic principles of first aid.

In the event of an emergency, a physician should be called at once. Until he arrives, however, there are some fundamental procedures that can be followed to care for accident victims while awaiting a doctor or an ambulance or while transporting injured to the hospital. Good judgment is essential, because it is equally important to know what not to do, but simple knowledge of how to stop bleeding or prevent shock or exposure may save a life.

Certain factors enter into the picture of an accident victim. In an automobile accident, for example the condition of the patient the position in which he is found, the possibility of added injury and the liklihood of exposure to cold or dampness should be the first consideration. The victim should not be moved, unless it is necessary to remove him from new danger. He should lie flat on his back and be kept warm. If vomiting occurs turn the head so that the material will not be drawn into the windpipe.

If there is no serious bleeding or broken bones, attntion should b given to the prevention of shoc which often ocurs in serious accidents. The symptoms of shock are a cold, clammy skin, listlessness general dulling of all sensibility weak and rapid pulse and irregular gasping breath. In shock there i an insufficient supply of blood to the brain and heart. The patien should be placed in a position t encourage the flow of the blood t the brain. Do not put a pillow unde the head of a patient in shock, bu place him on his back with his hea low. Do not attempt to help th patient to sit up.

Keeping the patient warm is essential, using any convenient covering, even newspapers if nothing els is available. Never pour liquid down the throat of an unconsciou person. Aromatic spirit of ammoni soaked in a handkerchief of smelling salts held under the patient' nose may be used. When the victin revives, a scant teaspoonful o aromatic spirits of ammonia in a half glass of water is a safe stimulant in shock. Coffee and tea are also good stimulants, given as hot as possible and a spoonful a a time until about a cup is consumed.

Concordia Lutheran Church—

The service will be held as usual at 3 p.m. and will be conducted by Rev. Dexter Moser of B[illegible]. He will use for his sermon text "Paradox in Christ". We hope that you plan to attend.

A meeting of the members of the Congregation will be held immediately following the service and all members are earnestly requested to be present.

Last Sunday the service was postponed so that members of Concordia church could attend the ground breaking ceremonies of the new Redeemer church in Montg of which pastor J. Russell Boggs is pastor. A group of eleven went from here. They first attended the morning service, were then invited to the home of the pastor and Mrs. Boggs where a bountiful dinner had been prepared especially for them, and then they attended the ground breaking ceremony at 2:30 in the afternoon. It was a beautiful day, a good program had been prepared and all in all it was a most impressive occasion. Those who attended from here were: Mr. and Mrs. Carl Turnquist, Mr. C. R. Foss of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. G. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Petersen, Mrs. Frank Nelson, Miss Alan Lefstead and Mrs. Marie Reagan and Miss Naemi Turnquist.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Foss of Birmingham were visitors here at the home of Mrs. Reagan on Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Irene Petersen and Miss Naemi Turnquist attended the concert of Yma Sumac at the Auditorium in Birmingham on last Fri. evening. Miss Sumac is the noted Peruvian singer and her ability to sing with ease in a range of five octaves was indeed the most remarkable thing ever heard in a singer. It was a treat never to be forgotten.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. G. Rogers attended a dinner at Christ Lutheran church in Birmingham on last Wednesday evening, Feb. 16 at which time the drive for raising funds for Newberry College in South Carolina got under way. The Georgia-Alabama, Florida and Mississippi Synods plan to raise $50,000 for the improvement of buildings at this Lutheran College

All services same except B.T.U. 6:15. Worship service at 7:15.

Baptismal service was held Sun evening at the close of the evening worship service. Messers Charles Riggins, Harold Strickland, Frank Ross were baptized and welcomed into the church family.

Revival services and study course which was voted on has been postponed for the purpose of giving the contractors free access to the auditorium.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Goodgame of Columbus, Ga. spent last Wed. here with the family.

Mrs. Essie Hester of Birmingham spent the week-end here with her sister, Mrs. Jim Collins.

Mrs. Peggy Joyce Ogburn, who is attending school in Auburn, and Miss Ann Noah of Mineral Springs community visited Mr. and Mrs. Archie Ogburn the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hicks of Oneonta, Ala. spent the week-end with Mrs. Hicks and Mr. and Mrs. John Childress.

Mrs. T. E. Baraham visited her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Pew in Birmingham Tuesday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Williams (nee Sarah Ruth Manning) returned to Thorsby Sunday from Arlington, Va. Eugene has been stationed there in service for several months. He received his discharge the 18th.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Robinson and daughter Janice of Miami visited his mother, Mrs. Effie Robinson last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Higgins and daughter Brenda, and baby Michael Henry, and Anne Strength spent Friday and Saturday in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kincaid are the parents of a 6 lb., 14 oz. baby girl, whom they have named Cynthia Lou. She arrived Thurs. Feb. 17th at the Central Ala. hosp.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgel Hayes announce the arrival of a baby boy born Saturday, Feb. 19.

Mrs. V. E. Wyatt was called to Birmingham Saturday due to the illness of his mother, but we are happy to report that Mrs. Wyatt is feeling better. We trust she will soon be up and out again.

For sheer fun out on the road, Chevrolet's stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars!

Up to this year, maybe there were reasons for wanting one of the higher-priced cars. If you demanded something really special in the way of driving fun, you simply had to pay a premium to get it.

Not any more! The Motoramic Chevrolet has changed all that. Who could wish for more excitement than the new 162-h.p. "Turbo-Fire V8" delivers? (For those who do, 180-h.p. is optional at extra cost in all V8 models.) Chevrolet also offers the two highest powered sixes in its field.

Come in and see how the Motoramic Chevrolet is stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars!

ISABELLA NEWS

(MRS. J. H. WELLS)

Mulberry Baptist Church—

These are busy days at the Mulberry Baptist Church. On Sunday night, February 20, a Training Union Study Course was started at the church with visiting teachers from the West End Baptist church. The teachers are Mr. Joe Williams, Teaching the Adult book; Mrs. Billy Dykes, teaching the Intermediate book, and Mrs. M. O. Nelson, teaching the Junior book.

Sunday morning the pastor preached on the subject, "Seekers for Signs". J. T. Williams united with the church on profession of faith. On Sunday night the subject was "If I Were A High School Student."

The FFA boys of the Isabella High School were honored at the Evening Worship service Sunday. The boys sat in a body with their teacher, Mr. Gordon Conway. The FFA quartet sang two numbers, "Rock of Ages" and "In My Father's House."

Another added blessing at the Evening Worship Service was the singing of the Isabella Glee Club under the direction of Miss Truman Stuckey. The Glee Club was accompanied by Miss Stuckey and by Miss Mollye Webster. They sang "Bless This House," "God of Our Fathers," Wither Thou Goest I Will Go," and "Above the Hills of Time."

Next week, February 28 thru March 4, the Mulberry Baptist church WMU will observe the Week of Prayer for Home Missions and the Annie Armstrong Offering. A program of prayer has been planned in a different home each nite. On Mon. night the meeting will be with Mrs. E. C. Lecroy. On Tues. night with Mrs. Gordon Conway. On Wednesday night at the church. On Thursday night with Mrs. Emma Manning and on Friday night at the church. The meetings will be at 6:30 p.m.

Next Wednesday night, March 2, will be family night at the church. All organizations of the WMU and the Brotherhood will meet at this time.

On Thursday night, February 3, the deacons will meet. The time and place of this meeting will be announced at church next Sunday.

The Spring Revival will begin the 2nd Sunday in March. Rev. Howard Golden will be the evangelist.

The R. A.'s will meet with James Olin Conway next Monday night.

Rev. R. W. Stuckey of Samaria Baptist church will teach the Mission book, Through Cuban Windows.

On Thursday night, Feb. 17th Bro. Stuckey taught the book, Under the North Star to a large group of men and women at Mulberry. We welcomed Mrs. Stuckey and four other ladies from Samaria for this study.

The YWA's and our pastor, Rev. Johnson, attended the YWA rally at Chestnut Creek on Thursday night, Feb. 17. They reported a fine time and a good meeting.

WMU Circle Met—

The Ruth Ford circle met with Mrs. W. J. Cummings on Wednesday, Feb. 15th at 6:30 p.m. After the business meeting a program taken from Home Life magazine was given. Refreshments were served to the seven members present.

Mable Woodward circle met with Mrs. Span Jones on Wednesday, February 16. They held their regular business meeting with no new business being transacted. A program on An Able God, was presented. A delicious salad plate was enjoyed during the social hour by the eleven memebrs present. Mrs. Ara Calfee, chairman, presided.

The Laurie Williams circle of Mulberry met with Mrs. T. L. Lecroy on Friday night. The meeting opened with singing. The devotional was given by Mrs. Frances Sexton. After the business session a program taken from the Alabama Baptist was given.

The Jr. G. A.'s met with Judy Jackson on Wednesday, Feb. 16, at 3 p.m. There were eleven members and their counselor, Mrs. Lewis McGee, present. Sally McCraw presided in the absence of the president. The devotional was given by Nancy Carter. Plans are being made to gather clothes for some needy family. The Home Mission book, God In Alaska, was taught by the counselor. All present enjoyed refreshments served by the hostess and her mother.

A letter of dismission was granted to Mrs. Flora Nell Livsey on Sunday morning from Mulberry church. We all wish her much happiness in her church work in Montgomery at Memorial Heights Baptist church.

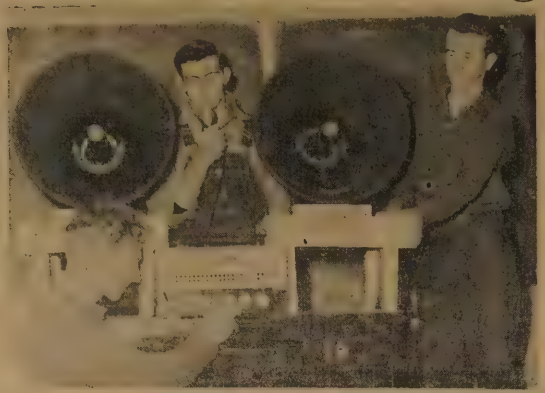
Wedding Anniversary—

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Sexton were honored with a tea on their Golden Wedding anniversary at their home on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 19th, by their children. Fifty guests called during the afternoon. All their children were present, except Mrs. Gladys Lecroy of N. C. Watch next week's paper for a complete write-up about this happy occasion.

They Believe In The Future Of Farming

YOU'RE ON THE AIR—Being on the air waves is no longer a novelty to members of the Verbena FFA Chapter, Since purchasing a recorder they have been busy preparing script and presenting recorded programs over radio station WKLF of Clanton. Boys doing a practice sketch are Jimmy Warren, Chester Yeargan, adviser J. F. Ledbetter, Charles Hudson while members of the class stand by to offer suggestions. (photo courtesy Cen. Ala. El. Co-op.)



NEW PUBLIC ADDRESS SYSTEM—During the recent football season the public address system purchased by the FFA Chapter of Isabella High School was kept busy paying for itself. Not only was it used to announce plays but advertising time was sold to sponsors for five dollars per quarter. When football season was over the P.A. System was used for chapel programs, etc. FFA members shown with the set are, left to right: Raymond Mims, Herbert Billingsley and Lamar Bice. (photo courtesy Central Ala. Electric Cooperative.)

NEW WELDING CLASS—Newest project of the FFA Chapter of the Jemison High School is the recently organized welding class. Boys are taught the fundamentals of welding in order that they may repair their own farm equipment. There are ten charter members of the calss with 20 additional boys receiving instruction in routine class work periods. Boys shown abole learning the fine points of welding from adviser L. G. Shields (right) are, left to right: Johnny Thacker, James Roper and Rodney Benson. (photo courtesy Central Ala. Electric Cooperative.)

FFA SWEETHEART—Miss Dot Mathis is the popular sweetheart of the Maplesville FFA. Above she is shown beinghelped into her sweetheart jacket (a gift of the club) by president Edward Fuqua. The boys not only make the most of the opportunity to honor a popular girl but add to their treasury as well by selling votes. Recent campaign netted $107. We have just closed our study course, and are proud of our attendance. We have three wonderful classes.

Don't forget, our revival will begin March 6th, let's all come praying for a great revival. We invite everyone to come and worship with us. Don't forget prayer meeting every Wednesday night.

Area Shearing School Planned For Sheepmen

Auburn—A method of administering painless "blows" to sheep will be outlined for Alabama farmers at seven schools to be held over the state next month.

Announcing plans for these meetings, API Extension Livestockman W. H. Gregory said today that an improved shearing procedure will be taught at the two-day schools. The method to be used comes from Australia, where shearing strokes are called blows, he explained. The following places and dates have been set for these demonstrations:

Talladega, March 1-2; Tuscaloosa, March 10-11; Moulton, Mar. 15-16; Huntsville March 17-18, Auburn, March 23-24; Livingston, March 28-29, and Montgomery, Mar. 30-31. Each of the schools will be held on a nearby farm where sheep are raised.

Gregory said it is hoped that farmers attending the schools will learn to shear their own flocks more efficiently and that a few sheep owners may become custom shearers who can do the work for other producers. The expert pointed out that interest in sheep production has increased tremendously in Ala. during the last few years. State farmers reported owning 666 flocks at the end of 1954 and nearly 32 thousand lambs went to market at regular sales last spring.

NEW SALEM BAPTIST

Services were well attended Sun. and Sunday night. Rev. Lowery brought a soul stirring message Sunday. It would have stirred the heart of any sinner to have heard the message. Everyone that missed it missed a message of great meaning and truth.

We are happy to say that our church is progressing each day and we thank God for this. We thank God that one soul was saved Sunday and we pray that in the future many souls will see fit to trust God as this one did.

Let's everyone remember our Revival which is to begin the 27th of this month. Our visiting minister will be Rev. Ed Wilkins, pastor of the West End Baptist Church in Clanton. Let us all be much in prayer for this revival that souls will be saved. We extend to everyone a hearty welcome to attend.

Let us all remember our prayer meeting each Wednesday night and help support it.

The Youth Rally was held at our church Saturday night and was well attended. We want to thank everyone who participated.

Keep in mind our revival and pray incessantly that it will be done for the Glory of God.

OAK GROVE

Services at Oak Grove Baptist church were well attended this week-end. Our pastor preached two wonderful sermons. Subject for the morning message was "The Hand Writing On the Wall". For the evening message the subject was "Faith In God". The spirit of God was very real in both services.

We had a good attendance at Sunday School Sunday. The church has begun to build Sunday School rooms. Any one wishing to donate to this cause may do so by contacting the following committee members, Ealon Cobb, Jack Pierce, Perry Burnett or Paul Northcutt.

Our cottage prayer meeting for last week was held at the home of Mrs. Josie Pierce and her son Burl Pierce. The meeting was held Saturday night and a very good service was had.

The first Saturday night in March is the time for our regular monthly singing. Singing will begin at 7:00 p.m. All singers are invited to be with us. We are to have several outstanding singers with us including the "Bammer Boys Quartet".

Take out of the laying flock and sell hens which aren't producing eggs. This culling will help keep feed prices down while egg profits are comparatively low.

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

His many friends were shocked last week by the death of former Congressman Pete Jarman. Apparently in good health, Mr. Jarman had spent more than two hours in my office less than a week before.

As the Congressman from the district formerly represented by Mr. Jarman, I made the following announcement of his death on the floor of the House shortly after we convened last Thursday:

"Mr. Speaker, it is with deep regret that I must announce to the Members of the House of Representatives the death this morning of Hon. Pete Jarman, a former Member of the House from the State of Alabama, and former Ambassador to Australia.. Mr. Jamran served with distinction from 1937 through 1946 the district which I now have the honor to represent. In 1949, he was appointed Ambassador to Australia and diligently performed the duties of that office through 19[illegible] with his passing both Alabama and the Nation have lost an outstanding leader and states man."

Mr. Jarman, a veteran of World War I, was buried with full military honors at Arlington National Cemetery on Monday of this week. The members of Alabama's Congressional Delegation served as honorary pallbearers.

-Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act-

After two days of tense debate and a number of close votes, the House of Representatives, late last Friday passed the Trade Agreements Extension Act of 1955. The measure extends the President's authority to enter into trade agreements with other countries until June, 1958. The present authority is scheduled to expire on June 1 of this year.

Under the provisions of this bill, the President will be permitted to reduce most tariff's 5% in each of the next three years and to cut tariffs on goods imported in negligible amounts by as much as 50% in return for concessions from other countries. At the same time all of the safeguards of the existing Reciprocal Trade law are maintained in this bill, such as the peril point and escape clause procedures.

"There has been and continues to be a great deal of apprehension among the manufacturers of certain products, that the further reduction of tariffs will cause serious damage to their industries, An example i the cotton textile industry. With this in mind, an effort was made to amend H.R. 1 whereby the peril point and escape clause provisions would be made more effective so that the cotton textile industry and other manufacturers faced with a similar problem might be afforde protection. This effort failed by only a few votes.

Shortly before the final vote former Speaker Joe Martin read a letter from President Eisenhower in which the President urged the adoption of H.R. 1 and commente on its administration in the event the bill was enacted into law. The President said, "No American Industry will be placed in jeopardy by the administration of this measure." With this assurance, the House adopted the bill by a vote of 295-110.

-Pay Increase Passes-

Also adopted by the House wa a measure that will increase the salary of Members of Congress. voted against this measure for the reasons stated in my colum last week.

Fire Hazard Greatest In Dry Winter Woods

Auburn—During the next two months greedy tongues of fire will eat up more Alabama woodland area than during any other corresponding period of the year.

This grim reminder comes fron API Extension Forester Ike Martin, who said this week that a number of factors cause the fire hazard to loom especially large during the last part of winter.

Repeated freezes have killed much of the green growth in our woodlands, and the sap has not yet begun to rise. So Alabama forests are actually drier than they were in the fall after the lon drouth. Added to the present tined dry condition of forest growth are the dangers from high spring winds and the usual burning which accompanies land clearing.

The forester urged that farmers take precautions to see that fires they start do not make ashes o entire communities.

Cotton Remains "King" In Alabama

Alabamians are still King Cotton's subjects. Cotton continues t loom so large in our state's farm economy that all of us have a stake in its prosperity.

This reminder comes from O N. Andrews, API Extension cotton improvement specialist, who sai today that cotton is grown on 145,484 farms in the state, 69 percent of all Alabama farms. In 1954, cotton and cottonseed brought growers $143 million and accounted for 38 percent of all farm marketings.

Around OUR HOUSE

by Lathrope Tucker Woodhams

The two year old delights in listening to stories, especially the ones the Head of the House tells. Her almost constant plea is:

"Please tell me a story. Right now."

If she can't get anybody to fill her request (sometimes her big brother, just turned six this week, will oblige her), she gathers up a doll in her arms, settles herself in a rocking chair and tells her own story. This was what she told this morning:

"Once upon a time there was a hygerpoogum. And he liked strawberries. But one day he ate up a little girl. And the little girl's nurse spanked him. The nurse told him not to do that any more. He told the nurse: "I don't like you. You've got spanking hands. I like loving hands." He wasn't a very nice hygerpoogum."

The story ended before I found out whether the hygerpoogum like little girls better than strawberries.

The neighbor down the street, the one with the big family, is an expert story-teller.

"I've had plenty of experience," she says. "There have been demand for stories around our house for about fifteen years."

Teh trick in telling stories to young children, she has learned, is to keep the story very simple and to use the child's own name in the story.

"If your little girl's name is Mary, tell about a child named Mary who went for a walk. Let her meet a variety of animals, and let all the animals make noises. Children love funny noises.

"A story like that can go on and on, keeping a child happy and entertained while you make beds, dust or wash dishes, iron or cook.

"Small children like repetition and they seldom tire of any story. They also like funny rhyming words, particularly the nonsense kind you make up on the spur of the moment. But you'd better remember those words, because the youngsters will want them included the next time the story is told."

On days when the children can't go outside to play, when they want more attention than usual but when essential household tasks must go on, this neighbor has found she can solve the problems by starting a story, getting the main character in a dangerous or a funny situation and then letting one of the children take up the story at that point.

The second story teller carries on the tale until the mother signals time for another child to pick up the story.

"We get som amazing stories that way," this neighbor laughs. "It helps develop the children's imagination (not that it actually needs development), and it gives us hours of fun."

Favorite stories with children of almost all ages, this neighbor agrees, are the "family stories," the kind that only older members of the family can tell.

Children delight in hearing about the time Mother got loose at the school picnic or the time Daddy was punished for taking frogs to school in his pocket or the time the time the horses ran away with Aunt [illegible] the time the geese chased Grandmother. Every family has a store of such tales, and children love to hear them.

After a story telling session, give the whole family a treat by melting some chocolate peppermint wafers and pouring the melted mixture over slices of plain cake. Chopped nuts may be sprinkled over the top, if desired.

Choosing Life Now; Keep Alive Forever

Will Speak To Local American Red Cross Board

Maurice R. Reddy

Maurice R. Reddy of Washington, D. C., assistant national director of Disaster Services for the American National Red Cross until his retirement from the organization in July 1952 is a veteran of more than 30 years of service with that organization. Although he has served the Red Cross in various other capacities, most of his long career has been in disaster relief work. In retirement, Mr. Reddy continues to serve the Red Cross as a volunteer in speaking engagements and special assignments.

A native of Mason City, Iowa and a veteran of World War II, Mr. Reddy began his Red Cross work in 1919 as a Home Service worker in the Chicago Chapter of which he was later appointed executive secretary. After several years of service in the old Central division Mr. Reddy was called to Red Cross national headquarters, where for more than 2 years he has held the position of assistant administrator of Disaster Services.

During this period, Mr. Reddy traveled extensively throughout the United States, the Carribbean, and South and Central America. He has frequently represented the American Red Cross in disaster relief conferences with the presidents of Latin American countries as well as with numerous state governors here. In recent years he has worked on two foreign disasters, both of which made international headlines.

Among the most recent major U. S. disasters in which Mr. Reddy has served are the Texas City explosion and fire and the great 1948 Columbia River flood in the Pacific Northwest.

Mr. Reddy's first disaster relief work with the national organization occurred during a series of catas- Chief among these was the destructive tri-state tornado that swept trophes shortly after World War I. through the midwest in 1925.

After the Florida hurricane of 1926, Mr. Reddy joined the national staff as assistant director of Disaster Preparedness and Relief, in which capacity he directed relief in a series of midwestern floods and tornadoes, and large fires in New England. During the drought relief operations of 1930-31 he supervised field work in Kentucky and Tennessee. The following year he acted in an advisory relief capacity in Cuba.

In the spring of 1936, when severe floods inundated several eastern states, he directed relief in the Pittsburgh area. During the winter flood of 1937, which engulfed large areas in the Ohio basin and affected 1, 500,000 people, Mr. Reddy directed relief operations for the state of Ohio. In 1940 he represented the Red Cross in Greenland.

Mr. Reddy entered Red Cross service following discharge from the Army in World War I. He had previously been engaged in newspaper and social service work. Mr. Reddy is married and lives in Washington.

Keep alive forever? Is that possiblesible? Yes, it is, because God, the Creator of the universe, is loving wise and almighty. He created the earth in the first place so that man might live on it forever, for only if he disobeyed was man to die. Since we are assured that "the earth remains forever," that God created the earth to be inhabited and that his purposes never fail, we must conclude that some day persons on earth will live forever. Eccl 1:4, RS.

So that he might realize his purpose even though man disobeyed God provided his Son as a ransom and purposed a kingdom by means of which the benefits of that ransom can come to humankind. According to Revelation 11:15-18 God"s kingdom began at the time that the nations became angry which history shows to have been 1914. We are therefore living in the days of the establishment o. God's kingdom through which Christ will rule until he has destroyed even the enemy death.

Because of these facts Jehovah God is now saying to those livii on earth: " I have put life and death before you, the blessing and the malediction, and you must choose life in order that you may keep alive, you and your offspring, by loving Jehovah your God, by listening to his voice and by sticking to him." Deut. 30:19, 20, NW.

How do we choose life now? Merely by doing what we think is right, by being sincere? If sincerity were all that is required, then there was no need to give us the Bible, for many, many who have never heard of God and His word are very sincere. But we are plainly told that it takes 'the truth to set us free, and that to gain everlasting life we must keep on 'taking in knowledge of the only true God and of Jesus Christ." John 8:32; 17:3, NW.

So to choose life to keep alive forever we must take time and effort to study God's Word, to become acquainted with him, his attributes, his purposes and his will for us. This should not seem burdensome. We take time and effort to provide for the needed material things to sustain life a few short years, how much more willing should we be to obtain spiritual things that will sustain our lives forever?

However, for this knowledge to give us everlasting life we must act upon it, thereby being like the "discreet man, who built his house upon the rock-mass." And that requires more than merely not harming our neighbor, it means heeding Jesus' counsel to the rich young ruler, it means putting God first in our lives and following the example Jesus set for us. By continuing in that course we are choosing life now to keep alive forever in God's new world where his will will be done on earth as in heaven. Matt. 7:24; 19:16-22, NW.

One for the Books!

Just had a call from Andy, popular owner of the Green Garden Inn. Seems he's been appointed chairman of the Town Library's Emergency Committee.

This is the "emergency." The Library's moving into its new building next week — over on Bridge Street. And moving all those books will cost more than $200. At that rate we won't be able to afford any new editions for a couple of years.

Andy's come up with this solution—have everyone in town borrow at least five books, keep them a week, and return them to the new address!

From where I sit, this looks like one case where the more you borrow the more it's "to your credit." And they've picked a good man as manager. The way Andy's co-operated voluntarily with that Self-Regulation Program the Brewing Industry sponsors — keeping his place sparkling clean and orderly — makes him a natural. He's a co-operation expert in everybody's "book."

We are happy to hear that Mrs. C. Moates is home from the hospital, some what improved. We pray for her a complete recovery.

Prayer services every Wednesday night.

We will hold our business meeting on March 9th. Everyone please be present.

We send congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. J. Green. They are the proud parents of a baby girl, Debra Carol, also to her grand parents, Rev. and Mrs. Lawton Wilson.

The flu has taken its toll in our community. Mrs. G. Melton has been quite ill and is slowly improving. Mrs. C Riggins has been ill with the flu also, and is recovering.

SARDIS NEWS

We had good attendance at preaching services Sunday and Sun night. There are others in our community that we would like to see come to church. You don't know what good services you are missing by not coming. Bro. Jones always has a good message for his congregation. We are proud of the good work he is doing and we are mighty glad to have him as ou pastor.

The W.M.S. ladies are quiltin some quilts to help raise funds to buy curtains for our Sunday Schoo rooms. We hope to have these curtains up in two weeks. Then we are going to work to get some rugs for the church. It's a happy privilege to work together and accomplish these things that we need so badly for our church.

Our revival will begin March and last through the 11th. We urge everyone to pray much for thi revival that much good will be done during the revival. Make a special effort to attend church that week. Bro. Jones will be doing the preaching three nights and Charle Carter two nights.

Play It Safe-

Danger Sign Put On Farm Tractor

Auburn, Ala.—Several million farm tractors now play a vital role in the production and harvesting of the nation's farm crops. Alabama farmers will operate more than 60,000 tractors in planting their fields this spring.

Tractors are establishing great performance records, but in a disturbing number of cases, operators let accidents mar those records. These machines are said to be involved in nearly 75 percent of all accidents with farm equipment.

In making this report, API Extension Farm Machinery Specialist J. T. Galliard had some urgent reminders for farmers who are about to start the busy season with their tractors. He said the basic safety rule for operating tractors calls for plain, common sense.

You can't afford to gamble the loss of life or limb by running without the power take-off shield in place, Galliard explained. And cranking the machine while it is in gear is another dangerous way to start a day's work

Excessive speed, jumping off a tractor while it is in motion, and careless operation around ditches will all hurry a trip to the hospital.

Galliard had a particularly strong reprimand for parents who permit children to ride tractors or to hitch a ride on trailing implements.

Galliard's rules for tractor safety were led by these: (1) Be careful to stay in the clear when coupling implements to your machine. (2) Avoid wearing loose floppy clothes which may became caught in the machinery. (3) Keep the tractor in good mechanical condition. (4) See that everyone is out of the way before starting a tractor. (5) Observe regular traffic laws when operating on public highways, and be sure to give hand signals before turning or stopping. (6) Use lights for night operations.

Brilliant New Styling-Blazing New Power
*at everybody's price

The 1955 Pontiac is evidence that price is no longer a factor in making the step to fine-car luxury and performance.

Every new Pontiac you see emphasizes the fact that here is the most distinctively styled car of all. But Pontiac's brilliant styling is only part of all that's new and modern in this great General Motors masterpiece. A few minutes behind the wheel provides the clinching evidence.

Pontiac's mighty Strato-Streak V-8 responds instantly, whether you're in city traffic or cruising the open road. With Pontiac's new, bigger brakes and recirculating ball steering, handling is almost effortless. New wide-stance rear springs; roomy, luxurious Body by Fisher and shock-proof chassis complete the fine-car picture.

Normally, all this would add up to high price—but Pontiac has changed the pattern with prices that start so close to the lowest that if you can afford any new car you can afford the easy and satisfying step to Pontiac pride and distinction. Why not come in at your first opportunity and get the facts and figures?

Annual Report-

Last Year's Welfare Payments Highest In Local Department's History

Your Welfare Department during the 1953-54 fiscal year made the highest payments to needy people in the 19 year history of the public welfare program, it was announced today by Miss Janice Freeland, director of the Chilton County Department of Public Welfare. For the first time, old age assistance checks were based on 100 percent of budgeted need, up to the Federal maximum (for the last half of the year). Payments to other needy groups, as aid to the permanently and totally disabled and the blind were also raised and paid at the rate of 100 percent of budgeted need.

Miss Freeland states these increases have been made possible because: (1) The Governor released the half-million dollar conditional appropriation for the last half of 1953-54 and again for the beginning of 1954-55; (2) The Department has continued to grant aid only to the neediest and to strengthen case work services.

Assistance payments in Alabama are still low compared with the national average and with those in most other states and when related to living costs. These payments have increased steadily, however, since the program began.

Your Welfare Department staff during the year helped more people help themselves through case work services and taking part in community planning. Examples are:

Helping people find resources, such as veterans' or OASI benefits, referral to Vocational Rehabilitation Service; giving help to mothers to locate and get support from deserting husbands; referring disturbed people to mental clinics or sick people to available health resources such as cancer clinics.

Welfare workers also take part in community activities for the benefit of people: civil defense planning in case of natural disaster or enemy action; health, safety and child welfare projects; work with other agencies and with institutions

According to the director, your Welfare Department strives to strengthen services to children. As in the past, every effort has been made to strengthen children's own homes. Then for the child who had to be seperated from his own family, there was the substitute care best suited to his needs. The county department licensed family homes where children were boarded, worked with child caring institutions, & placed children in adoptive homes.

Progress was made in helping the public understand Alabama's adoption laws and the importance of adoption only through the Department of Public Welfare or authorized agencies. During the year fewer unauthorized placements were made.

An outstanding factor in this year's report is the low cost in the administrating of the program. The Department spent less to administer the program than did most states. In fact, over 90 cents out of every welfare dollar spent in the counties went directly to needy people.

Your Welfare Department in Chilton County spent during 1953-54:

A total of $317,080.90. This included: State and Federal Funds, 313,792.60; local funds, 2,088.30; state funds for confederate pensions, 1,200.00.

For old age assistance, 207,247.00. This money was spent as follows: For aid to blind, 2,374.00. For aid to permanently and totally disabled, 20,582.00. For aid to children: Aid to dependent children, 52,220.00. Aid to children in foster care, 2,543.00. For temporary aid, 175.00.

Thus: Total public assistance, $285,141.00. For confederate pensioners, 1,200.00. For administration, 28,651.00. Local funds only, 2,088.30.

Federal funds are available under the Social Security Act to match funds for the needy aged, blind, permanently and totally disabled, and dependent children. The State also received a Federal grant for child welfare services.

All State welfare funds are pooled in a State Welfare Trust Fund, to which Federal funds are added. All checks are written in, and mailed from Montgomery.

YOU—as an interested citizen of your county and state—often ask questions about public welfare. The program is yours because it is a public program—and your department wants you to know what the agency can and cannot do.

So, if you have questions about the public welfare program, you may come to the welfare office in your county, or your County Welfare Board members represent you and may help interpret the program to you Members of the Board are Mr. M. L. White, chairman; Mr John Hollis, co-chairman; Mrs. Joe Mullins, secretary; Mrs. James H. Kincaid, Mrs. Avolene Lecroy, Mrs. C. L. Walton, and Mrs. L. C. Warr.

Members of the welfare staff are: Miss Janice Freeland, director; Mrs. Elizabeth M. Miller, Case worker; Mrs. Mary C. Oglesby case worker; Miss Doris Pearson, case worker; Mrs. Helen B. Vance, Child Welfare Worker; Mrs. Edith Faye Wooley, case worker; Mrs. Edna Higgins, Clerk-typist; Mrs. Bobby Jean Minor, Clerk-typist Mr. A. N. Laurell, finance officer.

NATURAL as the food your children eat, Chilean Nitrate is the only natural nitrate. Guaranteed 42 per cent plant food.

★ Richest of plant foods, Chilean's many extra values make it one of the most efficient and economical nitrogen fertilizers.

★ Chilean's nitrogen content is 100 per cent nitrate. Ideal for top-dressing and side-dressing. Free flowing, spreads evenly and smoothly.

★ Chilean needs only moisture from the air to dissolve — no waiting for rain — fast, effective action.

★ Every ton of Chilean contains sodium equivalent to 650 pounds of commercial limestone — an acid-destroying agent. The more Chilean you use, the greater its acid-destroying value.

★ Sodium supplements potash — when necessary, substitutes for it — reduces leaching losses of potash, calcium, magnesium — releases unavailable potash in the soil.

★ Sodium increases availability of phosphate in the soil and improves efficiency of applied phosphate.

★ Chilean is rich in small quantities of minor elements necessary for healthy vigorous growth — it's the only natural combination of 100 per cent nitrate nitrogen, sodium and minor elements.

Folks and Things ABOUT TOWN

—By Ben

The Chilton County News force ate dinner last Friday evening with the Chilton County Medical Society. Of course we were at one end of the big dining room at the Dixie Cafe and they were at the other. And we didn't get in on any of their conversation and they didn't get in on any of ours. We did however, make a deal. If they wouldn't print any newspapers, we wouldn't perform any operations—and we think that's real nice.

Hate to lose Janice Freeland as Director of Public Welfare of Chilton County. Miss Freeland is taking a position with the Child Welfare Bureau in the State Dept. of Public Welfare at Montgomery. Miss Faye Wooley will be in charge of the local Welfare Office. Miss Freeland has filled her position here well and has made scores of friends in this comunity and we hope she will be coming back to visit us often. Miss Wooley has been with the department for a long time and is well known for her civic work in the community.

Looks like Spring slipped in on us a little early and the City Fathers tried to make up for all the months they won't be collecting gas money in the bills this month. We never heard so many people squawking about their gas bill. And believe us, if it is anything like the two we got—they had a squawk coming. Seriously though we have always gone along with improvements and progress in our city government as well as everywhere else but our opinion is that something should be done about the gas rate we are now paying It seems a bit out of line with other cities in the state that are enjoying the conveniences of natural gas.

At about age 16 most Boy Scouts become girl scouts—Teamster.

Mr. Tom McKee comes up with a fine suggestion that we will follow up and print next week. He asks that we print the new revised driver license law regarding the purchase of driver licenses on your birthday instead of Nov. 1, every other year. This we will do; if you are in doubt about this law keep a watch for a full report in your next issue.

The census taker visited the mountaineer way back in the woods. When he asked how many children in the family the head man answered: "Just four, and by golly that's all we are going to have." When asked why, he said: "I wuz just reading in this here almanac where every fifth child born was a Chinaman."

The Senior III Class of Chilton County High School is anxious for you to see their play "One For The Money" which will show a the Old Wadesonian theatre on Tuesday night, March 15. According to advance information the play is a riot and one that you shouldn't miss.

Red Fulmer has moved his Greyhound Bus Terminal to the new location across the street from the Ellis Tourist Court on U. S. 31, just north of town. He has made extensive (and expensive) improvements in the building there and believes it will be much more comfortable than the old bus staton.

20-Hook Limit Of Set Lines

Montgomery, Ala.— The 20-hook limitation on sports fishermen using trotlines, setlines and snag lines was removed throughout Ala. this week by legislative amendment to the 1953 Commercial Fishing Act.

Gov. James E. Folsom signed into law an amendment providing that the 1953 Act licensi[illegible], among other equipment, the use of setlines, trotlines and snaglines wou[illegible] not apply to resident sports fis[illegible]ermen, who [illegible] nor to non-resident fishermen [illegible] acquire sport fishing licenses [illegible] this state.

In other words, in order to use snaglines, setlines or trotlines, commercial fishermen are still requird to purchase a $10 state commercial fishing license, and non-resident sports fishermen must have an Alabama sports fishing license, but resident fishermen who fish for sport with these types of equipment only are not required to have a fishing license under the presnt law.

Baptist Revival Crusade Going Into 2nd Week

Revival services are now in progress in three of the churches of the Chilton-Unity Association: the First Baptist church, Clanton; New Salem and Union Grove.

The following churches are scheduled to begin their services next Sunday, March 6th: Maple Springs, Liberty Hill, West End Baptist, Floyd, Refuge, Concord, Chestnut Creek, Pleasant Valley, Bethsalem, Collins Chapel, Bell Lane, Pleasant Grove No. 2 and Sardis.

You are cordially invited and urged to attend these services. If you will check the schedule given in both county papers last week, you will know who the Evangelists are at each church and the hour for the services.

We highly appreciate the fine cooperation on the part of the people, and especially the ministers.

Corrections are necessary in the schedule of revivals of two of the churches: Pleasant Grove will begin their revival the 4th Sunday in April instead of the third Sunday. Thorsby will have their revival at a later date according to the pastor, Rev. B. B. Burks.

We offer our apologies to two of the brethren concerning the radio broadcast of last week. We let Rev. Stucky down by not informing him in time that he was to have one of the thirty minute broadcasts. Brother Stucky was out of town for part of the week.

Thursday was als Rev. Wilkins regular day for the devotion which has been given by him for some time. The committee failed to take that into consideration in arranging the schedule for the broadcast. These brethren, I'm sure will forgive us, because we number them among our very best friends.

West End Baptist Revival Begins Next Sunday

Eddie Lieberman

The Simultaneous Revival at the West End Baptist church begins Sunday, March 6th and continues through the 20th. Eddie Lieberman, a converted Jew who preaches Christ, of Greenville, S. C., will be the evangelist. The song leader is to be Mrs. Raymond Mims of Birmingham, formerly of Clanton.

The morning services will be broadcast from 7 to 7:30. The evening services will begin at 7:30.

A most cordial welcome is extended to all to come and hear this wonderful man of God. Pray with us that the Lord will add many souls to His Church during this Revival.

Marine Recruiter To Be In Clanton Twice Monthly

Master Sergeant John T. Collier, from the United States Marine Corps recruiting office in Montg. will visit Clanton on each Second and Fourth Thursday for the purpose of accepting applications for enlistment in the U. S. Marine Corps.

Qualified young men and women are encouraged to visit Sgt. Collier in the post office in Clanton and talk over their possibilities for a career in the U. S. Marine Corps. Sgt. Collier will explain to all interested persons how the opportunities once restricted to men only have been extended to include members of the fairer sex as the regular Marin Corps is now composed of both men and women with equal opportunities, pay and retirement benefits for all.

Sgt. Collier expects to arrive here about 11:30 a.m. and will be accessible to every interested person at the post office until 4:30 p.m.

Maplesville P-TA Meets March 10th

March 10th will be the night for the March PTA meeting at 7:30 p.m. The program will be by Mrs. Ed Clapp, "For Every Child A Healthy Body And Personality" The Devotional will be given by Mr. Carlos Owens. Hostesses for this meeting are: Mrs. P. H. Barnes, Miss Louise Foshee, Mrs. Calvin Chambers, Mrs. Curtis Rucker and Mrs. Henry Smitherman.

Fertilizer manufacturers in the U. S. are supplying farmers with 23 million tons of fertilizer each year.

Band Boosters Sponsor 'Meet Your Neighbor' Sale

Members of the Chilton County High School Band Boosters Club urge local citizens to support a fund-raising plan which will involve no donations but will help the band obtain an instrumental budget.

The plan, outlined by the Band Boosters Club, provides for the Betty Crocker Cake Mix Co. to pay the Band five cents for every package of cake mix sold in eleven local stores the week-end of Mar 11-12. A list of the different cake mixes that will aid the band if sold and the stores that will take part in this sale will be published next week.

The price of the cake mix is so low it is really a good buy, plus helping the band. Watch your local paper for ads from the various stores stating prices.

Many of your neighbors will be on hand Friday and Saturday, March 11th and 12th to greet you and help you select your favorite mixes. Tell all your friends, neighbors, and relatives to buy several packages on that week-end. Help your local band.

Geo. Gillespie Suffers Heart Attack

George Gillespie, of Maplesville went to the Veterans hospital at Montgomery last Monday for a check-up after suffering a heart attack on Friday. His condition is not considered serious.

Youth Rally At West End Baptist Saturday Night

The Young People of the Chilton Unity Association will have their regular Youth Rally Sat., March 5, at 7 p.m. at the West End Baptist church in Clanton.

The speaker will be one of the most inspiring and consecrated preachers in God's service, Rev. L. E. Daniel. Bro. Daniel is now pastor of the Immanuel Baptist church in Montgomery.

A girls trio from his church will add to the musical program. Following the service there will be a time of fellowship and refreshments. Bro. Wilkins invites all young people and adults to be present at this inspiring service.

Vermont School

Vermont PTA will meet on Tues. March 8th at two o'clock instead of 6:30, on account of the revival in progress at Sardis church, and teachers meeting at Clanton.

Our basketball girls and boys will go to the tournament in Clanton this week. We wish them good luck.

The boys and girls 4-H clubs met at the school last Thursday. Miss Martha Bates gave a demonstration for the girls on making corn meal muffins.

Work is still being done on the lunch room. It is really looking nice. We hope to be moved and using both rooms right away.

Mr. Robinson tells us that Mrs. Robinson plans to be back in the school room teaching next Mon.

The fourth grade class welcomed Eddie Charles Short as a new pupil last Monday Morning. He comes to us from Clanton.

A cloth dampened slightly with kerosene will often remove finger marks from walls and woodwork.

Revival Starts At Temple On Monday Night

Rev. C. W. Ringness

On Sunday, March 7th the spring revival will begin at the Temple Assembly of God church, located about three miles East of Clanton. The Rev. Curtis W. Ringness of Tampa, Fla. will be the speaker.

Rev. Ringness is the Assistant Supt. and Home Missions Director of the South Florida District Council Assembly of God, and also is a member of the Board of Directors of the South East Bible Institute of Lakeland, Fla. He has held these positions for the past twelve years, and is a wonderful speaker and a great man of God. Rev. Ringness has held revivals in most parts of the United States, and just recently closed a mighty revival in one of the large churches of New York City.

The pastor, Rev. Troy B. Helms, extends a cordial invitation to all to attend these services, beginning March 7th and running through March 13th. Services will begin each evening at 7:00 o'clock, with special music furnished by groups of the church.

ACS Gives Cancer Danger Signals

What We Are Trying To Do as a unit of the Alabama Division of the American Cancer Society in Chilton County is to reach everyone with these basic facts that he must know if he is to guard himself against cancer:

Most cancers give these early warning signals:

1. Any sore that does not heal
2. A lump or thickening, in the breast or elsewhere.
3. Unusual bleeding or discharge.

Twice as many lives could be saved every year if people would go to their doctors before it is too late.

Verbena P-TA Meets Monday

The Verbena PTA will meet Mon. night, March 7th at 7:00 o'clock at the school. Prof. Patterson Hicks will be the guest speaker. The public is cordially invited, and all parents, teachers are urged to attend.

AAUW Will Meet On Thursday

The Chilton County A.A.U.W. will meet at the High School library on Thursday at 3:30 o'clock. Dr. Katherine Vickery of Montevallo will be the speaker.

All members are urged to come, and the public is invited.

School Buildings Do Wear Out

By J. H. Boeckholdt

Like all buildings, school buildings deteriorate with age and use. And the deterioration is much more rapid than in most buildings because of the intensity of the use of them and the lack of respect shown them by many people. Often people will abuse a school building when they wouldn't think of treating their own property or that of a neighbor in such a manner.

Most of the school buildings in Chilton County are frame buildings, and, although they are generally built of good lumber, the workmanship is often poor. Following is a table showing the approximate age of the classrooms in Chilton County:

37 classrooms are 30 years of age or older.

32 classrooms are between 25 and 30 years of age.

11 classrooms are between 20 and 25 years of age.

42 classrooms are between 15 and 20 years of age.

62 classrooms are between 10 and 15 years of age.

32 classrooms are 10 years or less.

Average age—21.5 years.

Frame buildings of this age have several undesirable factors:

1. They have become uncomfortable. It is impossible to keep them warm in extremely cold weather.
2. They are difficult to properly light.
3. They are very expensive to maintain.
4. They become hazardous to live in.
5. They are potential fire traps unless watched carefully.
6. It is impossible to make them attractive.
7. They cannot be adjusted to changing times easily.

One of the major problems facing our school system in the near future is the replacement of old, badly worn and dilapidated buildings.

Masonic Confab At Maplesville

The Masonic Conference will be held at Maplesville on Wednesday, March 16th. Make your plans now to attend. Dinner for all guests will be served at the high school lunch room at the evening hour Meeting to convene at 1 o'clock.

Janice Freeland Leaves Chilton's Welfare Department

Miss Janice Freeland, who has been Director of the Chilton County Welfare Department since June of 1953 has resigned effective Feb 28th to accept a position as Child Welfare Supervisor at the State Welfare Department with headquarters in Montgomery.

Miss Freeland's many friends congratulate her on her new job, but regret she will leave Clanton. She took up her new duties in Montgomery on March 1st.

Miss Faye Wooley, Case Worker, will be in charge of the local office until a new Director is named.

Jamboree At Courthouse 5th

There will be a Jamboree at the courthouse next Saturday night. Starting time is 7:30 and it will last until. . .???

There will be no admission and everyone is cordially invited.

Chilton County's Cotton Acreage Is Diminishing

From year to year, the Chilton County cotton farmer has gradually been losing his cotton acreage allotment. Under the operation of the Federal program of price supports for our basic crops, farmers are allowed acreages of these basic crops in order to control the production of these crops throughout the United States.

Chilton County cotton farmers have been losing gradually their portion of the national cotton acreage allotment because of the failure of each cotton farmer in Chilton County to plant the allotment for his individual farm.

There is a remedy to prevent any further loss of total cotton allotment for Chilton County. Even though an individual farmer does not plant his allotment, Chilton County may retain its total allotment without reduction if each individual farmer, who does not want to plant his allotment for any given year, would notify his local County ASC Office that he is not going to plant his allotment. If each farmer, who is not going to plant his allotment, would notify the County ASC Office as soon as he, the farmer, has made this decision, the County ASC Office could then redistribute this acreage to other farmers in the county who would plant this additional acreage if they were notified in time to make plans for the planting of their cotton crop.

In order to prevent further loss of Chilton County's cotton acreage allotment, each farmer who does not intend to plant his cotton allotment must notify the County ASC Office as soon as possible in order that this acreage may be divided among the other farmers of the county.

Any farmer giving such notification will be allowed to use the amount of acreage he releases in figuring his cotton allotment for future years. However, if he fails to plant his cotton allotment and does not notify the County ASC Office, the cotton allotment for his farm in fuure years will be reduced because he did not plant his allotment and he did not release his allotment in oredr for other farmers to be able to plant it.

A total cotton allotment for the County is made each year and this allotment is divided among the cotton farmers. Consequently any farmer who fails to plant his cotton allotment, or who fails to release his cotton allotment for other farmers to use if he does not plant the allotment himself, is helping to reduce the allotment of every cotton farmer in the County. This is so because the following year his lost acreage will cause a reduction in the County cotton allotment, which necessarily this means a reduction in every farmer's cotton allotment, whether or not each farmer individually had planted his allotment.

Under the present Federal Laws administered by the U. S. Department of Agriculture with regard to price support for cotton and other basic crops and with regard to acreage allotments. there is no way to regain, in the future, this lost acreage allotment.

Cotton is still the most important cash crop to the farmers of Chilton County. There are still more farmers dependent upon cotton for income than upon any other cash crop. With present high capital investment costs in farming and present high operating costs of farming, it is a very serious matter to the farmers of Chilton County to have an unneccessary reduction in the acreage of any of their cash crops. Many farmers in Chilton County, at the present time, find their acreage allotments too small to pay expenses on the farm, and, at the same time, support their families.

Every cotton farmer in Chilton is urged to make a decision as soon as possible as to whether or not he will plant his cotton allotment. Should he decide not to plant his allotment, he should, in order to retain credit for his acreage for future years and in order to help the other cotton farmers of Chilton County, report to his County ASC Office and release his cotton acreage in time for it to be planted on someone else's farm.

BAPTIST SIMULTANEOUS REVIVAL—

The greatest concentrated evangelistic effort ever attempted in America is being attempted by more than 30,000 churches in the Southern Baptist Convention including Alaska, Cuba and the Panama Canal Zone during this month.

Thirty-two churches in Chilton County are taking part in this great campaign and have extended a cordial invitation to everyone to attend these services.

Congratulations and praise should go to the Rev. M. Lockhart, Rev. R. W. Stuckey and Rev. Homer Carroll for the tremeondous cooperation that is being given by the Baptist Churches in Chilton County. They have worked hard and dilligent to accomplish the goal set out for them and they have got results.

Attend these services when you can.

WE'VE BEEN IN A JAM—

Yessir, we've been in a jam, and it's the best we've ever been into.

Of course we are speaking of the new "Chilco" jam now available in local grocery stores. This delicacy, canned under a new process, is destined for success due to its fresh berry aroma and flavor.

The only thing removed from the Chilton County blackberries that go into this jam is the seeds. Otherwise, it's just like the jam mother used to make, only a little better.

We feel that someone has made a step in the right direction when they offer to the world the wonderful fruits and berries grown in the "Garden spot of the world" and labeled with the "Chilco" brand.

This could lead to a greatly needed canning plant here, you know.

Don't take our word for the taste of the new jams and jellies, though. Ask your grocer for a jar and be your own judge. Then tell us what you think of them.

HAPPY MARRIAGES: LOOK BEFORE YOU LEAP—

Marriage relations experts are increasingly turning their attention to the problem of dissolving marriages in the United States. More and more the conclusion is being reached that each partner in marriage must accept the other for what he or she really is.

The really successful marriages are those in which couples learn to live, progress and improve together. This knack of growing, learning and developing together is the key to a successful marriage, according to marriage relations experts.

A trend noted in recent years is that of younger average ages for marriages, and many of today's experts believe this is a healthy development. Early marriage is a handicap only when the couple concerned is marrying after a short infatuation, against the wishes of their parents and friends, without proper consideration of that step, or for some other reasons. However, when those most likely to be closely concerned with the marriage are not opposed, and when the couple concerned has given the question serious thought and adequate consideration, marriages among younger people are today not being discouraged.

One can look back upon the exploits of many of history's greatest figures to see that youngsters in the very early age brackets have often transformed the course of history, and achieved results which constantly surprised their elders. However, if the trend is toward marriage at a younger age, it also should be toward intelligent appraisals, which include the individual's backgrounds, emotions, companionship, family relationships, and personalities. The experts are almost unanimous in predicting that the background of an individual is inevitably a source of happiness or unhappiness which will come to the surface, sooner or later, in one's married life.

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

A bill was passed by the House last Friday that will extend the corporate income and excise tax rates at present levels until April 1, 1956. The bill also contains a Democrat-sponsored rider which, if finally enacted into law, will give a $20 tax cut to each taxpayer and dependent as of next January 1.

Extension of the corporate income and excise tax rates at present levels will retain approximately $2 billion of annual federal income while enactment of the $20 tax cut will reduce revenue by $870 million during fiscal year 1956.

The Republicans objected strongly to the tax-cut rider, but the House, by a vote of 210 to 205, refused to send the bill back to the Ways and Means committee with instructions to remove the rider. After many hours of debate in which spokesmen of each party charged the other with "politics", the final vote divided almost along straight party lines. On final passage, the bill was supported by 221 Democrats and 21 Republicans and opposed by 173 Republicans and only two Democrats.

This measure, which has been sent to the Senate, has a rough road ahead. In addition to Republican opposition, Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia, Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, has also announced his opposition to the tax cut. Wth this combination of opposition votes, Senate passage of the tax rider is far from assured.

-House Increases Cotton Acreage-

The cotton farmers of the District will be interested in a measure passed by the House last week that will increase cotton acreage by 3% of the 1955 allotment, or by 33,054 acres in our own State of Alabama.

The bill granting this increase in acreage passed the House because the members felt that many cotton farmers would undoubtedly undergo hardships and suffering due to the sharp curtailment in the 1955 acreage allotment. The Sec. of Agriculture, under existing legislation, had set the 1955 allotment at 18,113,208 acres which compares with the 1953 acreage of 25,151,400 and a 1954 acreage allotment of 21,379,358.

Our national acreage allotment in 1954 was almost 4 million acres less than the 1953 acreage. In addition, our section of the country, as well as other areas, suffered the most disastrous drought that can be remembered. Another cut in cotton acreage for 1955 amounting to more than 3 million acres could only mean bankruptcy for some of the cotton farmers of our District and State. Knowing the facts, most House members felt it would be better at the time to spread out our acreage reduction over a longer period rather than throw thousands of cotton farmers out of work by another drastic acreage cut this year.

Several amendments were offered which would have increased Alabama's acreage allotment even more. These amendments, which I supported, failed to pass.

Although an additional 33,054 acres will not remedy the plight of Alabama's cotton farmer, it will at least provide some help. It is my hope that the Senate will act on the House bill at the earliest possible date so that these additional acres can be available before the planting season.

Local Workers Make ARC Drive A Big Success

Tuesday of this week was the day the chairmen and their workers took in contributions for the Red Cross Drive in an assembled effort. Reports were favorable as to the response by the public and the chairmen were pelased with the efforts of all the ladies taking part in the undertaking.

The County chairmen, Mr. Joe Williams, chairman and Rev. Don R. Esty, co-chairman, expressed their appreciation also to the workers for their fine public spirit.

NEW SALEM BAPTIST

Attendance was good Sunday and Sunday night. Rev. Wilkins brought the evening message. He is our visiting minister for the revival and we extend a hearty welcome to everyone to come out and hear this great man of God. Let's everyone pray that lost souls will be saved and brought to the Lamb of God.

Mrs. Sudie Smith of Birmingham is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Burnette and family for a few days.

Let's everyone remember our prayer meeting each Wednesday night.

The Veterans Corner—

VA Answers Four Questions Of Former Servicemen

Here are authoratative answers from the Veterans Administration to four questions of interest to former servicemen and their families:

Q. I pay my GI insurance premiums once a year in advance. If I die, what will happen to the money that has not yet been applied to premiums?

A. The money, earmarked for premiums beyond the month during which death occurred, will be refunded to your beneficiary in a lump sum.

Q. I understand that veterans disabled in service after January 31, 1955, may receive disability comprehension at peacetime rates—80 percent of the wartime scale. Are there any conditions under which these veterans may get full wartime rate?

A. Yes. Disabilities resulting directly from armed conflicts, or from extra-hazardous service—including service under conditions simulating war—may warrant compensation payments at the full wartime rate.

Q. In order to get my college degree, I am supposed to take a course in public speaking. Would I have to get prior VA approval for that course on the grounds that it may be considered "avocational or recreational" in nature?

A. No. Since your public speaking course is an integral part of your GI training program leading to a degree, prior VA approval will not be necessary. If the course were taken by itself—not a part of an over-all education program—VA's approval would be required.

Q. Has the Presidential proclamation, ending the establishment of entitlement for wartime GI benefits, had any effect on the cut-off date for starting Korean GI Bill training? I am a Korean veteran, already out of service.

A. The proclamation has no bearing on when you must begin your Korean GI Training. Under the law, you still must start within three years from the date of your seperation from military service.

Gospel Travelers To Appear Saturday In Montgomery

In the latter part of 1954 ten men met together in Tupelo, Mississippi and laid palns for one of the greatest associations of gospel music history. These ten men form 2 of the finest quartets in the nation. All agreed that if two groups joined together and worked out one complete program rather than two individual programs the gospel loving people would be better satisfied.

On February 17, 1954 five splendid christian gentlemen began practicing together and they are now so favorably known as the Gospel Travelers. Bobby Peoples, blind evangelist and song writer has written some 47 gospel songs including "Heaven In A Dream", "Lord of Lords", and "It Makes Me Want To Pray" will all appear in a concert in the City Auditorium in Montgomery, Alabama, Saturday March 5th. These groups are highly trained in their profession and they are known all over the nation for their TV, radio and record work.

State Non-Farm Employment Takes Seasonal Slump

Montgomery, Ala.—Alabama non-farm employment stood at 659,900 in January, a loss of 15,400 workers from the preceding month, according to Department of Industrial Relations sources. The loss was attributed to seasonal contraction in retail trade, post offices, and construction.

In manufacturing, both durable and non-durable goods totals were down slightly. Largest loser in the hard goods group was the transportation equipment industry, with a 1,400 worker decrease. . . 1,200 of this total occurring in the shipbuilding and repair industry. Soft goods were fairly steady.

Non-manufacturing, at around 436,000, was off more than 13,000 workers from December. The heaviest loss occurred when inflated retail trade payrolls were cut to the tune of 7,100 from December. Another seasonal decline took place when temporary holiday workers in post offices were released. This resulted in a net decrease of 2,600 in Government. An employment decline of better than eight per cent was experienced by Alabama railroads during 1954. Contract construction, at about 29,000 in Jan. represented an over-the-month drop of 2,400 workers. However, the current estimate is 5.4 per cent above year-ago figures.

Average hourly earnings for manufacturing production workers, at $1.45, were the same as Dec. 1954, while the work week declined fractionally, resulting in an average wage week of $57.42. In Dec. it had been $58.29.

In hard-water areas, using water softener will cut down on the amount of soap flakes needed in the dishpan.

The Anvil Of God's Word—

I stood one day beside a blacksmith's door,
And heard the anvil ring the vesper chime;
Then, looking in, I saw upon the floor,
Old hammers, worn with beating years of time.
How many anvils have you had? said I,
To wear and batter all these hammers so?
Just one, he said, then said with twinkling eye,
The [illegible] wears the hammers out, you know.
And so we thought the anvil of God's word,
For ages skeptics' blows have beat upon,
And though the noise of them was heard,
The anvil is unharmed, the hammer's gone.

The thing that goes the fartherest toward making life worthwhile,
That costs the least and does the most, is just a simple smile.
The smile that bubbles from a heart, that loves its fellowman,

It's full of mirth goodness too, it's worth a million dollars,
And doesn't cost a cent.

Chilton's Cotton Allotment Is Gradually Diminishing

From year to year, the Chilton County cotton farmer has gradually been losing his cotton acreage allotment. Under the operation of the Federal program of price supports for our basic crops, farmers are allowed acreages of these basic crops in order to control the production of these crops throughout the United States.

Chilton County cotton farmers have been losing gradually their portion of the national cotton acreage allotment because of the failure of each cotton farmer in Chilton County to plant the allotment for his individual farm.

There is a remedy to prevent any further loss of total cotton allotment for Chilton County. Even though an individual farmer does not plant his allotment, Chilton County may retain its total allotment without reduction if each individual farmer, who does not want to plant his allotment for any given year, would notify his local County ASC Office that he is not going to plant his allotment. If each farmer, who is not going to plant his allotment, would notify the County ASC Office as soon as he, the farmer, has made this decision, the County ASC Office could then redistribute this acreage to other farmers in the county who would plant this additional acreage, if they were notified in time to make plans for the planting of their cotton crop.

In order to prevent further loss of Chilton County's cotton acreage allotment, each farmer who does not intend to plant his cotton allotment must notify the County ASC Office as soon as possible in order that this acreage may be divided among the other farmers of the county.

Any farmer giving such notification will be allowed to use the amount of acreage he releases in figuring his cotton allotment for future years. However, if he fails to plant his cotton allotment and does not notify the County ASC Office, the cotton allotment for his farm in fuure years will be reduced because he did not plant his allotment and he did not release his allotment in oredr for other farmers to be able to plant it.

A total cotton allotment for the County is made each year and this allotment is divided among the cotton farmers. Consequently any farmer who fails to plant his cotton allotment, or who fails to release his cotton allotment for other farmers to use if he does not plant the allotment himself, is helping to reduce the allotment of every cotton farmer in the County. This is so because the following year his lost acreage will cause a reduction in the County cotton allotment, which necessarily this means a reduction in every farmer's cotton allotment, whether or not each farmer individually had planted his allotment.

Under the present Federal Laws administered by the U. S. Department of Agriculture with regard to price support for cotton and other basic crops and with regard to acreage allotments, there is no way to regain, in the future, this lost acreage allotment.

Cotton is still the most important cash crop to the farmers of Chilton County. There are still more farmers dependent upon cotton for income than upon any other cash crop. With present high capital investment costs in farming and present high operating costs of farming, it is a very serious matter to the farmers of Chilton County to have an unneccessary reduction in the acreage of any of their cash crops. Many farmers in Chilton County, at the present time, find their acreage allotments too small to pay expenses on the farm, and, at the same time, support their families.

Every cotton farmer in Chilton is urged to make a decision as soon as possible as to whether or not he will plant his cotton allotment. Should he decide not to plant his allotment, he should, in order to retain credit for his acreage for future years and in order to help the other cotton farmers of Chilton County, report to his County ASC Office and release his cotton acreage in time for it to be planted on someone else's farm.

Seventh Day Adventist Notes

At Pentecost many "sold their possessions and goods and parted them to all men as every man had need", Acts 2:45.

Later on there came a famine and God never forgot these liberal givers. There was a "great drouth throughout all the world and the relief to the brethren which dwelt to his ability determined to send in Judea." Acts II: 28-29.

Paul wrote the church at Corinth, saying, "Now concerning the collection for the saints, as I have given orders to the churches of Galatia, even so do ye. Upon the first day of the week let everyone of you lay by him in store, as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come And when I come whomsoever ye shall approve by your letters, them will I send to bring your liberality unto Jerusalem" I Cor. 16:1-3.

This was not a congregational collection for the local church. Each one was to "lay by him" at home "as God hath prospered him" and then when Paul arrived they could bring it together and it would be taken to Jerusalem.

The business week closed at sunset Friday. Then after the Sabbath as soon as "the first day of the week arrived" they were to go over the business of the past week to see how much "God had prospered him" and "lay by him in store" something each week until Paul arrived to take it to "the poor saints at Jerusalem." Rom. 15:26. God did not forget these "poor saints" when the famine came. It is wrong to teach the people this was a collection at church on Sun morning.

Sabbath School 9:30. H. E. Willis is Supt. Church sermon topic, "Let Us Build According To Him"

Junior GA's Enjoy Mission Study And A Travel Party

The Junior G. A. number two of Clanton First Baptist church, combined their mission study with a traveling party. They met Friday night at the home of Linda Brown, where an introduction to the study of Gold in Alaska, was made. Each member brought a picture of something in Alaska and gave one fact of interest. Then we played Alaska Alphabet. After the hostess and her mother had served a tasty fruit juice, Sharon Hubert gave our devotional and dismissed us with prayer.

We proceeded to the home of Julie Wade, where we were greeted by her mother and sister with bountiful trays of sandwiches and cold drinks. Mrs. Golden taught one half of our mission book. Linda Brown read the scripture and led us in our closing prayer.

Our next stop was Miriam Golden's. First we played Matched Statements of Alaska, and completed the study of our book. Miriam read our scripture and offered our dismissal prayer. From here to the drug store where we were set up to the dessert of our choice, and then for home.

Those enjoying this time of fun and study were: Martha Lynn Henderson, Miriam Golden, Linda Brown, Mary Mell Martin, Jennie Lee Polk, Sandra Mims, Sharon Hubert, Julie Wade, Lawana Robinson, Shirley Edwards, Martha Harris, Rebecca Cole, Cecelia Mayes, and the counselors, Mrs. W. C. Golden and Mrs. Marcus Polk.

Home Demonstration Club Of Friendship Met On Friday

The hostess demonstrated egg recipes. February reports were given, and the club collect was read, after which the meeting closed.

Bingo was enjoyed during the social hour, with first prize going to Martha Bates, and second prize going to Mrs. A. D. Martin. Delicious refreshments were served to the following members: Mesdames Erskine Connell, Horsley White, A. D. Martin, Russell Lewis, Arthur Taylor, Hattie Alred, Harry Sims, Ben Sims and one visitor, Mrs. J. E. Gray.

Next meeting with Mrs. Harry Sims.

Miss Louise Foshee Spoke To P-TA Of Clanton Elementary

The Clanton Elementary Parent-Teachers Association met Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the school lunch room.

Mrs. Claud Craig, vice-president, presided in the absence of the pres. Mrs. R. M. Tucker brought the devotional.

Miss Louise Foshee was the principal speaker for the afternoon. She used for her topic "School Attendance And It's Effect On The School Life of the Children Over The County." Miss Foshee very interestingly and capably discussed her subject.

Outstanding Program Presented By The Better Speech Club

The Better Speech Club of Mrs. Currie Thomas sixth grade presented a program on Friday, Feb. 25th, entitled "Character and Patriotism" in which all her pupils participated. It would be difficult to say who was the best speaker all did remarkably well.

The program was presented as follows: Remarks by the pres., Mary Mell Martin; Scripture leaders, Emily Stewart and Shirley Edwards; prayer, "My Creed", Charles Teel; "A Boy's Wish", Jimmy Goodman; "I knew something Good About You", Bobby Little; "Concerning Washington and Lincoln", Carolyn Estes, Juanita Baker, Glenda Sue Coggins, Barbara Kate Turner, Harold Wright, and Sylvia Bates; Piano selection by Glenda Sue Coggins. "Watchword of Democracy" by a group; "A Canadian Wayfairer" by class; "Myself", Joyce and Lois Davis; "Steps To Patriotic Efficiency", Sylvia Bates, James Henderson, Carolyn Andrews, Bobby Little, Bonnie Sue Knight, Ann Bell, Jerry Murr, Joyce Davis and Carolyn Mims; "The American Creed" and Lincoln's Gettysburg Address by class; "Salute To Old Glory", Mary Mell Martin, accompanist; "Our Flag", Glenda Sue Coggins, accompanist; "Be The Best of Whatever You Are," Julie Wade and Cecelia Mays, "Yankee Doodle" and "Dixie" by class; "Abou Ben Adhem", Lois Davis; "The Ship of State", Elaine Mahan; "To Know All Is To Forgive All", Shirley Edwards; "Man, The Answerer", Randall Rockett; "Lendor", Martha Henderson; "Lord, Make A Regular Man Out Of Me", James Henderson; "Watch Yourself Go By", John Will Wyatt; "It Couldn't Be Done", Carolyn Mims; "How Did You Die", Alec Jones; "The Land Of Beginning Again", Rebecca Coley "The Bill of Rights", James Henderson, Billy Langley, Rebecca Cole, Douglas Jackson, Cecelia Mays, Bonnie Sue Knight, Shirley Edwards, Alec Jones and John Will Wyatt; "America For Me", Mary Mell Martin; "The Hawaiian Farewell" by the class.

The parents felt that the scriptures and prayer given by the children were one of the best parts on the program. Parents are especially proud of the teacher who feels the necessity of this even in a school program. When special emphasis and study on the patriotic nature of the men who formed our Democracy and made the laws by which America lives today are stressed by a teacher whom is loved and admired by her pupils, the characters of those boys and girls will be beneficially molded. The perfection of the rythm dance the children performed to recorded music was also impressive.

Following this outstanding program the parents enjoyed lunch in the school lunchroom.

After Rehearsal Party Honors Miss Pesek

Among the courtesies extended Miss Patricia Sue Pesek and Joe Phillip Kliner whose marriage took place on Thursday afternoon, Feb 24, was when the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Klinner, graciously entertained at an after rehearsal buffet supper at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Pesek in Birmingham.

Bridal tones of artistic arrangements of gladioli, snapdragons and stock with greenery were used in the reception rooms.

In the dining room the bridal tones of pink and green were repeated in the table appointments and buffet supper.

Invited guests were: the honorees Mr. and Mrs. Charles Klinner, Mr. Howell Glenn, Jr., Miss Jane Gaskins, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Gaskins, Kenny Paul, Johnny Pesek and Miss Marie Smith.

Welcome to Clanton!

A welcome is extended to Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Richardson and their three sons who have moved to Clanton recently from Auburn. Mr. Richardson works with the Soil Conservation Service at the Thorsby Nursery. The Richardson's three sons aged 13 years, 9 years and 7 years. The Richardson's reside in the Rasberry home on the Birmingham Highway.

Miss Patricia Sue Pesek Wed To Joe Klinner

In a candlelight setting of exquisite beauty, Miss Patricia Sue Pesek bacame the bride of Joe Phillip Klinner at the Berney Points Baptist Church in Birmingham on February 24 at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Pesek of Birmingham. Mr. Klinner's parents are Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Klinner of Clanton. The Rev. Emmett J. Williams officiated at the double ring ceremony.

On this impressive occasion the awe inspiring chancel arch of the church framed a mural composed of wedding greenery, soft candle glow, and specimen bridal-white flowers. The mural arched in light from burning white cathedral candles held in wrought iron candelabras entwined with Southern smilax. On either side were sunburst arrangements of white gladioli, lilies, snapdragons and plumosis fern tied with handsome white satin streamers.

Family pews were marked with white satin bows.

A program of traditional nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Jerre Kyle and Dewey Kyle, who sang, "Because" as a fervent benediction. Mr. Kyle sang "The Prayer Perfect". The traditional wedding marches were used to announce the approach and departure of the bridal party.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was a portrait of lovliness in a white silk and chantilly lace waltz-length gown. It was made along princess lines with a molded bodice and a lace empire yoke topped with a lace jacket. A starched lace bandeau embroidered in aurescents and seed pearls held her illusion veil. She carried an exquisite boquet of lilies-of-the-valley centered with a white orchid.

Miss Jane Gaskins, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a ballerina dress of pink faille with a deep v-neckline and cap sleeves. The matching bandeau was trimmed with rhinestones.

Charles Kliner, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Kenny Paul and Howell Glenn, Jr.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained with a reception in the church parlor. Mrs. Pesek received in a beige silk dress styled with rhinestones. She wore a corsage of yellow roses.

Mrs. Klinner chose for her son's wedding a light green crepe dress trimmed with rhinestones. Her corsage was of sweet peas.

The church parlor was attractively decorated with sunburst arrangements of white gladioli and snapdragons. The brode's table was covered with a white satin cloth. The three-tiered spun sugar cake, embossed with confections' hand molded valley lilies and orchids formed the centerpiece.

After the traditional cutting of the cake by the bride and groom, it was served with punch and hand embossed mints.

Serving were Mrs. Londis Gaskins, Mrs. William C. Flewellen, Jr., Mrs. Charles Stephens, Mrs. Truman Armstrong and Mrs. Dan Hixon.

Miss Marie Smith presided at the bride's guest book.

During the evening the new Mr. and Mrs. Kliner left for a wedding trip to Florida. For traveling the bride chose a spring green flannel suit with avacado accessories. She wore an orchid corsage.

The couple will make their home in Tuscaloosa where both are students at the University of Ala.

Out-of-town guests from Clanton present were: Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Klinner, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Klinner, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Klinner and Emily, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dickinson and Caroline, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Hamilton, Mrs. Milton Bolton, Mrs. Ella Buxton, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Williams, Howell Glenn, Jr. and Miss Betty Molliston.

Miss Janet Leibold Honored With Tea Shower

Miss Janet Leibold, in honor of her approaching marriage to Mr. Joe Ellison, was graciously entertained on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 26, when Mrs. Lawrence F. Gerald, Jr. was hostess at a tea shower in her home from 3 til 5 o'clock. Mrs. Olin Fields served as co-hostess.

Greeting the guests as they arrived was Mrs. Fields. In the receiving line were Mrs. Gerald, Miss Leibold, Mrs. A. L. Leibold, the honoree's mother, and Mrs. [illegible] Ellison, mother of the bridegroom-to-be.

Lovely arrangements of seasonal flowers were used throughout the receiving rooms.

Mrs. Billy Hayes kept the bride's book. An exquisite antique vase holding a bouquet of yellow jonquils marked the bride's table.

Mrs. J Sam Johnson and Mrs. Roberty L. Bowers poured from a beautifully appointed table. The dining table covered with an imported cut-work cloth featured an elegant arrangement of giant jonquils. Assisting in serving were Miss Elizabeth Oglesby, Miss Helen Todd, and Mrs. Curtis Deason.

Mrs. Bernice Vance was in charge of the gift room.

The honoree was very pretty dressed in a frock with a white corsage.

Approximately fifty guests called during the afternoon.

Farmers' Social Security Program Is Outlined

Social security for farm families, how it works and what farmers need to do about it are explained in a booklet just issued under the joint sponsorship of the Internal Revenue Service and the Social Security Administration. It is now being mailed to every rural and star route boxholder in Chilton, Jefferson, Shelby and Walker counties, it was announced today by Mr. J. W. Overstreet, Jr. district manager of the social security office, and Mr. George D. Patterson, district director of the Internal Revenue Service.

This booklet is directed to the self-employed farmer, farm employers, and farm workers—approximately 5½ million in all—who were brought under social security on January 1. The purpose of the publication is to acquaint them with their benefits and tax obligations under the old age and survivors insurance program. The mailing to rural boxholders in this area is part of a nationwide distribution to farm people. Those farmers who do not receive a copy through this mailing may obtain one from the District Director of Internal Revenue or from the nearest social security office.

The booklet stresses the need for self-employed farmers and hired farm workers to apply for a social security account card if they do not already have one; it also points out to the farm operator who employs workers that he should secure an agricultural employer's identification number. Examples are given of the monthly benefit payments for themselves and their families toward which farmers are now building under the old-age and survivors insurance program.

One section of the booklet is devoted to explanations of how and when a farm operator must report his own and his workers' farm earnings. The farm operator will report his earnings from self-employment on the same return on which he reports Federal income tax. He will pay self-employment tax for each taxable year ending after 1954 in which his net earnings from self-employment are $400 or more. If the farm operator reports his income tax on a calendar year basis, his first report and payment of self-employment tax will be made for the calendar year 1955, and will be due not later than April 15, 1956.

If a farm operator has a worker to whom he expects to pay at least $100 in cash wages during 1955, he is advised in the booklet to keep a record of the name, social security account number, and the amount of wages paid to the worker. The farm employer, moreover, is told that he could deduct two percent social security tax from all cash wages paid to each such employee. As the employer, he must contribute an equal amount, report the wages, and pay the total social security tax of four percent to the District Director of Inernal Revenue.

The booklet includes an application form which employers of farm workers may send to the District Director in order to obtain further instructions, tax return forms, and an employer's identification number.

Sue Seale Receives Honors In Selma

(From the Times-Journal in Selma)

The impendng observance of National Beauty Salon Week has become the occason for a special honor paid locally to a nationally-known beautician and hair stylist. who has been named an honorary member of the Methodist Children's Village in recognition of her long and unselfish service to its youngsters.

Chosen as best typifying the objectives of the intensive philanthropic program which the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association promotes, Sue Seale, owner-manager of Sue's Beauty Salon not only has worked with the children of the home here in Selma. but has given her time and her skill to bringing happiness into the hearts of little girls, and larger ones, in other church and fraternal institutions in Alabama. The warmth of her interest and her friendship has extended to Wilmer Hall in Mobile, and to the Masonic Home in Montgomery, among several child-care agencies.

As expressed by Max E. Livingston, superintendent of the Children's Village here, " Sue has always managed to make each one of the youngsters she works with feel that she [illegible] their own special friend. The project which began several [illegible] ago in the Home [illegible] facilities is now [illegible] her spacious Broad [illegible] which children are [illegible] regular once-a-week [illegible] good [illegible]. No won[illegible] look so happy [illegible] members of her [illegible] the work, get [illegible] they undoubt[illegible] as they [illegible] they look mighty good.

And when the little girls get big, they want to be like Sue—and make other people happy, too. As their friend and their counselor, she takes the [illegible] of the proper age and shows them the art of the beauty profession, little by little, as fast as they can learn, and [illegible] they learn [illegible]. Thanks [illegible] under [illegible] the encouragemen[illegible] she gives them, before [illegible] "State Board Examination" [illegible] has them licensed operators. Several of her students are making good in other cities now.

So this is the story of how Sue came to be an honorary member of the Methodist's Children's Home with all the rights and privileges appertaining thereunto, as summed up by Superintendent Livingston. She [illegible] walk on the campus anytime and immediately be surrounded by an army of friends and admirers. What bigger honor could any[illegible]

[illegible]abama's only member of the [illegible]ial Hair Fashion Council of [illegible] national Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, which has conferred upon her numerous honors, Sue Seale, in her work with children here and elsewhere, is helping to focus attention upon the contributions which fellow-members of her profession have made toward aiding the physical and mental well-being of persons confined in more than 2,000 institutions in the United States.

Spokesman for the assocation, Mrs. Seale pointed out that it is hoped that this year, in Alabama. twelve graduate beauticians will be enlisted every three months to carry on the continuing program in the state, as fostered by the NHCA which is an organization of registered hairdressers and cosmetologists founded in 1821 to further high standards of professional beauty care.

Proclaimed by Mayor Chris L Heinz, National Beauty Salon Week in Selma, from February 20-26, also will give the public the opportunity of paying recognition to the hairdressers and cosmetologists whose services are dedicated to the grooming of American women for greater beauty and to uplifting morale in homes for the aged and the orphaned hospitals and similar institutions into which their creative abilty, backed by years of traning, experience and skill, has reached through a program of public service recognized [illegible] the medical profession for its therapeutic values.

SLOW DOWN and Live

Educators Study Ways And Means For Improvements

Dr. A. R. Meadows, State Supt. of Education, annocnced today that county and city superintendents of education from the 111 county and city school systems met in Montg. yesterday to consider proposing ways and means to pull public education in Alabama out of the educational crisis that has hung over the schools from depression and wartime days. The superintendents recommended unanimously that the Governor be urged to call a special session of the Legislature for education or to include in the next call for the following purposes:

1. To provide revenue to replace the onetime surplus from which part of the salaries of teachers is now beng paid, and which, if not replaced, will result in teachers' salary cuts and a loss of many teachers to other states or occupations.
2. To provide additional revenue to bring teachers' salares up to approximately the average of the Southern States.
3. To provide additional funds to relieve overcrowding in classrooms.
4. To authorize a $150,000,000 bond issue for school buildings and equipment to be submitted to the people and to provide funds to retire such bonds.

It was the unanimous opinion of the superintendents that a special session is needed to forestall a new exodus of teachers from the teaching profession in Alabama and to meet the urgent need for further equalizing educatonal opportunity in Alabama.

The superintendents voted unanimously to request the Legislature of Alabama to provde the additional revenue needed by making the 3 per cent sales tax and the 3 per cent use tax apply generally on all items sold rather than on selected items, and by securing the remainder of the needed revenue from the state income tax. There are now at least 30 exemptions in the 3 per cent sales tax and the use tax.

The superintendents voted unanimously to support [illegible] legislation to secure additional state funds needed by the elimination of exemptions in the present taxes earmarked for schools, in the hope that a new state tax can be avoided.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

EMERGENCIES—PART II

Everyone needs to know something about first aid. Your knowledge may save a person's life until medical personnel can arrive.

Scratches or deep wounds should not be treated lightly, because of the germs that may gain entrance and cause severe infections. Frequently sterile gauze or essential antiseptic substances are not convenient on the scene of an accident. Until the physician arrives, every care should be provided to prevent contamination.

If bleeding occurs, remember that blood from the veins is bluish red in color and flows steadily, not in spurts. The blood from a cut artery is bright red in color and comes in spurts. For bleeding from veins press hard with the fingers on the side away from the heart. For bleeding of an artery the pressure should be applied on the side toward the heart. Effort should be made to stop bleeding, because the loss of evan a quart of blood may be fatal.

A tourniquet may be applied to control hemorrhage. The tourniquet should be a flat band at least an inch wide. It is applied by encircling the injured limb above the point of bleeding. A necktie, a stocking or a handkerchief will make a satisfactory temporary tourniquet. Never use a rope or cord because of the possibility of further injury. By twisting a stick in the knot, the tourniquet can be tightened; but great care is necessary, for this application can be dangerous and should be used only when the bleeding cannot be stopped by finger pressure. If a tourniquet is used, compress it only enough to halt bleeding; and release it a little for a minute or two every ten or fifteen minutes.

If called on to apply first aid, too much emphasis cannot be placed on the fact that, when in doubt, do nothing. See that a physician is called at once. These few precautions may save the life of an accident victim. Be prepared for emergencies.

Vaccinate Chicks At Early Stage

Those baby chicks which have just gone into brooder houses are alarmingly vulnerable to two dreaded poultry diseases, unless they have been properly vaccinated.

This reminder to poultrymen comes from John P. Weeks, API Extension poultry specialist. Weeks said today that Newcastle and bronchitis diseases are both widespread among Alabama flocks, and baby birds are most seriously affected by them than are older chickens. But the little biddies can't withstand the virulent vaccines given older birds by the wing-web method.

Vaccination of the young chicks is done with a modified strain of the disease virus, Weeks explained. And the vaccine is administered in one of the methods which produce a generalized infection—in nose or eye drops, injection, spray, dust, or drinking water. The cost is only a penny a bird.

Grow young pullets away from old hens to keep them strong, healthy and productive.

Free Designs For Farm Home Water Systems Offered

Auburn, Ala.—A new kind of farm service is to be offered under a program planned jointly by the API Extension Service and state suppliers of electric power. Beginning this week, farmers may get free individual designs for their home water systems.

This information was revealed here today by Extension Farm Buildings Specialist W. T. Cox who explained that the new program will be handled through county agents' offices. Agents this week are receiving information sheets to be filled out by farmrs applying for the service, he added.

Cox said recommendations made by cooperating engineers will include the type and capacity of pump, size and voltage of motor, wire size, pressure tank size, and pipe size. State Health Department officials will lend their assistance in testing water supplies and furnishing additional information about septic tank or other sewage-disposal systems.

According to the Extension expert, 26.7 percent of Alabama farms had electric water systems at the end of 1954.

Around OUR HOUSE

by Kathryn Tucker Windham

The other night after supper, just as I had the sink all bubbly with soap flakes and the dishes ready to pop into it, there came a telephone call for me.

After the telephone call, a variety of other interruptions kept me out of the kitchen for a little while. Suddenly it occurred to me that the two-year-old wasn't on the scene and was being very quiet, wherever she was.

"Where are you?" I called.

I'm in the kitchen on my see-stool," came the answer.

"What are you doing?"

"I'm just making a grandpa," she replied innocently.

Making a grandpa? I sped to the kitchen. There she was, sitting on her see-stool at the sink, scooping up the soap suds and putting them on her face like long, white whiskers.

Telephone calls always seem to be interrupting things, at least around our house. Just this morning the telephone rang while I was right in the middle of icing a cake. Should I answer the telephone and let the cake icing get too hard to spread, or should I let the telephone go unanswered and finish the cake while the icing was at the right stage to spread on?

Curiosity, as it always does, got the better of me. I let the telephone win out over the icing. The call turned out to be unimportant, but when I got back to the kitchen, the icing was too hard to spread. The cake was a mess.

I was still wailing my misfortune, when the next door neighbor came in.

"The icing would have waited perfectly if you had only covered the bowl with a damp dish towel when you went to answer the telephone," she said.

Her advice didn't help my feelings any then, but I'll try to remember it for future use.

The neighbor down the street, the one with the big family, pretties up her cakes without using any icing at all.

A sifter, a lace paper doily and confectioners' sugar are the only tools she needs to turn a plain cake into something special. She puts the frilly doily on top of the cake sifts confectioners' sugar over it and then carefully lifts up the doily, leaving a dainty design on the cake.

"It's simple to do," this neighbor says. "It's quick, and the decoration pleases the children. Besides we're all getting too fat; don't need any sweet, gooey icing on our cake."

Occasionally, despite the expanding waistlines around her house, this neighbor uses her confectioners' sugar to make an uncooked frosting for her cake.

Sometimes, she gets the icing too thin & finds that she has no more sugar to add to it. Know what she does then? She uses cornstarch adding it to the icing, to make it thick enough to spread.

Here's this neighbor's recipe for uncooked chocolate flavor frosting: Melt ½ stick margarine in sauce pan over low heat. Add (through sifter) one-third cup cocoa, 2 cups confectioners' sugar and dash of salt. Add ½ teaspoon vanilla and 3 tablespoons milk (more or less as needed for proper consistency), mix well and spread on cake.

Solution Found To Keep Nylon White

Miss Stella Mitchell, API Extension home management specialist, has a "solution" for the grey look that calims so many pretty white nylon garments: (1) after washing, stir garments in a solution of one package of color remover to a gallon of hot water, maintaining temperature of 160 degrees, for 30 to 60 minutes. Rinse thoroughly in hot water. (2) soak garments half an hour in a gallon of warm water containing two tablespoons of clorox and the same amount of a detergent. Rinse in warm water. (3) For final dunking, put nylons in a gallon of warm water containing a tablespoon of optical whitener.

Drip dry and press with warm iron.

A paper plate in the bottom of the kitchen garbage pail will help keep it celan and dry.

Mr. Motley offered the following resolution for adoption; which was duly seconded by Mr. Dunlap:

BE IT RESOLVED AND ORDERED: That The Board of Revenue and Control enter into the following agreement with the State Highway Department on SACP-3145-A:

Maintenance Of Project— Chilton County SACP-3145-A

ARTICLE VII — The County hereby assumes the obligation of perpetual maintenance of the project beginning on the date the same is completed and accepted by the State Highway Department. Such maintenance shall preserve the riding surface and typical section of the roadway by means of systematic routine and periodic repair, the nurture and replacement when necessary of grass, and ditch checks, or other devices for prevention of erosion, the protection of inflammable structures from fire, and maintaining the inlet and outlet ditches to drainage structures in such condition that the said structures may function properly at all times. The County agrees that failure on its part to maintain the project in condition satisfactory to the State Highway Department shall be cause for said State Highway Department to defer beginning a new project, until the maintenance of this project has been brought to satisfactory condition.

The above stated resolution was adopted by a unanimous vote of all the members present and the Chairman declared said resolution duly adopted.

Mr. Cost offered the following resolution for adoption which was duly seconded by Mr. Dunlap:

BE IT RESOLVED AND ORDERED: That The Board of Revenue and Control enter into the following agreement with the State Highway Department on SACP-3152-A.

Maintenance Of Project— Chilton County SACP-3152-A

ARTICLE VII — The County hereby assumes the obligation of perpetual maintenance of the project beginning on the date same is completed and accepted by the State Highway Department. Such maintenance shall preserve the riding surface and typical section of the roadway by means of systematic routine and periodic repair, the nurture and replacement when necessary of grass, and ditch checks, or other devices for prevention of erosion, the protection of inflammable structures from fire, and maintaining the inlet and outlet ditches to drainage structures in such condition that the said structures may function properly at all times. The County agrees that failure on its part to maintain the project in condition satisfactory to the State Highway Department shall be cause for said State Highway Department to defer beginning a new project, until the maintenance of this project has been brought to satisfactory condition.

The above stated resolution was adopted by a unanimous vote of all the members present and the Chairman declared said resolution duly adopted.

Mr. Dunlap offered the following resolution for adoption; which was duly seconded by Mr. Motley:

BE IT RESOLVED AND ORDERED: That M. D. Tingle, as Chairman of this Board, be, and he [illegible] directed to execute in favor of [illegible] United States Fidelity and [illegible] Company a cancellation [illegible] George T. [illegible] county engineer of Chilton County, Alabama effective January 31, 1955, and release said county from acts of said engineer after said date.

The above stated resolution was adopted by a unanimous vote of all the members present and the Chairman declared said resolution duly adopted.

Mr. Dunlap offered the following preamble and resolution for adoption which were duly seconded by Mr. Smith:

WHEREAS, Beanie Bates, Grady [illegible] and Iris Bates; and C. R. [illegible] Carey [illegible] and Eardene Glenn have executed options to Chilton County, Alabama for the purchase of lands for improvements to the County Airport,

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED AND ORDERED: That said options with the terms and conditions stated therein are acceptable to the Board and that same be filed for record in the office of the Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Alabama.

The above stated preamble and resolution were adopted by a unanimous vote of all the members present and the Chairman declared said resolution duly adopted.

Mr. Motley offered the following preamble and resolution for adoption, which were duly seconded by [illegible]

WHEREAS, Chilton County Alabama has plans for the construction and improvement of a permanent type of paved road in Chilton County, Ala., which said road is from U. S. Highway No. 82 west toward Sprott, and which said road has been designated as project number SACP-3145-A, and

WHEREAS, a map of said project is duly filed and recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Alabama, in map book number three, page number fifty-nine, and

WHEREAS, on said map there is designated the property owners across whose property said right-of-way and easements pass, and

WHEREAS, all said designated property owners have executed conveyances to Chilton County of said rights-of-way and easements, except across the properties described as Wade Smith, Tract 6; G. C. Latham, Tract 14; and A. E. Maness, Tract 15, and

WHEREAS, it is necessary to make, construct, widen and extend said public highway or road over and across said tracts of land for the use of the citizens of Chilton County, Alabama and the public at large.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED AND ORDERED: That Chilton County proceed immediately to institute and prosecute condemnation proceedings to acquire the necessary rights of way and easements for the construction and improvement of said highway project upon, over and across the lands designated on said map as the lands of Wade Smith, Tract 6, G. C. Latham, Tract 14, and A. E. Maness, Tract 15. All of said lands lying and being within the boundaries of the right-of-way of said map as recorded.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED AND ORDERED: That Joe Mullins, an Attorney at Law, be, and he is hereby employed and authorized to file and prosecute said condemnation suit on behalf of Chilton County and to do any and all acts necessary for the acquisition of said rights-of-way and easements as shown by said map and specifications approved by the State Highway Department.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED AND ORDERED: That compensation for services rendered by said Attorney shall be fixed at a reasonable amount upon entering final decree in the Probate Court in said matter.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED AND ORDERED: That the highway shown and embraced within the property lines of said map as recorded be, and the same is hereby declared a public road or highway.

The above stated preamble and resolution were adopted by a unanimous vote of all the members present and the Chairman declared said resolution duly adopted.

Mr. Cost offered the following resolution for adoption; which was duly seconded by Mr. Dunlap:

BE IT RESOLVED AND ORDERED: There being no further business to come before the meeting, that said Board adjourn.

The above stated resolution was adopted by a unanimous vote of all the members present and the Chairman declared said resolution duly adopted.

I, Harold H. Smyer, Clerk of The Board of Revenue and Control of Chilton County, Alabama, hereby certify that the foregoing minutes of the proceedings of said Board meeting held on February 14 1955 were entered and recorded in this minute book, reproduced and a sufficient number of copies of same were filed in the office of the Probate Judge, a copy of same furnished to the Chilton County News, a newspaper published in Chilton County, for publication, and a copy of the same was posted in a conspicuous place in the courthouse on the 24th day of February, 1955.

Modern Farming Methods Necessitate A Good Seed Bed

Auburn, Ala.—Modern methods of planting, cultivating, and harvesting crops with machines demand a good, smooth seedbed for best execution.

This timely advice to farmers about to start spring planting was offered here today by J. T. Gaillard, API Extension specialist in farm mechanization. The seedbed is basic said Gaillard, basic in that uniformty of depth of seed and spacng of rows and plants can be effected only when planting machines have a firm, even foundation on which to roll. He explained that cultural practices, chemical weed control, and machine harvesting can be carried out most successfully only if there is uniformity of depth and spacing. So the seedbed is really basic to the entire process.

Preparation of a good seedbed begins in the fall when stalks and other crop residue are cut and left to rot during winter months. Obstructions such as stumps, rocks, and gullies must be taken care of before plowing starts. Gaillard listed other steps which should be undertaken just before seeding time.

Several important points are taken care of by breaking the land at least six inches deep with a turnplow. Organic matter is incorporated into the soil, soil particles are pulverized and reorganized, and grass and weed seed are buried and destroyed. Next, the field should be disced to remove aid pockets and clods, thereby firming the soil. Then a section harrow or drag must be used to smooth the land. The last step, final firming with a cultipacker or similar implement, is particularly necessary when small garns, clovers, or grasses are to be planted. Built in this way, the seedbed is ready to support precision planting, cultivation and harvesting for the highest yields.

ARTHRITIS?

I have been wonderfully blessed in being restored to active life after being crippled in nearly every joint in my body and with muscular soreness from head to foot. I had Rheumatoid Arthritis and other forms of Rheumatism, hands deformed and my ankles were set.

Limited space prohibits telling you more here but if you will write me, I will reply at once and tell you how I received this wonderful relief.

Scientists Continue To Fight Pesky Common Flies

Auburn, Ala.—All else. . . including the modern miracle insecticide DDT. . . having failed, agricultural scientists again took up the search for some way to get rid of those pesky flies which still plague most farmsteads. And, according to API Extension Entomologist W. A. Ruffin, they came up with some satisfactory answers.

Ruffin today reported that fly baits which combine old principles with new chemicals are proving to be the best means of combating flies. Two effective chemicals, malathion and diazinon, may be purchased seperately or in prepared fly baits. Another, Bayer L 13-59, is available only in a prepared bait. Ruffin added that at present diazinon is not approved for use in dairy barns. In any case, manufacturers' directions should be followed to the letter.

The entomologist advised that homemakers and farm owners go after those annoying, disease-bearing flies as soon as the first adults appear. Flies will become active with the first warm weather, Ruffin said.

In choosing a home refrigerator, say home authorities, allow one to two cubic feet of space per person in the family and two extra cubic feet for entertainment needs.

Over 4,000 Asked For Welfare Aid During January

Montgomery, Ala.—More than 4,400 applications for financial aid were received by county welfare departments in January, according to figures released today by Dr. J. S. Snoddy, Commissioner State Welfare Department. This brought to a total of 6,659 the number of applications in process of being investigated at the end of the month he said.

"County workers are handling the applications as rapidly as possible," he added, "with over 3,700 being handled in January." However, there was an increase of 1,358 in the number received in January over December.

The aged continued to be the largest number receiving aid, the Commissioner reported. Payments averaging $30.29 were made to 63.309 needy people in January. They received $1,917,374.37 of the total of slightly over $3 million spent for assisstance payments last month.

Other receiving aid included 1,558 needy blind, 17,048 families in which there were 50,215 dependent children, 859 children receiving foster care, 9,298 permanently and totally disabled persons, and 154 families facing emergencies.

Farmers unable to plant their full allotmnts of cotton this year may release the unwanted acreage to other farmers and yet get credit for planting it themselves. In this way, they can protect themselves insofar as future allotments are concerned, help their neighbors, and keep their state allotment up.

Our present rate of populational increase in this country is enough to re-populate Alabama in one and one-half years, according to API Extension economist Foy Helms.

The Primacy Of Prayer

That prayer should claim a very important place in the lives of Christians, one has only to examine the Scriptures. Jesus prayed often and taught his Desciples to pray, and said: Men aught always to pray and not to faint." The Model Prayer was biven in answer to a question coming from the soul-hunger for fellowship and power through prayer. The souls of men gravitate toward God through prayer.

"Prayer changes things" in that it is God's means to get the individual's mind and heart turned toward Him and heavenly things; to break down the will of selfishness and to change the motives and interest toward the accomplishment of God's will and purpose in the entire life.

God answers our prayers on the basis of our willingness to accept His will and divine purpose in our lives this is for the greatest good for the individual and to the extending of God's Kingdom to the ends of the earth.

We need to pray as constantly as we eat our daily meals, or even more. The very growth of our spiritual lives depends upon our prayer life. This is the strongest means God gives us to accomplish our destiny in this life. Every Chhristian's prayer habits should be consistent, unselfish, filled with love toward God and to all men, knowing God's power to sustain in grace and to give courage to those who need it most, and in every thing to suit unto His children just what they need for each and every experience in life.

Our coming simultaneous revival in our Baptist churches should claim our hearts and lives in devotion and service in winning the lost to saving knowledge of Christ and to the reviving the members of the churches. Let's be faithful in holding special prayer services in the churches and homes, wel in advance to the actual coming of the meetings in the churches.

Committee Seeks Aid For State Mental Institutions

"This is a challenge to the Christian beliefs of the people of Ala.. . .

"The horror of mental illness and the plight of this State's mental patients should be placed directly before the soul of every Alabama man, woman and child. . ."

Milton Cummings, Huntsville broker, made those remarks as he and 27 fellow members of the "All State Mental Health" campaign advisory council wound up a tour of Bryce hospital and Partlow State School last Friday.

The "All State" team—key Ala. business, educational and political leaders— walked through un-ending, crowded, memory plaguing wards where Alabama's mentally sick are housed.

They went to "get the facts" on Alabama mental hospital conditions today—conditions made severe by shortages of trained personnel, shortages of beds for patients in desperate need of hospitalization, shortages in funds for drastically needed new buildings.

When they were through, many of them said simply, "I had no idea. . ."

The "All State" team learned the following facts:

That some 5 percent of the Alabama public is in a mental hospital;

That some 30 percent of the Alabama public is in need of expert psychiatric treatment.

They learned that there are nearly 400 names on the waiting lists for mental institutions, and that often, when desperately sick patients are unable to get hospital space, they must be temporarily placed in jails.

They learned that Bryce Hospital has only 13 doctors and 4700 patients; that Partlow School has only two doctors for 1200 patients; that trained nurses are all but non-existant on the hospital staffs.

They learned that Alabama, as of today, is on the losing side of the battle against mental disease, because too little has been done in the past.

But they saw hope for the future. "If the people of Alabama actually knew what this situation is, they would do something about it," said A. J. Barnett, secretary of the State Federation of Labor. "We have put emphasis in the past on a lot of things, which we will de-emphasize when we realize human lives must be considered."

William P. Engel, Birmingham civic leader and busness man, pointed out "we are spending money for h'ways, children's hospitals, tuberculosis hospitals—all good things, but where have we been with the problem of mental sickness? We must wake up."

Dr. Oliver C. Carmichael, University of Alabama president, described the tour as a "very impressive sight—something we can not see and continue to do nothing about."

William Mitch, United Mine Workers, said "words are inadequate for what we now know. We need the wholehearted support of the entire state in this fight."

Dr. Ralph Draughan, Alabama Polytechnic Institute president, said "the growing rate of mental illness is fantastic—something we must face, and face squarely."

The "All State" team had high praise for Dr. Tarwater and the hospital staff.

Other members of the "All State" advisory council are: former state Sen. Jimmy Faulkner; Lt. Gov. James B. Allen; probate judge W. E. Farrar, Reform; Ed Leigh, McMillan, Brewton Industrial leader.

The mental health campaign will climax with an intensive fund drive the first week in May. A $150,000 goal is sought for education and research programs to combat mental illness in Alabama.

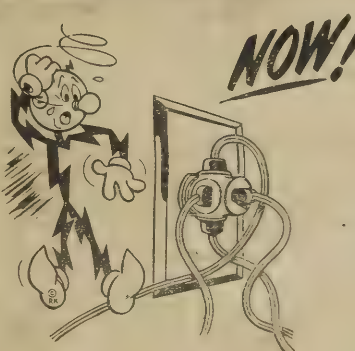
DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT NOW!



If you have to use strangler plugs, it's a sign that your house wiring has not kept up-to-date. It means that most likely you are not getting the utmost efficiency from your electrical appliances.

Remember last summer? It was hot. The coming summer will be, too. Last summer a lot of folks who bought room air conditioners found that they would not operate satisfactorily until they put in the right kind of wiring. Some found electrical contractors so busy that the summer was almost over before they could do all the wiring that needed to be done.

Avoid Disappointment This Coming Summer—Do Something About Bringing Your House Wiring Up-To-Date NOW!

Electrical contractors aren't as busy now as they will be when the weather gets warm, so they can do the job promptly. You can pay for additional wiring or complete renovation of your present wiring on Alabama Power Company's easy monthly payment plan — with your electric service bill. Ask your electrical contractor about it, or mail the coupon below.

HIGHLAND NEWS

Our attendance was small Sun. and Sunday night, on account of sickness in several of the families. We wish for them a speedy recovery.

Bro. Vester Bice delivered two wonderful messages, which I am sure were an inspiration to everyone present.

The church granted Bro. Eugene Dennis the privilege to come to this place and preach any time on the first and third Sundays that he can. We are looking forward to having him with us.

Our mid-week services have been changed from Thursday night to Wednesday night. Let us all remember this and attend these prayer services. We especially ask everyone who is interestd in having a singing school at this place to be present Wednesday night.

Beginning next Monday night, March 7th, we will have cottage prayer meetings in the homes in the comunity. It will be held Monday night at the home of Mr. J. C. Billingsley. We urge you to keep this in mind and attend these services each night. Our spring revival will be the following week, beginning March 13th, with the pastor, Bro. Vester Bice doing the preaching.

PUBLISHED EACH THURSDAY

One Of Alabama's Leading Weeklies

VOLUME XXXIII CLANTON, ALABAMA THURSDAY, MARCH 10, 1955 NUMBER 10

Folks and Things ABOUT TOWN

—By Ben

Well we promised last week that we would print information on the new driver's license law this week and that we are going to do. We will not quote the law on the new arrangement but try to tell you in our own words just how it works. Driver's licenses are now due on your birthday instead of on Nov. 1 of each year as in the past. If you have a birthday this month, for instance, and you were born in an odd year, then your drivers license is due. If you had been born in an even year than you will owe no driver license until your next birthday. According to Ed Propst, State Highway Patrolman who gives driver examinations in Chilton County, any day in the month you were born is alright to purchase your driver license. The license will cost you $2.25 and is good for two years or until another birthday falling on an even or odd year as the case may be.

Speaking of driver licenses an article in last month's Powergrams says that in the future people may greet you on your birthday with: "Happy Driver's license day to you." The article goes on further to say "...this is the year that the state of Alabama begins the new system of issuing driver's licenses on your birthday. Many motorists will lose a few months of use on their old licenses—if their birthday falls in the early months of the year—but those with January birthdates won't have to buy again until January, 1957."

How about that local resident who was crawling around on his all-fours at the theatre the other night. Someone asked him what the idea was and he said he had dropped a caramel. When asked why all the trouble just to find a caramel he answered: "My false teeth are in it."

Kipling was a little off the ball when he wrote, East is East, and West is West, and never the twain shall meet, wasn't he?

Clanton and Chilton County now has an opportunity to grow through new industries that are planning to come here if conditions are favorable. This can only be obtained by all interested citizens working together with petty jealousies and differences forgotten. The first consideration should be Chilton County and whether or not the planned operation would be of benefit to our county. Then all should combine their efforts and talents and try to secure the needed facilities to encourage the new industries. Let's all try and be boosters, we don't need any woodpeckers they don't know how to do anything but knock.

Looks like Clanton High School basketball team reached the heights last Saturday at Selma when they cleaned Lanier's greens in their win over Lanier they won the Third District ClassAA Championship. The score was 57 to 52. The players and points made in the final game that won the championship were: Littlejohn (15); Powell (18); Oaks (4); Moore(6); Easterling (10). Substitutes for Clanton were: Powell, Billingsley, Thornton, Mims and Payton.

The CCHS Tigers left today (Thursday) for Tuscaloosa where they play their first game in the tournament for the State championship. Their first game, which will be played at 8:30, will be against Monroeville. If they win their Friday game will be against Alexandra and will be played at 8:30 also. Then Saturday they will play the finalist in the competition. The local boys are to be congratulated as is their coach V. L. Bulger and we wish for them all the success necessary to bring home the State championship.

Variety Show At Cooper March 17th

Cooper PTA will give a Variety Show in the school auditorium beginning at 7:30, Thursday night, March 17th. Tickets are 25 cents and 50 cents.

A chicken supper will be served on the same date in the school lunch room beginning at 5:30 p.m. Proceeds from both the supper and the show will be used to remodel the lunch room. Your patronage will be greatly appreciated.

Mayor Jones Proclaims March As Crippled Children's Month

Mayor C. Fenn Jones named March the "month for crippled children" in a proclamation issued from the executive office Wednesday, March 9th, in Clanton.

The proclamation was issued in support of the 1955 Easter Seal Campaign, scheduled March 10th to April 10th in Chilton County and across the State.

"I consider it a privilege to proclaim a month for crippled children," Mayor Jones said in a statement accompanying the proclamation. "I hope that citizens of Chilton County will make it a point to learn what they can do to help crippled children individually and how they can integrate them into communities as important potential fellow citizens. I also hope that residents of Clanton and Chilton County take advantage of the privilege presented to them for directly helping crippled children through the Easter Seal Campaign. The program carried out by the Chilton County Chapter of the Alabama Society for Crippled Children and Adults, the Easter Seal Society, is one of which we may all be proud.

The Mayor's Proclamation read:

WHEREAS, there are in the State of Alabama 20,300 children with Orthopedic handicaps, 93,500 children with speech defects, 73,000 Orthopedically handicapped adults, of which there are in Chilton County 287 Crippled Children, 125 Crippled Adults, and

WHEREAS, the responsibility of giving each child a chance at health and happiness and a future means of livlihood is a responsibility we must assume to maintain both the humanitarian and economic life of our City, County, State and Nation; and

WHEREAS, it has proved feasible to provide such care and treatment services through the Easter Seal Society to help dependent crippled children become independent adults and self-supporting citizens; and

WHEREAS, the necessary services for crippled children and efficiently and highly effectively administered by the Alabama Society for Crippled Children and Adults, the Easter Seal Society in the State of Alabama; and

WHEREAS, more and more services must be provided and those established, maintained despite rising costs; and

WHEREAS, the annual Easter Seal Campaign of the Alabama Society for Crippled Children and Adults is the chief source of support of its many services to the crippled in this County and State;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, C. Fenn Jones, Mayor of the City of Clanton do hereby proclaim the month of March 1955, as the Month for Crippled Children and urge all citizens to not only generously support this appeal but to learn what they can do to help crippled children as individuals.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the City of Clanton affixed.

Chilton Betas Place Third In Talent Contest

Chilton County Beta skit "Say It With Flowers" won third place in the talent contest at the Alabama Beta Club Convention in Birmingham Friday night. Each one of the five clubs in the county took part in the skit. The theme behind the skit was the promotion of International spirit and cooperation. Prizes of money were given to the four top entries in the contest. We are very proud of our County Beta Association.

Revival Crusade Leaders Report Favorable Progress

Great reports are coming in from the various churches relative to the Simultaneous Revivals. Several of the churches are now in the midst of their revivals and several other will begin this coming Sunday Mars Hill, Mulberry, Highland, Pates Chapel, Maplesville, Poplar Springs, Macedonia No. 1 and Center Hill.

No one will doubt the benefit of the Simultaneous effort when they actually see the great results from it. We hope that your church will have the greatest revival of its history.

Jesus said: "When Zion travails son's and daughters will be born into the Kisgdom." A lost man cannot be revived, but he can be evangelized. The revival belongs to the church. If God's people would get on fire for God, there is no end to what can happen even among the lost. On one occasion we find in the word of God: "And it was noised abroad that he was in the house.'

Again we find: "If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin and will heal their land." II Chron 7:14.

As I see people cooperate in this Revival Crusade, I am reminded of the incident in the word of God where four men put their efforts together under serious difficulty to carry a palsied man to Jesus. Spiritual pasly is far more serious than just physical palsy.

Every community has people in it who are spiritually paralyzed It is up to you and me to go out after them. The responsibility of the church is very great. What are we doing about it?

Eisenhower Sends Greetings To American Legion

Among many outstanding citizens throughout the world who are extending greetings and congratulations are Gen. Ridgway, chief of staff, U.S. Army, Gen. Twining. Chief of Staff, U.S.A.F. and Pres. Dwight D. Eisenhower. We quote the one received from the President:

"To all my fellow members of The American Legion, I extend warm greetings on the occasion of its thirty-sixth birthday.

Since the early days of peace following World War I, Legionnaires have stood for a high sense of patriotic duty—for unwavering devotion to homeland, for citizen alertness and effort to preserve an America strong and free and secure.

May resoluteness and wisdom characterize the activities of the men of The American Legion as they uphold these principles thru many decades to come.

Sincerely,

-s- Dwight D. Eisenhower

Thorsby Post 206 Will Celebrate Legion Birthday

Local Legionnaires are planning a gay celebration of the 36th anniversary of the birth of the American Legion which occurs Mar 15 to 17.

A birthday party has been scheduled by Thorsby, Ala post No. 206 of the Legion of Thorsby for the night of March 18th, according to E. R. Yeargan, local post Com.

The local event will be part of a coast to coast chain of post celebrations. The American Legion has 17,200 posts, most of which are making elaborate plans for celebrating the organization's 1955 birthday.

The American Legion was founded at a caucas of delegates from the 1st AEF in Paris, France, Mar 15 to 17, 1919, according to Commander Yeargan. It is the only American veterans' organization founded overseas by fighting men and women. It includes today, eligible veterans of World War I World War II and of the Korean Conflict.

As part of a nationwide birthday program, the local post is intensifying its 1955 membership activity. The American Legion is now riding the greatest membership crest in all its history. National Commander Seaborn P. Collins has called on all American Legion posts to push the 1955 enrollment over the 3,000,000 mark by March 15.

37 Million Dollar Contract Let For Ordinance Works

Congressman Armistead I Selden was notified by the Department of the Army Tuesday afternoon that 37 million, 600 thousand dollars contract has been awarded for rehabilitation of facilities at the Alabama Ordinance Works near Sylacauga.

The rehabilitation of the Alabama Ordinance Works will be supervised by the Corps of Engineers and is expected to take approximately two and one-half years.

It is estimated that employment will be provided for from four to five thousand construction workers at the peak of construction.

Cattlemen To Meet At Maplesville Next Wednesday

The Spring meeting of the Chilton County beef producers has been scheduled to be held Wed., March 16th. The meeting will be held in the Western part of the county and will be devoted principally to a study of feed crop production practices. Mr. J. C. Lowery Extension Agronomist, API, at Auburn will be assisting in this production study.

In addition to the pasture and feed crop study, an interesting tour of beef production in the Maplesville area will be held. Also to make the meeting more attractive and convenient a "charred steak dinner is to be prepared for those that attend. Cattlemen' wives are encouraged to attend both the meeting and the dinner

The meeting will convene at Stremming Veneer Company's recreation area in Maplesville beginning at 10.00 a.m.

School Costs Climb, Too

By J. H. Boockholdt

Probably the most noticeable trend in our economic situation during recent years has been the rising cost of everything we buy. We are seemingly becoming reconciled to the fact that we can expect an increase in the price of most of the items we buy each time we purchase.

The education of our children is no exception. When we study prices and costs for 1955 in comparison with prices and costs in 1940, we find that the cost of all items have increased tremendously and in many cases have doubled and more. A study of the records of the Chilton County Board of Education will give us a few samples as shown by the following table:

Comparison of school costs in 1940 and 1955—

Item	1940	1955
School bus	$1252	$2647
Student desk	4.87	11.00
Carpenters wage	.50	1.25
Nut coal (del)	5.75	11.00
Elec. (mo. of Jan.	52.49	676.81
Tel. (mo. of Jan.)	8.65	173.00
Lmbr. for cab. (per m)	40.00	120.00
Typewriter for inst.	70.00	165.00
Bldg. classrm. (sq. ft.)	2.75	8.25

The cost of instruction has climbed from $151,341 in 1940 to 591,482 in 1954.

Increases in electricity and telephone costs represent for the greater part, increases in services. In 1940 the Board had only one telephone. Today there are sixteen. Then, a refrigerator or hot-water heater was unheard of in the schools. Now, most schools have them.

These few illustrations are enough to give us a general idea of why schools are costing so much more today. We prefer to think of educational expenditures as being an investment rather than an expense. Certainly money spent on the education of our children will come back to us and to our community manyfold. On the contrary, pinching pennies in their education will be a serious handicap to them and to our community in later years. Instead of asking the question "can we afford a good education system?" we must be ready to say, "We cannot afford NOT to educate our children."

Save A Life-

Bloodmobile To Visit Clanton Tuesday

The Red Cross Bloodmobile is returning to Clanton on March 15; local Blood Center to be at the First Methodist Church in Clanton. Open from noon until 6 p.m. This means the citizens of this county will once again have the opportunity to participate in one of the most effective life-saving systems of our time.

Doctors are placing more and more dependence upon the administration of whole blood to seriously ill or injured patients. Although medicine has made giant strides in recent years, no discovery has yet been made which could serve as a substitute for the giving of whole blood to the patient who needs it.

The necessity of public support for the Red Cross blood program is clearly demonstrated by a glance at current statistics. Last year Red Cross blood was given to a hospital patient in this country on the average of every 20 seconds. One out of every five persons admitted to a hospital needs at least one pint of blood.

Everyone knows how blood collected by Red Cross and given to the Defense Department saved lives of American fighting men in the recent Korean conflict. Civilian blood needs, however, vastly exceed those experienced in Korea. Over a three-year period in Korea 103,492 American Servicemen were wounded. But 90 times that number of U.S. civilians suffer accidental injuries every year—and many must have blood transfusions to survive.

The Red Cross blood program offers the adult citizens of this community a two-fold opportunity. In the first place, a blood donor reaps the satisfaction of knowing that he is helping his fellow-man; by donating a pint of blood he or she is performing a merciful service for humanity. In the second place, he is getting "insurance" for himself and members of his family for the card each donor receives entitles him and his immediate family to free Red Cross blood for a period of eight months in case their physician orders it

There are other benefits. The donor is helping to build up and maintain a large blood bank, from which the rarer blood types are available due to volume collections The certificate each donor receives shows his blood group and type—a valuable possession in emergencies; and to fight diseases such as polio.

When the donor offers himself and the doctor at the center rejects him for some physical reason—that person is entitled to a blood donor card entitling him and family to receive any amount of blood needed during an eight mo. period.

Remember — if you stop giving blood—someone may stop living. Call Red Cross office, phone 216 and make an appointment now to give a pint of life-saving blood on March 15th.

Gibson Appointed Welfare Head In Chilton County

Mr. Albert Lee Gibson has been appointed Director of the Chilton County Welfare Department by the Local Welfare Board and assumed his duties here, yesterday March 9. Mr. Gibson is a graduate of the University of Alabama and has done some graduate work at Tulane. He comes to Chilton County from Tuscaloosa, where he has been working as a Child Welfare Worker with the Tuscaloosa County Welfare Department. He comes to this county highly recommended by the State Welfare Department.

Mr. Gibson hopes to move his wife and youngg son here sometime in the near future.

The revival will begin at Mulberry on Monday night, March 14th There will be night services only Rev. Howard Golden of Rockford will be the evangelist. The worship service will begin at 7 p.m There will be a short prayer service preceding these services every night.

Everyone has a cordial invitation to attend our service if you aren't going to a revival in your own community. Rev. Evan Johnson pastor.

Old Concord Church Property May Be Disposed Of

Dr. James E. Tate, District Superintendent of the Methodist church will meet the Concord church members and officials at 3:30 p.m. on Sunday, March 20 to discuss the disposal of the church property at Concord church near Billingsley on the Billingsley-Clanton highway.

All members and church officials are requested to be present.

Local Students Will Attend The D. O. Convention

The Diversified Occupations Clubs of the Southwest District of Ala. comprising 14 counties, will convene at Livingston State Teachers College March 17.

Chilton County High School students attending this convention will be Larry Bonds, Ross Robinson, Eugene Gilliland, Jack Dennis, Paul Connell, Marshall Lowery, Ed... Robinson, Kenneth Cox, Frankie Lee Arthur and James Minor.

Approximately 275 of the 436 students in these clubs will attend the meeting and take part in the various contests scheduled for the day. Events at the convention will include essay, oratorical, job, manual, and skit contests, and election, and crowning of Mr. and Miss D. O. for 1955 The winners of the various contests will compete in the State D. O. Club Convention to be held in April, at the University of Alabama.

Delegates to the State Convention will represent 56 clubs with an enrollment of some 3,500 members.

The purpose of the D. O. Clubs is to encourage and help students interested in preparing for work in industry and business. This type of vocational training was first tried in Alabama on an experimental basis in 1935, in only two centers. At present the 56 centers are training students in more than 50 trades or occupations.

Thorsby Baptist Thanks All For Building Fund Gifts

We deeply appreciate the cooperation we have received on our building program. The special offering received last Sunday for the Building Fund totaled $10,522.08. We sincerely thank everyone who had a part in this worthy offering, and pray God's richest blessings upon you.

4-H Council To Meet Saturday

4-H Club officers in Chilton Co. are reminded of the County Council meeting Saturday, March 12 at 9 a.m. at the Clanton City Hall. This will be a most important meeting as it will be a county-wide meeting to observe National 4-H Club Week, March 5-13. A radio program is to be made; the officers will be given an opportunity to tell about their projects or to discuss activities in their local Clubs.

At this meeting plans will also be made for the 1955 County Rally. 4-H'ers throughout the county look forward to this annual event, so the officers are urged to be present and help make plans so that this year's Rally will be one of the best ever held in Chilton Co

That short preview of Spring was very pleasant.

* * * *

Chilton's peach orchards are really in the pink.

* * * *

This is the first year in a long time that folks can look upon March 15th without apprehension. Now income tax is due April 15th.

* * * *

The reason you sometimes hear more news on the street than you see in the newspaper is because the newspaper has to stand behind what it prints for all men to read.

* * * *

We think that the month of March is the nicest month in which to renew your subscription to Chilton County News. After all, you cannot operate a newspaper on what people owe you.

* * * *

It is surprising how many people can tell you what is wrong with other people without knowing what is the matter with themselves.

* * * *

Clanton is not your neighbor's town. It is your town and you must do your part to make it a better place to live.

MARCH WINDS—

March may have come in like a lamb but before she was three days old she had turned into a veritable lion and has been acting up ever since.

God sends the March winds to cleanse the earth of all the litter and the debris in preparation of the new life that is to begin with the spring showers and warm sunshine. And there you have a good lesson; for so it is in the lives of men. If you would begin a fresh new life, first do like the March winds. Clean our soul of all the waste, the prejudices and the greed and with the warm clean breath of eternal thoughtfulness of others, will come new life and peace.

March winds have a job to do just as the April showers and the warm May sunshine.

NEW FEATURE COMING UP—

Through the courtesy of the Southern Bell Telephone Company and Mr. Parks Scott the Chilton County News will be able to add a very interesting and useful feature within the next few weeks.

The office of Mr. Scott has agreed to furnish us with the names of all new telephone users and their numbers that are added to the local system each month. In this way the telephone subscribers will be able to clip the names from the Chilton County News as they are printed and paste them in the back of their telephone book. This will give them a complete and up-to-date listing of all telephone subscribers.

Watch for the first list to appear in your Chilton County News. We hope it will be of benefit to you.

DON'T KNOCK IT—

We who speak of progress in and around Clanton are, in a sense, not practicing what we preach. Recent developments in our city have seen a parking lot cleared on the vacant lot where the old mule barn used to stand. Now for the past few years, since the removal of the barn. folks around that section of town and some other sections also. have come to know that lot as a very convenient parking area, and have used it as needed.

Recently, the space was leased by local citizens for a parking area with a charge to it.

Needless to say, the change got quite a response from those who had been using the space for free parking. It is, however, a very small fee for the convenience it offers.

The public opinion being the way it is toward the new development, is mostly personal sentiment for a convenience had for nothing, which was not theirs to have in the first place.

Don't get us wrong, we don't like the crowded conditions prevailing either, but the fact remains that the property did belong to someone else and is now rented by someone else. Those of us who have parked on it have just used it so long that we have come to love it as our own. Such is not the case. It was not and is not ours, we were merely fortunate to have it while we did. We are put out. but the space is still there and the only difference is, we're not getting something for nothing.

It is not an opinion, but it is a possibility that this new move could be a step forward. If it is, even those of us who have been put out cannot knock it. A step in the right direction very often is preceded by the inconvenience of a few for the good of the majority.

We sympathize with those inconvenienced and share in their parking problem, but we do hope the move will develop into something progressive for the shoppers and business folk of Clanton.

Things we -SEE- and Hear

by "Tuck"

Saw ole Jim Parrish down the street the other evening talking to another old timer, "Uncle Mun". Jim Parrish used to sell us popcorn on the street by the Wadesonian Theatre when we were knee-high to a popcorn ball and he always had a cheerful not for everybody, even us youngsters. That's more'n you can say for some of the grown-ups of today. Anyhow, though he didn't see us, we were glad to know he's still kicking around and hope to see him again.

A woman's curiosity is sometimes like a man's appetite: hard to satisiy.

This sounds like a bargain doesn't it: "Marked down from regular marked up prices". However, if you'll scrutinize the sentence you'll find that someone is trying to pul a fast one on you using such terminology. We actually heard of that in an advertisement the other day and marveled at the neat way in which it was delivered. As if i were a bargain. Seems to me to be cutting their own throat by telling you their prices are usually marked too high. Boy, that's what you cal. psychological advertising. We think it might have been a slip of the tongue. If not, their psychologist needs a psychologist.

Common sense is the power to see beyond our noses. It is something we all have, but sometimes lack just enough of to use properly.

By the by, you folks who were interested in the "Farm of the Week" series we were publishing last summer be on the lookout for its return. As we told you when we stopped it, the reason was the pictures were taken in the spring and summer and were hard to identify during the winter months. Now that summer is on its way, we're gonna renew the series and have different prizes this time, too. We'll keep you posted as to the exact date of their appearance so be on the lookout. We didn't get started good the first time so we will still have quite a few farms to go. One could be yours and remember you get the free picture of your farm and a write-up about your place in the "News". It's fun. We enjoyed it last time and are looking forward to the renewal having you folks drop in. Join us and see if you can't be a winner. Remember also, that there are no strings attached; all you have to do is guess.

When you find you've made a mistake, don't find fault with the job. Accept it as a mistake and a sign that you weren't doing it right and try a different approach. You'll last longer, the job will be better

Disregard for pedestrians is still apparent on the streets of Clanton, especially on Saturday. We know the pedestrians are sometimes neglectful with their share of the responsibility, but a pedestrian can't run over you either. It's up to the drivers to watch for them; if you feel you can't take on the burden then you walk and let those who feel they can shoulder the responsibility. That way maybe we'll all live longer.

You cannot improve your own standing by knocking the other fellow. It's a futile waste of time and a nasty habit.

We can never please everybody so we'd all do well just to try to please those with whom we come in contact. That's a task within itself.

Our class motto a few years back was "This Far and Farther". Well, Lenore Oglesby and I have lived up to the motto to a "T". I've gone this far and she's gone farther. We always were proud to be a mutual student of CCHS with Lenore, but now we want to brag about it. She has recently been elected to the presidency of the entire student body at Huntingdon College in the "Capitol City". You'd think you couldn't get much "further" than that, but knowing Lenore as we have, we expect big things of her and what's more we know she will live up to them. We congratulate her.

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

I introduced in the House last week bill to amend the Social Security Act to provide for the payment of benefits to certain individuals who are over the age of 18 who are incapable of self-support by reason of physical or mental disability.

A present provision in the Social Security Act stipulates that children's insurance benefits cannot be paid to anyone who is over 18 years old. If enacted into law, my bill will direct that payments be made to any person, regardless of age, who is incapable of self-support and was so idsabled before he became 18. In order to be eligible the disabled person must have been dependent for all of his support upon the insured at the time of the insured's death.

Cases have been called to my attention where social security benefits for a disabled son or daughter, incapable of self-support, have been discontinued after the child reaches the age of 18. Of course the need for this assistance not only continues after the person reaches 18, but in many cases, increases. I have introduced this legislation in an effort to remedy such situations.

This bill has been referred to the Ways and Means Committee for consideration, and I hope its provisions will be included in any amendments to the Social Security Law that may be considered by the House during this session of Congress.

You may recall that I introduced legislation last year to amend the Railroad Retirement Act of 1937 to provide annuities for certain incompetent children of deceased railroad workers. The provisions of this bill were included in a general measure, enacted into law last August, to amend the Railroad Retirement Act.

-Legislative Action-

Last week the House and Senate passed and sent to the President a bill to increase the mortgage insurance authority of the Federal Housing Administration by $1.5 billion. This increase was necessary in order for the agency to continue its operations until the end of the current fiscal year.

Approved by the House last Wed. was a bill that eases a provision of the Agricultural Act of 1954 which forbade conservation payments to farmers who knowingly harvest any basic commodity in excess of allotments. This legislation is now under consideration in the Senate.

-River Group Meeting-

I made a hurried trip to Alabama last week-end to attend an important meeting of the Alabama-Coosa River Development Association held on Saturday in Montgomery. The purpose of this meeting was to discuss the steps that should be taken in order to implement the full development of the Coosa and Alabama Rivers. A thorough discussion was held on the possibiity of obtaining a federal appropriation for the construction of locks on the Coosa at the same time a series of dams is built on this waterway by the Alabama Power Co.

The morning discussion period was led by Mr. Everette Lay of Gadsden, president of the river development organization. I made a statement giving my views on the progress that has been made to date on the development of the Coosa River and the job that lies ahead. Congressman George Grant and Congressman Kenneth Roberts also addressed the meeting. Maj. Gen. Louis Pick (Ret.), former Chief of the Corps of Engineers, spoke at the noon hour. General Pick enthusiastically endorsed the proposed development of the Coosa and Alabama Rivers and urged public support for this program.

IT'S MY OPINION

Of Normal Folks—

This is entirely for the benefit of those folks who are on the thin side of life (physically I mean) and are continuously being reminded of the fact.

If there's one thing that peeves me (you might call it a pet peeve) it's these folks who are always bringing up the subject of "why don't you gain a little weight?" or "Why don't you eat enough?". I don't know whether they're uncouth, ill-bred, ill-mannered or trying to be helpful, but if it is the latter, most of those who try have the "genteness of an elephant on roller skates" to quote a learned MC.

It is the opinion of most folks who are on the thin side, that they wished they were in that select group who are "perfect in-betweens", but for some it wasn't meant that way. At any rate, you seldom hear of anyone bringing up the subject of a fat person's fatness in front of them, No, that would be embarrassing to them. I agree that it would, but what I want to know is where the dividing line is and what's the difference in embarrassing a skinny person and a fat one; that seems to be the only difference: that one is fat and the other skinny.

I Don't know which condition appears to be the asset or which the liability to those who are always bringing up the subject, but in my opinion neither is neither. Neither condition is a liability or an asset; they are both normal conditions in a normal world full of normal people?

And since it also seems normal to keep reminding some of their appearance it seems to me, normal for people to try to find some other bit of conversation.

If you are befriended by a thin person (and who isn't) it is my advice to you, that if you want to keep that friendship on a firm and lasting basis, try not to find fault with them through their physical characteristics. Since we all are prone to finding fault and we all have more than one, there should be another point of interest rather than a person's appearance.

A skinny person is usually fully aware of his appearance, and I might add, do try to look their best due to this fact. Being thin is not the catastrophe that some folks seem to think. It is rather a state of being that is as good, if not better, than the state of those "in-between" perfectos I mentioned some of which are not in-between but try to tell everyone so.

It is also the opinion of yours truly that unless you are a very dear friend or very diplomatic you show very poor taste by insinuating or even mentioning that a person is abnormal and doesn't look right because he is not heavy enough. Some big men have been little men.

Though appearance is not necessarily one of them, being thin has its advantages just as any other condition has, but I won't elaborate the many.

To be thin is to be active, to be active is to be healthy, to be healthy is to be happy, and to be happy is what we all want; so you see, think twice before you pity the poor thin man. It isn't half bad.

Pulping Process Will Open New Hardwood Markets

Auburn, Ala.—New market channels for Alabama hardwoods may open up in the near future.

This possibility is forseen as the result of a vastly improved pulping process developed recently. The new, more economical method of turning wood into pulp is likely to lead to a greater number of small pulp mills located close to timber sources. This would give Alabama farmers a ready market for their low-quality hardwoods Making this report in Auburn this week, Windell Vickery of the API Extension Service said the new pulping process was developed by the Forest Products Laboratory at Madison, Wis.

Known as cold soda pulping the method is now being tested on hard woods, cull trees, forest thinnings and manufacturing residues of all kinds. Research to date shows that the process gives exceptionally high pulp yields and uses up to 90 percent of the wood.

Vickery, who is Extension forest products marketing specialist said one of the biggest advantages of the cold soda process is that it may make continuous pulping possible. Older methods have involved cooking pulp in batches, he explained, whereas cold soda pulping is likely to make pulp digesting a continuous operation.

Here's How To Increase Life Of Milkin Machine

The purchase of an extra set of rubber milking machine parts increases the life of a machine by about one-third. Of course, their life spans also depend on the care the sets get.

According to API Extension Dairyman John Parrish, two sets should be used for two-week intervals. When they are "off duty", the sets should be boiled for 15 minutes in a solution made by adding eight level teaspoons of household lye to a gallon of water. After the rubber ha scooled, it should be scrubbed in a warm detergent solution and stored in a cool, dry place.

Christian Jew Is Evangelist At West End Baptist

Eddie Lieberman

You will want to hear evangelist Eddie Lieberman. Few men have enjoyed such marked success in winning souls as this man of God. Evangelist Lieberman was reared in an Orthodox Jewish Synagogue. He accepted the Lord Jesus Christ while in Federal prison He attended and graduated from Mars Hill college, North Carolina and did further work at Baylor University and the University of Tennessee.

He received his Bible training at the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary, New Orleans, La: Taught Greek in college, taught Sociology and Religious education at the New Orleans Seminary. He has held pastorates in Alabama, Louisiana, and South Carolina. His evangelistic ministry has taken him across America, Mexico and thru Europe and Palestine.

Hear these powerful Bible-centered sermons by Eddie Lieberman:

Second hand Religion, What Is Your Name, Your Religion—A song or a Sigh?, God and the Whirlwind, Why God Puts Up With Wicked People, Your Fortune Told Free, What Jesus Taught About Hell, The People In The Other World, God's Final Appeal, Men Gone Mad, Religious Beliefs Which Do Not Save, Four Kinds of Sin, Why Some People Miss Heaven, Why Many Christians Lack Full Assurance, The Make-up of a Christian Experience, The Jews—Palestine—the Second Coming, The evangelist is teaching the morning services which are the first Epistle of John during broadcast at 7 o'clock. Evening services begin at 7:30. Mrs. Raymond Mims of Birmingham, formerly of Clanton, is doing a wonderful job as song leader.

We extend a most cordial welcome to all to come and join us in these worship services.

OAK GROVE

Our sympathy goes out to our neighboring churches and communities in their bereavement, Thompson Chapel in the loss of their pastor Bro. Curry and Morris Hill in the loss of their song leader Bro. Scott. We know that both of these men will be missed.

We are also sorry to hear of the death of Mr. Mat Maddox Mr. Maddox is the brother-in-law of Mr. Orb Martin.

Our Cottage Prayer meeting for the past week was held last Fri night at the home of Mr. and Mrs Douglas Martin. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Crowson and Mr. and Mrs. Grove Gothard of Mars Hill attended the prayer service. Our pastor, Bro. Glover was with us and really preached a wonderful sermon. Cottage Prayer meeting for this week will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Martin on Saturday night.

Our regular monthly singing last Saturday night was a great success Guest singers were the Bama Quartet. They are one of the best.

Services were well attended Sun. at the church. Bro. Glover preached two wonderful sermons.

We are progressing steadily with the new Sunday School rooms. We hope to have them completed in about another week. The committee on this work is really doing a good job. Everyone is invited to come out and be with us in Sunday School and Church services each Sunday.

Spring Brings On Epedemic Of "Fishing Fever"

Auburn, Ala.—It happens every spring.

At the first sign of early flowers and new green plants eager fishermen take their tackles and head for the banks of Alabama streams. And according to API Extension Fish and Wildlife Specialist Earl F. Kennamer, this is the best time fo sportsmen to give in to their fishing fever, especially if they are looking for bass.

Fishermen are gamblers, for their lures are competing with whateve food is in the water, Kennamer said. And right now the odds ar in favor of the man and his artificial bait. Our waters are teaming with large-mouthed black bass which come out of their so-called winter "hibernation" when the water warms up a bit, and they are hungry.

The specialist predicted a good catch and good eating for fishermen who look for bass during late morning and early afternoon hours when the water is 50 degrees or above. Use a household thermometer to check the temperature if you're not sure, he said. Fish close to the bank from the surface down to about four feet.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

WATCH THAT COUGH

A cough is only a symptom, not a disease. It is a signal that something is wrong in the body's respiratory tract, or breathing tube.

An obstruction such as a food particle or other object in the respiratory passage will cause a cough. It is nature's reflex effort to clear the passage so that breathing will be unhampered. Such a cough is simple and soon passes. Irritation in the throat or lower passages during a cold or other infection; such as whooping cough, the distress of asthma, excessive smoking or low humidity and resultant dryness, act in the same way. A cough, however, may also be produced by more serious conditions, such as tuberculosis or cancer. A cough therefore is not something to be ignored.

A person suffering from a persistent cough is more susceptible to fatigue. The constant hacking cuts down rest, affects the larnyx or voice box, and irritates the tissue of the respiratory tract, thus leaving the body tired and too weak to reject disease-producing germs.

Chronic bronchitis may be indicated by a prolonged cough. The condition, in the majority of cases, is often secondary to an infection elsewhere, such as in the nose, the throat or particularly the sinuses. In some persons, persistent coughing will produce hoarseness, a symptom of inflammation of the larnyx. Prolonged hoarseness, that is lasting six weeks or more, is a serious symptom suggestive of cancer and must not be disregarded.

Any persistent cough should be investigated. A physical examination by a competent physician will elicit the cause and give a basis for treatment. Material coughed up will be examined to determine the nature of the infection and its location, whether in the nose, the adenoids or the sinuses.

It must be remembered that the cough is a signal of a disturbance in the body. Many conditions may exist, such as tuberculosis, cancer or foreign bodies in the lungs. The majority of coughs, however, do not stem from such serious conditions.

There is nothing more pitiful and tragic than a man who has at one time known the pardoning grace of God; who fully received Christ and passed from condemnation to justification by faith and then later on forsook Christ and the right wa and lost in the end.

Peter speaks of such when h said they are "cursed children which have forsaken the right way and gone astray", II Peter 2:14-15 What the Bible calls "the right way" is Jesus. He says, "I am the way" and He is the only "righ way." It is a satanic error to tell people that they cannot forsake th "right way" and "go astray" an be lost. The Bible says they can an sometimes do.

MAPLESVILLE NEWS

(MRS. KATHRYN GOFF)

TO THE LADIES AUXILIARY AND THE V.F.W:

To the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post throughout Alabama. The time has come for me to remind you of the May Day Party at the Tuskeggee Veteran's hospital. Now is the time to make your plans to come and help to entertain these boys as you know this is one of our Veteran's hospitals and May 15, 1955 is the day each Auxiliary and VFW member is to take a part in helping to entertain them. They are not there by choice so let us pull together and make this the best May Day Party they have had. The program starts at 11:00 a.m., May 15th, 1955, third Sunday. Hoping to see many of you there.

Mrs. Jessie Gillespie, Maplesville, Dept. Hosp.
Chairman.

Southern Bell Celebrating Its 75th Year Of Phone Service

Some of the first exchanges operated by Southern Bell looked like this.

Long distance dialing by operators is one of the important new developments in telephony since World War II. Operators now are able to dial many telephone numbers in distant cities direct, saving time for subscribers and making fuller use of circuits.

'The Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, now in th 75th year of service to the South. has made tremendous strides the development of the necessary equipment to give increasingly better service to its subscriber

An excellent example of this illustrated in the two pictures of the old and the new switchboard shown here.

The one on the top is one of the type switchboards used when the telephone first came to Clanton December of 1905. This board was designed to handle long distance and local calls and was circular in shape so that four operators could work around the same group of circuits.

With the advent of automatic dialing equipment, the switchboard was used primarily to connect long distance calls. The picture on the bottom is an ex. of this type long distance switchboard. The modern day design permits much faster service in answering and completing the calls.

The operators are now dialing telephone numbers direct across the United States in a great number of exchanges. The assistance of operators between and at the distant city is not required.

Jones Proclaims This Week For American Legion

Praising the American Legion as "One of the great bulwarks of the American way of life", Mayor C. Fenn Jones has proclaimed the week of March 13 to 19th as American Legion Birthday Week.

The week has been set apart as a tribute to the 36th birthday anniversary of the world's largest veterans' organizations, born of a caucus in Paris, France, March 15-17, 1919.

The birthday proclamation states:

WHEREAS; The American Legion, dedicated to service "for God and Country" has become one of the great bulwarks of the American way of life through its leadership in all movements designed to preserve our free institutions and life, liberties; and

WHEREAS; The American Legion, with millions of members who have in three wars, has grown into the greatest veterans' organization in the world and has rendered notable and patriotic services to the community, state and nation, in times of both peace and of war and

WHEREAS; The American Legion will celebrate the 36th anniversary birth, March 15-17, 1955;

NOW THEREFORE, I, C. Fenn Jones, Mayor of the City of Clanton, Alabama, do hereby proclaim the week of March 13 to 19, 1955 as AMERICAN LEGION BIRTHDAY WEEK, and do call upon all citizens and organizations to join in paying tribute to the good works of The American Legion in its unselfish endeavors in national defense, Americanism, rehabilitation, child welfare, law and order, spiritual encouragement and good citizenship, and do urge all places of business, the schools and the churches to display the American Legion emblem as a token of appreciation of the wartime and peacetime services of the City's Legionnaires.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Seal of the City of Clanton at the City Hall in Clanton, Alabama this 9th day of March in the year of our Lord, 1955.

-s- C. Fenn Jones

New Cedron Plans New HD Club

Plans are underway to organize a Home Demonstration Club in the New Cedron community. All ladies in this vicinity are invited to attend a meeting Friday afternoon March 11, at 1:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Vastine Powell, Billingsley, Ala. Rt. 1.

Several ladies in the community have contacted the Home Demonstration Agent and have asked for a Club. On February 11th, a meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Fonzie Williams but due to bad weather and illness only four ladies were present, so the Club was not organized. These ladies were very interested in a Club and they urge their friends and neighbors to help them organize a Club. A list was made of ladies in the community who would be prospective members and these ladies have been written about the meeting. Some names may have been omitted though, so all ladies who are interested in the Club are urged to attend the meeting Friday afternoon.

A demonstration on "New Construction Technique" will be given at the Friday meeting. Some new points in sewing will be illustrated by making a blouse. If a Club is organized, it will meet once each month and at each meeting a demonstration will be given in some phase of homemaking. Mrs. Johnnie Lane, the Home Demonstration Agent, urges all ladies in the New Cedron community who are interested in a Home Demonstration Club to be present at the home of Mrs. Vastine Powell, March 11 at 1:30 p.m.

Here's how

Sandwiches for snacks, packed lunches or afternoon entertaining need not be a problem when you latch on to these quick ideas:

Hearty sandwiches can be made from sharp American cheese, grated and mixed with chopped, stuffed olives and minced hard-cooked eggs.

Grind that leftover roast with the food chopper and mix with finely shredded carrots and chopped hard-cooked eggs. Blend in enough mayonnaise for easy spreading for a packed luncheon sandwich.

Cream cheese can be mixed with cranberry, strawberry, currant or raspberry jelly for a dainty and colorful teatime sandwich.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
Braised Ox Joints
(Serves 4)

- 2 oxtails (about 2 pounds)
- 1 tablespoon drippings
- 1 large onion, sliced
- ½ cup vinegar
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1½ cups water
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 tablespoon mixed pickling spices
- 6 gingersnaps
- 3 cups mashed white turnips
- ¼ cup minced parsley

Have oxtails disjointed. Brown lightly in hot drippings in heavy kettle; pour off fat. Add onion, cooking slowly for 5 minutes. Add vinegar, salt, water, garlic and spices which have been tied loosely in cloth. Cover and cook slowly for 3 hours. Remove spice bag and add crumbled gingersnaps. Cook until gravy thickens. Serve with mashed turnips, sprinkled with parsley.

Cole slaw sandwiches give variety to packed lunches. Mince or shred cabbage fine and mix with chopped bacon for flavor and salad dressing for moisture.

An inexpensive filling for many sandwiches uses cottage cheese seasoned with onion juice, salt, pepper and chopped cucumber.

Deviled ham mixed with chili sauce and spread on tomato slices which have been placed on toasted round of buttered bread make delicious open-faced sandwiches.

Equal quantities of dates and nuts placed through the food chopper make the base for a delicious sweet sandwich. Add a speck of salt for flavoring and cream enough to make the filling moist enough to spread.

Local Legionnaires Plan Birthday Celebration

Local Legionnaires are planning a gay celebration of the 36th anniversary of the birth of the American Legion which occurs March 15 to 17.

A birthday party has been scheduled by Chilton County Post No. 6 of the American Legion of Clanton and surrounding community for the night of March 15 according to R. L. (Bob) Fullen, local post Commander.

The party will be held at the usual meeting place, City Grill Annex beginning at 7 p.m. by serving food and refreshments. There will be a guest speaker of National renound among veterans but his name will not be made know until later. Your Legion card will be your admission ticket.

The local event will be part of a coast-to-coast chain of post celebrations. The American Legion has 17,200 posts, most of which are making elaborate plans for celebrating the organization's 1955 birthday.

As part of a nationwide birthday program, the local post is intensyfying its 1955 membership activity The American Legion is now ridng the greatest membership crest in all its history. National Commander Seaborn Collins has called on all Acrican Legion Posts to push the 1955 enrolment over the 3,000,00 mark by March 15.

Although the local post has exceeded its last years membership Commander Fullen stated that they are far from the alltie peak and he is urging every member to make an effort to have a new application ready to present at the birthday party.

Around OUR HOUSE
by Kathryn Tucker Windham

The eight-year-old, the six-year old and the two-year-old had been playing happily together in the back yard, busy with some imaginative game of their own invention.

The back door slammed, and the six-year-old came mournfully into the house. He looked miserable and unhappy, as though something tragic had happened to him.

"What's the matter?" I asked. "I thought you were havingg a good time playing."

"I was", he replied. "But my big sister said something so ugly about me."

I was almost afraid to ask what the eight-year-old had said (we parents always comfort ourselve by thinking children pick up all such talk at school), but I did ask the question.

"Well," he answered slowly. "She said I was unpleasant. That's what she said—she said I was unpleasant."

I was relieved no end. But, after all, being called unpleasant is a right bad experience.

The neighbor around the corner used that same word when she was talking about the housecleaning she's doing.

"There are so many unpleasant things connected with cleaning house," she declared. "and those tasks that require kneeling are especially unpleasant. My knees are sore!"

The next dor neighbor happened to be listening to the conversation and she had a helpful suggestion to offer, as usual.

"When I'm busy with some household task that requires kneeling," she said. "I make myself a knee pad by folding a heavy bath towel and putting it inside a paper bag. You've no idea how comfortable it is until you've tried it.

"When I'm through with the task, I just throw the paper bag away and put thet towel back in the linen closet—the sack has kept it perfectly clean."

The neighbor around the corner didn't know about the knee pads. but she did know how to make the task of weeding a flower bed less unpleasant.

When she goes out to work in her flowers, she takes a small wooden box with her. No stoping, squatting, or unpleasant bending for her. She sits comfortable on the lower box to work.

It's probably a lazy woman's way of working," she admits. "But it keeps me from having sore and aching muscles and I do believe that I look more graceful sitting on that box than I would working in my garden in some other positions I can think of!"

Not only does this neighbor's improvised stool protect her from soreness and keep her looking graceful, it also serves as a storage place for her small gardening tools. When she finishes her work she puts her gloves, trowel, hand rake, etc., inside the box and stores it in a corner of the garage until she needs it again.

There's nothing unpleasant about this recipe for Cinnamon Apple salad, either this neighbor says:

Combine 1½ cups water, ½ cup sugar, one-half cup red cinnamon drops and 6 whole cloves. Boil until drops are dissolved and syrup is red. Drop 6 peeled and cored apples into syrup and boil slowly until apples are tender and well colored. Drain apples and chill Fil centers of appes with mixture of 1 cup cottage cheese, ½ cup broken pecans and one-third cup mayonnaise. Serve on crisp lettuce.

Catholic Services

Catholics throughout the county will be glad to know of the following anouncement made by Father Wyeth on Ash Wednesday after the distribution of Ashes. On each Friday evening at the Chapel of the Resurrection the Stations of the Cross will be followed by a Lenten Sermon during the Holy Season.

The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass will be celebrated every Sunday during Lenten at the usual time 8:30 a.m. and confessions at 8 a.m.

Miss Huddleston Wins Additional Honors

Patricia Huddleston

Miss Patricia Huddleston, a Jr. at the University of Alabama, has again won honors for her outstanding musical talents. In a recent contest she was the state winner for the Alabama Student Audition which is sponsored by the National Federation of Music Clubs. As a result of being state winner she will go to Memphis on March 20 to compete in the district auditions In addition to these honors Miss Huddleston also won a scholarship to the Opera Workshop at the Pennsylvania College for Women at Pittsburg for the six weeks summer session.

Miss Huddleston will also appear in the finals of the "Jean With The Light Brown Hair" contest to be held in Miami on Apr 23rd.

Music Appreciation Club Meets March 15th

The Music Appreciation Club of Clanton anounces a meeting to be held March 15 at the home of Mrs. Sibley McGowin. A program on "Poetry and Music" will be presented. Mrs. H. G. Heflin is serving as program chairman.

Mary McGinty Honored With Birthday Party

Mary Dianne McGinty was complimented on her 12th birthday when her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett G. Blankenship, Sr. entertained her with a party at their home on March 5.

The living room and dining room were handsomely decorated with arrangements of daffodils, jonquils and other seasonal flowers The ballerina birthday cake was beautifully embossed in pink and yellow.

Those attending this happy affair were:

Four Ways To Reduce Deaths From Cancer

By Four means (1) early diagnosis, the responsibility of the patient in having himself checked by his physician and the responsibility of the physician in recognizing the possibility of cancer and prompt referral for further diagnostic procedures and proper treatment; (2) adequate and prompt treatment the responsibility of the physician who treats his patient for cancer; (3) discoveries of newer and more effective means of treatment and (4) the ultimate discovery of the causes of cancer. These last two must come from research laboratories and clinical investigators

From these stem the basic principles of the cancer control program of education, research, and service of the American Cancer Society the health agencies of the federal and state governments and private philanthropies.

Proper Fertilization Necessary For A Better Peach Yield

Of all the factors affecting fruit quality, color and shipping quality of peaches, perhaps the most important factor to consider in fertilizations is the amount of nitrogen to apply in relation to the type of pruining, the time of applcation, and the balance between nitrogen and other nutrients, particularly potash.

If heavy pruning has been done, lighter applications of nitrogen should be made, and where light pruning has been done, more nitrogen can be applied. Heavier pruning is usually equivalent to a rather sizeable application of nitrogen in inducing an undesired amount of new growth. Therefore, growers should attempt to reach a balance between amount of pruning and amount of nitrogen with other factors equal.

The time of application of nutrients, particularly nitrogen, is very important. Nitrogen should be applied early enough so that it should be practically exhausted before maturity of the fruit. If nitrogen is applied too late and in too large amounts, the nitrogen supply will not be exhausted and poor colored fruit with inferior shipping qualities will result.

1. When To Apply—

a. On varieties ripening before July 1st all fertilizer should be applied 4 to 6 weeks prior to full bloom. The total annual application of fertilizer should begin, however, immediately after harvest, at which time ½ to 1 pound of nitrate of soda should be applied. Another portion of the fertilizer should be applied in the fall when the cover crop is planted. While the remaining portion should be applied in early Spring prior to blooming time.

b. On varieties ripening after July 1st, two-thirds of the fertilizer application particularly nitrogen, should be applied 4 to 6 weeks prior to full bloom while the remaining portion of the fertilizer can be applied in a second application no later than shuck-split. A post-harvest application of nitrogen may be made on these varieties particularly if the trees have yielded a heavy crop and show indications of nutrient starvation. A portion of the total annual application of fertilizer should be applied at the time of seeding of the cover crop in the fall.

2. How To Apply—

On mature trees fertilizer can be broadcast and the trees will receive maximum benefit from fertilizer applied in this manner. The use of a fertilizer spreader or lime spreader is recommended for this purpose In using an 8'-12' broadcast spreader growers should go twice to the row to get uniform distribution over all the orchard surface. Perhaps the best method in applying fertilizer can be secured through the use of a grain drill going twice per middle.

On younger trees (from 1 to 4 years) ring application should be practiced, and the fertilizer should be broadcast under and near the outer edge of the limb spread. None of the fertilizer materials should be allowed to touch the young trees, particularly 1-year trees.

Regardless of the age of the trees, the practice of leaving piles of fertilizer near the tree trunk should be avoided. This is nothing but a waste of money since your plant food in the fertilizer will soon wash away or become insoluble, thus making it impossible for the trees to get full benefit of the fertilizer applied. In addition, the active absorbing areas of peach roots are not up near the trunk; they cover just as much surface of the soil as the limb spread.

If small growers do not have mechanical spreaders, sufficient time should be taken for the hand labor to properly broadcast the fertilizer over the soil and just beyond the limb spread of the trees. Maximum benefit can be derived from fertilizer application only if it is worked into the soil as soon as possible after applying

3. What To Apply And How Much

Growers have their choice of applying mixed goods or purchasing muriate of potash, nitrates, and superphosphate and mixing their own.

On an orchard that will bear about 400 bushels per acre, a grower should apply 200 to 300 lbs. of nitrate of soda or its equivalest, 200 to 250 lbs, of 20 percent superphosphate, and approximately 200 lbs. of 50 percent muriate of potash per acre. This, of course, is the total annual application.

Minor Elements—

It has been indicated by work on peaches and some other crops that additional nutrients other than those listed above may be needed for proper peach tree growth. Therefore, it is suggested that in addition to the formulas the following might be added: 2 percent MgO, 1 percent CuO, and two to 12 lbs. of borax per ton Timing and amounts of application are the same as above.

4. Fertilizer Recommendations For Non-Bearing Trees—

1st year—1 lb. of mixed fertilizer and fourth lb. of nitrate of soda mixed and applied in split applications, the first in late January or early February and second about April 15.

2nd year—2 lbs. of mixed fertilizer and half pound of nitrate of soda mixed and applied in split applications as indicated for first year's growth.

3rd year—3 lbs. mixed fertilizer and 1 lb. nitrate of soda mixed and applied in split applications as indicated in first year.

(NOTE: Other available source of nitrogen may be used instead of nitrate of soda.)

NEW SALEM BAPTIST

Attendance was good last Sunday and we had a good morning service. We just thank God for the way our church is growing. It is advancing for the Glory of God. We had a wonderful revival the preceding week. Ten souls were won to Christ in one night. Then we had another to accept Christ the following night. We feel that Rev Lowery and Rev. Wilkins devoted their time to winning souls to the Kingdom of God. Rev. Wilkins brought some soul stirring messages. We feel that our church is growing each day and let's continue to support our church and pray that it will grow.

Let's remember prayer service each Wednesday night at 7 p.m.

Everyone remember next Sunday night we are giving our pastor and family a pounding. Let's really give him a shower of useful items.

Bell Tel. Annual Report Cites Its Achievements

The Southern Bell Telephone Co. in 1945 connected more telephones and provided better grades of service to more people than in any previous year, according to the company's annual report, copies of which were received here today by Farks Scott, Manager.

Southern Bell serves Clanton and 1,042 other exchanges—cities, towns and surrounding rural areas—in nine southern states. The report, commemorating Southern Bell's 75 years of continuous service to the South, was made for the Board of Directors by President Fred J. Turner of Atlanta, Ga.

"The stepped-up economy of the South is reflected in the number of telephones now in use," the report pointed out. At the end of 1945, Southern Bell was serving 1,863,204 telephones.

During 1954, the company gained 295,000 telephones, largest for a single year since 1948. Southern Bell telephones in service at the end of the year numbered 4,552,437, an increase of 2,689,233 since 1945.

During the year, the number of orders on hand for "Upgraded" party line service—fewer parties on the same line—was reduced from 214,144 to 126,657, the number of unfilled applications for service was reduced from 153,259 to 79,663, the lowest in 11 years. New telephone demand continued very strong.

-More Rural Telephones-

Telephones in rural areas were increased about 90,000 in 1954, bringing the total Southern Bell telephones in rural areas to approximately 644,000, compared with 171,000 at the end of 1945.

The construction necessary to take care of growth, the replacement of telephone plant and service improvements cost $186,000,000 last year. Since 1945, the gross construction by Southern Bell has amounted to 1.3 billion dollars.

During 1954 southerners made about ten billion local calls and 187,000,000 long distance calls over Southern Bell facilities. The report commended the work done by people who designed, constructed, installed and maintained the plant and equipment over which telephone service is given and the skill of those who operate it.

On the financial side, the report pointed out that the company's 1954 earnings of 4.90 per cent on telephone plant investment were less than adequate. The report said that for the company as a whole, charges for services still are not in the proper relationship to the cost of rendering that service.

The report discloses that the company's 60,000 employees were paid nearly $216,000,000 in salaries and wages, the highest figure for any year. Operating taxes levied directly on the company amounted to $92,6[illegible]8,632, an increase of about $10,000,000 over 1953.

Paint Silo Walls As Level Drops

W. T. Cox, API Extension farm buildings specialist, suggest a "paint as you go" plan for treating the inside walls of silos. In giving arguments for this procedure today in Auburn, Cox explained that acids in silage make a new treatment each year necessary to keep the structure air and water tight. If paint is applied as the level of the silage is lowered, it saves the expense and effort of building a scaffold later, the expert pointed out.

An asphalt base paint was Cox' recommendation for treating wood stave, metal, or other silos. He said that a cement paint also may be used for concrete or masonry structures.

Do not use lead paint; it may poison livestock.

Sales "Picking Up"

Someday when you're waiting on the corner for a bus, don't be surprised if Slim Miller from the Town Used Car Lot pulls up and offers you a ride.

"I hate to see anyone standing in the cold," Slim says. "One day when I picked up a fellow in my own reconditioned car we got to talking about its smooth-running motor. Next day he came down to buy a used car.

"Now I drive a different car each day, so when I pick someone up I can demonstrate its slick performance. I'm selling more used cars than ever before—making lots of new friends, too!"

From where I sit, Slim made a lot of new customers just by being nice to his neighbors. It's the same kind of thing our beer retailers do when they co-operate voluntarily with the Self-Regulation Program of the Brewing Industry. They work hard keeping their places spick-and-span—the way their customers like. They do a really smooth-running job.

No gasoline-no, not a single one-has higher octane than

New 1955 GULF NO-NOX

This lamp is burning the "DIRTY-BURNING TAIL-END" of gasoline which GULF refines out
This lamp is burning NEW SUPER-REFINED GULF NO-NOX, the clean-burning super-fuel but octane alone is not enough ... New No-Nox burns clean!

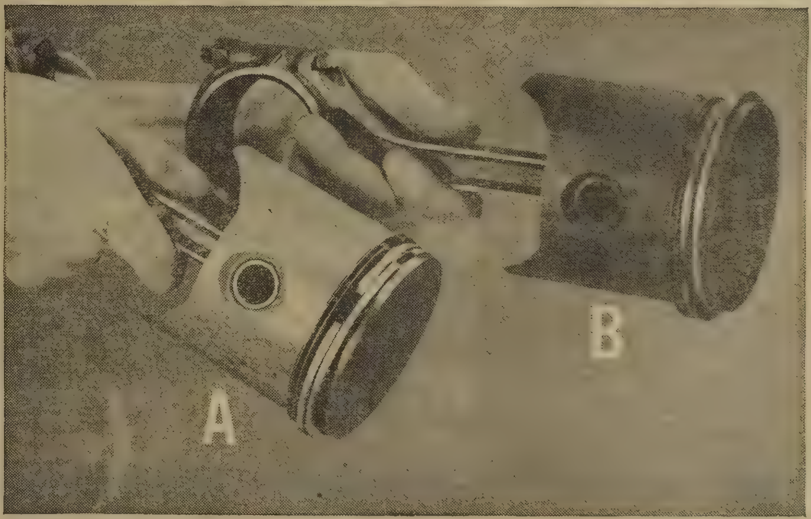
Only a gasoline that burns clean can make its full octane power really work for you mile after mile.

That's why instead of trying to fight harmful deposits with so-called "miracle additives"—inside your engine—Gulf believes in preventing them from forming in the first place; removes the cause—the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline—at the refinery to bring you new, clean-burning NO-NOX.

Just look at the plates in the photo and see what a difference Gulf super-refining makes!



and clean-burning No-Nox gives your engine...

more complete protection!

Gulf treats this new Super-Refined NO-NOX to give it a complete range of protective properties.

It protects every part it touches against harmful deposits. See for yourself: Compare clean piston "A" from engine using new NO-NOX with piston "B" from engine using the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline that Gulf refines out. Both pistons, at left, from Gulf test engines, ran the same number of hours under the same conditions.

Now ... get the full advantage of full octane power. Fill up with new Super-Refined Gulf NO-NOX and feel the difference. You'll get:

- More complete engine protection than with so-called "miracle-additive" gasolines.
- Extra gas mileage in the short-trip, stop-and-go driving motorists do most.
- Stall-proof smoothness ... instant starts ... fast, fuel-saving warm-up.
- No knock, no pre-ignition—even in today's high-compression engines.

This is GULF'S PLEDGE to the motoring public

- We at Gulf make this promise to America's motorists. We will not permit a single competitor—no, not a single one—to offer a gasoline superior to our own superb No-Nox.
- It is our sincere belief that No-Nox is the finest gasoline on the market today, and no matter what others do or say we will keep it the finest—in power, in performance, in engine protection.
- This is not a boast, not a claim. It is a pledge to you, the motoring public—a pledge backed by the resources—and the integrity—of the Gulf Refining Company.

A light coat of grease in the pan in which chocolate is to be melted will make the cleaning much easier afterward.

MARCH 5-13 IS 4-H CLUB WEEK

The 4-H Clubs make a valuable four-fold contribution. They help boys and girls to learn good citizenship and good farming. They thus enrich the life of the community . . . thus, in turn, the life of our country as a whole; and they serve as a shining example to the world of how a nation can build soundly for the future: Through its youth. Our bank is proud to salute our community's 4-H Club — and 4-H Clubs everywhere — on the occasion of National 4-H Club Week.

25 Years Of Hauling With Ford Trucks

Pictured above is Mr. John M. Griffin of Rt. 2, Clan ton, receiving a bill of sale on his new 1955 F-600 Ford Truck. Making the presentation is Mr. Dyer Shackle ford of Clanton Motors.

Mr. John H Griffin's fleet of Fords is shown in the picture above. From left to right is his 1954 Ford F-600 Truck with its' driver, L. E. Williams; in the center is Mr. Griffin and his family car, a 1954 4-door Ford; on the right is the new addition, a 1955 F-600 Ford truck, and Mr. Griffin's son Donald.

Makes Every Run An Economy Run

Mr. John M. Griffin of Rt. 2, Clanton, has been owning and driving Ford Trucks for the past 25 years. His Fords do daily duty in his general hauling business so he's in a position to tell you that Ford Trucks DO last longer.

Mr. Griffin knows that in the hauling business you have to make every run an economy run if you want to make a living at it and he does so with his Fords.

The famed Ford driverized cabs give his drivers far more comfort and make their jobs much easier.

Clanton Motors, Inc., of Clanton, salutes Mr. John M. Griffin as a man who knows a good truck when he drives it and is indeed pleased to sell and service this fine line of trucks that can make every run for everyone an economy run.

GOD AND MAN

By LEE A. POPWELL

Jesus Christ said: I am the first and I am the last, and beside me there is no God. I know not any. Jesus Christ is God in the Old Testament scriptures, and He did all the speaking from Gen. 1 to Rev. 22:21. Jesus spoke, the Holy Spirit inspired, the writers wrote, giving all scripture to us, by three witnesses.

Jesus Christ in the New Testament is God with all power, stripped or laid down in the Father's care, to be taken up by God later. Jesus Christ, the creator God: Jesus Christ the Redeemer God.

You remember Jesus said the, words I spake unto you, I speak unto myself, but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works. Again he said I can of myself, do nothing.

In the beginning was the word, and the word was with God, and the word was God, (and the word is still God. To be made flesh, the power had to be taken out to make God equal to man that is still flesh, and still has no power of his own. This word had to be born into flesh so the Virgin Mary was chosen to be the mother of our Lord in the flesh, so the child was conceived in her by the Holy Ghost. So this made the child sanctified from the time of conceivement in the womb, so Jesus was born into this world sanctified. We have only two other men that were sanctified before the seperation from the womb: Jeremiah, and John the Baptist.

When Jesus was given the Holy Spirit by the Father, which was the begettle power, it made Jesus the only begotten son of the Father. John 3:16.

The Holy Spirit enabled Jesus to do all the work, the Father sent him to do, such as performance of all the miracles Jesus did on earth, such as healing the sick, raising the dead, etc.

Jesus never had his own power restored to him until after the death on the cross. Then he was declared to be the son of God with power according to the spirit of Holiness, by the resurrection from the dead.

Back to man, poor helpless creature can do nothing within himself but the Holy Spirit steps in and leads man to God, showing man if he will repent, believe and obey, Jesus Christ will forgive his sins and cleanse him from all unrighteousness. Then if man will walk in God's precepts, statutes, judgments, keep his testimony and commandments, then Jesus Christ will give man the same gift the Father gave the son, that made the son the only begotten. J. 3:16.

This gift is the annointing of the Holy Spirit, gives man all power, even the faith, mind, and power of Jesus Christ and makes man know all things, even the deep things that have been kept a secret from the foundation of the world. The begotten stage is as far as man ever reaches in this life.

I feel so sorry for some people that think that they are already born again. That cannot and will not happen until the resurrection of the just, as that cannot happen by anyone but Jesus Christ and He brings it to you at his second coming. If I had been born again I could step out on one of these river hills and say: whirl wind, I command you in my own name to drop by and carry me to Heaven, as I am now God, just like Jesus Christ, when he said: let there be light, and light appeared.

Jesus Christ set the example for us to follow, and we must follow through the death, and resurrection from the dead.

Jesus said this, Verily, verily I say unto you, if you believe on me the works that I do, shall ye do also, and greater works than these shall ye do. I am not going to ask you if you can heal the sick, raise the dead, for I know you can if you have the faith, because my Lord said you could and He cannot lie.

I know if I say I know God, and keep not his commandments, that I am a liar from the crown of my head to the sole of my feet, for my Lord said he that sayes he knows him and keepeth not his commandments is a liar and there is no truth in him.

I know I must be born again, but I must wait for the time, and Luke 14:14 tells the time and the place where all our rewards will be given us. Remember this, when Jesus Christ gives us the gift of the annointing of the Holy Spirit we can do all through Jesus' name, as Jesus did through the Father's name. The same spirit, the same faith, the same power, no difference.

Please study your Bible.

Big Decline In Egg Producers Is Foreseen

Auburn, Ala.—It looks like U.S egg producers will start 18 percent fewer layers this year than they started in 1954.

This report comes from API Extension Poultryman John P. Weeks, who quoted this figure on the basis of information received in Feb. Weeks pointed out that producers may actually buy more chicks than they have "bargained" for however

A hike in egg prices could up poultrymen's estimates of the number of layers they want to raise.

But at the moment, all parts of the country are expected to have fewer layers in their flocks. Weeks said the greatest cutbacks are planned in areas in the U. S. where surplus eggs are produced. Alabama will cut its replacements by about 15 percent. Other drop planned are 13 percent in New England, 11 percent in the South Atlantic states, 10 percent in the Pacific area, nine percent in the mountain states, and six percent in the mid-Atlantic region.

Crops which provide close-growing vegetation help to prevent land eroding between terraces.

More Folks Taking Advantage Of API Soil Lab

During the first two months of 1955, the API soil-testing laboratory at Auburn analyzed over 3,340 samples. . . more than it handled during its entire first 10 months in 1953. The number of samples tested in January and February this year exceeded those tested during the same period last year by about 1,000, according to Dr. Clarence Wilson, who heads the soils lab.

How To Hold FALSE TEETH More Firmly in Place

Do your false teeth annoy and embarrass by slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, laugh or talk? Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This alkaline (non-acid) powder holds false teeth more firmly and more comfortably. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH today at any drug counter.

HAPPY WILSON, popular radio star of WAPI says, "My wife has always used light Karo for cooking . . . and on the table—it's dark Karo for me, the best-tasting eating syrup of 'em all"

Yes, indeed...biscuits go like hot cakes when you pour on plenty of delicious dark Karo... there's nothing like it for good eating. Satisfyin' flavor. So rich it stands right up on top of biscuits (keeps 'em light and fluffy). Keep Karo on your table morning, noon and night ...it tops anything!

Ask your grocer for DARK Karo, in pint and quart bottles

When you talk to any truck salesman —

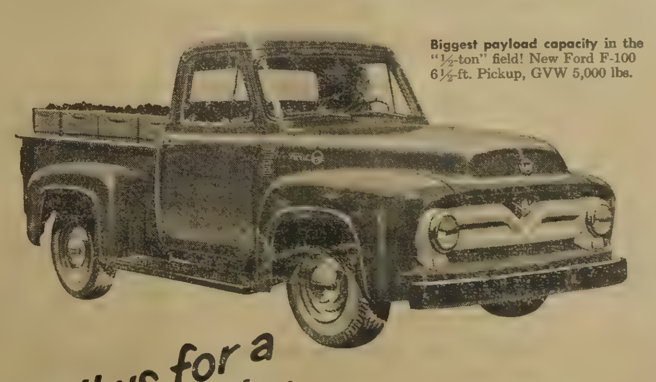
Make him open the hood!

Don't be talked out of a modern short-stroke engine in your new truck. Short-stroke design prolongs piston ring life up to 53%. Your engine lasts longer! You save up to one gallon of gas in seven! Other truck makers have started to adopt short-stroke engines. But ONLY FORD offers four short-stroke V-8's — plus a short-stroke Six — available right now!

How can you tell if it's a short-stroke engine? The "stroke" is always as short as, or shorter than the "bore." Check the specifications! Get the facts!

Some other makers offer short-stroke V-8 engines in some size trucks. Following Ford's lead, the big trend in truck engines is to modern short-stroke V-8's!

But ONLY FORD offers V-8 power for every size truck in a full line. Four modern short-stroke V-8's, up to 170 h.p.! Plus the industry's most modern short-stroke Six!



Biggest payload capacity in the "½-ton" field! New Ford F-100 6½-ft. Pickup, GVW 5,000 lbs.

Modern short-stroke V-8's are beginning to revolutionize the truck industry—just as they've already done in the passenger-car field. Today, virtually every passenger car offers short-stroke V-8 power. Before too long, the same will be true of trucks. If you now buy a truck with a long-stroke Six, what will happen to its ultimate trade-in value? Follow the lead of other informed buyers—go modern—go short-stroke NOW!

ALL AMERICA SALUTES AN ALL AMERICAN

Happy Birthday! American Legion!

AMERICAN LEGION
AFTER 36 YEARS—STILL SERVING THE COMMUNITY, STATE and NATION!

The American Legion will celebrate the 36th Anniversary of its birth March 15 to 17, 1955. All America joins in a salute to this "All American" team.

It's been a long, long trail from Paris, France, when on those March 15 to 17 dates, a handful of AEF veterans met to organize The American Legion.

The American Legion, the world's largest veterans' organization, has been dedicated always to the interests of America and the defenders of America—dedicated from its inception to continue serving "For God and Country"!

Another of its prime purposes has been to "inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation." The American Legion programs of Americanism, Child Welfare, National Security and Rehabilitation were founded on those basic principles.

We wish all American Legionnaires all over the world a Happy American Legion Birthday. Eligible veterans of World War I, World War II and the Korean War can help make it the greatest by joining The American Legion today.

Folks and Things ABOUT TOWN

—By Ben

Mayor C. Fenn Jones left Tues. morning on a plane from Birmingham for Rochester, Minn., where he will enter the Mayo Clinic. He has been in poor health lately and we hope his trip to Mayo's will get him to feeling fine again. He was accompanied by LeFort Davis, his nephew.

Ben Studdard has a letter in this issue of the News trying to straighten out his customers who have heard idle rumors that gasoline prices have been advanced lately more than the 1 cent the Legislature imposed in their recent levy. Ben is not like most folks—instead of being troubled with gas on the stomach, he is troubled with gas in the head.

Was just reading an item where a farmer said his neighbor was such a big liar that he had to get someone else to call his hogs for him.

Beginning Monday of this week, that was March 14th, the City Clerk's office at the City Hall will open each morning at 8:30 o'clock and close each afternoon at 4:30. This announcement was made Mon. by the City Manager, D. L. Wall. Keep these hours in mind when you wish to transact business there.

Did you hear about the private in the army who was cleaning out the pigeon cages and whistling as he worked. The commanding officer came by and said: "That's the first time we ever had anyone happy on that job." "Oh" said the private, "it's not so bad. I was transferred from the cavalry."

Somebody said there is only one way to handle a woman. The trouble is we don't know which way that is.

Chilton County is well represented on the fall semester's dean's list for honor graduates, at the University of Alabama and especially by the Yeager family. Those from our county named on the list were Alice Deramus with all "A's"; James E. Yeager, Watson R. Yeager and John F. Yeager. Congratulations to these youngsters and may their next semester be even better than the last. That is, except for Alice Deramus. You just can't get a better report than that young lady got.

Scouts To Hold Joint Meeting

The Clanton Kiwanis Club Scout Troop 57 and the Clanton Lions Club Explorer Post 44 will hold a joint meeting at the scout hut Monday night at 7:00. Scoutmaster Don Esty and Explorer Advisor Lewis Walker will preside.

The program will open with the pledge of Allegiance to the Flag led by scout Eddie Morris. Scout John Hollis Jackson will lead scouts in the promise.

Scout Executive Bill Crane will present scouts with their Tenderfoot Badges. Scouts will be inducted with the Tenderfoot Investiture Ceremony.

Membership cards will be presented scouts Milton Adams, Paul Burks, Claud C. Craig, Kermit Des Vaughn, Ernest Driver, Jimmy Wayne Easterling, Jack Hayes, Clarkie Hutchinson, John Hollis Jackson, Bobby Little, Billy Miller Roy Price, Randy Rockett, Ronny Rogers, Lucky Rollins, Darrell Story, Tommy Tiffin, Marvin Vickers, Jack Wright, Howard Pitts Jesse Lee Headley and Joey Morris.

Scouts Charles Cobern, Roy Messer, Jimmy Foshee, Harold Henderson, James Kendrick Edward Morris, Euell C. Richardson, Jr. and David Deaton.

Other scouts will receive their membership cards after the induction ceremony.

Scouters expected to be present include committeemen J. B. Fort Dr. Joe Gowan, Ott Miller, Howard Boockholdt, Reedie Taylor, John Hollis Jackson, C. C. Craig, Ben Studdard, Leo Thompson, Sam. D. Brown and R. E. Scott.

A movie made at Scout Camp Tukabatchee will be shown by Commissioner Jesse McFerrin of Selma.

Parents and friends are invited to attend the program.

Extension Poultryman John P. Weeks warns that the sale of one egg may pay the price difference between a good chick and a low-quality one, whereas the production difference in the two birds may be three dozen or more eggs.

Letter To The Editor—

Thorsby Baptist Progressing At A Rapid Pace

Please let me use this means to express my appreciation to you who have been so kind and considerate in welcoming me back to Thorsby and to Chilton County. Your words have fallen more heavily upon my heart than you will ever know or be able to understand. I have one predominant desire in returning to you, and that is to serve. I ask for your continued interest and prayers that the choicest smile of the Lord shall be upon us as we shall share fellowship together in the extension of the cause and kingdom of our Saviour.

Due to the multiplicity of responsibilities that have rested upon me since my return to Thorsby, I have not been able to be a part in the Associational activities being sponsored through the churches. Now that I see the responsibility of participating in and working with our denominational program, I look forward with fond anticipation to this glorious experience. I returned yesterday from an evangelistic campaign known as the Baptist Crusade of Baton Rouge, Louisiana. God very gloriously blessed the efforts put forth in that movement. Before coming to Thorsby I had accepted this one and only invitation to participate in outside activities for Christ. Now I am very grateful that we can bring to bear upon our people in Thorsby and adjacent communities the claim of our Christ.

It has been my privilege to baptize into the membership of the First Baptist church at Thorsby some of the finest men in our community. I inherited a debt of $10,500.00 upon my return and I feel that I can be justly proud of the fact that on Sunday, March 6th, our people laid $10,522.08 on the altar to liquidate our church indebtedness. A splendid job has been done thus far in our building program. However, there are a number of changes that must be made before this program can be brought to a successful completion, if the physical equipment is to meet the needs of our church family at present and in the years that are to come. It was my privilege to make a survey of the equipment in the First Baptist Church and the Istrouma Baptist church in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, and to receive knowledge from specialists who designed the building program in the First Baptist Church in New Orleans.

There is a time element involved in reaching our objectives in Thorsby. I have full confidence in the ability and ingenuity of our people to follow the Lord as He shall lead us in the continuation of this program. At present we are thinking in terms of renovating and re-decorating the auditorium, the completion of the educational plan. and the installation of necessary equipment for effective work. We are also visualizing the future in the light of installing a public address system with speakers logically placed. The one pride and joy of the First Baptist church of Thorsby rightfully should be and is our nursery. We may not be able at this time to install a closed circuit television set for the nursery, but we shall not leave a stone unturned in fixing those rooms to meet the needs of our children. There will be the installation in our nursery of a germicidal lamp which will not only serve its purpose, but bring increased satisfaction to mothers who leave their babies in the nursery with us.

Thanks to the local people who have been kind enough to share with us their knowledge through experience that has helped us to more fully understand our needs and inspired us to go forward.

Our most earnest prayers have been for the simultaneous campaign of Chilton County and we shall continue to pray for those whose services are continuing through next Sunday, and we shall sincerely hope that all results of this great movement shall be completely conserved to the glory of God and to the advancement of His cause. To this end, let me say that the one supreme opportunity of all that we do, give, think or say should and must be designed to bring the lost to the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of this world. May He grant us wisdom, strength, courage, devotion and determination to bear His message, the message of the glorious Christ that the lost may accept Christ as their personal Saviour and be saved for time and through eternity.

Yeargan, Robinson Named To Head Cancer Drive

E. R. Yeargan of Thorsby has been named chairman of the Chilton County crusade of the American Cancer Society for 1955. Robert I. Thompson of Thorsby was named co-chairman.

This announcement was made today by Dr. James L. Brakefield of Birmingham, state campaign chairman. The annual cancer crusade will be launched throughout Alabama and the nation April 1, according to Mrs. Lillian G. Meade of Birmingham, state executive director of the American Cancer Society.

Dr. Brakefield called upon all residents of this county to support the local chairman in this campaign.

"The American Cancer Society is fortunate to have such outstanding leadership in this county," Dr. Brakefield said, "and I am sure that the citizens of this county will give their whole-hearted support to this cause."

Mr. Yeargan said the aim this year is to "have the most outstanding crusade we have ever had in Chilton county. In order to do this, the help of all our people will be necessary, and I am asking you now to help in every way possible."

Funds donated to the American Cancer Society are used for the support of its three-point program of education, research and service. The American Cancer Society is the only voluntary health agency approved by the Medical Association of Alabama, The American Medical Association and the American College of Surgeons for this type program to combat cancer.

Of the funds raised in Alabama, 60% remains in the state for educational, research and service work. Twenty five cents out of every dollar contributed is allocated by the national society for research, and the Alabama Division spends additional amounts on research. More than $700,000 has spent in Alabama alone on research projects, including work at Southern Research Institute, Medical College of Alabama, and the Tumor Registry, all in Birmingham: API, Auburn; and the Carver Foundation, Tuskegee Institute, Tuskegee.

The Alabama Division also carries on a continuous program of education to alert the public to cancer's danger signals, pays the cost of transportation for medically indigent cancer patients to state supported clinics, provides bandages and dressings, and furnishes drugs free of cost to hopelessly ill patients who are medically indigent

New Comers To Thorsby

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Davenport, who have resided in Long Beach, California for the past twenty-two years have bought a home in Thorsby, known as the Pool Place. Mr and Mrs. Davenport were born and reared at West Blocton. Their great grandparents were residents of Chitlon County.

Mr. Davenport was a Chief Petty Officer in the Navy, but is now retired. The people of Thorsby are fortunate to have them come and make their home here in this community.

Fellowship and refreshments will follow the service. All young people and adults are invited.

Know Where School Money Comes From?

J. H. Boockholdt

Our public schools are sometimes called "free public schools," and we speak of "free public education." The idea comes largely because of the fact that most of the money we spend on education is spent indirectly through taxes. Most adults have learned, however, that every worthwhile thing has a price and education is no exception. Likewise, most of us have learned that, regardless of what we buy, we get in quality what we pay for. Again, education is no exception.

In Alabama the greater part of the cost of education is borne by the State. Approximately 86 per cent of money spent on the education of Chilton County children during the last school year came from the state government from taxes paid by the people from all over the state. The general philosophy behind this type of school financing is that education is a state resopnsibility and that the state should tax wealth where it it is and educate the child where he is. Some counties are low on wealth but have a proportionately large number of children. Such counties get more for education than they pay in taxes for education. Chilton County is one of these counties. Such counties always gain on state revenues for education.

State school money comes from the following sources (in order of their importance):

Sales Tax, State Income Tax, 3 mill State ad valorem Tax, Tobacco Tax, Use Tax, Telephone Company Tax, Railroad Gross Receipts Tax, Store Licenses, Hydro Electric Tax, Iron Ore Tonnage Tax, Express Company Tax, Coal Tonnage Tax, Pullman Company Receipts Tax.

About 13 per cent of the money spent on education in Chilton Co last year came from county taxes. This money was collected from 7-Mills of property tax.

Next week we will review some of the facts regarding the schools' most important source of revenue—The Sales Tax.

Easter Sunrise Service To Be Held At Park

There will be an Easter Sunrise Service at the City Park on Easter Morning at 5:30 o'clock in which all of the Protestant churches will take part.

The Committee is: Rev. Marvin Vickers, arrangement; Rev. J. D. Brookshire, preacher; Rev. Ed Wilkins, enlistment; Mrs. Erle Ellis, music and Rev. Don Esty, publicity.

Everyone is invited to attend this service and according to plans of Rev. Esty it will be the largest christian gathering ever to be held here.

Revival Progresses At West End Baptist Church

Revival services at West End Baptist church continues with wonderful response. Truly, the Spirit Sunday night. Truly, the Spirit of God has prevailed during this meeting. Scores of people have already accepted Christ as their Saviour and we feel that God will call many others through this Christian Jew, Eddie Lieberman, as the services continue through Sunday night. Mrs. Raymond Mims has rendered a great service with her messages in song.

You will definitely want to attend the mass meeting here at West End Baptist Church, this Sunday afternoon, at 2:45, when the evangelist, Eddie Lieberman, will tell his life story "From Prison to Pulpit". It was behind prison bars that he first saw the New Testament and first heard the name of Jesus.

Saturday night Bro. Lieberman will bring the message entitled, "The Jewish Nation, Palestine, The Second Coming of Christ."

Everyone is invited to attend all of these services.

One Arrested On False Pretense

James Jackson is in the Chilton County Jail charged with false pretense after getting 18 gallons of gasoline and some cash from the Pan-Am Gasoline Station at Jemison. After receiving the gasoline and cash, according to R. Odell Payton, Sheriff, he was asked by Houston Porter to sign a ticket but he drove off. He was in an ambulance belonging to the Belcher Motor Company according to Sheriff Payton and told Porter that he was going after a body Porter swore out a warrant and he was picked up at Millbrook where he had stopped because of a puncture.

Sheriff stated he had also ordered a tire out of Montgomery using the name of Belcher Motor Company.

Baseball Meeting At Thorsby, 19th

There will be a baseball meeting at Thorsby next Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, for the purpose of organizing a ball club. All players that played with Lomax last season are urged to be present, any new players will be given a fair tryout. We'll need about 15 players in uniform.

We have practically new uniforms, some equipment, and a few dollars in the treasury, a good deal better start than last year.

We are sorry our good coach, Bull Watkins, can't be with us, his health is not too good right now. Lomax played 35 games last year won twenty-two and lost thirteen Hope for better record this year. Come to Thorsby Ball Park next Saturday afternoon.

34 Churches Join In The Baptist Revival Crusade

Most of the churches in our Association have had their revivals, or are now in the midst of them

The Jemison Baptist and the North Side Mission will have their revivals next week. Rev. Rasberry will do the preaching at Jemison and Rev. James Jones will be the Evangelist at the North Side Mission.

Rev. E. C. Hand informs us that they will have a week-end revival at Verbena, beginning this Friday night.

Reports have it that Union Springs and Mineral Springs will also have a Spring Revival. That makes a total of 34 churches having Spring Revivals.

Legion Blasts Hoover Proposals

At Legion Rehabilitation 32nd annual meeting held in Washington recently, rehabilitation experts from all over the Nation shouted unanimous aproval of a resolution expressing "great shock" over the Hoover group's unfounded, uneconomic and heartless jab at disabled ex-GI's.

National Commander Seaborn Collins of the American Legion—substituting a big stick for the soft words he has used since his election last September—riddled the Hoover report and charged the Commission with "heartless denial of the historic principles that veterans who have suffered service connected disabling injuries are entitled to compensation from their government."

Collins aserted "we find difficult to believe that worship of the dollar has so corrupted the conscience of any American that he would seriously suggest substitution of greed for creed."

VA Administrator, Harvey Higley, warned the conference that some 32,000 disabled veterans—the number admitted each year to the 19 VA hospitals that the Hoover Commission wants closed—would be affected during the first year after the hospitals were shut down and that 3500 would be affected immediately.

The Legion promised to relax its efforts in fields outside of the veterans' world in order to throw its forces "into battle for the preservation of veterans' benefits."

In the southern part of the state, April 1 is the deadline for releasing cotton acreage farmers do not intend to plant. And April 15 is the final date for re-apportioning released acres. April 15 and May 1 are the corresponding dates for North Alabama.

3 Injured In Wreck Near River

J. T. Meanks was critically injured last Saturday afternoon near Wyatt's Camp on the Coosa River when his automobile was in a head-on collision with a car driven by a Mrs. Stapleton from B'ham.

Also injured in the accident was two brothers-in-law of Meanks, Charles Gray and Billy Gray. Meanks litle daughter, Karla, who was riding with them was unhurt. The car was completely demolished.

It was reported today that Meank, who is in the TCI hospital at Birmingham was considerably improved. Charles Gray is still in Central Alabama Hospital but is better and Billy Gray has been dismissed.

Are Our Schools Good Enough?

Jemison High School is not different from many other schols in the County and State when you think of over-crowded conditions and ante-dated buildings. A solution to many of our school problems could be solved by relieving these conditions. At present, in the Jemison High School, the chemical laboratory and the library are having to be used as homerooms for 68 and 79 pupils respectively. The library is also used as a study hall each period during the day. The number of students in this study hall library ranges from 91 to 162 per period There are several classes with more than 40 students. No teacher can do her best work under these conditions no matter how hard she tries. To replace the Elementary School building, which is an old framed building 33 years old and out of date, would be a stimulus to good work.

Our children are our greatest assets and our greatest responsibilities. They need, and we should give them, the best preparation possible with which to meet life's problems.

Competition is greater than ever, and to meet it. we should have more classrooms, a lower per pupil-teacher ratio, better libraries, more equipment, and attractive salaries for teachers in order to keep our better teachers from accepting positions in neighboring states. If these things are not accomplished in the near future, all of our children will suffer. We would not want our children handicapped, but we should like for them to be able to compete with the best in the country.

Yours for better schools
-s- J. A. Peterson

Best Defense Against Cancer

Women over 35 should have a complete physical examination twice a year. All others should have such an examination at least once a year. Chest X-Rays for men over 45 should be taken every six months. In addition, for protection between examinations, everyone should know the 7 danger signals which may mean cancer and go at once to a doctor upon the first appearance of any one of them

Danger Signals of Cancer:

1. Any sore that does not heal.
2. A lump or thickening, in the breast or elsewhere.
3. Unusual bleeding or discharge
4. Any change in a wart or mole.
5. Persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
6. Persistent hoarseness or cough.
7. Any change in normal bowel habits.

The American Cancer Society is combating cancer through programs of research, education, and service to cancer patients.

Cancer can strike anyone at any age. It can affect children as well as men and women. Many cancers can be cured, but only if treated while reasonably local. Cancer is an uncontrolled growth of cells which, if permitted to spread thruout the body, will inevitably lead to death. Time is an important factor in cancer cure. While the growth is still limited to one area it usually can be removed or destroyed [illegible] spread if it is not detected and treated in time. Early diagnosis and proper treatment are essential in the cure of cancer.

SPRINGTIME—

It is truly springtime. To get up early in the morning and hear the roosters crow and to smell the soft, fragrant aroma of the new day makes you feel good the whole day long. In spite of yourself, you feel good.

The mothers have already started their spring cleaning and the kids have already dug their toes into the soft, cool sand, a treat they've been counting on and long awaiting these past five or six months.

The first birds have sung their first songs and at night the crickets and night creatures burst forth with the message that spring is here.

The flowers, in all their array of colors, and all their sizes and shapes have put on new glamour for the new season.

Spring fever is in the air, and a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of spring training and baseball and swimming and fishin'.

Yessir, spring is really something alright. To the everyday fellow, however, the thoughts are less pleasant. For the eight hours or so, of his or her work day, until thoughts of more pleasant things exist on their own time, their one thought is that it surely is going to be a hot summer and they fail to see the beauty of God's world and the first of spring.

'Tis a pity that we mortals miss so much, just from not being satisfied.

SPEAKING UP FOR THE COTTON FARMER—

For the past two years the cotton farmer in Alabama has been hit and hit hard by the recurring dry weather. The price of farm products has gone down about 20 per cent since the early part of 1951 and the farmers net income has been reduced by 30 per cent.

The Senate Committee on Agriculture has recently approved a bill to increase cotton acreage in Alabama by 20.725 acres under a provision which guarantees to all cotton farmers the smaller of either four acres or 75 per cent of the highest acreage planted in the last three years.

Our state will also receive an additional 5.509 acres to be added to the state acreage reserve to relieve additional hardships resulting from the sharply reduced national cotton acreage allotment announced by the Secretary of Agriculture for the '55 season.

Senator Hill of Alabama and four other senators jointly introduced five bills to increase the allotment (national) by 1.400.000 acres to relieve the little farmers. One of the bills guaranteed the small farmer the smaller of five acres or the highest acreage planted in the last three years. When presented, this move met with such opposition by members of the U. S. Department of Agriculture that the Senate Committee held the national increase to 258.625 acres because of the urgency to do something before planting time this season.

Nearly 40 per cent of the cotton farmers in the state are small family size farmers with cotton allotments of less than five acres. If the Committee approved bill is enacted it will provide much relief for the family farmers of Chilton County and Alabama.

Should we have a normal cotton yield this year in our county and nationwide the income from it will still be cut from over 3 million dollars two years ago to less than 2 million this year. This means a loss to the cotton farmers of 42 per cent in two years.

It is understandable that with the costs of living still far from reasonable the small farmer is having a difficult time making ends meet. A bill such as the one mentioned would bring welcome relief to the farmers of our county and help them on the road back to a decent financial living. Though a great increase this year could not help, a similar, or the same, increase next year will still not be too late to save some of them and should show some results by that time.

Report from Washington

BY

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Congressman, Sixth District

Under the provisions of a measure passed by the House last week, almost two million active, retired, and reserve career servicemen will receive increases in pay ranging from 6 to 25 percent. House members approved the measure by a vote of 399 to 1 and sent it to the Senate for consideration.

Known as the Career Incentive Act of 1955, this bill was passed in an effort to reduce the rapid turnover of personnel in our armed forces. It is felt that by offering military men better pay and allowances they will be encouraged to remain in the service, thereby assuring the nation a well-trained military force and at the same time saving the government the cost of training new men as replacements.

-Re-enlistment rates drop-

During 1954 the armed forces experienced one of the lowest re-enlistment rates in the history of the United States. For example, the Navy's re-enlistment rate in 1950 was 66 per cent, but by December of last year it had dropped to only 8 per cent—the lowest recorded re-enlistment figure in the Navy's history. The loss of military experience resulting from so few re-enlistments costs the government a tremendous amount of money each year. It is estiated that the cost to the government of each serviceman is about $3,200 in pay, allowances, substinence, clothing and instructions during the six months of his basic training. However, the basic training cost does not include other expensive investments that are made in the advanced training that many servicemen receive. For instance, an Army radio repairman's training cost is over $9,000. Another striking example is that of a pilot. The overall cost for training a pilot to fly one of the largest and most modern military planes is estimated to be $275,000. Such examples as these point out the need for retaining trained men in the armed forces of this country.

-Pay Increases-

Field studies made by various branches of the armed forces have indicated that inadequate pay is the leading cause for dissatisfaction among servicemen. Military salaries have not kept pace with those offered by industry and as a result, all branches of the military service are losing to many men who are trained in leadership and technical skills.

The bill passed by the House was written as a possible solution to this problem and it will provide what is believed to be adequate incentives to reduce the rapid turnover. This bill proposes varying increases in pay for all enlisted personnel who have over two years of service and for all officers who have over three years of service.

The largest percentage increase for officers would go to first and second lieutenants who will receive 22 and 25 percent increases. For enlisted personnel the largest percentage increase will be in grade E-4 which includes Army corporals and Marine Corps sergeants who have over eight years of service. They will get a 17 percent or $26 monthly increase. The largest increase dollar-wise for enlisted men is in the grade of the master sergeant with over 26 years of service. He is scheduled to receive a monthly increase of $29.64.

The proposed legislation also increases flight pay, submarine pay, and all other hazardous duty pay by 10 percent. Retired personnel who are entitled to monthly benefits under laws other than the Career Compensation Act will receive a flat six percent increase in their present retired pay. The House-approved bill also raises the pay of men who are enrolled at the four service academies.

Under the terms of the House measure, all higher rates will be effective the first day of the month following passage of the legislation.

Jimson Weed Deadly To Small Children

Montgomery, The Jimson weed, also called "stinkweed" can be like an open bottle of belladonna left in the reach of children.

Dr. D. G. Gill, State Health Officer today urged parents to keep very young children from this plant with white or violet trumpet-shaped flowers and prickly fruit. "The seeds of the fruit, as well as the leaves and stems can be poisonous when eaten by the curious, young child," Dr. Gill explained.

Unfortunately, Dr. Gill pointed out, the plant is in abundance in many spots where children play—on vacant lots, playgrounds and parks. "The plant takes care to spread or propagate itself," he said.

IT'S MY OPINION

The Lowly Apprentice

Seldom do I see an apprentice in a business that doesn't get the treatment of an old second hand car when it comes to care and understanding. Not all employees treat them thus, as a matter of fact, most of them are rather considerate. But there still remain that percentage who look on them as if they were not on the same level with the well learned and experienced "old hand". It's my opinion that the "old hands" as experienced as the might be, would do well to consider that they were once the apprentice and since they also think they are so well learned, then they could also consider treating the lowly, unskilled beginer with a little more kindness, because some day he will likely fill their shoes or run them over.

Nothing gripes us quite so much as the fellow who is impatient with a beginner, seemingly because he thinks he knows all there is to know about the particular job and is abhorred at the fact that anyone could be so stupid as not to understand it. I have seen the same fellow when he knew little more or maybe even less, as this poor, dumb creature he is now griping about.

The answer is patience alright. Something we'd all do well to cultivate. However, where one man is impatient on one thing he may have the patience of Job on another and a second man may be just the opposite. We all seem to have patience under some conditions and we all are impatient in the same manner. We should know, still, when our patience plays a large part in our daily lives. We would all do better, however, to treat the ignorant person as if he were, at least, a fellow man. By ignorant, I do not mean illiterate. There is not a one of us who is not ignorant to some extent. And ignorance, by no means makes a man "the stupidest thing I ever saw." I've heard that discussed also.

It is no different when a new man comes into the picture than it were when you came into a brand spanking new not knowing A from Z. And think how good it made you feel for someone to show a little understanding now and then or planted a little pat on the back at the right time. It made you feel better because you were fully aware, yourself, that you appeared (and were) awkward and clumsy because you knew nothing about the job. Still, you wanted someone to have confidence in your ability to learn, which is no different from the man you are helping.

A great incentive for a young newcomer is for someone to show understanding when he does something wrong and to show appreciation when he does a job well. It will surprise you how much better the man will turn out and how much better his work will be if you show him the respect that you would expect were you in his position.

Just remember back when you were a greenhorn and awkward and clumsy and think how you appreciated those words of encouragement from your superior. It likely made a better worker and a better man of you. Don't louse up another young fella's chances to be just as god as you are. . . or better.

State Employment Announces New Jobs

Montgomery, Ala — The State Personnel Department has announced four assembled examinations for merit system classifications.

The deadline for submitting applications for the examinations is March 25. Application forms may be obtained from the State Personnel Department or from any local office of the Alabama State Employment Service.

The examinations announced and the monthly salary are: Clerk II, $186-$250; Clerk I, ($140 for high school graduates with no experience or additional training), $156 $210; Livestock Market Analyst II, $295-$380; Livestock Market Anaylst I, $265-$342.

In planning their land use programs, farmers will do well to set aside an area to be prepared during the summer for fall seeding of alfalfa. Land now in winter legumes will be especially good for alfalfa plantings.

S. S. Due If Domestic Employee Draws $17 Or More Monthly

"If you pay $17 a month or more to your cook, baby-sitter or maid, you will probably have to pay a social security tax in April," Mr J. W. Overstreet, Jr., manager of the Birmingham, Alabama district office of the Social Security Administration, said today. Starting January 1, 1955, any household worker who is paid $50 or more cash wages by one employer in a calendar quarter, such as January through March, is covered by the amended Social Security Act. The length of time worked no longer matters.

Wages other than in cash—such as board and room—do not count.

If the household work is done on a farm operated for profit, it is covered only if $100 cash is paid during the year to the domestic employee, Mr. Overstreet explained.

Two percent of the cash wage is withheld from any payment made to the employee. The employer then adds a like amount of his own and pays the total 4% of wages) as a tax to the Internal Revenue Service every three mos. For instance, in April employers will pay the tax for January, February, and Mar. Workers in a farm household will be reported on the same basis as other agricultural employees.

"It is important," Mr. Overstreet said, "for every employer to see that each employee has a social security number and takes down a record of the worker's exact name and number." He added that a fuller explanation of household coverage may be secured from pamphlets which are available at any social security office.

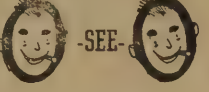
Things we -SEE- and Hear



by "Tuck"

You can tell the rich man from the other kind, by the fuel they keep in their gas tank. In other words, a man of means makes it a practice to keep his tank full all the time, whereas we just try to keep enough in ours to fool the carburetor into thinking it's got something to run on.

It isn't that we're trying to starve Joe and Hoover and the boys, it's just that we aren't a man of any sort of means to speak of.

Within two days of last week, (let's make it three) we ran out of petrol twice. The second time we barely made it to 'ole Herman Vinson's in time to feed the horses. Coughed and sputtered about four or five blocks. The first time we weren't at all fortunate and had to walk about a mile. Guess the only solution to the problem is either to get a hay-burner, try to prod our memory a little, which is unlikely, or we could become a man of means. (If we run out of gas again soon, we're gonna become a mean man.)

We agree with the saying "you have to spend money to make money", but where do you get it to spend to make.

Wanna give Dr. J. L. Bennett a plug (that's a joke, son). We heard the other day from a reasonably reliable source that those little "Coosa Nuggets" manufactured and sold by the Doc were really giving the Coosa fish a rough time. Seems the gluttonous monstors can't resisting the tasty looking morsels. We don't know where he got the Nugget part of the name unless they're a gold mine and we'll bet he wouldn't vouch for that. We don't personally, get much time for teasing the fish, but we surely have heard some favorable reports from more than one satisfied fisherman and should the fishing fever overtake us this spring, you can probably catch us fishing for giant porpoises with a "Nugget". (No, you won't catch us with nothin'.)

Very unreliable sources have reported very unreliable tales of very unreliable porpoises on our river. Someone even caught one of the monstors. The reason we are just a leetle mite skeptical is the fact that we've never heard of such a thing and therefore you'd have to show us the critter.

Thar's gold in them thar hills! Yep, seems some gentlemen down in Coosa county went diggin' for mica and came up with radioactive something or 'uther. Now they've had their find checked and rechecked and there is for sure something there alright, they just haven't dug deep enough yet. Reports are though, that their find, and the surrounding rock formations are similar to those of big fields, so we just might be sitting on atomic power. We wish they'd put it in television sets and refrigerators rather than in planes and submarines.

You know that sick spell or operation you've been intending to have for a spell and just couldn't seem to get around to it, (thank goodness) Well, if you can hold off a few more weeks, you can make use of the new county hospital now under construction and nearing completion. Reports are that it won't be long now, and it is to be a big day for Clanton and Chilton County. Many officials of our state and national government are to be on hand for the dedication to make the event a memororable one, so watch for the date and be around to help celebrate the opening of the most upto-date medical facilities Chilton County has ever had the good fortune to be exposed to.

They say the old Coosa is down some lately, in fact, way down. Don't know whether the mud got higher or the water got lower but it's down anyway. The local fishermen have been having such good luck lately they probably lowered the water line by taking so many big fish out of it.

Kentucky Bean Is Choice In Ala.; But Not Always Best

Auburn, Ala.—For many years, the Kentucky Wonder variety of pole snap beans has been the undisputed favorite of Alabama foodshoppers. And because of its popularity in the markets, that variety has long been the leading recommended pole snap bean for commercial use.

But a "native" bean, the Alabama No. 1, has its advantages over the Kentucy Wonder for growth in this state. The Alabama No. 1 has been found to yield better under dry weather conditions than the other does, according to John Bagby, API Extension Service horticulturist.

The Alabama bean is planted from mid-March through May for the summer crop and from July 15 to Aug. 15 for the fall crop—about the same time as the foodshoppers' preference. Alabama No. 1 is also a long bean and less stringy than the Kentucky Wonder.

For areas where it is known, the Alabama No. 1 is recommended for commercial growers, Bagby explained. He added that the bean is certainly a good one for home gardens.

Almost Time To Start Turkey Crops

Auburn, Ala.—Christmas is creeping up on farmers who plan to start turkeys for holiday markets.

API Extension Poultryman John P. Weeks said here this week that poults for producing Thanksgiving and Christmas turkeys should be put in brooder houses from early May to mid July. He explained that the time for starting poults depends on the kind of bird to be grown and the market a producer wants to hit. The Broad Breast Bronze turkey is generally started 26 to 28 weeks before it is to be marketed and the Beltsville Small White bird is started 22 to 24 weeks prior to sale.

In speaking of opportunities in the turkey industry, Weeks said this enterprise is an excellent way for Alabama farmers to add to their cash incomes and provide their own markets for home-grown grains.

Those who raise turkeys will want to pick the breed best suited to their conditions, Weeks pointed out. The small White turkey, superior to other breeds in finish, early maturity, and consumer acceptance, is a family-size bird. At maturity its dressed weight is seven to 14 pounds. The Broad Breast Bronze, a large turkey, is the most efficient meat producer.

Weeks urged growers to select stock free from Pullorum Disease It is better to get the poults from nearby hatcheries, so that they won't have to be shipped long distances, he added.

A Letter To The Farmers Of Chilton County

From

Your Gulf Distributor

DEAR FRIENDS:

It has been brought to my attention that some of you living in this section have been led to believe that the price of gasoline has increased considerably in the past few weeks.

This is not the facts!

When the present Legislature increased the tax on gasoline by one cent per gallon recently, this tax was passed on to you as was the intention of the Bill.

However, where you were paying 24.8 for your gasoline you now pay 25.8, which is the amount of tax the new Legislature added. That is the increase, and the only increase, in the cost of gasoline to you that has been made.

I want to also add this bit of information to my good friends in this territory. Your Gulf Distributor does sell a high quality tractor fuel that will start your tractor on the coldest morning without having to use gasoline to start it.

Again I assure you that the price of gasoline will go no higher than is absolutely necessary and to you who may have been misled by rumors. I hope this will convince you that when you buy Gulf products you buy the highest quality at the lowest possible cost.

Sincerely your friend and Gulf Distributor

Tempting Treat or Company Dessert

Delectable fudge squares—quick, easy, and so good!

These Southern Fudge Squares will win applause from youngsters, the men folk and fussy aunts alike. Made thick or thin, they're equally delicious —vary the topping to suit your fancy!

SOUTHERN FUDGE SQUARES

- ⅓ cup shortening
- ⅓ cup sugar
- ½ cup KARO Syrup, Blue Label
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 square unsweetened chocolate
- 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- ¾ cup sour milk

Cream shortening, gradually add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Add KARO, beat well. Add egg, vanilla and melted chocolate. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with sour milk, stirring just until smooth after each addition. Pour into well-greased oblong pan (12 x 7 x 2 inches) or 2 8-inch square pans. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) about 25 minutes. When cool, spread with your favorite chocolate butter-cream or fudge frosting and cut into 2-inch squares. Makes about 18 squares.

Note: For thick cake-like squares, bake in 8-inch square cake pan in moderate oven (350° F.) about 45 minutes.

Baptist WMU Circles Met On Monday

Circle I:

Mrs. W. C. Maddox was hostess to Circle I when twelve members met at her home on Monday afternoon at 2:30 p.m.

An inspiring devotional was given by Mrs. Verna Bean who used for her scripture, Deut. 2:1-7 and made comments on the subject "Let us Tarry No Longer".

Mrs. Watts Moore and Mrs. Robert Powers presented an interesting program using for their topics "Soul Wining Women" from the Home Mission Magazine and "Sunday in The Near East" from the Commission Magazine respectively.

Mrs. Russell Lewis presided over the business meeting. The Annie Armstrong offering was taken up.

Delightful refreshments were served by the hostess.

Others present were: Mrs. T. L. McKee, Mrs. J. L. Teel, Mrs. M. C. Hamilton, Mrs. Marcus Polk, Jr., Mrs. C. L. Woodfin, Mrs. J. F. Gowan and Mrs. Grover Walker.

Circle IV:

Members of Circle IV met with Mrs. G. C. Powell at her home on 7th Ave. No. Monday afternoon with arrangements of spring flowers adding to the attractiveness of the receiving rooms.

Mrs. Joe Moore, program chairman presented a timely devotional and an interesting program. Mr. R. A. Williamson led in prayer.

Mrs. Lester Jones, chairman, presided over a short business meeting.

Refreshments were served to eight members. They were Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Horsley White, Mrs. R. A. Williams, Mrs. John Deramus, Mrs. John McKee and a new member, Mrs. Morris.

Circle V:

Circle V met with Mrs. W. E. Golden on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Tom Kemp gave the devotional.

What is being done for home missions was the subject of the program. Mrs. Renfroe Mullins presented "Soul Wining Women". Mrs. Charles Moore told about the Co-operative Program. "Rolling Stone and Hungry Hearts" and "It Shall Prosper" were given by Mrs. A. D. Mattix. Mrs. Sam Patterson gave the article, "I Did Not Know" which told about the conversion of Mormons.

After a short business session refreshments were served to eleven members.

For benediction the group sang 'Blest Be The Tie."

Mrs. Paul Bennett Is Complimented

Mrs. Paul Bennett was complimented on Friday evening, March 11, when a number of her friends gave a surprise party in honor of the forthcoming blessed event.

The Bennett home was the scene of much happiness and delight as the friends began to drop in to visit with Mrs. Bennett and to shower her with many beautiful gifts for the coming event.

Light refreshments were served.

Make your own meat tenderizer with vinegar and olive oil. A cheap cut of steak rubbed with this [illegible] stored in the [illegible] three hour [illegible] much more [illegible].

Garden Club Met With Mrs. Eiland

The Garden Club of Clanton met at the home of Mrs. W. B. Eiland on Tuesday, March 8.

Legion Post No. 6 Celebrates Birthday

It was on the occasion of the Legion's 32nd Birthday that members of the Chilton County Post No. 6 met at the City Grill Tuesday evening and celebrated its birthday by eating a nice juicy steak with all the trimmings and listened to W. Baxter Collier, Junior Vice Commander, Department of Alabama give some very interesting information about the activities of the Legion since its organization 3[illegible] years ago in Paris, France.

Commander Collier was introduced by Post Commander Bob Fullen. Among the outstanding accomplishments of the Legion is the orphan program to which it has contributed more than one hundred and ten million dollars in the past twenty-five years; the passage of what is known as the GI Bill; Jr. ball clubs and back to God and church.

It was pointed out that the Legion is the largest sponsorer of Boy Scouts in the world and ranks No. [illegible] among the most despised and hated by the Communists.

Collier also pointed out the fact that many successful business men in various trades and professions could give credit to World War I Vets who were farsighted enough to sponsor legislature making it possible for them to get such benefits. It was also pointed out that Korean veterans could also be thankful to the Legion for the schooling and other benefits that they are now receiving and are otherwise entitled to. He went on to point out that the fight for these benefits was not an easy one but was won by a hard and long fight.

here's how

WHEN you're baking your bread and rolls, be certain to turn them out of their pans as soon as baking time is finished. This will prevent them from steaming in the pans and becoming soggy.

After dough has been mixed, do not add any more flour, as flour added later will cause dark streaks in raised doughs.

Yeast doughs require the flavor development necessary to their appetizing goodness, and this is contributed in a large measure by the salt added to the mixture.

How do you test for dough which has risen to "double in bulk"? Make an indentation with one finger and if it remains the dough is ready to be shaped and molded.

Potato water is excellent for use in yeast doughs because it quickens the action of the yeast and also helps the dough keep its moistness longer after baking.

Get into a rhythm while you knead dough as it makes fun of this job. Eight to ten minutes of kneading are usually required for the first kneading while two minutes of punching are usually all that are necessary for a second kneading.

Like a soft surface on baked rolls and bread? Brush them with melted fat or butter just before baking.

Like a crusty surface on baked yeast doughs? Brush the dough before baking with an egg which has been beaten slightly with two tablespoons of cold water.

A pinch of saffron adds a rich yellow color and good flavor to sweet yeast doughs. Be very sparing, however, in adding the saffron.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Mocha Pecan Sauce
(Makes 1½ cups)

- 1 cup sugar
- ⅓ cup strong black coffee
- 3 ounces (squares) chocolate, melted
- ⅓ cup evaporated milk
- ½ cup pecan meats

Boil sugar and coffee to soft ball stage (234°F.) when a small amount is dropped in cold water to form the soft ball. Pour slowly over chocolate. Stir until smooth, add milk and beat until mixture is creamy. Add nut meats and serve hot or cold over ice cream.

New Cedron Ladies Organize A Home Demonstration Club

The ladies of the New Cedron Community met at the home of Mrs. Vastine Powell last Friday afternoon and, with the assistance of Mrs. Johnnie Lane, County Home Demonstration Agent, organized a Home Demonstration Club.

This is the 21st such club to be organized in this county.

Mrs. Lane discussed some of the highlights of the 1955 yearbook that would be of interest to homemakers. Many interesting features were brought out to demonstrate the benefit of such a club to any community.

At this meeting the following officers were elected and installed for the ensuing year; President, Mrs. Fonzie Williams; vice-president, Mrs. Vastine Powell; Secretary-treasurer and reporter, Mrs. Bob Fullen; gang leader, Mrs. Ruth Henley; recreation leaders, Mrs. J. J. Cox, Mrs. Lester Powell, Mrs. Lonzie Baker and Mrs. Shelton Owens.

A demonstration on the "new construction technique" was given by Mrs. Lane. Several new points in sewing were illustrated in making a ladies' blouse.

After the election of officers the guests were invited into the dining rom where the hostess, Mrs. Vastine Powell, served most delicious refreshments to the members present.

The next meeting was scheduled to be held at the home of Mrs. E. E. Edwards on April 12th, Tues. at 2 p.m. All ladies in this community are invited and urged to attend.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE STATE DEMOCRATIC EXECUTICE COMMITTEE OF ALA.

THAT, WHEREAS, it has been the tradition of Alabama and of the United States from the time of the formation of their respective governments that we have two major political parties founded on certain political principles and vying with each other for political preferment in the general elections; and for the election of candidates for national and state offices, and,

WHEREAS, there have been at times a third or fourth party seeking to enter candidates in the general elections which disclaim allegiance to either of the two national parties, yet sometimes using the symbols of the national parties and,

WHEREAS, the State Democratic Executive Committee is concerned with maintaining in the State of Alabama, explicit allegiance to one of the traditional national parties as repeatedly counseled by Judge Ben [illegible] Ray and other members of the Committee and,

WHEREAS, we who profess the Democratic faith must now recognize that Republicans and other non-Democratic groups calling themselves parties are raiding our primaries and causing bitterness and confusion within our legitimate party and in the public mind; and which non-Democratic groups at the polls do not vote by party allegiance but for special interests, the party pledge which morally and;

WHEREAS, it is apparent that binds candidates as heretofore used in our party primaries does not deter these self-appointed and unauthorized groups from raiding the Democratic Party, and

WHEREAS, more than one-half of the states which have party primaries have what has come to be known as the party enrollment law under which enrollment law the voters are required to enroll or register their names previous to election day stating their party affiliation; and having so registered, the voters may vote in the primary of their choice. We call attention to such laws in the following southern states: Florida, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland and North Carolina; Kentucky being the first state in the Union to pass and adopt such a statute, and,

WHEREAS, it being one of the principles of our party—the Democratic Party—to preserve the identity of our party and its great traditions which date from the beginnings of this nation, and to benefit its members for their allegiance to the party;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that this matter be referred to the proper committee for further study and for the preparation of a suitable resolution to be addressed to the Legislature of the State of Alabama, praying that a law be drafted which will require the voters of this state to register and enroll their name to indicate the party of their preference as a prerequisite for voting in party primaries.

Pre-Measurement Service Offered On Cotton, Peanuts

Premeasurement service is being offered to Chilton County cotton and peanut growers prior to planting time.

Premeasurement service, which is being offered on a cost basis, may be obtained by filing a written request with the County ASC office prior to March 25, 1955. The rate to be charged for the service in Chilton County has been established at five dollars ($5.00) for each farm, plus fifty cents ($.50) per acre for each acre or fraction thereof in excess of five (5) acres. Payment based on this rate must be made at the time the request for the service is filed with the County ASC Office.

Premeasurement is purely optional and is offered as a service to growers who prefer to have an official measurement to use as a planting guide. All cotton and peanut acreage in the county will be measured as soon as possible after the crops are established to determine compliance with the acreage allotment-marketing quota program.

Premeasured farms will be considered within the farm acreage allotment if the crop is planted within the premeasured area when compliance is checked.

A brief prayer service has been planned to precede the revival services each night, with a prayer group planed for the women, the men, and the young people. Everyone is cordially invited to attend all of these revival services.

A Fellowship Hour was enjoyed by the young people of the church following the Sunday night service last Sunday. Some 15 or 18 young people attended the Fellowship which was held at the home of the pastor. Plans were started to make this meeting a regular affair, to meet every other Sunday night. A temporary committee composed of Leslie Smith, George White, J. B. Mizell, and Jean McCraw was appointed to plan for the meeting on March 27. A permanent committee will be appointed at that meeting. The Young People also discussed plans for going to South Alabama for a week's revival among the South Alabama Indians during the summer. The refreshments for the fellowship Houh were provided by Mrs. Garland Smith, Mrs. Lewis McGee, and Mrs. Evan Johnson.

Good attendance and good services were enjoyed at the church at every service Sunday. Both the Sunday School and the Training Union attendance showed an increase over the previous Sunday and above the average. It seems as the news is being written on Monday afternoon, that the spirit is excellent, and the prospects are good for a great, heaven-sent revival in our church at Mulberry. Special Goals have been set for the Sunday School and the Training Union for next Sunday, the closing revival day. The Sunday School has set a goal of 150 for Sunday, and the training Union goal is 10[illegible].

The goal set for the Sunday School if reached would more than exceed the record attendance of the church. Every member of the church, every member of the Sunday School, and every member of the Tarining Union at Mulberry is urged to be present for the revival during the week, and then to be present on Sunday to see these goals exceeded.

Mrs. Frances Mims May, daughter of Mr. Marion Mims, letter was granted from our church Sun. We wish her happiness in her church work in New York.

The Jr. G.A.'s met with Audrey Latham on Monday, March 7th. A love gift was given to a shut-in by the group. The program was given from the Tell Magazine.

Refreshments were served to ten members and their counselor, Mrs. Lewis McGee.

Since the revival is over the librarian wants you to read more of our books.

Mrs. W. T. Tucker states that she has recently heard from her daughter, Betty Lee, Mrs. Earl Clenner and family of Key West Fla. and learned that Chief Clenner is in the hospital there. He is having trouble with his feet.

Mrs. Carrie Conway of Clanton is visiting in our community this week, attending the revival services at Mulberry.

Mrs. C. T. Little of Winchester was the week end guest of Mrs Emma Manning. She and Mrs Manning visited Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Farmer and Ann of Titus while here.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Hayes, Jenelle and Ronny, along with Mrs. L. H. Blanton and children of Clanton visited Mr. and Mrs Bonnie Hand and children in LaFayette on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wells' week end guests were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jones and children of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. Esby Dobbs and Ricki of Montgomery. Sunday afternoon guests were Mrs [illegible] S. Weeks and Karl of Tuscaloosa.

MRS. DOVIE LEACH BURIED AT MARS HILL

Mrs. Dovie Leach, age 49, of Jemison, died at 1:[illegible]7 p.m. March 10th at a Birmingham hospital after a lingering illness. Funeral services were held from Mars Hill [illegible] at 2 p.m. Saturday, March 12th, conducted by Revs. Carden, Loll Beard and [illegible]. Interment in Leach cemetery.

Pallbearers were: Wilton Downing, Lavel Smith, Delco Leach, William and Leo Cofer and James Payne. Friends and neighbors arranged the flowers.

She is survived by the husband A. J. Leach; one daughter, Mrs. Hael Braswell of Decatur; one son Hanson Leach of Jemison; mother Mrs. Maggie Smith of Jemison; four sisters, Mrs. Leatie Wiggins of Birmingham, Mrs. Dulcie Cofe and Mrs. Lena Robinson of Jemison and Mrs. Minnie Scott also of Jemison; two brothers, Arni Smith of Jemison and Lonnie Smith of Birmingham.

Here's What 4-H Club Means To Chilton County Members

Frances Kimbrell and Media Jane Faulkner—

Frances Kimbrel and Media Jane Faulkner really enjoy their 4-H work. Frances is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Kimbrel, Jemison, Rt. 2. Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Faulkner are the parents of Media Jane. Both are members of the Mineral Springs 4-H Club.

Frances is 11 years old and in her third year of 4-H work. Her projects are sewing and cooking. Frances says 4-H Club work has done a lot for her. She says "the demonstrations help me learn more and therefore, I can do better work on my projects. The meetings are always interesting, not only because of the demonstrations, but we enjoy the singing and games. When we have Council meetings I get to know other 4-H'ers in my county." This year, Frances is doing a fine job of leading Mineral Springs Club as their president.

Media Jane is secretary-treas. of her club. She is 11 years old and has been a 4-H'er for three years. Cooking is Media Jane's project. Many times she has cooked all three meals a day for her mother. these girls show they intend "To Make the Best Better."

Evie Jo Harrison—

"Cooking is the project I like best." Evie Jo Harrison is very much interested in her cooking project. Evie Jo is the 14 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Harrison of Maplesville. She is vice-president of Maplesville Sr. 4-H Club.

Evie Jo says, "I have cooking for a project. I have worked on other projects, but I am very much interested in cooking."

"I enjoy trying out new recipes and working on them until I can make them perfect. When mother is shopping or not at home I prepare and cook the meals. When she is having company I make cookies or a cake for her."

"When we have the cooking demonstrations at school, mother lets me try out the recipes when I get home."

Evie Jo also says, "I started in 4-H when I was 12 years old. I have been taking cooking and sewing ever since. I won second place in the Sikrt Revue two years ago. Last year I entered a dress in the Dress Revue."

Although room improvement isn't one of Evie Jo's projects, she has done some beautiful work in improving her room. She has helped her mother finish a lot of furniture that her father made. Also, she's helped make slipcovers for chairs, curtains, and drapes.

Evie Jo's record this year will be among the best.

Brenda Higginbotham—

Brenda Higginbotham, 13 year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Higginbotham, Maplesville, Ala., has done outstanding 4-H work since she has been a 4-H member.

Brenda tells us, "I have been in 4-H Club since I was 10-years old. The first year I was president, second year I was reported, and last year I was sec-treas.".

"I enjoy 4-H Club work because it helps me in so many ways." "The first year I had cooking, sewing and raised a calf. I made a skirt and entered it in the Skirt Revue contest and won honorable mention. I also entered my calf in the Dairy Show and won third place."

"The second year I had home improvement and cooking, and also made a skirt and fixed up my room.

"The third year I had room improvement and cooking."

"I like 4-H because it is interesting and you can learn so much on cooking, sewing, or any other project you have."

Brenda has shown by her records that she has really been active in 4-H Club work. When she had room improvement she completely refinished her bedroom suite, made dresser scarves, bed spread and curtains. I'm sure, in the future as in the past, that Brenda will still be able to show results of her 4-H training.

Thomasine Noah—

Thomasine Noah, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Noah, has been a 4-H Club member at Pinedale School for two years. Thomasine is vice-president of her Club.

Sewing, embroidering and house cleaning, are Thomasine's projects. She likes her projects because by learning how to do these things in 4-H Club she is able to be of more help to her mother.

Embroidering is her favorite project. She has done several beautiful embroidery pieces.

In her house cleaning project, she helps her mother clean the house every day.

Thomasine says she really doe like the rally and the picnics that the 4-H Club sponsors. She is now planning to attend this year's rally.

Linda Faye Moates—

Linda Faye Moates is also in her second year of 4-H Club work. Linda 11 years old, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luddie Moates: She is sec.-treas. of the Pinedale Club this year and doing a splendid job

Linda's projects are sewing and housekeeping. Linda says, "I sweep the floors every day, make up two beds and polish the furniture. When I cook, mother and daddy say it is very good. I haven't done much sewing, but I plan to make a quilt soon. Also, I am making a skirt to enter the Skirt Revue in my school. I enjoy working on my projects and I am planning to continue them."

June Penton—

Cooking, sewing, and home management have been June Pentons' projects for four years. June is the 13 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Penton, Clanton, Rt. 2. This year June is taking safety, cooking, personal appearance and home management.

At Thomas Jr. school June is Sec-treas. of her Club and third vice president of the 4-H County Council in Chilton.

June says she likes the 4-H Club because it teaches her things she can use now and in later life. She keeps her record up-to-date and works hard because she knows what she does and learns is for her own good. This is her first year in safety, and she says, "I didn't know there were so many things you could do to help prevent accidents at home. Things such as picking up glass, tin cans, burning trash, repairing electric cords, putting rubber rings on corners of throw rugs and many others that require little time but really pay off when it comes to safety at home." June thinks her safety project is well worth the time and effort she puts on it.

Sewing has been one of June's projects every year, so this year she decided to work more on something else, although, she still does quite a bit of sewing. Last year she won first place at her Club in the Dress Revue and she plans to enter this year. Pat, June's nine year old sister, is in her first year of 4-H Club work. Sewing and cooking are Pat's projects, so June is a big help to Pat.

Carolyn Cox—

Carolyn Cox, Thomas Jr., has an excellent leadership record. Carolyn has been a member of the Jr. 4-H Club for five years. During that time she has been song leader, vice-president for one year, and president of her Club for two years. Carolyn has also been song leader second and third vice-president, and this year is first vice-president of the County 4-H Council in Chilton County. She has done outstanding work in each of these offices. Her interest nor ability to lead has ever lagged.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cox, Clanton, Rt. 2 are the parents of 14 year old Carolyn.

Her projects are sewing, cooking, personal appearance, home improvement and dairying. She has done good work in each of these projects. Her records are up-to-date.

In 1952 and '54 Carolyn entered the Dairy Maid Contest and was chosen Chilton County Dairy Maid of 1954.

Not only has Carolyn been active as a leader in the 4-H Club, she has also been active in church and school work. Carolyn takes an active part in church activities and has held several offices in her class. She has been on the basket ball team at Thomas Jr. for four years. Carolyn has helped when she could in various projects of the Home Demonstration Clubs. For four years Carolyn has entered the Skirt and Dress Revues and plans to enter this year. She was first place winner in her local Club for three years and first place winner in the County Jr. Dress Revue in 1953. Carolyn has attended all the rallies since she became a 4-H'er and has participated in various field day activities at the rallies.

Carolyn says "I enjoy 4-H Club work, it has done a lot for me. I hope to do a lot more in the future than I have in the past."

* * *

Tommie Baker and Gwen Frucci—

"4-H means a great deal to me", Tommie Baker tells us. Tommie is 11 years old and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Baker. She is president of Verbena Jr. Club and in her second year of Club work. Tommie shows outstanding leadership ability and enjoys her Club work.

Tommie tells us that, "4-H means a great deal to me, not because it is just a Club you can join, but because it helps me in so many ways. We have fun, yet we work and enjoy it."

"My projects are sewing, cooking and household improvement. I think 4-H will make me a better citizen."

4-H Clubs strive to make the best of today better in the future. The vice-president at Verbena Jr 4-H Club is also a willing worker and a good leader. Gwen Frucci is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Frucci. Gwen is 11 years old.

Gwen tells us what 4-H means to her. "4-H has taught me to work better with my fellow man. I have been in 4-H two years. My first year I was Secretary-Treasurer and the second year I am vice-president. I can get up in front of a group and talk without having to go over my words two or three times. My projects are cooking and sewing. I have done lots of work on my cooking project, but very little on sewing. I have not joined the 4-H Club because of the rally, but because it has taught me something."

Angelyn Frucci and Jackie Porch—

These two girls, Angelyn Frucci and Jackie Porch, fully explain what 4-H Club means to them. Angelyn is the 13 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Frucci. Jackie is Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Porch's 12 year old daughter. Both girls belong to Verbena Sr. 4-H Club. Here is what 4-H has meant to a great deal to me. It has shown Angelyn. "The 4-H Club has meant and taught me to appreciate my country and my fellow men more. 4-H has taught me to get along with my fellow man, sew, cook and get in front of a group and lead it with confidence. Yet in 4-H I have had fun with other people and at the rallies. I have had fun holding these meetings, cooking, sewing, and still having the Clubs in summer time. I have deeply appreciated Miss Bates, Mrs. Lane. and all the people have done to make it possible for us to have this Club in our school.

I've been in 4-H Club for three years. I have been the president of Verbena Sr. Club since I've been in."

Jackie tells what 4-H Club has meant to her. "4-H Club to me is an organization which helps boys and girls learn to get along with other people and to appreciate our wonderful America, to talk, before people, and to become healthier and happier girls and boys. 4-H Club teaches me to be more courteous with my friends and in my home and to cultivate the right kind of friends. We learn to cook, sew, to improve our home and yards and to be helpful at home and in our community. I think the 4-H Pledge clearly explains what 4-H Club means to me:

I pledge my head to clearer thinking, my heart to greater loyalty, my hands to larger service and my health to better living, for my Club, my comunity and my country.

I have been in 4-H Club three years including this year. I have been vice-president for two years and sec-treas. one year. I have taken sewing, cooking and ironing all together. I have been to every rally and enjoyed them for the last two years. I have entered the skirt contest for two years. Last year I won first place at school and 2nd place in the county."

After reading these girls beliefs of 4-H work, there should be no doubt in your mind as to the reason for 4-H Clubs— "To Make The Best Better."

Fashion Approves The Cotton Slip

Cotton slips are now fashion-wise as well as economy wise.

In the past, woven cotton fabrics have been important only for certain type slips and for general use during the hottest summer months. But now, beautifully designed and trimmed to please the most feminine hearts, cotton slips go every where on anyone in all kinds of weather. Because of their coolness, they are especially popular for the warmer months.

Miss Kathleen Thompson, API Extension clothing specialist, says retail merchants report that women are becoming more and more conscious of cotton's comfort and ease of care. Some estimates gave cotton credit for 40 percent of all slip sales last year, about 10 percent higher than estimates for 1953.

More than new

Ford's 162-h.p. Y-block V-8 and 182-h.p. Y-block Special V-8 now offer new Trigger-Torque power!

When you Test-Drive Ford's new Trigger-Torque power you're in for a thrilling surprise. For here is power that can get you moving in split seconds . . . and give you safety-fast passing ability.

It has actually been measured that it takes the rear wheels as little as 7/100 of a second to react to your touch on the gas pedal.

Such Go-power can come only from engines which are more than merely new—more than ordinary V-8 engines. And that's exactly what these Ford engines are. They are the result of the most advanced V-8 engineering—a result of Ford's precision manufacturing techniques and experience in building more V-8's than all other makers combined have ever built!

Tried and true

Ford's 1955 engine news resulted from 23 years' experience building over 14,000,000 V-8 engines

In 1932 Ford introduced the V-8 engine to the low-price field. And it was only just recently that other makers in Ford's field adopted this kind of engine—23 years later. Yet it is interesting to note that the majority of costlier cars had joined Ford in offering V-8's some time ago.

Ford's vast experience in building over 14,000,000 V-8 engines has never paid off better than this year. Now you can enjoy the ultimate in "Go"—new Trigger-Torque power. Now you get new spark plugs which resist "fouling" up to 3 times longer. Now you get the greater smoothness of Ford's rigid deep-block design. Now you gain the savings of higher compression ratios. Now you gain the power of the biggest Ford car engines ever. And you get the security of knowing that Ford, the world's most experienced V-8 maker, built your car's engine.

Come in. Take your Test Drive today. Ford has much more to offer that's new. You'll find beautiful Thunderbird-inspired styling—comfortable new Angle-Poised Ride—new 10% larger brakes, to name a few.

TB Association Needs Legislative Support Plus John Q. Public

A solution to one of the ost serious problems facing the citizens of this state will be sought when the legislative committee of the Alabama Tuberculosis Association meets this week in Montgoery.

Judge eGorge C. Wallace of Clayton, chairman, has completed appointment of the committee and issued a call for the first meeting to take place Thursday at Montg. Whitley Hotel.

"We're just kidding ourselves when we keep fooling around with TB," Judge Wallace said. "The disease is preventable, and yet there are nearly 12,000 known cases on health departent records in Ala., of which 2,220 were newly discovered during 1954.

"It's a wanton waste of money to permit tuberculosis to go on striking down unsuspecting victims. National studies estimate every death from TB costs $30,000, most of which must come from some source of taxation.

Judge Wallace said the committee will make a careful study of the overall TB picture and will spearhead a move to get legislative action to tackle the problems. He stressed that active interest and support of every citizen will be needed when funds are requested from the Legislature for hospital care of patients and case-finding facilities to find the unknown spreaders.

"We cannot believe there's a single person in Alabama who wants to stand by while people die needlessly. We plan to call on everybody for help when we present the needs to the Legislature."

STANTON NEWS

RUTH HICKS

We regret to report that Miss Walter Frances Reynolds of Plantersville, Alabama underwent surgery in a Birmingham hospital last Thursday. Her mother, Mrs. Alice Reynolds of Plantersville and her sister, Mrs. Robert Hall Hines of Camden have been with Walter Frances. Mrs. Robert Hall Hines returned to her home late Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Hines visited friends on her return home and stated that she felt this operation would be very successful and relieve the suffering that Walter Frances has had to endure for many, many years.

Mr. and Mrs. William Robert Martin of Plantersville have announced the birth of a daughter at the Selma Baptist hospital on Wednesday, March 9, 1955.

Airman 2-c Bob Edd McKinney, son of Mrs. John Richard McKinney, and the late Mr. McKinney arrived in Korea, February 1d, 1955. He writes that he is doing fine even though a little homesick.

Mrs. Mary Hicks is improving at her home and is able at this time to be up and around the house. Mrs. Hicks wishes to take this means of thanking each one of you for your thoughtfulness, your telephone calls, your many acts of kindness, your cards, and especially does she appreciate the visits during her stay in bed.

George Pettus Morrow, 58, of Odessa and Midland, Texas, and a native of Section Valley near Selma was killed in an automobile accident in Odessa in the recent past, news has been received here. The son of the late Mr. and Mrs G. L. Morrow, George Morrow was a veteran of the first World War having served in the Rainbow Division. For the past ten years he had made his home in Texas, in business as a paint contractor. He is survived by his wife. 4 sisters, Mrs. W. P. Sherrer of Plantersville Mrs. L. O. Brown, Birmingham Mrs. Lavada Thompson, Selma and Mrs. Edward Shelby of Prattville 3 brothers: R. M. Morrow, Birmingham, James Morrow, Fairborn, Ohio and Ernest Morrow of San Francisco.

Saturday afternoon from 3 to 5 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Earl O'Neal honored their children at their home with a joint birthday celebration (Bobby's birthday is March 18th while Judy's is March 15th.) The adjoining garage was gaily decorated with all colors balloons and a large table with a white cloth held the two birthday cakes. These cakes were very pretty and gaily decorated with nine candles for Bobby with the words "Happy Birthday Bobby" and Judy's seven candles with "Happy Birthday Judy". All the children entered into the playing of games and favors were presented to each one present. Many useful and nice gifts were presented to Judy and Bobby. Present to enjoy this celebration were:

Roxie and Eddie Woolley, Bobby Klinner, Terry Wayne Carter Calvin Wright, Frankie Joe Cook Gene Carter, Phillip Farmer, Ruby Ann Chism, Laura Ann and Emmet Huff, Roger Carter, Linda Capitini, Connie Ann Hayes, Barbara Hayes, Carol Ann Pelham Judy Green, Joan Green, Donna Lynn Warren, Martha Lynn Gay Sammie Cox, Joann Cox, Anita Pickering and Miriam Pickering. Grown-ups invited were, Mrs. Gladys Gay, Mrs. Alma Huff, Mrs Ollie Gay, Mrs. Mary Hicks and Miss Ruth Hicks. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. Flowers throughout the house were grown, given and arranged by Miss Ruth Hicks. These arrangement were lovely and very colorful and added much to the enjoyment of the party.

Mr. Eugene Hay of Columbian stopped by on his way to Selma to attend the funeral of his uncle Mitt Hay with his uncle Mr. W. M. D. O'Neal for a short visit. Mr. Mitt Hay died in North Carolina and was brought back to Selma, his old home, for interment. Mr. Mitt Hay was the son of the late Felt Hay which I am sure many of my readers will remember.

Mrs. Maud Mitchell of Plantersville went to Birmingham to attend the funeral of Mrs. Joe Wiley (Ada Carroll) and after the funeral remained over for a visit with her son, Onre Carroll. We regret to report that Mrs. Mitchell suffered an accident this past week at her sons home. Mrs. Mitchell fell down a flight of stairs breaking her arm and we have not learned the full extent of her injuries at this writing.

Wednesday night the Rev. J. L. Adams, pastor of the Baptist church will start teaching a book, "A Church Revival". This class will start at 7 p.m. and a full attendance is urged. The Rev. Adams will then each week on Wednesday night continue teaching this book until it is completed.

Wednesday night is also prayer meeting night at this church and you have an invitation to join this group.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Davis spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gregg Davis and family in Billingsley.

The Rev. J. L. Adams pastor of the Baptist church brought very inspiring mesages during Revival last week at each of the services. The church was filled and a wonderful week was reported. Additions to the church by letter were: Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Adams and Mrs. Rex Pelham. Rev Adams brought two wonderful messages at his services last Sunday. The Rev. and Mrs. Adams were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Erly Parnell.

Vermont School

We are happy to report the lunch room project is almost complete. We will make the change into the new kitchen this week. We invite all our parents to come see it and eat with us. We want to thank Mr. Boockholdt and his men and Mr. Erlo Short and other men of this community for the work and help given us.

Vermont PTA met in Mr. Williams' room Tuesday, March 8, at 2:30 p.m. with a good crowd present. Plans were completed for the amateur program for this Thurs. night (tonight). A number of items were discussed. Several reports were given. The third and fourth grades won the prize for having the most parents present. We plan to have our April meeting in the new lunch room.

The Vermont boys and girls have started their soft ball training. The boys will play a game this week, away from home.

The attendance is holding up fine.

VETERANS' CORNER

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to four questions of interest to former servicemen and their families:

Q. If I enroll in school under the Korean GI Bill, and then find that the course I'm taking isn't in keeping with my aptitudes, will I be allowed to change it?

A. Yes. Under the Korean GI Bill, you are allowed only one change of course—but no more. One way to find out, in advance, whether you have aptitudes for a course is to apply for VA vocational counseling before you start your training.

Q. have just come out of military service. I understand that I have four months to apply for the special kind of term insurance available to veterans who served since Korea. Is that true?

A. No. You have 120 days after the date you were seperated in which to apply and pay your first premium for GI term insurance. Since some months have 31 days, it's obvious that 120 days falls short by a couple of days of being four months.

Q. I'm a disabled veteran drawing VA compensation payments. I also hold GI Insurance. Would it be possible for VA to deduct my premiums from my compensation checks, so I wouldn't have to bother taking out an insurance check each month?

A. Yes, it is possible. But your compensation payments must be for more than the amount of your insurance premius.

Q. What is the largest amount of money I can borrow with a GI loan?

A. There is no maximum amount that you may borrow with a GI loan. The amount of loan depends on the amount of money the lender is willing to let you have. The limit is on the amount of guarantee that VA can issue upon the loan.

Proclamation By Gov. Folsom Urges Planting More Cotton

Whereas, a study extending back to 1949 comparing the alloted cotton acreage and harvested acreage in Alabama reveals significant changes, and

Whereas, Alabama farmers actually underplant cotton allotments every year when allotments are in effect by a percentage of 17.2 per cent and furthermore since the State allotment is based on cotton history such underplanting gives rise to a further shift of more cotton acreage westward and away from Alabama, and

Whereas, if Alabama farmers do underplant in 1955 by this 17.2 per cent and if they produce 297 pounds of lint per acre—the same as in 1954, these same farmers stand to lose approximately $32 million from the aount they received in 1954 from cotton and cotton seed, and

Whereas, Alabama agriculture is still benefited greatly through the production and sale of the cotton that has been produced and sold on the average during the last five years:

Now, therefore, I, James E. Folsom, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby plead with the farmers of this great State to either complete plans for planting their total allotted acreages of cotton in 1955 or releasing same to their respective county Agricultural Stabilization Committees immediately in order that t can be reallocated to other farms so that the total allotted acreage as nearly as possible will be planted in 1955, thereby helping to maintain the highest possible acreage in future allotments each year to the State of Alabama.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and cause The Great Seal of the State to be affixed at the Capitol, in the City of Montgomery, this Seventh day of March, 1955.

BREAKFAST

Breakfast is the most important meal. Many persons overlook this fact by not eating breakfast at all or by just depending on a cup of coffee or doughnut.

During sleep the body is at rest. Heart action slows up. There usually a drop in blood pressure. With the start of the day's activities, however, more energy is needed. Since breakfast follows the longest period of time without eating, this first meal becomes especially important.

Studies have been made to show that in workers who omit breakfast there is increased fatigue, irratibility, reduced work output, increased tremors and slowing down of reaction time. All these factors place additional strain on the body and tend to increase one's proneness to accidents.

Why do some persons omit breakfast? Some, wishing to lose weight erroneously believe that skipping this importast meal will hurry along the weight reduction. Others leave to little time in preparing for the day's work. They get up at the last minute, hurry about their dressing, gulp a bit of food if they bother at all, and dash off to their day's activities.

How much breakfast should you have? It has been estimated that from one-fourth to one-third of the day's nutrients should be taken in the first meal. Thus, with servings of fruit or fruit juice, cereal with milk, bread and butter, you will have the required proteins, carbohydrates, fats, vitamins and minerals. With careful planning the basic breakfast can be varied. Eggs, for example should be included or substituted at least four times a week.

Good breakfast habits are a part of good living habits. The dividends they yield to children and adults alike cannot be duplicated for beginning the day with renewed rest and energy.

If you want to lose weight, skip between-meal snacks, but don't skip a balanced breakfast.

Birthday Party, American Leg.—

The American Legion Post 206 is celebrating the American Legion's 36th birthday on next Friday evening at Legion Hall in Thorsby. The big birthday cake is being baked by one of the South's leading bakeries and will be appropriately decorated in Legion colors with candles. The Auxiliary of the Post is joining the Legion in the celebration which promises to be a gala, as well as a solemn affair. Some of the Legion's topmost men will be here to speak along with other entertainment.

Sandwiches, drinks and the big cake will be served to all present Everyone is invited.

The Legion is to be congratulated for many things. Since organizing their number has trebled in strength and prestige which has grown in proportion to it's number. The American Legion has more than three million members and the Auxiliary is nearing it's first million in membership. Our local Unit is making history this year in record membership.

As the number of members mount, we cannot help but think of the few who think they have paid the price of their benefits and they no longer owe to any group allegiance While many have labored diligently for veteran's benefits others lagged in their duty "to God and Man" to their Country for which they fought and to their comrades. The apathy of those remain outside the realm of association membership while riding free on the toil of others accepting benefits while contributing nothing toward keeping a united front to preserve those benefits is a solemn thought to those who carry on the fight for the rights of the Veterans. Disinterest on the part of many veterans jeopordizes Legislation benefiting them and their families. When you become a member of the American member of a society having no peer in patriotic purpose and has few equals in founding objectives.

If there has ever been a time when the occasion demanded the Veteran to join the organization of his choice it is now. Legislation in this session of our Congress vitally concerns every Veteran, whether he joins the ranks of those who still fight for his rights, or not.

Meet with us next Friday night and enjoy the Birthday Party and hear some of the facts of the American Legion discussed by men of National prestige.

Remember, everyone is invited.

Mesdames Marietta Bice, Helen Smith, Maggie Maddox, Emmarine Turner and Virgie Glass are our unit hospital workers this month They will have on display a number of articles made by patients at the Tuscaloosa hospital at the Legions Birthday Party next Friday night at Legion Hall in Thorsby.

FLOYD NEWS

Old Lake Open For Fishing For A Limited Time

Montgomery, Ala.—W. H. Drinkard, Director of the Alabama Department of Cosservation, announced here today that public fishing will be open March 15 through April 30 at the old Oak Mountain lake, located between the group camps at Oak Mountain State Park.

Drinkard said fishermen should note this is not the new Oak Mountain Public Lake which will remain closed to all fishing until sometime later this year.

The lake being opened to fishisg is known to some people as "the scout camp lake". It is a small lake of approximately 19 acres

There are no boats available for rental at the old lake, but privately owned boats without motors may be used. Fishermen will be charged 50 cents per day to fish from sunup to sundown.

Oak Mountain State Park, where the lake is located, lies 16 miles south of Birmingham just east of U. S. highway 31.

NEW SALEM BAPTIST

Our attendance was good Sunday. We had a large crowd for Sunday School. We are thankful to God for the four members who joined our church last Sunday. We pray that they will be a help in carrying on our church work and winning souls to the Kingdom of God. God is blessing our church now in a big way. He is adding to our church greatly. Let's everyone continue to pray that we will have many more additions. We feel that Rev. Lowery is doing everything in his power to help our church advance for the Glory of God. Everyone continue to pray for him that he might stay well and continue to work for God.

Everyone remember prayer meeting each Wednesday night at 7 o'clock.

Remember Sunday School each Sunday at 10 o'clock and preaching service at the 11 o'clock hour. We extend a hearty welcome to everyone to be present with us.

Social Security Talks Urged In Community

Auburn, Ala—Officials in area offices of the state Social Security Administration are looking for invitations to visit rural communities.

A few community groups have much clearer ideas about the Social Security program after qualified persons from the organization explained how social security affects farm people. Now, other groups may find out about Social Security benefits which they are eligible to receive if they contact area offices for a speaker.

George Sargent, API Extension community improvement specialist, said in explanation of this plan that responsible personnel in the Social Security offices will either send someone to a community requesting a speaker or will advise leaders of someone in the county who will give the same service. Social Security offices in the following Alabama cities and others known to county agents will handle these requests for counties in their respective districts:

Birmingham, 1825 1st Ave., No.—Chilton, Jefferson, Shelby, and Walker counties; Decatur, 213 Ferry St., N.W.—Cullman, Jackson, Madison, Limestone, and Morgan; Dothan, 109 Burdeshaw St.—Barbour, Coffee, Dale, Geneva, Henry, Houston, and Covington; Mobile, 156 St Louis St.—Baldwin, Choctaw, Clark, Mobile, and Washington; Montgomery, Old Post Office Bldg.—Autauga, Bullock, Butler, Coosa, Crenshaw, Elmore, Lee, Lowndes, Macon, Montgomery, Pike and Tallapoosa, and Tuscaloosa, First National Bank Bldg.—Bibb, Fayette, Green, Hale, Lamar, Pickens, Sumter, and Tuscaloosa.

There's even more to Chevrolet styling than meets the eye!

This is beauty with a bonus . . . for Chevrolet styling is designed to add safety and comfort while you drive, and to return greater value when you trade.

Truly modern lines are shaped by usefulness. You can see what we mean in the deep crystal curve of Chevrolet's Sweep-Sight windshield . . . a dramatic style note, certainly, but one that stems from the need for wider, safer vision. Or take high-set taillights—they add to the impressive length of line . . . but they are up where they can be seen for safety's sake.

The smart louvers across the hood aren't just decoration . . . they mark the intake for the High-Level ventilation system for cleaner, fresher air. And the whole shape of the body—its lowness, the dipped belt line—is merely a reflection of a lowered center of gravity, the added stability.

This is truly functional styling that serves you better every mile, and preserves its value against the distant day when you trade. This is Body by Fisher—another Chevrolet exclusive in the low-price field. Come in and let us demonstrate that this new Chevrolet is just as exciting to drive as to look at!

Prospectors On Trail Of Elusive Uranium Deposits In Coosa

Last summer, having joined with Mr. Cecil E. Norris, of Mt. Creek, for the purpose of mining mica, Cecil H. Smith and John L. Law were very much surprised to run into radioactive ore shortly after opening up the mica mine.

Not having had any experience with, and knowing still less about uranium ore, the three partners immediately started out to learn everything possible on the subject. They found that there were no experts on the matter in this section of the country. However, the State of Alabama Geological Department, at Tuscaloosa, was able to measure the radioactive count of the ore and told them that their ore had, by far, the highest count of any ore that had been sent up to that time from Alabama. This was in July of 1954.

The search for mica, of course became a secondary matter, and the time since then has been devoted, almost solely, to following up and developing the radioactive deposits. The first ore was found near the surface, and although radioactive, did not have a sufficient enough high count to be of commercial value. The actual count of the best of the ore ran only 240 to 400 counts per minute. Shortly thereafter, ore was found with a count of 832 per minute, as measured by the Geological Department at the University of Alabama.

Although highly encouraging, this was still not high enough and the ore of this grade was not in sufficient quantity to be of commercial value. By this time they were operating in a tunnel underground. In October, 1954, after a blast in the walling rock of the tunnel, a count was obtained of 2,500 per minute. They were sure that they had struck the vein that they had been searching for, but imagine their surprise and disappointment when, several hours later, no further appreciable count could be obtained The ore, just an hour before, which had a terrific count now had scarcely any count at all.

Knowing that there had to be a plausible explanation, they began an intensive study of all publications and data from the Atomic Energy Commission in Washington and all other available information on uranium and came up with the only possible explanation, "radon gas." With the assistance and advice of one of the world's experts on radon gas, it was arranged through the State of Alabama, Department of Health, to obtain necessary receptacles from the laboratory in Salt Lake City, Utah for trapping radon gas.

Samples were taken from the tunnel on Oct. 19, 1954 and sent to Salt Lake City, Utah, for analysis. They had no way of knowing if any of the gas had been trapped as it is both invisible and odorless, and they were entirely dependent upon the Geiger counter. At the time of the actual trapping, the count in the tunnel was not over 500 per minute, and this was disappointing in that only a short time before, a count, at the same spot, of over 2,500 had been gotten.

However, it is necessary to explain, at this point, that radon gas itself, is not radioactive and hence cannot be detected directly by a Geiger counter. To get a clearer picture it must be remembered that uranium is one of the elements that is unstable in its natural state, and therefore, undergoes spontaneous radioactive decay. By this process of progressive disintegration, it is continuously forming and producing its 13 daughter elemnts, the first of which is theorium and the last is lead. Iead is inactive and stable and undergoes no further decay.

However, radon gas (Rd), the sixth daughter element of uranium, is not radioactive, as above stated, but radon's daughter element, radium "C" is the most highly radioactive element in the entire uranium series. Therefore, in trapping radon gas there was no way short of the actual analysis, of knowing if any radon gas had been trapped. They were ~~very~~ much delighted and encouraged when, some weeks later, the analysis from Salt Lake City, Utah, showed a high concentration of radon gas. This definitely established a "radium field" according to authorities on the subject. Additional receptacles have just been recently received by the State of Alabama, Department of Health, from the laboratories in Salt Lake City, and have been turned over to the partners for further samples under more favorable conditions. Since the first samples were obtained, counts have been gotten with Geiger counter of over 3,500 per minute. Radon gas trapped at the time of such a high count should give a much higher concentration and should further pin down the field of radioactivity.

At their present site of operations they have penetrated about 60 feet underground and it is quite possible that uranium, the source of this radium field, is still further down, possibly as much as 150 to 200 feet. However, since the radon analysis has definitely established the fact that they are in a radium field, the uncertainity as to the presence of uranium in the vicinity is over. Radon gas or radon 222 as it is known, is the sixth of the 13 daughter elements of uranium 238. They now know that if there was no uranium it would not have been possible to have had a high concentration of radon gas, inasmuch as radon gas is one of uranium decay products and is the first daughter element of radium, which is uranium's fifth daughter element.

Since radon gas is the immediate daughter of radium, and, inasmuch as radium is one of the most valuable and most needed of all elements, selling at $16 to $21.25 per milligram, they have been advised to use every effort to determine by analysis the radium content of the ore immediately adjacent to the emanation of radon gas. Samples have already been sent to Washington for analysis.

They point out that there are three principal kinds of uranium deposits in the pegmatite area, pitchblende ore, sedimentary deposits and hydrothermal veins. In the Canadian Shield, which is almost wholly pegmatite, as it this area in Coosa County, a great majority of their deposits have been hydrothermal veins. Sedimentary deposits are those such as has just been discovered in Oklahoma in the oil sands . These deposits, as is the case of hydrothermal veins, have been washed out of the original deposits or ores and redeposited, in solution, elsewhere, usually in lower basins or in faults and fissures in the same general area.

It now becomes a matter of following the trail of radon gas on down to its parent source and hoping, of course, that the uranium deposit will be of sufficient size and quantity and that it contains a high enough percentage of uranium oxide to make it commercially valuable.

Around OUR HOUSE

by Kathryn Tucker Windham

In a household where there are children, a special sort of "family language" just naturally develops. Words and phrases coined by the children are laughed over and repeated until they become a natural part of the family's vocabulary

The two-year-old hasn't been talking long, but already she is adding to our "family language"

In our kitchen, there is a tall red stool at the work counter. The two-year-old, with natural curiosity, likes to be helped upon the stool so she can see what's being stirred or mixed or concocted upon the counter. So the tall red stool isn't just a stool to her. It's a see-stool.

"Help me up on the see-stool," she says, when she comes into the kitchen.

Now everybody calls it the see stool, and thus our "family language" grows.

The neighbor down the street. the one with the big family, reports that already her children are busy trying to earn money for Christmas.

"They keep reminding me that their allowances simply won't stretch enough to cover the expenses of Christmas gifts, even the simple kind we give in our family," she says.

To help the youngsters accumulate some extra cash, this neighbor has posted a big "help wanted" bulletin board on the wall of her kitchen. On the board are listed jobs that need doing around their house and the rate of pay for each job.

For instance, sweeping the front porch, steps and walk brings in five cents. Mowing the lawn is worth 50 cents, emptying all waste baskets and wiping them out is worth a dime, cleaning the lavatory or the sink with scouring powder rates five cents, vacuuming the downstairs room is rated at a quarter, and polishing the silver brings in 35 cents.

The rule of the house is that the children's own rooms must be clean their clothes in place and their bed properly made before they can undertake any job on the "Help Wanted" board.

"So far, the plan is working fine," this neighbor reports. "The children are conscientous about the jobs they take on, and I think it's better for them to earn their own money than to have it just handed over to them."

Setting the table also is included on the "Help Wanted" list at this neighbor's house. Her youngest child was eager to take on this task daily and earn the nickel it paid, but she couldn't quite remember where all the silver, the glasses and other things belonged

Then her smart mother hit upon the idea of drawing a place setting on a big piece of paper. When the child became confused about what went where she consulted her chart. After a few times, she could set the table perfectly without any help at all.

For a company treat, roll your biscuit dough thin. Cut half the biscuits with a doughnut cutter placing each one on a solid round of dough the same size. Bake in hot oven as usual. When done, fill the hollowed out centers with very tart jam or jelly and serve at once.

"Our kitchen—the best room in the house."

Most farm folks think the kitchen is the best room in the house. It is the meeting place, where healthy appetites are satisfied. The modern kitchen is essential to the health and happiness of every farm family.

Many farm families are modernizing old type kitchens with funds set aside in U. S. Savings Bonds. The Savings Bond makes an ideal investment for folks who have home improvement in mind.

MACEDONIA

We wish to thank everyone who had any part in making our singing the great success it was at this place Sunday. We especially thank everyone who brought the wonderful dinner we had.

We want to express our appreciation to the chairman, S. V. Miller for the grand job he did, and for getting 60 different one on the floor in the time he did. We thank all the singers from Montgomery and Prattville for coming so far to help out, and for everyone pulling together as they did, for that is what it takes to make a success at anything.

We have set the second Sunday in March as our annual all-day singing, so everyone remember.

Next Sunday is preaching day and we invite all to come to the services and be with us.

Again we say thanks to everyone for their cooperation at the singing.

". . . yes, and when you grow up you'll all have jobs because he believes in growing his own tractors by buying U.S. Savings Bonds for that purpose."

Farmers literally grow tractors for the future by buying U. S. Savings Bonds for their farm machinery replacement fund. By putting part of each year's earnings into U. S. Savings Bonds you can grow a reserve which will replace these vital tools.

Economic Picture Improvement Noted

Some improvement in the Alabama economic picture during Feb. was noted in a report issued by the Department of Industrial Relations. Fewer persons filed new applications for work through local Employment Service Offices than during January or during February 1954. The end of the month total of job seekers was 48,336 nearly 2,800 below the January figure and about 4,800 below the year ago total.

During the same period, the number of first claims for unemployment insurance showed a sharp downturn. February's 11,120 such claims compared with 18,271 received during January and 16,593 in February 1954. Since the February claims load is normally below that for January due to the shorter work month, the decrease from Feb. a year ago is more insignificant of improved economic conditions. Several plants recalled workers from temporary layoffs, while others resumed full time operations during the month.

The $1,260,334 in unemployment insurance paid to approximately 22,500 persons was also substantially below the amount paid out during either of the two months of comparison. Contributing most heavily to the decrease in payments were the primary metals, apparel, textile, and machinery industry groups.

In spite of a shorter work month, non farm job placements at 8,354 were almost 500 above the prior month's figure and bettered the year ago total by over 1,200. Increased job placements were made in almost all manufacturing industry groups.

LAST RITES HELD FOR MR. SEBRON E. FORBUS

Mr. Sebron Edward Forbus, age 74, of Clanton, died at 3:30 p.m. on March 9th at the home of a daughter after a lingering illness. Funeral services were held from Seaman Congregation church at 2 p.m. Friday, March 11th, conducted by Revs. Bill Cox, N. E. Cook, and Fisher. Interment at Seamen Ala.

Folks and Things ABOUT TOWN

—By Ben

When you get what you want in your struggle for self,
And the world makes you king for a day,
Then go to the mirror and look at yourself
To see what that guy has to say.

For it isn't your father, your mother,
or wife,
Whose judgement upon you must pass;
The fellow whose verdict counts
most in your life,
Is the guying staring back from the glass.

He's the man you must please
never mind all the rest;
For he's with you clear up to the end;
And you've passed your most difficult,
dangerous task
If the man in the glass is your friend.

You may be like others, and chise'
a "plum",
And think you're a wonderful guy
But the guy in the glass knows
you're only a "bum",
If you can't look him straight in the eye.

You can fool the whole world down
the pathway of years
And get pats on the back as you
pass;
But your final reward will be heartaches
and tears,
If you've cheated the guy in the glass.

Received a card from Mayor C. Fenn Jones who is in Mayo's Clinic this week. The Mayor says he will see us about the 24th, which is today. We hope he is all fixed up and ready to go places and do things again.

When the young son asked his father why man was allowed to have only one wife the father answered: "Well son, you see the law is made to protect those who are incapable of protecting themselves."

J. W. Stanfield, Sr., and J. W Stanfield, Jr. of Greenville were visitors to the News office last week. Stanfield senior was once Mayor of Clanton. That was along about 1920 and we suspect very few remember those days. He says the old town has changed considerably since he was at the head of the city government, but he still enjoys visiting old friends and old familiar places. He is a brother to S. S. Stanfield.

Congratulations to Luther Little on his appointment as co-director of the Mental Health campaign which begins in Alabama this week. He has been named co-director of the southern division. Director is Joe Sarver, Jr., of Auburn. The campaign drive is for $150,000 which is to be used for setting up a statewide network of mental health education centers.

A Navy wife, bidding her husband god-bye as he was embarking for duty in the Pacific, was incensed when she saw a black Scotty trot aboard.

"Why should dogs be allowed to go along when the men's wives are forbidden?" She demanded indignantly of an officer.

"Madam" he replied, "all the men can pet one dog and nobody gets mad."

Our sincere sympathy to Mrs. Bascom Venable in the death of her husband this week. He will be sorely mised by all who new him and especially by those who worked in the Clanton Methodist church with him. He was quiet and unassuming but when given a task to do was ever ready and willing to do his best. We know the Great Scorer will have a long list of credits and few debits marked by Venable's name.

Mrs. Hugh Jones ask us to tell you about a film that is being shown at the Clanton Drive-In Theatre this week. It's called "The Search" and is about the fight against cancer. It's a short subject sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

Local ARC Thanks Donors And Helpers

The Chilton County Chapter American Red Cross, would like to thank everyone who assisted in any way in our Blood Program on March 15th. We would also like to thank the Coca-Cola people for donating four cases of Coca-Colas; Mr. Williams of the Hi-Land Dairy for one case of sweet milk. These people are always so willing to assist us with the drinks at the Blood Center. The local doctors are to be highly commended for their splendid cooperation Without the local doctors having complete charge of the Blood Center we would not collect as much blood as we did collect during this Bloodmobile visit; namely 143 pints.

There were 212 people who went through the Center, however, 69 were rejected due to some physical defects. We would like to say how grateful we are also to Mrs. J. C Parr, our Group Service Chairman in charge of volunteers, for her assistance. We could not use the center without volunteers. We are also very grateful to Brother Vickers for the use of the First Methodist Church basement where our Blood Center was set up this time and Mrs. White for her assistance. We cannot forget our Blood Chairman, Rev. Wilkins and his recruiting committee. Thanks to him and to the ladies who worked so hard on getting pledge card signed for the blood collection. If we have left out anyone who assisted in making our blood collection on March 15th, a success, was not intentional.

CCHS Band Gets Recommendation To State Contest

The C.C.H.S. Band attended the Troy State Teachers College Band Festival on Friday of last week.

The band played before three state judges to receive constructive criticism and, if we're good enough receive a recommendation to the State Contest, April 15th at the University of Alabama.

Before this year bands from all over the state flooded the state contest, tending to give much confusion. Now a band must be heard and given recommendation before they can go. This method will limit the band to a fewer number.

The present band now only two and one-half years old, made state recommendations in Class B. This class system of A, B, C, D, is based on the senior high enrollment; ours not being 400, puts the band in class B.

This recommendation is an achievement within itself. Much work has been put in by the students and much praise is due them

The band also received criticism by the judges of instrumentation which was voted as weak, with much replacement and addition needed. All three judges stated that a Clarinet should be replaced. Much addition in low needs is needed. French horns, alto clarinets, bassoon and bass clarinets should be added to the band.

Some of these replacements and additions should be made before the band goes to the state contest next month.

At the contest the band will be competing against other bands for a I, II, III, IV, and V division voting. It is the hope of the band that a IV or V division voting will be made. With many instruments (basical) missing from the band our chances of getting a I or II division voting is small.

Attention should be called to band nearby, that has proper instruments, which will surely make I division. That band is the Wetumpka band. Proper support show off the band. Help us have the state's finest band. Be a Band Booster.

W. G. Easterling Attends Course

Mr. W. G. Easterling, a local agent for Liberty National Life Insurance Company, is attending an Advanced Training Course for Agents in the Home Office of the company in Birmingham. Only twenty-nine of the company's more than 1,000 agents were invited to the four-day conference.

WE BEG YOUR PARDON

As a result of unforseen difficulties encountered by us this week, numerous articles were left out of this issue.

Due to a serious mechanical breakdown coupled with the rail strike we were two days late getting started on this week's paper, therefore we had to do some cutting.

To the folks who turned in the unpublished articles we ask your pardon and assure you that, if possible, they will be published next week.

BOW Meets 26th

The B.O.W. will meet Saturday morning at 10 o'clock announced Joe Brown today. All members are requested to be present.

What's Your Line?

Here's An Opportunity To Show Your Handiwork At A Profit

If you are an artist, sculptor woodcarver, potter, weaver, wood worker, or do any kind of handicraft then you are going to have the opportunity to show off your work and make some money, too.

A Chilton County Art Festival is being planned by the Chilton County Branch of the American Association of University Women and will be held in Clanton some time in April. Due to the varied and numerous arts over the county it is felt that the public should have an opportunity to become better acquainted with them and to see what the people in Chilton County can do and are doing. This exhibition will be open to amateurs and professionals alike, both children and adults.

If you paint or sketch pictures, piece fancy quilts, hook or braid rugs, weave pretty baskets, carve wood or make things out of wood sculpt or mold things out of clay or do pretty flower arrngements this is all art and your work is needed and wanted for this festival to be a true representation of Chilton County art. Children of all age and especially school children who have done handiwork are encouraged to display their work.

Each entrant will be responsible for his or her own work and will be allowed to price and sell their articles if they wish. Interested persons are urged to contact Mr Joe Campbell in Clanton by phoning 796 or writing her at P. O. Box 555, Clanton, Ala.

The AAUW is striving to make the Art Festival a true representation of the varied arts in Chilton County. It is hoped that many will participate and urge their friends to attend.

The date and the exact place of the Chilton County Art Festival will be announced soon.

Belle Trio To Be At Temple Church Sunday Night

The Belle Trio of Sylacauga will be at the Temple church on Sunday night, March 27th, beginning at 7:00 o'clock.

The pastor, Rev. Troy B. Helms, extends to all a cordial invitation to come out and hear this group of gospel singers. There will be no admission. Come early to get a seat. The singing will begin at 7 o'clock.

Adventist Begins 10-Day Revival Next Sunday

A ten day revival to be conducted by the pastor will begin at the Adventist church Sunday evening March 27th, at 7:30. The first weeks sermon topics and texas will be as follows:

Sunday evening: "What It Means To Preach the Word". Text: "Preach the word; for the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine", II Tim. 4:1-3 Monday evening. "What It Means To Preach the Truth." Text: "Because they received not the love of the truth that they might be saved, God shall send them strong delusion that they should believe a lie." II Thes. 2:7. Tuesday evening: "What It Means To Preach the New Testament Gospel". Text: "For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ." Rom. 1:16. Wednesday evening: "What It Means To Preach Christ and Him Crucified." Text: "For I am determined to know nothing among you saved Jesus Christ and him crucified." I Cor. 2:2. Thursday evening: "What it Means To Preach That We Are Saved By Grace." Revival Begins At Samaria Sunday, 27th

The Revival will begin at the Samaria Baptist Church next Sunday, March 27th, and will continue through the night of April 3rd. The services will be only at night, except Sundays, and the time is 7:15

The preacher will be R. W. Stuckey, the pastor. The theme for the week will be the Gospel. The purpose will be the Salvation of Soul and the reclaiming of backliding Christians. If you are unsaved or a Christian that has grown cold spiritually, it will be a good place to seek the needs of your soul.

The services will be simple, the messages will be understandable and guided by the Holy Spirit. There will be no sham, man made excitement or sensationalism. The gospel will be presented so you can understand it, then you will be left to make your own decision The invitation will be warmly given but you will be the one who must make the final decision.

We cordially invite you to attend these services.

R. W. Stuckey,
pastor and evangelist.

Rev J. W. Jones Ends Revival

The Rev. J. W. Jones has just returned home after holding a Revival at the Comer Memorial church at Alexander City, Ala.

Rev. Jones reports they had 21 additions to the church during his revival and that an excellent spirit was shown throughout his stay there.

Last year, every seven minutes, on the average, another American was saved from dying of cancer.

Plane Drops In On Shoults Community

Last Monday an airplane landed on the highway in the Shoults Community. The couple weer unhurt and the plane was not damaged. They stated they were forced to land because of poor visibility. In landing the plane did hit some power lines and the linemen spent several hours repairing the damage

The couple reported they were on their way to Miami, Fla from Minnesota on their vacation.

Revival Crusade Continues In Chilton County

Revivals are in progress this week at the Northside Mission, Jemison and Mineral Springs.

The revival will begin at Samaria next Sunday with the pastor, Rev R. W. Stuckey doing the preaching Cane Creek and Pleasant Grove No 2 will have their revivals in April Eternity alone can reveal the results of the Great Revival Crusade which has been going on over the land. One soul saved by grace through faith in Jesus Christ is worth a thousand times more than all efforts put forth among the churches. May God's richest blessings continue to flow through our churches.

DAV Sponsors "Holiday Ahoy" Musical Show

Mrs. Sallie Shearer arrived this week to begin work on "Holiday Ahoy!" the big musical variety stage show which will be presented on April 1st and 2nd at the City Hall for the benefit of the Disabled Veterans building fund

Mrs. Shearer comes to Clanton from Waco, Texas highly recommended. She has been interested in music and drama and radio and TV production. In addition she has completed special training on this show.

Mrs. Shearer stated that she is "most enthusiastic about the possibilities or an outstanding production here in Clanton. Everyone I have met seems so friendly and coperative I am sure I shall enjoy my stay here."

Mrs. Shearer met with members of the DAV, which is sponsoring the big show. Plans are being made now for various phases of the promotion and the cast is being selected, so that rehearsals will start at once.

"Holiday Ahoy" has the unqualified recommendation of many other towns in the United States and Canada where it has been staged The organization is confident the show will be a worthy addition to the entertainment season.

Watch the News for further announcement about those who have taken part in the production, which is being staged for the benefit of the DAV building fund.

Every seven minutes, on the average, another American who might have been saved dies of cancer because proper treatment was begun too late.

Luther Little Named Co-Director Of Ala. Mental Health Drive

Luther Little

A North-South battle began shaping up in the $150,000 Alabama Mental Health fund campaign today, with division of the state into two large combat areas against mental disease

South Alabama campaign leadership was placed under Joseph Sarver, Jr., Alabama Polytechnic Institute alumni secretary. His co-director will be Luther E. Little, Clanton, of the McMillan Publishing Company.

Chairman Marc Ray Clement said the state will be divided into seven general districts, and 17 sub-areas, with local chairmen and advisory committees to be anounced for each county.

A 47-Member "All State Team' has already been named as a statewide advisory committee

The $150,000 campaign goal is aimed at setting up a statewide network of mental health education centers, in a concentrated move to combat an alarming increase in mental disease incidence, and for working towards improvement of conditions in state mental hospitals.

Mr. Sarver has been API alumni secretary since 1951 From 1939 to [illegible] he was district manager for Reliance Life Insurance Company He is a past president of the Auburn Rotary Club and the Auburn-Opelika Life Underwriters Association; past secretary-treasurer of the Auburn Chamber of Commerce; and past treasurer of the Auburn Youth Center

A former school teacher, principal, and Chilton County school superintendent, Mr. Little has been asociated with the MacMillan Co since 1940. He has held offices in the Baptist Church at Clanton, the Masonic Lodge, the Kiwanis Club, and Kappa Phi Kappa, education fraternity.

Little Leaguers Hold First Meet Of 1955 Season

All officers of the Clanton Little League Association and all person interested in this Civic Movement are requested to attend its first meeting of the 1955 season

The meeting will be held at the City Hall in Clanton next Monday night, March 28th, at 7:00 p.m.

Postmaster Asks Your Cooperation

Due to the delay caused rural and city carriers in getting mail properly routed and strapped out for delivery on time, and the inconvenience caused window customers in having to wait for clerks to get mail from routes and hand out through the window, the practice of delivering mail to route patrons through post office windows is discontinued and in the future your mail will be delivered by rural or city carrier as addressed.

Please do not request delivery of checks or other mail through post office windows in the future as clerks will not be allowed to honor your request.

Respectfully yours,

238 Alabamians To Be Inducted In April; None From Chilton

A total of 238 young men will be called during April to fill the state's portion of the nationwide call of 8,000 men, Colonel J. T. Johnson, State Director of Selective Service, said today.

Colonel Johnson stated tha Alabama's quota this month is slightly lower than for March, when 454 selectees were called for army duty.

Jefferson and Mobile are the highest counties with 49 and 17 respectively. All others average about 3.

Chilton County's call for the month of April will be 0, along with five other counties.

State Sales Tax Is Top Source For Alabama's School Funds

J. H. Boockholdt

The State Sales Tax is by far the most important single source of school money in Alabama. It is considered by many as the most fair of all taxes since everybody pays, and the amount of payment is determined largely by the purchaser's ability to pay. At present, the state collects 3 percent or three cents on each dollar, except on certain exempt items. The tax is collected from the purchased over and above the purchase price of the item purchased. This means it is a direct tax and is not a "hidden" tax as is many. State sales tax is a deductable item on Federal income tax.

Use tax is a companion tax to the sales tax. Sales tax is tax collected on items purchased in Alabama. Use tax is a tax collected on out-of-state purchases and is the same amount.

Schools get all of the sales and use tax except for certain deductions authorized by law and specified when the law was passed. The following figures show the receipts and deductions for the year 1953-54:

Gross receipts from sales tax, $54,520,251.31; Gross receipts from use tax, $4,341,787.41; Total, $58,862.038.72; less deductions: Transfer to Public Welfare, 1,322,000.00; transfer to Counties, 378,000.00; cost of administration of tax, 1,244,179.36. Total deductions, 2,944,179.36. Total left for schools, 55,917,859.36 Percent of sales and use tax going to schools, 95.0.

Sales and Use taxes provide about three-fourths of the state school money.

As was pointed out above, many items are presently exempt from the tax. When the tax was enacted, pressure groups forced through certain exemptions. Since then each session of the legislature has seen new exemptions forced through. As a result, there are now approximately 40 items given the privilege of being exempt from tax. It is estimated that these exemptions would amount to approx. $33,000,000 annually.

Two popular misconceptions about the sales tax are that (1) schools do not get the money and (2) it costs so much to collect. The truth is that schools get all they are supposed to by law (about 95 percent) and the cost of collection is low amounting to approximately 2 per cent.

A PARABLE OF TODAY—

Once upon a time there was a little town in the State of Alabama that wanted to thrive by getting indsutry and new business into their city so as to make it grow and prosper.

Now there lived in this town certain civic minded citizens who claimed to be doing all they could to aid, in bringing prosperity to the town. It seemed, however, that due to some feeling among the people that hospitality played no important part in this dream, so they overlooked the fact that their "Southern Hospitality" was the answer to their problem. Instead, they all would stand around with long faces talking about this person and that person and sort of half way blaming them for their inability to grow.

I was never brought to their attention that to grow, in industry and business, in churches and schools, in civic groups and social clubs one had to have that feeling of hospitality in order to really attract new faces.

No, they didn't seem to realize that to make their town what they really wanted, they had to work together, in every minute detail, in order to prosper and to grow.

Now, there were those among them, who realized these things and tried very hard to tell the folks about it an sell them on the idea of "Greet them with a Grin" and "Share your good Fortune". It took years and years of suggestion and the townspeople just couldn't seem to get the hang of the thing.

The small town had a slogan, or motto, which they posted at the entrance of their town on all sides so that all the incoming visitors would see that their town was a "good place to visit, and a better place to live." The only trouble was, that's about as far as their slogan ever got. . . on a signboard outside the city limits. They did not carry out their theme after the visitor got to the town and thus the newcomer got the wrong impression.

Now, all this time, the townspeople thought that they were probably the most hospitable folks in the land; "why, don't we have signs up outside of town telling the folks how nice we are?" Sure we do", and "don't we treat them nice when they come to our business or to see us." Yes, they did all that, and then some, but they didn't go to the visitor and make him welcome, they seldom invited the new newcomer to their churches, they seldom went out of their way to go to the new family and see if they could do anything for them.

And after all this the newcomer, whether he be business or just an individual family, would think, "well [illegible] am I in the wrong town, they don't care whether I'm here or not." And this same fella might get to thinking, and say to himself, "now, if that's the reception I get in this town, that's the reception my business will likely get, and I can't afford to take a chance on it, besides there are plenty of other good towns on down the road." So he pulls up stakes and establishes in another location.

"Why do you reckon he left our fair little city?" Didn't we treat him right?" "I can't understand it," says another, "I guess he was undesirable anyway."

And so the small town continued in this immobile state of fooling itself and still wondered why in the wide world they couldn't get anyone to stay in their little haven, which was very noticeably, "A good place to visit and a better place to live."

A GOOD DEED—

It appears that we may have another dry summer. We hope it isn't as dry as last sumer was, for the farmers' sake. If, however, our water supply gets low this year, let's not see anyone failing to do his part.

We know you have beautiful flowers, and a lovely lawn that you can't possibly let die. We also know the car looks much better with a wash job. However, simple mathematics will show that we're cutting our own throats when we use water after being warned against promiscuous use of it.

As we said, we do hope that we don't get the dryness that we had last year. Some folks using wells still haven't caught up yet. At any rate, prepare now, to use your water sparingly this summer, in case we do meet up with another water crisis. Your neighbor will appreciate it.

Things we -SEE- and Hear

by "Tuck"

If you failed to receive your paper last week on time don't look at us. We haye caught the train now for quite a few times and have been trying not to spoil our record. Seems all good things must come to an end, though, and though we didn't actually miss the train, the train sorta missed us. The "workers on the railroad" got tired working "all the livelong day" "just to pass the time away" and up and quit a while. They sure threw a crosstie into our monkey wrench and our record was sorta soiled (not spoiled, just soiled a little). Anyhow, we'll try to see that it doesn't happen again; not from this end anyway.

And speaking of strikes. Ye old Bell Telephone Company started walking a good deal last week, too, but had the situation in hand in time not to upset to many conversations. S'funny how riled up folks can get just because they pay for something and then can't make use of it. We personally didn't have a bit of trouble and wouldn't have even known there was a strike if it hadn't been for all those base voices all of a sudden. Have had the fellas forget to say "number puhleeze" once or twice, but they get around to it, and they always say thank you. We think some of the folks did learn, that regardless of price, the telephone is a mighty handy and useful piece of furniture.

A Mr. Dewey Davenport, formerly of California and now residing at Thorsby, was in Friday to see us about the paper. Seems he wanted to compare the county papers and see which he liked best. Naturally we told him as much of a comparison as there exists and he said he'd be back to see us. Tried to save him a dollar by selling him the paper for two years. He said he might not be here that long. For a man who lived in California for twenty odd years, he surely doesn't sound like the settlin' type. We do hope that he and the Mrs. and any of the other Davenport klan find Thorsby and Chilton County favorable and will stay with us for at least twenty years or so.

Since we all know right from wrong without preaching it, maybe we all should start preaching on how to put it into affect.

Heard a fella over TV the other night pull one that really caught us all off guard. The two were on "Two For The Money" and were supposed to name a word and the other give the opposite word like back and front. (The gentlemen were a Mr. Frickey of B'ham. and Senator John Sparkman). When one of the said tight the audience naturally expected the other to say loose. Instead, he pondered a while and then came up with a triumphant "sober". Boy, was he nervous.

It seems impossible for us to be complimentary to a person who expects a complient.

Why is it that anyone can have a bull session except the time they plan one. Seems it isn't a bull session any longer, it's more like a Sunday School Class.

The Baptist Revivals have all been good ones according to reports and many new members have been added to the church rosters, something to be proud of. A church and a minister who should be exceptionally proud of their progress and good fortune is Rev. Wilkins and his West End Baptist charge. We had the pleasure of hearing Bro. Eddie Lieberman speak a number of times and we were impressed every time. We were unable to hear any of his evening messages, something we regret, but we heard many of his morning teachings and can truthfully say we have never learned more on one subject, at one time than we did during his stay. He is graciously gifted. We did not think too highly of his first talk, at least not of him as speaker, but as the fellow once said, first impressions mean very little, it's the last one that counts. Well, we certainly weren't left with our first impression and believe that Rev. Wilkins and his congregation were very fortunate to have had such a speaker as this for their revival this year.

And say, speaking of churches, just heard Sunday afternoon that the new Mt. Pisgah Methodist church is now completed enough so that services can be held in it now. They've been working diligently on that project since way last year and the year before and every member of the congregation has put some time to the building of this new church. They seem very proud of it and rightly so, for it is a decided improvement over their previous building.

Speaking to one of the church members, Mr. Ira Yeargan, about attendance and he said they had 95 on roll and 98 present last Sun only thing that is improving and and growing.

Hear about the young feller in the classroom that, when the teacher asked him if he was chewing gum said, "No mam, I'm just soaking a prune to eat at recess."

"Isn't Marilyn more careful about her appearance lately?"
"Yes, she's trying to be as attractive as the new milking equipment the Boss bought with U.S. Savings Bonds."

Yes, for new up-to-date dairy equipment there is no better investment than U. S. Savings Bonds. The new Series E bond is ideal for the farm equipment replacement fund. Look ahead to the time when your present equipment needs replacing. Set up a machinery replacement fund with U. S. Savings Bonds.

IT'S MY OPINION

Spring Fever Or. . .

Seems to me everyone in the County of Chilton has been bitten by the Spring Fever bug; from me and you to all the businesses.

A fella said the other day that "these are trying times", meaning obviously, that he was a little dissatisfied and uncertain about the job, the weather and the entire 24 hours.

It is more correctly put, it seems, to say these are untrying times. More or less because of the general lazy feeling of all of us. We don't feel like working for a living, in fact at times, we don't feel like feeling period.

Yes sir, this spring fever is something else. It's odd to me that the most beautiful part of the year isn't the busiest part of it. It doesn't seem to work that way. Oh, most of us are busy, and the farmers and planters are even busier than usual, but for some unknown reason, you just don't have your heart in your work.

Even housewives are bitten by the bug. Time comes around for spring cleaning they just don't have the energy to lift the old mop. (or vacuum celaner) whichever the case may be. Husbands are sorely neglected when it comes to preparing meals like in the cooler months. Not that they dont' get well fed, it's just that the little woman doesn't put into it what she no doubt would were her energy ration and ambition up to par.

The old man is usually the same way. If and when he does manage to drag himself off to work on Monday morning, the rest of the week finds him just to doggone beat to take out the trash when he gets home or help with the meal (because milady doesn't care whether he gets it or not), or to even take care of the kids awhile.

One thing I can say for the ladies their Spring Fever is limited to a certain degree by the hours they have to cram into their work day. There are certain daily tasks that have to be done whether they're in the mood for them or not, and they usually put in half again a long a day as dear old dad.

Course, dad's day is a little more trying and hectic at times and he doesn't always get to take a breather when and where he wants to, but I guess the score's about rounded out at the end of the busy day.

Spring is fine, for the flowers and the birds and what have you, and I personally like the season better than any other, but it still gets you down, when those first few hot days begin to roll in before you get used to the change. Seems by the time you are over your attack of spring fever, Spring has sprung and hot weather is with you for a while. We miss, part of dear old spring because of the preceding old run down feeling, which isn't actually anything, but pure dee old laziness.

PRAYERS OF THE WORKING WORLD:

The Farmer's Prayer—

We acknowledge thy mercies, Holy sower of good seed, and as we spring forth from the furrows of the world may we not disappoint Thee in our yield. May it be diversified, sturdy plants of service, golden sheaves of temperance and well matured grains of kindness. Cause the rivers of Thy love to flow into the field of our life's endeavors, that the barren wast be changed to a bountiful harvest.

The Mechanic's Prayer—

Great Master Mechanic, we voice gratitude to Thee for the guidance of thy Spirit in our daily projects. As we labor in the work shop of life, with character in the making, give us energy and skill in the use of our thought—tools; may there be no sharp edges to our words and grant that our deeds bear the rivet marks of love.

The Bookkeeper's Prayer—

We thank Thee, Lord, for thy just balancing of life's books, and for blotting out our debts from the ledger of remembrances. Give us a like spirit of forgiveness and love as we deal with mankind.

May we never fail to enter credit to all men for their rich expenditures of service to humanity, giving Thee the glory for their generosity. AMEN.

THORSBY NEWS

ESTELLE HAYES

Baptist Church News—

A wonderful group of members of the Thorsby Baptist church gathered at the church at seven o'clock on Monday to work with Rev. B. B. Burks to get a census report for the church and churches of the town.

Dr. Parrish has honored the pastor by inviting him to speak to the Baptist Brotherhood of Concord on Friday, April 1, at 7 o'clock. This invitation included the minister's wife and as many couples as desire to attend this banquet. If you would like to attend please notify me so the hospitality committee may arrange for you.

J. A. Peterson, principal of Jemison High School, has very greatly honored the pastor by asking him to deliver the commencement sermon on Sunday morning, May 22, at 11:00 a.m. A very cordial invitation was further extended to the Thorsby Baptist church family to attend the exercises.

* * *

Barney B. Burks was discharged from the Air Force on March 18, which concluded his 4 years of service. He flew his 100 missions in Korea in 6 and one-half months. The first 34 missions he flew reconnisiance in photography. 66 missions as leaderman. During those missions he landed with a dead stick twice. On returning to the states he has instructed in gunnery at Shaw Air Force Base, Sumpter, S. C. Since his release, he and Mary have moved to Pensacola Fla. where they will make their home. He will become a part or business partner with his two brothers, who operate a Burk Brothers Tire Brokerage in O.K. Rubber Welders National.

A Visit—

During Rev. Burks visitation program last week he made a call at the home of Aunt Sakie Eiland. In the run of the conversation Aunt Sakie advanced the idea that she had been praying that if it be the Lord's will she might visit her blind sister, Mrs. Ida Littlejohn in Clanton. The Rev. advanced the idea that he was the one person to help answer her prayer. He obtained a car from a friend that was used to make the trip. Upon arrival Mrs. Culpepper walked into the home of her sister with her own strength, Aunt Sakie had to be assisted. When they greeted their sister Mrs. Littlejohn, whom they had not seen for some time there were expressions of joy that would warm any human heart. During their stay in the home of their sister, the brother, Mr. Frank Foshee came, it was interesting to see them all together.Mrs. Culpepper 79, Mr. Frank 82, Mrs. Littlejoh 84 and Mrs. Eiland 88.

To you who have not had the joy of sharing a little time and service for our shut-ins, you're passing by one of the finest opportunities in a lifetime. To some people it takes a lot to make them happy to others just to feel they are wanted and receive some small courtesy and kindness. Maybe there is someone near you that you could help.

Mrs. Effie Robinson returned home Saturday afternoon from Miami. She was joined by her daughters, Mrs. Charles Shelby, Mrs. Lois Satterwhite and daughter, Dee Ann Watts. They plan to be here for about ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Grey of Birmingham spent the week-end here with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. B. B. Burks and Gearldine.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Marcus Thomas Earl, Mr. and Mrs. Jame Marcus and Gail and Roger spent Sunday in Collins Chapel with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Marcus.

Mrs. W. J. Patrick and daughter, Mrs. Harold Strickland visited Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Nichols in Gadsden last week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Cagle and daughter Carol, of Birmingham visited Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Yeargan Friday night of last week.

Thorsby Institute News—

During the AEA Convention in Birmingham the Audio-Visual Instruction personnel will meet at 9:30 a.m. Friday in the auditorium of the First Methodist church. Preparation of graphic materials will be discussed by Marvin Dawson of the Audio-Visual Service of the University of Alabama. Marvin graduated from Thorsby Institute in 1947.

Mr. J. M. Timmerman and family visited Mrs. Timmeran's home in Gadsden during the week-end, to attend a reunion of her family. There were among others present a sister from Salt Lake City and a brother from Maryland. They returned in time for Mr. Timmerman to conduct service Sunday at the Lomax Church of Christ.

Mrs. Pearl Mims and her bro. Mr. E. D. Bates, and family of Cordova, Alabama, visited Carmon Mims and family Sunday afternoon.

The Senior Class of Thorsby Institute had its Arbor Day, Friday March 18. Phillip Robinson, Class president presided. The senior hymn "O Thou Whose Feet Have Climbed" was sung by the school. Devotion was given by Carl Baker and Mr. Timmerman led in prayer. Javerne Denham gave the history of Arbor Day; Earlene Baggett gave the Outdoor Maners; and Phillip Robinson gave Thanks For Trees. The school then adjourned to the out-of-doors and planted the tree, which was a Japanese Magnolia. Each member of the Senior Class gave a shor verse concerning trees. Zed Williams, a Junior, represented the Junior Class and said he would take care of the tree.

The Ladies Guild will meet Thurs. afternoon, March 24 at the home of Mrs. Phalin at 2:30. Everyone is invited.

Correction: We stated last week that the Competitive Plays would be held on Friday night, April 8. These plays will be held on Friday night, April 22. Please keep this date in mind and plan now to attend these plays put on by the students.

The American Legion's Birthday Party was well attended last Fri. night. Among the outstanding guest speakers were Hon. John Foster as one of the State's leading attorneys and Department vice-commander; Mrs. Azalea Wooley, Department president and Mr. Stewart, fifth area commander, Miss Sue Varden, our 1953 representative to Girl's State made a very interesting talk.

The large birthday cake was beautifully decorated in the Legion colors. Mrs. Wooley blew out the candles and cut the cake. The Auxiliary served delicious sandwiches with the cake and plenty of good coffee.

Miss Judy Mae Davis, lovely young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Davis, entertained the hosts and guests with three songs which she rendered in her own inimitable way. Her rendition of "The Man Upstairs" was outstanding.

Several new members were added to the Unit's already large membership roll. The Post and Auxiliary welcome these new members

A large number of our town folks attended and we extend a welcome to them at any time that we may have an open meeting.

At the regular business meeting of the Unit last Tuesday night Mrs Idell Kincaid reported $500.00 worth of clothing distributed among the needy. This amount plus $5.00 worth of supplies given by the unit to a young negro mother and her baby Mrs. Kincaid is the Unit's child Welfare chairman. A check for $5.00 was given to the Red Cross Drive.

Chilton Farmers Are Following Good Conservation Practices

Luther and Sie Foshee have planted six and five acres respectively of Coastal Bermuda grass, and in both cases the grass is growing and with good moisture should completely cover the ground by mid-summer.

Dr. Joe H. Johnson is in the process of cleaning twenty-odd acres of land and planting it to Coastal Bermuda.

Lloyd Mims of Mt. Pleasant community has planned six acres of Coastal Bermeda.

W. D. Hocutt has recently purchased forty acres of timber land. Mr. Hocutt plans to spot plant 6000 pine seedlings and take undesirable hardwood from over the other pine.

Leo Headley has plowed up a spotted stand of Fescue and plans to plant it to tomatoes. Mr. Headley saver the Fescue down two draws for the terrace water to empty into.

Tom Carter, Lomax, has turned twenty acres of land that Coastal Bermuda will be on.

Lorenza Williams is establishing 5 acres of Bahia grass by overseeding the grass on oats and dragging a section harrow over the oats. Reseeding Crimson Clover will be seeded in the Bahia grass this fall. Mr. Williams established a meadow outlet to Rescue grass and Reseeding Crimson Clover this past fall a year ago. It reseeded good and has furnished a lot of grazing through this past winter.

Cooperator F. E. Neeley of the Enterprise community made some changes in his terracing system last week by picking up the ends of the terraces that were too low, thus causing excess erosion at the end of the field. Mr. Neeley is also planting five acres of Bahia grass by overseeding the Bahia on oats and dragging a section harrow over the oats.

Swifty Gets Slowed Down

Swifty Fisher has a short temper and really hit the roof when he got a parking ticket last week. He wasn't near a hydrant or too far from the curb. There was a big sign saying "ONE HOUR PARKING" and he'd only been gone twenty minutes.

Running to Traffic Court where Hack Miller was on duty, Swifty hollered how he hadn't done anything wrong . . . how he is the most law-abiding driver in town.

But Hack examined the ticket, and smiled. "Slow down, friend," he said. "You're not guilty—except of making a big fuss over nothing. This ticket came from some kid's policeman play outfit!"

From where I sit, jumping to conclusions can make anyone appear silly. Another way to look foolish is to make a quick decision on a question of personal preference. For instance, I like a glass of beer occasionally. You may be a buttermilk man. But neither of us ought to "lay down the law" about the other's choice.

For this lovely occasion arrangements of snapdragons and carnations were used in the living room and dining room.

A business meeting was held first with Mrs. Luther Little presiding. The Annie Armstrong offering was taken.

Mrs. Elsie Sexton was in charge of the program, the theme of which was "Trophies for the King." Taking part on the program were Mrs Herman Lecroy, Mrs. Nan Taylor, Mrs. Dave Tingle, and Mrs. Bing LeCroy. Mrs. Watson Yeager gave an inspiring devotional.

Following the program Mrs. Rockett served delicious refreshments as fellowship was shared.

Others enjoying this courtesy were: Mesdames R. L. Bowers, Molly Minor, T. H. Hubert, Reid Mullins, W. L. Smith, Leila Bell Moore and Mrs. Doyle McRae.

Clanton Music Club Installs Officers

New officers for the Music Apreciation Club of Clanton were installed at the March 15 meeting. Mrs. H. G. Heflin, who is state chairman for the committee on music in the home of the Alabama Federation of Music Clubs, led the installation service.

New officers are as follows: President, Mrs. Joe Capbell; 1st vice-president, Mrs. C. C. Craig; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. M. L. Tingle; recording secretary, Mrs. Joe Mullins; treasurer, Mrs. Francis Speaks; corresponding secretary, Miss Elizabeth Barton; accompanist, Mrs. W. E. Huddleston; publicity chairman, Mrs. R. C. Williams; parliamentarian, Mrs. W. H. Klinner; choral director and custodian, Mrs. Erle Ellis; Junior and Juvenile counselor, Mrs. Bert Snead.

The program was "A Travelogue With Walt Whitman, America on the Magic Carpet of Poetry and Music." This was part of a program given at the close of a summer class in speech and poetry with Roberta Curry of New York City and formerly of Clanton. This year throughout the United States there will be many poetry festivals celebrating the 100th anniversary of the publishing of "The Leaves Of Grass" written by Walt Whitman, America's greatest poet.

Mrs. H. G. Heflin was narrator for the program. Others taking part were Mrs. Bert Snead, Mrs. W. E. Huddleston, Mrs. W. B. Crowe, Jr. Mrs. L. D. Easterling, Jr., and Miss Linda Wade. The following poems were given: As Toilsome I Wander Virginia's Wood, This Moment Yearning and Thoughtful, For You O, Democracy, As I Walked In Alabama, With Music Strong I Come, I Hear America Singing.

The background music which introduced the travelogue was a recording by Patricia Minthorne New York City and a granddaughter of Mrs. Clara Curry. Miss Minthorne is a gifted young harpist which the music club had the pleasure of presenting in concert three summers ago. Her recording included "The Last Rose of Summer" and "Caprice" by Pierne. Other background music was "Carmen Prelude" by Bizet and Grand Canyon Suite" by Ferde Grofe. Miss Minthorne's harp music ended the program.

The [illegible] for this lovely [illegible] at the home of Mr [illegible]. Other hostesses were Mrs. B. W. Farley and Mrs. Gordon Robertson. Beautiful African violets and spring flowers adorned the receiving rooms.

Following the delightful program refreshments were served.

Luther Pattersons Celebrated 56th Anniversary Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Patterson were honored on Sunday, March 20, when they celebrated their 56th Wedding Anniversary. A surprise aniversary dinner and family get-to-gether was planned by their sons and daughters when they all met Sunday at the Patterson home on Rt. 4, Clanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson were married 56 years ago and have lived in Chilton County for the past 50 years. They have six son and two daughters. They are: J. F. Patterson, of Rt. 1, H. L. Patterson of Rt. 2, L. R. Patterson of Clanton, L. J. Patterson of Rt. 4, L. M. Patterson of Rt. 4, Marlin Patterson of Clanton, Mrs. Lee Edwards of Clanton, and Mrs. L. F. Shaw of Rt. 5. There are eleven grandchildren and four great grand children.

A luscious dinner was prepared by the children including a beautiful anniversary cake for the honorees.

Sunbeams Studied Japanese Friends

The Pre-school age Sunbeams of the First Baptist WMS met Monday afternoon at the church to learn about their Japanese friends in California. Telling the story was Mrs. Charles Brannon, Sunbeam leader.

During the activity period the children were assisted by Mrs. Brannon and Mrs. Vernon Payne in making miniature kites bearing a simple Bible verse.

Mrs. George Smith very graciously served refreshments to the group.

Thirteen members were present. One new member, Pamella Davis, was welcomed.

Mrs. Joe Grooms Complimented At Bridal Shower

Mrs. Joe Douglas Grooms, a recent bride, was complimented on Wednesday afternoon, March 16 from 3 to 5 p.m. when Mrs. P. D. Ellison and Mrs. Walter Fiquette were co-hostesses at a tea and miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. M. C. Henley. Mrs. Grooms is the former Miss Louise Uma Sanford of Opelika.

Greeting the guests at the door was Mrs. Walter Fiquette. In the receiving line were: Mrs. Joe Grooms, the mother of the bridegroom; the honoree, Mrs. Millard Samford, the honoree's mother and Mrs. B. B. Bell of Selma, the honoree's grandmother.

Mrs. Hansel Grooms of Prattville kept the bride's book. Mrs. P. D. Ellison escorted the guest to the gift table where the many lovely gifts were attractively displayed. Presiding in the gift room were Mrs. T. R. Burdette, also Mrs. Eugene Hughes and Mrs. Ralph Frith, both of Selma.

The Henley home was beautifully decorated for this lovely occasion Spring flowers were used throughout the receiving rooms.

In the dining room a cutwork cloth with Irish lace insertion enhanced the beauty of the tea table. For a centerpiece a low silver bowl was filled with snapdragons and stattic and flanked with three branched silver candel bras and tall burning tapers. At one end of the tea table Mrs. Kenneth Haye poured punch from a large crystal bowl garlanded with bridal wreath iris, and greenery. At the other end Miss Virginia Murphree presided over a beautiful silver coffee service. Miss Jettie Faye Ellison and Mrs. John Ed Bates assisted in serving.

A color scheme of pale pink and green was used for party refreshments.

The buffet was adorned with an arrangement of white iris and flanked with lighted tapers in crystal holders.

Approximately sixty guests call during the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Grooms were married February 25 in the Memorial Chapel of the First Methodist church at Opelika. The bride and groom are now living in Opelika where they are both attending API at Auburn.

Every day approximately 650 Americans die of cancer.

Children Need Individual Guidance

School is not only a place where a child is trained for living but it is a place where about one-fifth of his average life is spent; therefore school should be as comfortable and happy as a home.

Our County today has a large number of teachers who have given many years of hard study, at terrific expense, in order to be trained to develop the WHOLE child, which means to develop him socially, emotionally, educationally and physically. This total development is being left more to the teachers every day due to several causes, one of which is the fact that he is in school nine months of the year, or three-fourths of the time. Deaths of parents, parental neglect, mothers working out of the home in order to help meet the excesive cost of living, and many other causes, help hinder the child's home training. When either of these things happen, it leaves more of his development up to the school. Whether he makes a good citizen through guidance, leadership and control of the teacher, or become a criminal through her neglect, will be shown in his maturity.

We must keep in mind that behavior is caused. When a child misbehaves in school or fails t... [illegible] is often caused by anxieties, worries, fears and frustrations that originated in the home. Every child is an individual and has individual problems. We must teach the child to help himself solve them.

As teachers, we are taught to:

1. Recognize a problem.
2. Face the problem.
3. Analyze the problem.
4. Analyze different ways of solutions.
5. Chose the best solution and apply it.

You will see that each child needs individual study and help. When a teacher has 40 students and is in school 7 hours each day, it permits each child to have about 10 minutes of individual attention each day. Should more than that be given him he is taking time that belongs to another. Think of how little can be done in 10 minutes.

In many school rooms there is less than 1 sq. yd. of space for each child. From this space there must be deducted the aisles for walking and room for the teacher's desk. How would you like to go to church and sit for an hour before you could exercise? Psychology teaches that we can concentrate only 20 minutes without our mind wandering. We expect the child to be super human and sit for three times as long as we are capable of doing.

The greatest need of Chilton County is to have more clasrooms so that each teacher may have a less number of students. Not for the purpose of aiding the teacher and making her work easier for her, but for the purpose of permitting the child to become a good citizen through individual guidance in learning to solve his problems. We also need workshops so the children can learn to work with their hands and additional auditoriums so as to add culture to their training.

Perhaps you will say that these things cost money. That is true, but, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." It has also been wisely said that "it is better to train boys than to mend men." It will take much less tax money to train children into good citizens than it will to support the courts and penal institutions after they become law violators.

We must bear in mind that the largest number of children are being born into homes that are often designated as the underpriviileged. In a few years voters from that group will be in the majority; therefore, our State, County and National officers will come from that group. The parents have a role to play. We cannot sit smugly by and take care of our own children. We must help take care of our neighbors'. The children are our most caluable assets and we must give them our best. We can help by relieving the overcrowded classrooms, having better teaching facilities, adding more trained teachers and by cooperating with the teacher and by helping to understand, guide, mold and direct our own children into the very best human beings of which we are capable. By doing this we can help to develop healthy, happy, well-adjusted children that will grow into wholesome, law abiding and God fearing citizens.

SHOULTS NEWS

(By MRS. EZRA LEE LAWLEY)

A most unusual thing happened in our community last Monday, due to bad visibility of flying an airplane had to make an emergency landing on the highway. He had god luck as his plane did not crash, all the damage that was caused was the main electricity wires were cut, but the linemen soon had those repaired. This couple was from Minn. on their way to Miami on their vacation.

Miss Mary Lee and Sandra Lawley attended a birthday party Wed. afternoon of last week at the home of Miss Diane Royster in Maplesville. Many children were there. Games were enjoyed, the beautiful birthday cake was cut at five o'clock with pink and white ice cream and drinks.

Mrs. John McKinney, Mrs. Tissue Harrison, Mrs. Kate Harrison and Mr. Wyle Harrison attended the funeral of their nephew, Mr. Pete Warren who died in Birmingham and was buried in a cemetery near Brent, Ala. last Wed. afternoon.

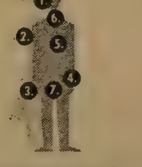
Mrs. Katie Lou Goodman is proud to announce the birth of a son born last Tuesday in a Selma hospital. She gave him the name of David Larry.

The week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Maddox was airman Rip Maddox of Tennessee and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morris and children of Gadsden.

Mrs. John McKiney, Archie and J. R. spent Sunday in Selma with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kynard.

Mr. Hamrick Hathcock of the U. S. Navy arrived home last week end. He also brought his wife of Hawaii with him. They are living with his parents at present.

CANCER'S
7 DANGER SIGNALS



1. Any sore that does not heal.
2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
3. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
4. Any change in a wart or mole.
5. Persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
6. Persistent hoarseness or cough.
7. Any change in normal bowel habits.

If present death rates continue, 4,000,000 Americans now living will die of cancer.

On the average, cancer strikes about two out of every three American families.

SS Amendment Will Cover Most Farmers

The amended Social Security Act will bring federal old-age and survivors insurance to most farm families beginning in 1955, Mr. J. W. Overstreet, Jr., District Manager of the Biringham Social Security Office, said.

Farm operators will be covered under the new law beginning Jan. 1, 1955, if they make as much as $400 profit in a year. They must report their earnings annually to Internal Revenue.

Farm workers who get cash pay of $100 or more in a calendar year from one farm employer are also covered by the new social security law, effective January 1, 1955. The present provision that a farm hand must work a minimum time for one employer will be eliminated as a test for coverage after 1954.

Mr. Overstreet explained that if a person rents or leases land, and farms it as his own, he is self-employed for social security purposes. If he farms on shares he may be self-employed or an employee, depending on the agreement under which he farms.

Individual social security account numbers are needed in reporting earnings for both the self-employed farmers and the employees of a farmer.

Further information can be secured from your nearest social security office. The office servicing this area is located at 1825 First Avenue, North, Birmingham 3, Ala.

MONY Pays Big Benefits To Alabamians

Alabama residents received nearly $1,500,000 in benefit payments from their insurance with the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York during 1954 and the ratio of "living benefits" increase to 62 per cent, compared with 59 per cent the year before, according to a report today by Leo F Spivey, the company's Agent in Chilton County, Alabama.

Sumarizing Mutual of New York' insurance and investment operations in Alabama, the report showed that the company's investment in the state at the year-end totaled $49,300,00. Urban mortgage holdings amounted to nearly $14,000,000 a volume surpassed in only five states among sixteen in MONY' Southern Division. These holdings plus commitments, meant that MONY's total "stake" in urban mortgages in Alabama amounted to nearly $16,000,000. The great bulk of these mortgage funds financed residential construction. The company also had $300,000 invested in farm loans throughout the state.

State, county or municipal projects in Alabama also ranked high in attracting funds from Mutual Of New York. The company's investments in this category totaled more than $5,000,000, third highest among all states in the nation. MONY's other principal investments included $9,300,000 in public utilities, $9,500,000 in industrial and miscellaneous enterprises, and $2,000,000 in policy loans.

It is estimated that more than [illegible] Americans now living will at some time develop cancer.

Civil Service Announces Tax Jobs Now Open

The Board of Civil Service Examiners for the internal revenue service has announced an examination for tax collectors (trainee) GS-5 at an annual salary of $3410. Applicants who are selected for appointment will, after successful completion of the six-month in service training program, be promoted to GS-7 positions with starting salary of $4205 per year.

Applications are being accepted from young men between the ages of 18 and 35 who have an accounting or legal background or experience in the investigations of business or commercial situations involving: for example, complex insurance, claims, defalcations, or financial conditions of commercial enterprise for purpose of credit rating.

The positions are located in the office of the district director of Internal Revenue for the states of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Miss., North Carolina, South Carolina, & Tennessee. Successful applicants will be considered first for vacancies in the state of their residence and for vacancies in other states according to the applicant's stated preference. Applications will be accepted until the needs of the service have been met. Full information may be obtained from the executive secretary, Board of U.S. Civil Service examiners for the Internal Revenue service, 822 peach tree-Seventh Building, Atlanta, Ga.

West End Baptist Revival Was Huge Success

West End Baptist church is rejoicing and giving thanks to God for making it possible for us to experience a real revival through Evangelist [illegible] Lieberman

Christ was manifested throughout the entire meeting. We never saw it on such fashion. The Lord added 74 people to His church with sixty-five candidates for baptism and nine by transfer of letter. Many souls were saved through our people [illegible] out and witnessing for Christ.

Such a wonderful spirit prevailed in the song services directed by Mrs. Raymond Mims. Her leadership will continue to be of value to the Adult Choir. [illegible]

All early morning and night services were well attended during this two weeks revival. Last Sunday afternoon the church was filled to its capacity when Brother Lieberman gave the story of his life "From Prison to Pulpit". At this meeting he related how, after being brought up in a strict Orthodox Jewish home, he accepted Christ as his Saviour through the witnessing of an elderly Gentile woman while in a Federal prison. Hence he has been rejected and ridiculed by his family but this has not kep him from preaching the Gospel of Christ.

Our prayers continue for Bro Lieberman as he goes to his home in Greenville, S.C. for a few days and thence leaves the states for Palestine where he will preach Christ to his own race, the Jews.

CHILEAN NITRATE of SODA is the world's only NATURAL NITRATE FERTILIZER

NATURAL as the grass these cattle are grazing, Chilean Nitrate is the only natural nitrate. Guaranteed 42 per cent plant food.

★ Richest of plant foods, Chilean's many extra values make it one of the most efficient and economical nitrogen fertilizers.

★ Chilean's nitrogen content is 100 per cent nitrate. Ideal for top-dressing and side-dressing. Free flowing, spreads evenly and smoothly.

★ Chilean needs only moisture from the air to dissolve — no waiting for rain — fast, effective action.

★ Every ton of Chilean contains sodium equivalent to 550 pounds of commercial limestone — an acid-destroying agent. The more Chilean you use, the greater its acid-destroying value.

★ Sodium supplements potash — when necessary, substitutes for it — reduces leaching losses of potash, calcium, magnesium—releases unavailable potash in the soil.

★ Sodium increases availability of phosphate in the soil and improves efficiency of applied phosphate.

★ Chilean is rich in small quantities of minor elements necessary for healthy vigorous growth — it's the only natural combination of 100 per cent nitrate nitrogen, sodium and minor elements

Little Miss Lewis celebrated her 7th birthday, March 12th, with party at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Pruitt Lewis.

The table was decorated with spring flowers. The Birthday cake in pink and white bore the inscription, Happy Birthday and held seven candles.

After the little guests sang the happy birthday song, the honoree opened her gift packages and displayed them. The birthday cake was then served with drinks, candy and cookies were given as favors. Mrs. C. W. Bethany led the children in several games. Mrs. William Vines served as co-hostess.

Present to enjoy the occasion were: Mary Wilson, Patricia and Cynthia Vines, Melissa and Charles Bethany, Sarah Johnson, Randy Bice, James, Barbara and Carolyn Thornhill, Gelnda Ellison, Peggy and Bobby Lewis, and Jerry Ward.

Around OUR HOUSE

by Kathryn Tucker Windham

Prayers were over the other nite and the children were on their way to bed, but the five-year-old seemed reluctant to go to his room. It was plain that he was bothered about something and wanted to talk about it before he went to sleep.

He got himself another drink of water (an obvious delaying tactic) before he came to the subject.

"Mother," he said. "I'm a little disappointed in the Bible."

I had known he was troubled by something, but this profound announcement took me completely by surprise. All I could do was to ask.

"Why? What is so disappointing 'bout the Bible?"

"Well," he explained. "The Bible doesn't tell a thing about where God was born and when He was born, and that's what I really want to know about."

It took me a long time to get to sleep that night.

The neighbor around the corner, the one with more imagination than money, has been giving her kitchen a thorough cleaning and re-arranging this week.

She was mighty tired of the cloth curtains which have been covering her open shelves, so she pulled them down and gave them to the children to use in making doll clothes

To replace the cloth curtains, she bought a remnant of bright oilcloth, tacked it to an old shade roller and installed the roller over the shelves. Now, she has an attractive covering (and one that can be cleaned with the whisk of a damp cloth) that rolls up quickly when the shelves are in use and adds color to the kitchen when they're not.

* * *

As a part of her cleaning routine, this neighbor gave her kitchen windows a good washing. Watching her, I learned a new trick.

She used lengthwise strokes to wash one side of the panes and crosswise strokes to wash the other side. Then, she could tell at a quick glance which side had any dirty streaks left.

* * *

Of course, she had to wash he kitchen curtains to macth the cleanliness of her shining windows The curtains were made of thin material, and they wouldn't hang level after their sudsing.

The next door neighbor told her how to remedy that situation.

"Slip curtain rods through the bottom hems of the curtains, let them stay there a couple of days, and the curtains will straighten out.

* * *

When she got ready to put new liners on her cupboard, this energetic neighbor cut four layers of paper for each shelf and put them all on at the same time. Now, when the paper gets dirty, she just take off the top piece and has a clean liner already in place.

* * *

For an uncooked confection, beat an egg white stiff. Fold in 1 pound sifted confectioner's sugar and tablespoons frozen undiluted orange juice. Drop by teaspoon on waxed paper and let dry.

MUMPS

Caused by a virus, the smallest type of infectious agent, mumps affects primarily the parotid glands, in front of the ears. These glands, with others under the tongue and lower jaw, produce saliva. When infected, they enlarge.

The most notable signs of mumps are marked swelling and high fever, which runs for four or five days. The swelling appears from twelve to twenty-six days after contact or exposure to the disease Frequently both sides of the face are involved, although, it is quite common for only one side to be affected. The difficulty of eating and talking seems to be the chief immediate complaint of mumps victis.

It is estimated that at least thirty percent of the American population has had mumps at some time or other without being aware of it. This may be the reason why the disease is epedemic and why victims who do have the symptoms of pain and swelling are unable to identify their contact.

While few persons die from the disease, special attention should be given to the mumps patient. As long as fever and swelling are present, the paietnt should be in bed, even though there is no serious complaint of discomfort.

Complications sometimes associated with mumps may result, particularly in the adolescent and adult, in serious involvement of the sex galnds, an occasional cause of sterility.

While mumps has been known to recur, usually an immunity seems to be established by the first attack. However when only one side of the face has been affected, there is always the possibility of the other being infected later.

Because of the highly contagious character of the disease, patients with mumps should be isolated. Liquids and semisolid foods, free of acids, should be substituted for solids to eliminate the pain of chewing.

PLYMOUTH WINS

FOR 1955 STYLING OVER "OTHER 2" LOW-PRICE CARS BY VOTE OF ALMOST 4 TO 1

THOUSANDS PREFER PLYMOUTH'S STYLING IN NATION-WIDE SURVEY!

A well-known independent research organization asked thousands of people—in New York, Chicago, Detroit, Atlanta, Dallas, Los Angeles—to compare the appearance of '55 models of the three low-price cars. Opinions were received from men and women—from people of all ages—from owners of all the different makes of cars. The results are below.

Best buy new; better trade-in, too!

HERE'S WHAT OTHERS THOUGHT OF PLYMOUTH!

Compared with low-price car "A"		Compared with low-price car "B"
Plymouth is better looking	62%	Plymouth is better looking	66%
Car "A" is better looking	16%	Car "B" is better looking	17%
Almost 4 to 1 in Plymouth's favor!		Again, almost 4 to 1 for Plymouth!
(22% liked "both about the same")		(17% liked "both about the same")

HERE'S WHY YOU'LL PREFER PLYMOUTH, TOO!

Plymouth '55—with THE FORWARD LOOK—is the only low-price car to offer you honestly new styling, instead of a mere face-lifting. It's bigger than the "other 2" cars (longer than car "A" by 8.4 inches!). It's lower and sleeker, with a host of styling advances that wins the most applause in the lowest-price field. ISABELLA NEWS

(MRS. J. H. WELLS)

Baptist Church News—

Revival services in the Mulberry Baptist church started on Mon. night, March 14, and continued thru Sunday night, March 20. A good meeting was enjoyed by all those attending. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Coggins united with the church by letter, and Mr. Tommy Joe Fox and Miss Martha Johnson united with the church on profession of faith. The Rev. Howard Golden of the Rockford Baptist church was the evangelist for the meeting. The time and date of the baptismal services will be annocnced soon. An expression of appreciation is extended by the pastor in behalf of the church to all those who had a part in making the revival a success. Particularly appreciated was the hospitality extended to the visiting preacher and the pastor and his family in providing a place to stay and food during the revival week.

Easter Sunday has been designated as "Building Fund Sacrifice Day" at Mulberry. Every member of the church is urged to make some definite sacrifice on this Sunday to pay off the indebtedness on the pastorium. It is suggested that anyone who is behind in their tithes should try to catch them up on the building fund drive on this day. Others will want to sacrifice something in order that they may give worthily on Easter to the Lord's work and blessings on this day.

Some other plans scheduled for the early future are as follows:

The deacons will meet on Thurs. night, March 31, the time and place of this meeting will be announced Sunday. On Easter Sunday we will observe the ordinance of the Lord's Supper at Mulberry. Since the record attendance was broken in the Sunday School last Sunday, we shall be striving each Sunday to exceed the 147 that were present last Sunday. The first Sun. in April will be the time for our regularly scheduled Monthly Conference or business meeting of the church, and it will follow immediately after the Morning Service on that day.

What about checking out a book from our church library? Read it and you will be glad you did. If you are through with the one you have, return it so others may read it.

A large crowd of our people attended the funeral of Mrs. Lee Ousley at Alpine church on Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. James Arnold Bryant of Birmingham were Sun. guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bryant and Robert.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Hank Plemmons (nee Alma Tucker) of Jacksonville, Fla. on the arrival of a new baby on March 18.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Span Jones' Sunday dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Jones of Tuscaloosa. Their Sunday afternoon guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Browley of Birmingham and Dr and Mrs. J. P. Hayes of Clanton.

On Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Tucker and Miss Edna Earl Tucker visited Miss Frances Reynolds in Jefferson Hospital in Birmingham, who underwent an operation there last week. She is doing nicely.

Mrs. Renfroe Veazey returned home Monday after a long week end visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Gaydon in Austell, Ga. She enjoyed a surprise birthday dinner for her mother and father on Sunday, and being with her other sister and relatives there.

This community extends its sympathy to Mrs. Molly Smith in her bereavement over the loss of her mother, Mrs. Lee Ousley on Sun. March 20.

Mrs. Evan Johnson and girls are spending this week in Birmingham with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Fox visited Mr. John R. Large in the Veterans hospital in Montgomery Sun. afternoon. They reported that he is improving. He doesn't know when he will return home, and will appreciate cards and visits.

Mr. W. T. Tucker underwent some minor operations at the Veterans hospital in Montgomery last Wednesday. He was able to return the same day and is doing nicely.

Sardis News

(Too late for last week)

Last Friday night closed a wonderful revival of this community. believe all of the members wer revived. We received eight additior to the church. Seven came for baptism and one by letter, we welcome each one of them. It make our hearts rejoice to see young people on God's side. Bro. Jones and Bro. Carter were the evangelists. They brought soul stirring message at each service. We were happy have Miss Janice Young to play the piano for us. We had visitors from Mulberry, Macedonia, Pleasant Valley, Mt. Carmel, Clanton and Montgomery. We welcome them all back at anytime, to worship with us.

Our attendance at Sunday School and B.T.U. was good over the week end. Let's keep this good report up. Let's each one support our church and our pastor by our prayers and our presence each Sunday and Sunday night.

Sunday is our regular preaching day and we invite all who can to come and worship with us.

NEW SALEM BAPTIST

Our attendance Sunday was excellent, and Sunday night we had the largest attendance we've had in months. Our membership is growing each week. We thank the Lord for the ones that accepted Christ Sunday, we pray that others will make the same decision. Next Sun afternoon at 2:30 we will have our baptismal service, which will be held at the West End Baptist church. At present there are 1 candidates. Everyone is invited to attend.

We are having a fish fry Friday night, March 25th. This is a training union social. Visitors are welcome.

Remember our prayer service each Wednesday night at 7:00. We have choir practice at 6:30 Wednesday night. Let's pray for our services each Sunday and also for our pastor and his family.

1955 Peach Crop A Total Loss

Folks and Things ABOUT TOWN

—By Ben

One of our merchants stated the other day, after the cold had killed all of our peaches, that he was sending a wire to the people he bought his stock from to hold any orders they had from him for future shipment. Then he added: "And I am also going to tell them they can come and get the stock that is in my store." Of course things aren't that bad. We have experienced this thing before and come out of it, and we can do it again.

Read a story today told about the late George Bernard Shaw. He had a distinguished visitor who expressed surprise that the author had no vase of flowers in his home. "I thought you were exceedingly fond of flowers," the visitor said. "I am," returned Shaw. "I'm very fond of children, too. But I don't cut their heads off and stick them in pots all over the house."

We printed an article for postmaster R. W. Lowe last week regarding the letting of mail through the front windows at the post office that was addressed to routes. It stated that the practice of delivering mail to route patrons thru the windows at the postoffice would be discontinued. Since the article appeared Mr. Lowe says that he has found that some patrons held him responsible for the action but that the orders came from the Postoffice Department and he only forwarded the message to the customers.

The trucker demanded a receipt after the judge had ruled against him and the judgment had been paid.

"Why? We've entered it in the court record."

The trucker insisted on a receipt and the judge asked, "Why are you so persistent?"

"Because," he answered, "when I get to heaven and St. Peter asks me if this judgment has been paid and I say, "Yes,' he'll ask me for the receipt and I'll be damned if I'll tramp all over hell looking for you."

An odd coincidence happened the her night at the home of Cecil Murrah. When the phone rang Cecil answered to hear a man ask if he new a Frances Rhodes. Frances Cecil's niece so after informing e man, (it was James Smith of ooper) that he did, he asked m what was up. It seems that mith had found a ladies purse on e Mitchell Dam road that afteron with the name "Frances hodes" in it, but it contained no dress or other way of locating e owner. However, the purse did ntain the pictures of the Murrah ildren and Smith's children recnized them and told their father o they were. Thereupon he called cil and found the owner of the se. Now that's a round-about y of locating your purse so it uld be our advice to include your ne, address, and phone number your purse so that if you should e it, you can be contacted and ormed of its whereabouts.

Gov't. Asked To OK Emergency Loans For Chilton Farmers

Because of the extensive damage to Chilton County Crops congressman Armistear Selden notified the Department of Agriculture of the damage and requested aid in the form of emergency loans to those farmers whose crops have been damaged or lost.

He has been assured that his request will be granted without delay which will take a great burden off the little farmer who depended in whole or principally on his peaches and truck crops for his livlihood.

A telegram received this week from Congressman Selden said:

I have notified the department of Agriculture of the crop disaster in Chilton County and in other sections of our state, and have requested they determine the extent of the damage, and the possibility of providing emergency credit to those whose crops have been damaged or lost. I have been assured this request will be granted without delay. Best regards. Armistead I. Selden, Jr.

As soon as it was determined locally that the cold weather had completely destroyed the peach crop Probate Judge M. D. Tingle wired Senator Lister Hill, Sen. John Sparkman and Congressman Armistead I Selden Jr. the following telegram:

"Peaches, berries and vegetable crops a total loss from freeze. Damage estimated at $5,000,000.00 and involves nearly 2.000 farm families and laborers. Additional cotton allotment for Chilton County could materially assist farmers recover from emergency situation. Emeregncy loans will be needed. Any assistance you can give us to secure same will be appreciated." Signed: M. D. Tingle, Probate Judge, Chilton County, Alabama

Harmoneers To Appear Here In Double-Header

The people of Chilton County and Central Ailabama will be privileged to attend one of the best concert programs ever held at the Courthouse in Clanton, Monday night, April 4th.

The Harmoneers Quartet of Atlanta, Ga., will be here, featuring "Happy Edwards", one of the "top" high tenor singers of the nation, also Seals Hilton, known as one of the best bass singers in the country. Accompanying them will be the Revelaires Quartet, also of Atlanta, Ga., known as one of the best in the entire country. In these two groups you'll be privileged to see and hear not one, not two, but three of the very best high tenor singers in the country, including Dan Huskey, Cat Freeman and Happy Edwards. Also two wizards of the piano, Charles Key and Wallace Varner. In fact, each and every member of these two groups is "tops" in his respective function. You'll want to see and hear them in person, Monday night, April 4th, at the Courthouse, for they will render a program that will thrill and please every member of your family. Don't miss it. Tickets now on sale at the Callen-Alred Drug Co., 40c and 75c. At the door tickets will be 50c and $1.00. Get your tickets in advance and avoid the rush at the door.

"Holiday Ahoy" To Be Staged April 1st and 2nd

An all local cast launches rehearsals for " Holiday Ahoy!" the new musical variety and stage show which is being sponsored under the auspices of the DAV.

This ten scene usical revue, which opens a two night run Apr. 1 and 2 at Clanton City Hall, revolves around the festivities at the launching of the newest Queen of the seas, the Holiday. The attendant ceremonies are witnessed by such well-known celebrities as Dave Garroway, Marilyn Monroe, Sophie Tucker, Jane Froman, and others, who of course are all local friends and neighbors who give the impersonations.

As the curtain opens, the show shoves off on a dockside scene showing a colorful group of sailors, sightseers, celebrities and sweethearts. All have gathered to attend the ceremonies honoring Chris Carver, the famous sea captain who has been given command of this finest ship afloat. Dave Garroway, of TV fame, is on hand to report the proceedings to his nationwide audience on the TODAY program.

Business men as Super Salesmen have come down to take a cruise on the maiden voyage of the Good Ship Holiday. Singapore Sam and Shipwreck Kelley, known as the "goofiest Gobs Afloat", hit the deck and it's gangway for gags and jokes as these clowns lead the madcap crew in two hours of salty tomfoolery.

Home Demonstration Members Plan Trip To District Meet

Chilton County Home Demonstration Club members are making plans to attend the district meeting at Jacksonville State Teachers' College. Jacksonville, Ala. on Tues. April 19th. Plans are in the making to charter a bus so that a larger unmber of club members will be able to attend.

The days activities will begin with a coffee at 9:00 a.m. in the Home Economics Building. The program will begin at 10:00 o'clock in the Leone Cole Auditorium. Dr. Mason, director of Music there, will lead the group singing, Dr. Cole, pres. of the college will bring an inspirational message and District IV's Home Demonstration Treasurers, starring the 17 county council pres., will conclude the morning's program.

Lunch will be served in the gymnasium. The luncheon program will include entertainment by 4-H members; Director P. O. Davis' talk, introduction of guest and greetings by Calhoun County's home demonstration president.

Highlights of the afternoon's program includes the Wac school and honor guard; entertainment by Frank Raine, a Jacksonville student who has made several appearances on national television networks because of a phenomenal ability to talk simultaneously with other people, the Jacksonville Foreign students, and the Pickens Co. Home Demonstration Choral group. The meeting will close at 2:30 p.m.

Chilton County ladies who are interested in attending this meeting are asked to contact their Club president or the Home Agent at her office by Tuesday, April 5th. The approximate cost of the trip will be $5.00. Lunch money, $1.25, must be turned in to the Home Agents by April 5th so that tickets can be ordered.

Home Demonstration Agent, Mrs. Johnnie Lane, says that plans are to leave from the front of the Home Agent's Office at 8:30 a.m., April 19th and return at approximately 8 p.m. if the number of ladies required for chartering a bus do not go, other arrangements for transportation will be made. Help Chilton County have a good representation at this Home Demonstration Meeting by contacting your Home Demonstration Agent by April 5th.

Liquid Corn Crop Damaged By Several Raids

The Sheriff's office and State ABC men report several stills destroyed during the past few days and hundreds of gallons of mash was poured out.

One 1,000 gallon still and a 500 gallon still was destroyed two and one-half miles southwest of the steel bridge, and 120 gallons of mash found in the Enterprise Community near Chester Roper's home. A still was destroyed 8 miles west of Maplesville and seven negroes arrested and jailed for manufacturing illicit liquor. The still was a 68 gallon drum type still. One hundred eighty gallons of mash was poured out.

Blackberries And Other Truck Crops Are Also Heavily Hit

After talking with peach growers from all sections of Chilton County there is yet to be found any grower that has any hope for any peaches in 1955. Peach growers are concerned about their trees. In many areas the freeze damage was so severe that there is possibly permanent damage to trees. It is felt that several weeks must expire before all peach losses can be evaluated.

Blackberry growers also are heavily damaged. Most growers are estimating a 90 percent loss, but are waiting for growth to be renewed before deciding whether or not to cut vines back.

Other crops planted prior to the freeze and to be re-planted include: Okra, Squash, Bunch and Pole Beans, Roasting-ear corn, Cantaloupes and gardens. The freeze losses are one of the most damagain blows that Chilton County has had to encounter. The effects of losses will be felt by all phases of Chilton County life and activity.

The only gratifying thought that can be gleaned from the tragic weather deviation is the fact that Chilton County farm people are highly self-sufficient as a group, and no doubt will devise ways and means of recovering from recent misfortune.

"It is an ill wind that blows no good". The March 25, 1955 freeze can possibly be the wedge that forces Chilton County farmers to make a systematic business of producing and marketing several other commodities. The final development can mean a still higher standard of income for the entire county.

Vo-Ag Boys Plant Pine Seedlings

Pictured above is J. Reed Thompson, Vocational Agriculture teacher at the Chilton County High School, demonstrating to a group of Future Farmers how to plant pine seedlings.

This group received 1,000 pine seedlings from the Gulf States Paper Corporation. Mr. D. V. Willett, Conservation Forestry for Gulf States Paper Corporation delivered the seedlings and gave a short talk and film on good forestry practices.

Local Scouts Put On Scrap Iron Drive

B. N. Studdard anounced today that the local Boy Scout Troop was starting a scrap iron drive. The purpose of the drive is to buy ne uniforms. Mr. Studdard asks that everyone having loose scrap iron around the place to please call 71-J and the boys will come after it.

Adventist Revival Now In Progress

This pastor wishes to express his thanks for the many expressions of regret that "The Voice of Truth" has been forced off the air by a group of clergymen.

We hold no ill will or unfriendly feelings toward these men. It is much better to forgive and forget than to hold unkindly feelings against those who have wronged us.

The revival services will continue through next Sunday evening. The concluding sermon topics are: This (Thursday) evening, "What It Means to Preach the New Testament Doctrine of Saved By Grace," Friday evening, "What It Means To Preach the New Testament Doctrine of Sin", Saturday evening, "What It Means to Preach the New Testament Doctrine of the Converted Life" and Sunday evening, "What It Means to Preach the Signs of the Times."

The public is invited to attend our services.

Allen Walker, pastor

Associational Training Union At Liberty Hill

There will 'e an Associational Training Union meeting Monday night, April 4th at 7:30 at the Liberty Hill Baptist church.

We encourage every church in the Chilton-Unity Association to attend this meeting. There are several churches in our association that do not have a Training Union. We feel no church program is complete without a Training Union. Our State Secretary will be with us in this meeting.

Little Leaguers Get Underway For 1955 Season

Plans for the operation of Clanton Little League were completed Monday night at a meeting held in the City Hall, Russell Sutley, Pres of the League, presided and advised the group of interested citizens that the franchise for this year had been received, and that the local league would be entitled to enter all playoffs for district, state, regional, and World Series championships. League play will begin on Tuesday, May 30; so that the regular season can be completed before the playoffs begin.

The schedule will be the same as last year. Games will be played on Tuesdays and Fridays of each week beginning at 3 p.m.. The team sponsors will also remain the same, that is, The Junior Chamber of Commerce, The Kiwanis Club, The Lions Club, and the Methodist Men's Club. Managers of this year's teams will be Bing Lecroy, George Smith, Rusty Shelton, and Rev. Marvin Vickers. Mr. V. L. Bulger will serve again this year as Player Agent. The umpires will be Bill Devaughn, Alex Hayes, Bert Snead and Kermit Jones; and the official score keeper is Lloyd Mims.

Carlos Wyatt, Secretary of the League for 1955, was authorized to pass out the registration cards to the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh grades as soon as possible. It will not be necessary for any boy that was on either team last year to re-register by card. Last years players re-register by simply paying one dollar for his insurance.

O'Dell Headley, this year's Treas. advised that the League is in good financial condition for beginning the season and that no request would be made of any sponsor this year. A great deal of enthusiasm was shown for Little League last year, and it will be even better this time—if Monday night's meeting was any indication.

A souffle will remain light and fluffy until the last morsel is eaten if one-fourth teaspoonful of cream of tartar is added to beaten egg whites in making it.

Peanut butter is a novel substitute for butter in cake frosting. Cheaper than butter, peanut butter gives the frosting good flavor and a pretty color.

Chilton Unity Will Hold Its Quarterly Meet

Every Baptist pastor and W.M.U. member of the Chilton-Unity Association is urged to attend the Quarterly Meeting at Bell Lane Baptist church on April 6, at 10 a.m.

Mrs. Marjory Smith of Montg. will be the featured speaker. Mrs. Russell Williams requests all to bring a covered dish.

Baptist Youth Rally At Collins Chapel Saturday Night

The Baptist Youth Rally will meet Saturday, April 2nd at 7 p.m. at Collins Chapel Baptist church. The speaker will be Dr. J. Gilbert Hutchinson, pastor of the Clanton Baptist Church. The people love and respect Dr. Hutchinson, so you come and hear this man of God.

There will be refreshments and fellowship following the service. Rev. Lucas invites all young people and adults to attend.

Jehovah's Witnesses

Program

Entered in the Post Office at Clanton, Alabama, as second-class matter under the Act of Congress of March, 1897.

The weather man doesn't seem to know that this is the first week of Spring.

* * * *

It may be inconvenient, but it sure is a lot quieter without trains.

* * * *

We're eagerly awaiting the day when the people go on strike against utilities instead of vice-versa.

* * * *

The only success worth gaining is that which is based on the Golden Rule.

CHILTON'S PEACH CROP—

Have you been wondering how your neighbor's peach orchard has come through the severe cold we've had the past few days? If you have, you can quit wondering, and worrying too, because according to Dan Mims of the County Agent's office, it's too late to worry too much about the peaches.

The month of March is noted for it's freakish weather, and this year has been, by no means, an exception to the rule. The extremely pretty weather we had the first of the month fooled the crops into thinking it was time to "bust out" and then the old "lion" fooled them with a switcheroo that will likely put Chilton's peach crop down near the bottom this year, as far as production and income are concerned.

As for the early tomatoes, corn, etc., there has been considerable damage to them also, but the County Agents say that some of the crops can be re-done and still have time to turn into good yields this season.

We have learned that the berry crops have been damaged slightly over the County, but not nearly as severely as the peach crop.

Maybe with a little luck and a lot of praying, the farmers can make it this year on the late crops and the ones that have managed to stand the cold snap. If our rain holds its own this summer, we can still have good crops of later varieties, and it isn't too late for the peach croppers to plan such a move now. Chilton County will not likely be able to depend on her $4 million dollar peach crop to tide her over this year, and due to this, attention should be given to other crops that can still make good yields. As for the peaches, next year may be the biggest year. We can hope for the best, and as Mr. Glasscock puts it, "We can grow out of this tragedy just as we've done in the past."

OUR SCHOOL LUNCH PROGRAM—

Recently President Eisenhower recommended to cut the school lunch program as much as 20%, which Senator John Sparkman suggested was "short-sighted and completely unjustified," and he stated that he would do "everything in my power to continue this vitally important program."

The President recommended the same, or a simliar cut last year, but Congress didn't see it that way and it is hoped that they will again over-ride the recommendation.

It is unjustifiable, in that it aids so many school youngsters, in Alabama and all over the country, in having themselves a decent mid-day meal every day.

Last year more than 10,000,000 pupils participated in the program: a 300% growth since its beginning in 1944.

It is known that the Federal contribution to this program has remained the same since 1946 in spite of the 300% growth since that time. Thus, county and state contributions have increased accordingly in order to keep the program alive.

300,000 of the pupils aided last year through the lunch program were Alabama citizens.

We, in Chilton County should be doubly wishful of the programs continued success. For not only does it serve our youngsters in the capacity mentioned, but $400,000,000 worth of surplus farm products were used in this program throughout the nation last year, a big aid to the farmers of our county.

As Mr. Sparkman put it, "No other program has been more fully accepted throughout the country, nor has any other program done more good." It is for this reason that we agree with Mr. Sparkman, in that the program does so much good, it would be foolish to cut it short, especially since the county and state hold the brunt of the cost (by percentage). If anything, in the future, federal aid should be increased, not cut.

Report from Washington

BY
ARMISTEAD SELDEN
Congressman, Sixth District

Congress gave a final green light last week to the proposal to sell 24 synthetic rubber plants to private industry. Both the House and Senate rejected resolutions which would have blocked the disposal of these government owned plants.

During World War II, the government turned to synthetic rubber as the answer to the rubber shortage which had arisen in this country. At the time, there were only a few privately owned synthetic rubber plants in operation

They produced a total of about 8000 tons of synthetic rubber annually. In order to increase the nation's production, the government invested about $700 million in building a new synthetic rubber industry which, by 1944, was capable of producing more than one million long tons of rubber each year.

Realizing the importance of the synthetic rubber industry to the nation, Congress enacted the rubber Act of 1948. This act provided that there should be maintained at all times within the United States rubber-producing facilities that have a production capacity of at least 600,000 long tons annually for general purpose rbber and not less than 65,000 long tons per year of special purpose synthetic rubber. This was done with the idea of preserving the important new synthetic rubber industry and assuring the nation of an ample supply at all times.

This Act also required the Pres to recommend to Congress a program for disposal of the government-owned rubber producing facilities to private industry. In Jan. of 1950 President Truman submitted a report to Congress recommending the sale of the plants, but it was not until 1953 that Congress passed the Rubber Producing Facilities Disposal Act.

The Disposal Act authorized the President to appoint a three-member commission to be responsible for selling the plants. Under the law, the Commission was required to advertise for not less than six months and to negotiate with the bidders for another period of not less than seven months. This procedure was followed by the commission, and it is estimated that the return to the taxpayers on the sale of the plants will amount to 06.6 percent of the unrecovered investment in the synthetic rubber program. Also, tax revenues will be increased by the sale because, under government oepration, these plants have paid no federal taxes.
